Check out these quality features:

LOAD WHEEL-Aluminum bronze alloy "cushions" the load—reducing wear and increasing efficiency.
TOP AND BOTTOM HOOKS—alloy steel, drop forged, hardened and tempered, for longer life and safer use. In the event of extreme overloading, they tend to expand rather than fracture.
SIDE PLATE ASSEMBLY—designed and engineered to maintain precise alignment for smoother operation.
BRAKE ASSEMBLY—Weston Screw-Type (with light lubrication). Extra large diameter friction disc assures long-life and permits heavy use or lowering through long distances without overheating and damaging the brake. Lubrication assures braking effectiveness under adverse weather conditions even if grease or moisture gets on the braking surfaces.
HAND CHAIN ROLLER GUIDES—fitted to assure smooth, efficient action even when the operator is not directly in line with the hand wheel.
GEARING—hardened alloy steel, splined drive shaft design, offers maximum strength and resistance to wear. Accurately machined gears assure smooth operation and longer life.
LOAD CHAIN—hardened and tempered alloy steel offers resilience, safety, and long life combined with reduced weight.

MICHELIN

Michelin Radials are world famous for their quality, because they make only one standard of tire . . . TOP-LINE . . . no seconds . . . no thirds. While some people believe the higher the quality, the higher the price, this is not always so. For, if you compare Michelin's price to top competing tires, you could find that it costs less than you may think to own the best.

Sister Dies In United States

Sympathy is being extended to Sister Hermance LeBlanc of Bathurst following the death of her sister, Mrs. Eddie Gautreau (Rosanne) of Pre d'en Haut on April 21.

Mrs. Gautreau died in Springfield, Mass., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rene Bourgeois.

Born at Fox Creek, she was a daughter of the late Nastom and Sylvie (Dupuis) LeBlanc. Her husband died last November.

Surviving are two daughters, eight sons, five brothers and five sisters including Sister LeBlanc.

Mrs. Gautreau rested at Dupuis Funeral Home, Memramcook.

The funeral was held at Notre Dame de L'Annonciation Church in Pre d'en Haut Sunday at 4 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in the Pre d'en Haut cemetery later this spring

Minister Releases Tax Rate Figures

Bathurst's inside local tax rate for this year is 1.0123, a drop from last year's 1.2554, Municipal Affairs Minister Horace Smith announced April 19.

The figures for all New Brunswick cities, towns and villages show an overall reduction in municipal rates, reflecting a broader tax base and increased assessments, Mr. Smith said in a press release.

Unconditional grants to municipalities are up more than $6 million over 1976, and property assessments have increased by an average of 30 per cent since 1974, he said.

These two factors, says Mr. Smith, are largely responsible for the overall reduction in municipal rates. The new tax base has increased to $5.258 billion, up from $3.916 billion in 1974.

Unconditional grants to municipalities are up $6.3 million to $41.209 million from 1976 figures.

Following is a list of local town and village tax rates, giving first the rate for 1977 then the rate for 1976:

Caraquet	.7790	1.1420
Shippegan	.6880	.9960
Tracadie	.6570	.9954
Bas-Caraquet	.8944	1.0814
Belledune	.1307	.2339

PET NEWS

Some Facts On Distemper

By Marguerite Morrison

Distemper is a highly infectious disease among cats and dogs. It is carried by fleas or other insects, by direct contact with a sick dog, or by saliva left on utensils used by an animal that has distemper.

To prevent distemper, your pet must be vaccinated at the age of two months and have a booster shot every year. You should also destroy all beding and utensils used by a sick animal.

There is no real cure for distemper, so call your vet and have him advise you when your puppy or kitten is young. Do not wait as it will be too late after it contracts the disease.

Pet owners: Distemper is on the increase. Several cases have been brought to the attention of the Animal Shelter. Act now to prevent your pet from catching it.

Social and Personal

By Marg Jamieson,

Woman's Editor

Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Hachey returned home April 14 from a winter vacation at Friendship Villa at Redington Shores, Florida. Leaving here Dec. 29, they spent New Years as guests of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hachey and family at Midland Park, New Jersey and on their return, they spent Easter weekend there again. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hachey during their sojourn in Florida were their son Mr. Ralph Hachey and wife Helen from Bathurst for a week. Mrs. Hachey's sister and husband, Anita and Jack France from Toronto for a week, as well as Donald and wife from New Jersey for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Winton and children Sandra, Lori and Danny have returned from a two week vacation at St. Petersburg Beach in Florida. The family also visited Tampa, Sarasota, and Disney World and Sea World, among many attractions in the Orlando area.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynhoudt, Antwerp, Belgium, were guests for several days last week of the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Reynhoudt and family. The visitors travelled here especially for the opening days of the new Canadian Tire Store, of which enterprise Jos. Reynhoudt is the owner-manager.

Mrs. George Davis, Campbellton, spent a recent weekend in the city, the guest of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry White and family, Parkside Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gallagher and children Cynthia and Bryce returned on Saturday to Port Cartier, Que., after visiting with Mrs. Gallagher's mother, Mrs. Fabien Lavigne, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallagher and families since Easter. A guest over the Easter weekend of Mrs. Lavigne was another daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harm Meindersma from Dollard des Ormeaux, Que.

Mr. Patrick Kenny, an employee of Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. and Mrs. Kenny have returned to the city after spending a three-week vacation at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and vicinity. They were guests of the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Richards (nee Marjorie Allain, a native of Bathurst) at Boca Raton, also of their niece Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shutter (the former Florence Stever of Bathurst), at Fort Lauderdale. During their vacation, the Kennys were joined by their daughter Mrs. Paul Castonguay (Grace), her husband and their 10-year-old son Gilles from Ottawa, during the Ontario mid-term break. Mrs. Castonguay, who is on the teaching staff of the Orleans School in Ottawa and family and the Kennys spent several days at Orlando and visited Disney World, Kennedy Space Centre and Sea World, among other attractions. En route home, they visited Mr. Kenny's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Frenette (Agatha) in Montreal, then later travelled on a motor trip to Ottawa to visit Mr. and Mrs. Kenny's sons Richard and wife Jacinthe and Peter and his wife Bernice, and again with daughter Grace and family. They returned March 27 via plane to Chatham, concluding a pleasant holiday.

KINETTES PREPARE FOR SATURDAY'S SALE

Members of the Bathurst Kinette Club are busy sorting out a variety of good used items for their annual rummage sale set for this Saturday in the basement of Holy Family Church, St. Peter Avenue. The doors will be open from 10 a.m. until 12 o'clock noon. Project chairman, Sharon Cowan, centre, is assisted by Paulette Jessop, left, Marilyn Hatheway, right, and Jane Branch, standing in back. A wide variety of clothing as well as many other useful articles including dishes, cameras, books, etc. will be on display. There will be a small admission fee for adults, but children accompanied by a parent will be admitted free of charge.

Legion Auxiliary Command Finalizes Convention Plans

At a recent meeting of the executive of Auxiliary Command to the New Brunswick Command, Royal Canadian Legion held in Saint John, plans were finalized for the annual convention to be held in Bathurst June 2 - 4 inclusive.

As this is the "Golden Anniversary" for the Auxiliary Command, a large attendance is expected, with registrations to begin at the Legion Hall, St. Peter Avenue, on Thursday, June 2 at 2:00 p.m.

Meeting chairman was the president, Mrs. Joyce Lockhart, Moncton. Others present at the meeting, held at the Admiral Beatty Hotel, included: Mrs. Margaret Agnew, provincial secretary; Mrs. Blanche Green, treasurer; Mrs. Murray Henderson, immediate past president; Mrs. Fenton Daley, Bathurst, honorary provincial president.

Mrs. Rosamond Wilmot, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Vivienne Bishop, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Anne Holder, 3rd vice-president.

Councillors attending were: Mrs. Mary Watling, Mrs. Wanda Jonah, Mrs. Betty McDougall, Mrs. Kathleen McLeod, Mrs. Ida Blythe, Mrs. Kay Garvie and Mrs. Mary Kingston.

Reports showed a membership of 6,511 in New Brunswick. There are 239 life members and 302 members.

Recommendations for awards were read by the secretary and there were 11 Certificates of Merit and 11 Life memberships were approved.

The scholarship report was given by Mrs. Wilmot. Mrs. Bishop reported on seminars; Mrs. Holder gave the report on publicity and Mrs. Lockhart on hospital.

Plans were discussed for purchasing an organ to be placed in Ridgewood Hospital, with all auxiliaries contributing to the project.

At the close of the meeting, the provincial president of Legion Command, John Fortune, was welcomed, and an informative session followed.

Non Smokers Report Heard

President Joan Kovats chaired the regular monthly meeting of the Bathurst area Non Smokers Association held in the group's meeting room in Nepisiguit Centennial Library April 13.

Secretary-Treasurer Joan Boudreau reviewed previous business and presented a statement regarding sale of the Non-Smokers T-shirts.

Nicole Henry gave a report on the successful Non-Smokers display held recently in the K-mart Mall. The display was in conjunction with the local Cancer Society's promotion of the hazards of smoking.

Many smokers and non-smokers obtained the numerous pamphlets and posters that were available. Unfortunately, it was noted the supply of non-smoker's buttons was exhausted early.

The local non-smokers association presently is circulating a petition in the local schools, seeking the support of senior students in the enforcement of the No Smoking regulations on school buses.

The Bathurst Area Non-Smokers Assn. meetings are open to interested non-smokers as well as to smokers who are interested in obtaining assistance and information in their efforts to stop smoking.

MISS FREEMAN MR. ALBERT

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Freeman of Dartmouth and Greenfield, N.S. (formerly of Bathurst), and Mr. and Mrs. J. Martial Albert of Caraquet, announce the engagement of their children Anna and Julien. Mr. Albert has a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of New Brunswick and resides in St. John's, Newfoundland. The wedding will take place on Saturday, May 21st in Greenfield, Queens County, N.S.

ANN LANDERS

In Defense Of Flight Attendant

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Friends and Relatives: I am a female flight attendant. (Formerly known as a stewardess or air hostess.)

For six and a half years I have worked for one of the major airlines. I cannot describe my feelings when I turned on the TV recently and heard a popular female comedienne answer the question: "What is your definition of a flight attendant?" She replied: "A tramp."

This "tramp" spent eight weeks in intensive training to earn her wings. I can serve cocktails and a complete meal (from soup to nuts) in one hour and fifteen minutes. Three flight attendants can take care of 114 passengers.

I am trained to treat medical problems ranging from scratches and burns to broken limbs and heart attacks. I can handle any emergency, including artificial respiration.

I've been given instructions on how to evacuate a plane in a matter of seconds. Our major concern is for the safety of the passengers. Some of my co-workers have lost their lives in an effort to save yours.

I am a babysitter. I have changed diapers, warmed bottles and fed infants so a tired mother could rest or take care of a second child.

I have cajoled, counseled and humored passengers who are frightened, lonesome, intoxicated and just plain obnoxious.

I have listened patiently to people who need to tell a stranger their troubles -- sort of a "sky-based Ann Landers," you might say.

I work very hard -- harder than most people realize -- both mentally and physically. Please print this letter so your readers will understand what the life of a flight attendant is really like. I'm -- Proud Of Me.

DEAR PROUD: You have a right to be. I've seen you and your winged sisters work feverishly to get everyone fed, tray tables removed and passengers strapped in before landing. Sometimes you make it by a matter of seconds. It's extraordinary!

Let's hear it for the dedicated, hard-working flight attendants who keep a smile on their faces after a grueling day that may have begun at 5:00 a.m., for all we know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do I have a problem or is it my mother who has one? I am a girl, age 14.

It seems that whenever I am dressing or undressing my mother walks in on me. I have to grab the nearest thing to cover myself. Then she goes into a rage and screams, "What is the matter with you? Why do you get upset when I come in and see you naked? After all, I'm your mother!"

All I can say is I feel embarrassed to have ANYONE see me naked. Please don't suggest a lock on the door. I already have and Mother won't hear of it. I told her I was writing to you and she said, "Fine. I'd like to hear what Ann Landers has to say on the subject." So here I am, Ann. What's your message? -- No Stripper In G.C.

DEAR N.S.: Some 14-year-old girls don't mind if their mothers see them naked. Since you obviously DO mind, I feel your mother should respect your right to privacy -- just as you would respect hers. A knock on a closed door before entering is nothing more than good manners.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers's guide to "Necking and Petting -- What Are the Limits?" Sent your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Ardith Russell Heads Holy Family Council C.W.L.

Following a mass said for their intentions, members of Holy Family Council of the Catholic Women's League of Canada held their annual meeting in the Parish Hall.

Meeting chairman was Mrs. Florence Roussy, president. The council director, Rev. Noel Cormier was present.

Annual reports from the various conveners were presented. Secretary Mrs. Dora Luce read the minutes of the previous year's annual meeting. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Elsie Baldwin and a substantial balance was noted.

The chair was vacated for the election of officers and Mrs. Anna Wesenberg acted as chairperson.

The officers for the 1977-78 year are: Mrs. Ardith Russell, president; Mrs. Dora Luce, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Mary Tremblay, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Lucy Jarratt, 3rd president; Mrs. Elsie Baldwin, secretary; and Mrs. Bernice Power, treasurer.

Father Cormier presented the gavel in a solmn ceremony to Mrs. Roussel, who, in turn, presented the past president's pin to Mrs. Roussy.

The newly-elected president then led the group in prayer.

Plans were made for a social evening on the feast of Our Lady of Good Council, the patroness of the council.

Mrs. Emily Doucet was appointed to chair the committee in charge of the Brownie mother-and-daughter supper to be held during May.

A $25 donation was voted upon for the Girl Guide Company sponsored by the council.

It was announced that the Bathurst Diocesan convention will be held April 30 - May 1 here at Sacred Heart Parish Hall, sponsored by Sacred Heart Council.

RECEIVES DONATIONS FROM L. A. GROUP

Nepisiguit District Local Association president Roland Furlotte, centre, presents Brown Owl Jeannine Duguay, left and Guide Lieutenant Mary Gauthier with $20 cheques. The Nepisiguit District L. A. recently disbanded and donations were made to the 1st Bathurst Brownie Pack and the 1st Bathurst Guide Company to be used in work in the respective groups. In lieu of the L.A. and other district associations within the Gloucester Division, a Parents Committee is currently in its formation stages. It is interesting to note that Mrs. Gauthier as Tawny Owls (assistant) in the 1st Brownie pack and Mrs. Duguay assists the Guide Company as lieutenant.

Newcastle Kinettes Visit Local Group

Paulette Jessop was hostess for the regular meeting of Bathurst Kinette Club on April 20 when two Kinettes from the Newcastle club, Jean Hoskins and Valerie Walsh were present.

The meeting opened with the Kinette prayer and song led by Elizabeth Chiasson. The minutes were read by Linda Kenny, secretary.

Treasurer Aurea Poirier's report was approved. Business arising from the committee reports included a report on catering to a dinner meeting for the Bathurst Kinsmen Club on April 14.

Plans have been finalized for the spring rummage sale to be held April 30 in the basement of Holy Family Church. The doors will open at 10 a.m. and those interested were urged to be present early for the best selection.

Resolutions for the spring zone were discussed and members decided who they would be voting at this meeting, scheduled for April 22 - 24 at Newcastle.

Club historian, Jane Branch said the club's scrapbook is ready and will be taken to the zone convention for judging.

Kinsmen President George Chiasson was welcomed to the meeting by Joyce Fisher, president. Mr. Chiasson said the Kinsmen greatly appreciated their catering to dinner meetings once a month. He also noted that co-operation between the two clubs had been very good and said the Kinsmen had indicated they are willing to help Kinettes on projects when called upon.

Jane Branch, nominating committee chairman, listed the candidates running for office. Elections for the new executive for 1977-78 will be held May 4.

Maple leaf chairman Elizabeth Chiasson presented Jane Branch with her Maple Leaf Award.

Mrs. Chiasson, also registrar chairman, report ten of the 11 members of the club, plus one honorary member were present.

Fines mistress Marilyn Hatheway gave her report.

Following the meeting, members held a baby shower for Lucille Desjardins.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 4.

New Slate Of Officers For Holy Rosary CWL

JOYCE THIBODEAU

Holy Rosary Council Catholic Women's League met in the Parish Hall of Our Lady of the Rosary Church for its regular monthly meeting April 14.

President Natalie DeGrace called the meeting to order and members recited the League prayer. The minutes read by Secretary Jean Boylan were approved. The treasurer's and conveners' reports were heard.

Organization convener, Mrs. Stella Doucet, brought in the scrap-book for inspection and all members present thought it was excellent. The book will be displayed at the Diocesan convention.

Council Director Rev. Joseph Roche was not present and was missed by members. Fr. Roche takes an active part at meetings and leads many interesting and lively discussions.

Correspondence, and new and old business read and discussed included details of the up-coming Pro-Life Day, the Diocesan convention and Development and Peace to which fund a $50 donation will be sent.

Discussion also took place on the mother-daughter banquet for the Brownies which groups is sponsored by the council, and the reception for first communicants late in May.

The regular meeting was adjourned for election of officers. the new slate is as follows:

Elections officer was Mrs. Verret, with Mrs. Boylan as secretary.

Following elections, the retiring president Mrs. DeGrace congratulated the new executive and passed on the president's pin to Mrs. Thibodeau.

Mrs. Thibodeau thanked the members, and asked for their support, promising her very best effort during her coming term of office.

Conveners were appointed as follows: Marvel Colton, church life; Anne Marie Doucet, cultural life; Stella Doucet, organization; Mrs. Verret, community life and the president, Mrs. Thibodeau, publicity and public relations.

In concluding the meeting, the new president thanked and complimented Mrs. DeGrace for her dedication and excellent work towards the council, and said its success thus far was, to a large degree, due to her efforts.

Following adjournment, coffee and a light lunch was served.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, May 5.

Goguen and Celia Jamieson plan to attend the Beta Sigma Phi convention to be held at Sebasco, Maine early in June.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by Mrs. MacDonald.

May, being membership month, new members will be welcomed. Meetings are held in the church hall at 8 p.m. with mass at 7:30 p.m. Membership fee this year is $3.00.

U.C.W. Group Is Reminded Of Presbyterial On Apr. 30

Members of South Teteagouche United Church women were reminded, at their April 20 meeting, of the 15th annual U.C.W. Presbyterial meeting to be held at St. Andrew's United Church, Tide Head on April 30.

The meeting will commence at 9 a.m. Guest speakers will be Dr. R. H. Barker and Rev. Heber Kean who will speak on communications.

The meeting, chaired by the president Mrs. Kenneth Vance, was opened by members repeating the U.C.W. purpose.

The devotional period entitled "Easter Exhortations" was led by Mrs. Hugh Smyth, and opened with call to worship taken from John 16:20. Scripture reading from John 20:1-16 was by Mrs. Gordon Vance.

The hymns were Jesus Christ is Risen Today and Throned Upon The Awful Tree. After the offering was dedicated, the worship period concluded with prayers.

The president led Bible study on St. Matthew 13:1-30.

Missionary convener Mrs. Ian Oliver read an article from the April issue of the mandate by Agnes M. Clive, entitled Human Relations In Mission Service.

Roll call was answered by nine members. Reading of the minutes was followed by the financial report given by the treasurer, Mrs. Donald MacIntosh.

Correspondence read by Mrs. Sanford Smyth included a thank-you note from Mrs. Ervine Good. Mrs. I Oliver read a letter from Douglas Graham, executive director of the Leprosy Mission expressing thanks for a shipment of used postage stamps from the unit.

It was agreed to purchase church calendars for the year 1978, also that all bills be paid.

Coin cards, in conjunction with the unit's Lenten Stewardship project on World Development, were submitted to the project convener, Mrs. William Oliver who was authorized to give the total sum to the local church treasurer for the mission and service fund.

All money given in this Lenten project will be forwarded, via the M and S Fund, to the World Council of Churches' World Development Relief fund programs in order that "the hungry can feed themselves."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Vance who, along with Mrs. Sanford Smyth, will provide the lunch.

Lunch was served by the ladies in charge after the meeting adjourned with the singing of Women Of God Arise.

MISS RICHARD

PLAN OCTOBER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Richard of Bathurst are proud to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Brenda Lee, to Mr. Kerry Taggart, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Glazier, also of Bathurst. The wedding is set for October 1st, at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, East Bathurst.

Local History Speaker's Topic

The new officers of Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi for 1977-78 were inducted at the April 13 meeting of the group held at the home of Mrs. Sharon MacDonald.

Ceremonies were conducted by the vice-president, Madeline Sirois immediately following opening procedures. The officers are:

A program of local history was presented by Clara Goguen and Rosemary McGrath.

Mrs. Goguen introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Maude Smyth who has done much research on the history of Bathurst.

Mrs. Smyth said she became interested in Bathurst history through her work with the Canada Studies Program. Much of her information was obtained from church and school records and local folk stories.

Mrs. Smyth's presentation dated back to 1534 and included such facts as how Bathurst was named; how the city streets were planned; and the locations of many public buildings.

The next meeting will be a ritual of jewels for new members.

It was learned that Clara

MAPLE TIME

John Burroughs, an American naturalist in 1886 said that "a sap run is the sweet good-bye of winter. It is the fruit of the equal marriage of the sun and frost". The softening of the snow crust and the sun moving northward are sure signs of spring and maple tapping activity. Although the exact details of the origin of our Canadian maple industry are not recorded it is known that the early explorers found the Indians drawing sap from the maple tree by cutting into it and then boiling the sap down to make sugar.

The first Canadians imitated the Indians and used their primitive methods and equipment for sugar-making. Today the maple industry uses modern equipment to meet the demand for maple products. The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, suggests a few points when buying or storing Canadians maple products.

BUYING: There are several reasons why maple products cost more than other syrups and sugars. In order to make one gallon of syrup, 30 or 40 gallons of sap are required. There is a great deal of work and expense involved in the production of syrup and in the "sugaring off" process. The production of maple syrup is seasonal and the output is relatively small. However, the important thing to remember about maple is, that it is one of Canada's unique sweets and it represents a colorful part of our heritage.

The sale of maple products by grade is not compulsory in Canada except within the province of Quebec. A Quebec-produced maple product sold in another province need not be graded. Federal legislation specifies composition standards for pure maple products and forbids the use of the word "maple" in the description of a syrup, sugar, sugar butter, sugar cream or taffy which is not a pure maple product.

The containers must be marked with the common name of the product, the net weight of the contents, the name and address of the manufacturer, packer or producer and his license number if he is operating between provinces. If the product is sold by grade, the grade must be marked on the container. There are four federal grades for maple syrup - Canada Fancy, Canada Light, Canada Medium and Canada Dark. In Quebec there is a grade "Amber C" between Canada Medium and Canada Dark.

STORING: Maple syrup should be stored in a cool, dry place. Once the container has been opened, it should be stored in the refrigerator and the container kept capped to prevent air from entering. To keep a gallon of syrup over a period of several weeks, the syrup should be brought to a boil and bottled in sterilized glass sealers or other jars of convenient size.

USES: The uses for maple are endless. Maple syrup can be used in puddings, pies, cakes as toppings or in icings or to add flavor to drinks. However, most people like to use maple as is, as a topping for waffles and pancakes or spooned over ice cream.

For more information on maple products, write for the free "maple booklet" at the above address.

Death Occurs At Allardville

The death of Mrs. Pierre Dugas, R.R. 3, Allardville, occurred April 17 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Domine Lanteigne in Allardville. She was 87.

Born at Pokemouche, she was the former Helene Landry, a daughter of the late Sivret and Elizabeth (Robichaud) Landry.

Mrs. Dugas moved to Allardville in 1934 as one of the original settlers and continued to reside in the community.

She belonged to Les Retraits Allardville senior citizens' group and was a member of the Ladies of St. Anne.

Her husband died in 1967.

Surviving are four sons, Joseph of Bathurst, Theophile of Montreal, Michel, Saint John and Antoine, Allardville; five daughters, Mrs. Aime Theriault (Yvonne) of Allardville, Mrs. Maxime Godin (Eveline) of Caraquet, Mrs. Marcel Foubert (Rita) of Montreal, Mrs. Philippe Lanteigne (Domine) of Allardville and Mrs. Antoine Gionet (Lazarine) of Saint John.

One stepson, Celestin Dugas of Bathurst; one brother, Germain Landry of Watertown, N.Y.; 48 grandchildren and 65 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Dugas rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home, Bathurst.

The funeral was held at Christ the King Church at Allardville Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery in Allardville later this spring.

Harold Dick, 60 Dies In Ontario

The death of a former Bathurst man, Harold Dick, of 5 Manitoba St., Marathon, Ont., occurred unexpectedly March 20 at his residence. He was 60.

Born and educated in Bathurst, he was a son of the late William and Agatha Dick. He served with the Sherbrook Fusiliers in World War II and had resided at Marathon since 1947.

Mr. Dick had worked at the paper mill in Marathon and had retired at the end of the past year.

Surviving are his wife, the former Bertha Bezeau (a native of Miscou) of Marathon; three sons, Patrick of Marathon, William of Burnaby, B.C. and Michael of Squamish, B.C.; and three granddaughters.

Also surviving are three brothers, Leo and Thomas, both of Marathon and Kenneth of Cornwall, Ont.; and two sisters, Mrs. Douglas Mackey (Lois) and Mrs. Glen Traplin (Catherine), both of Marathon.

The funeral was held March 20 at Holy Saviour Church with Rev. B.A. Campbell officiating.

An honor guard was formed by members of Branch 183, Royal Canadian Legion, of which he was a member.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT FORM 17

NOTICE OF ADVANCE POLL

(SECTION 44)

Electoral School Districts Nos. 4, 5, 6 and 7

Take notice, that pursuant to the provisions of the Municipalities Act, an advance poll will be held in each of the above mentioned Electoral School Districts at the following places:

Electoral School District No. 4 - at the Regional Centre Bldg., Bathurst, N.B.

And further take notice that the said Advance Polling Stations will be opened on Friday, the 29th day of April 1977 from the hours of five o'clock to ten o'clock in the evening and on Saturday, the 30th day of April 1977, from the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon to three o'clock in the afternoon, and that any voter of the Electoral School District whose name appears on the list of voters for one of the polling stations in the above mentioned Electoral School Districts and who is entitled to the privilege of voting at an Advance Poll, may vote in advance at the above mentioned location for his school District.

And further take notice that the privilege of voting at an advance poll extends only to persons qualified to vote who have reason to believe that on polling day, they will be absent from and unable to vote in their Polling Division; or are physically incapacitated and would have difficulty by reason of such incapacity to vote on polling day; or are officers appointed under subsection (1) of section 46 of the Municipalities Act.

And further take notice that Advance Poll Certificates can be had only from the Presiding Officer at the Advance Polling Station during advance polling hours in the said Electoral School Districts.

Dated at the City of Fredericton, County of York, Province of New Brunswick, this 27th day of April, 1977.

Diocesan Emphasis On Church, Christian Life

The 55th annual Bathurst Diocesan convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada was held here April 30 - May 1 in the Knights of Columbus Hall, hosted by Sacred Heart Council. Approximately 100 attended with 13 out of 15 councils being represented.

The meeting opened with prayers led by the diocesan director, Rev. Omer Parker Dalhousie. On behalf of the hostessing council, the president Mrs. Dorothy Veniot extended greetings to the delegates. Rev. J. Emile Fournier, pastor of Sacred Heart Cathedral, extended a welcome.

Business sessions were chaired by Mrs. Donald Irvine, Glen Levit, diocesan president, who stressed the importance of increasing membership. She urged members not to be afraid to accept office or convenerships as there is always someone to help.

Roll call and a report of the convention meeting was read by the recording secretary, Mrs. David Bolton, Campbellton. Helen Thibodeau, Bathurst, gave the treasurer's report and correspondence was read by Mrs. Marguerite Normandeau, Dalhousie.

SPECIAL PROJECT

In reporting on church life, Miss Martina Riordon, Riordon, revealed one council conducted a special thanksgiving project whereby homegrown produce and homemade cooking are offered at mass and later distributed to needy families. Miss Riordon urged other councils to adopt this project.

The communications report on Mrs. Patrick Chesser. Glen Levit, encouraged councils to keep scrap books for future reference. Resolutions were read by Mrs. Irene Callaghan, Richardsville, and Mrs. Dora Luce, Bathurst, reported on community life.

An active membership of approximately 1,000 members was reported by project convener Mrs. Hectorine O'Neil, Belledune.

The Christian family life convener, Mrs. Lorraine Jensen of Dalhousie, and cultural life convener, Mrs. Leandre Landry, Belledune, both presented interesting reports. Mrs. Landry said two scholarships were awarded, one to Lyse Doucet, Bathurst, and the other to David Van Zeeland, Campbellton.

Mrs. C. A. O. Morris, provincial president, Moncton, urged parish councils to give financial support towards the television program "Mass For Shut-Ins". She spoke about the provincial newsletter with a message from the provincial director, Msgr. Donald Duffie, Fredericton and the conclusions of a workshop to be distributed to the conveners and put into action during the next three years.

Mrs. Morris also extended an invitation to attend the provincial convention in Moncton June 3 - 5.

Mrs. Ann Hay, national secretary-treasurer, Bathurst congratulated the councils for the immense amount of work being done.

SERVICE HELD

Girl Guides led the procession for the celebration of mass led by Rev. Omer J. Parker. Past diocesan president, Mrs. William Smith, Bathurst was commentator and scripture readings were by Mrs. Donald Irvine and Miss M. Riordon. The service was held at Sacred Heart Cathedral Sunday at 11 a.m. The cathedral choir was under the direction of Miss Claire Cyr.

In his homily, Father Parker spoke on the convention theme, "The Great Voice of God Calls out for the Fullness of Life", dealing with the question, "Do you really live out your life as a Christian and bring out the voice of God which is within each one of us". In relation to Vocation Sunday, he said "The harvest is great but the labourers are few" and the home is the garden for vocations.

Following noon luncheon served by the hostess council, business resumed.

Sister Rose, Bathurst, spoke on "The Role of Parents in Fostering Vocations", stressing family prayer in a way of speaking and listening to God. Parents prepare the soil for vocations, said Sister Rose, concluding with a reminder that the Catholic Women's League of Canada can be a power for renewal in the church.

A panel of three from Holy Rosary Council in Bathurst, Mrs. Natalie DeGrace (chairman), Mrs. Joyce Thibodeau and Mrs. Stella Doucet presented their views on "The Role of Women in the Church" which was received with applause and enthusiasm.

A treasurer's workshop was held, under the direction of Miss Helen Thibodeau, diocesan treasurer, Bathurst.

Mrs. J. C. Kean, life member, Campbellton, presented the scrap book award to Holy Rosary Council. The book was compiled by Mrs. Stella Doucet.

An invitation was received

PURSUE CAUSE

Encouraged by some respite offered by City Council, the Youghal and Carron Point Property Owners Assn., will now present its tax adjustment case to the Provincial Government.

A delegation headed by Al Buzas as spokesman, Gerald Milton and David Mason, journeys to Fredericton Thursday where they have an appointment for a hearing with Hon. Horace Smith, minister of municipal affairs.

MYTH DESTROYED

Among the more persistent myths that have grown up around ethnic food (like the Chinese and their chop suey, etc.) in this country is one that corned beef is "an Emerald Isle classic", that it was a favorite in the Old Country and brought to this land by immigrants.

Actually, corned beef and cabbage was a food combination created in this country after an estimated 1-million Irish arrived after the great potato famine of 1846 through 1851.

The horrors of the famine, caused by potato blight, cannot be exaggerated. When it struck Ireland more than one million persons died of starvation and

Concert Of Stars Set For Tonight

The highlight of the 27th annual Bathurst Music Festival is the "Concert of the Stars" which will take place tonight, Wednesday, in Nepisiguit High School auditorium starting at 7:30 p.m.

This annual concert is the culmination of six days of adjudications during which nearly 500 entries were listed. The evening's program will comprise the top performers in a wide range of classes from sight reading and piano to vocal instrumental, choral and recorder selections.

Carole Arseneau who has competed in both vocal and piano classes in past festivals, now studying music at Moncton University, received the highest mark for vocal renditions. Her mark of 95 was awarded by the adjudicator Sister Maryse Moisan Monday evening for Schubert's "Liebesbotschaft" in the sacred solos, open class.

In the senior choral group, Chorale Voidunor of East Bathurst also received 95 marks for their presentation of a selection of their own choice, "Adieu Belle Foret" by F. Mendelssohn.

Emilie Lagace received 92.5, the highest mark in sight reading sessions held the first day of the festival, April 28, in the pianoforte Grade 6 class.

The Grade two pianoforte class resulted in a tied mark of 93 as highest in the piano category Friday afternoon. The winners were Lorraine Leger who achieved honors for her presentation of Zlica's "Mon petit oiseau est mort" and Michele Pouliot for "Pledglings" by Jessie Furze.

The above and many other talented performers will be heard during this evening's two-hour program.

Among these will be the family group of Mrs. Jean Boylan, Cynthia, Mary Ellen, Anne and Kevin Boylan who will sing "My Shadow and I," for which they were awarded the high mark of 94.

Presentations of keeper trophies to the various winners will be made by the festival committee president, Hadley Wood.

Festival committee officials who report the six days of adjudications which wound up Tuesday afternoon were a decided success, are hoping for continued support from the general public at tonight's final concert.

Candidates Are Due For Public Exposure

Tomorrow Thursday evening, May 5, Bathurst citizens will have the opportunity to see and hear in person the men nominated for mayor and city council in the May 9 municipal election.

Sponsored by Bathurst Chamber of Commerce, a "Meet Your Candidate Night" is being held in the Legion Auditorium, commencing at 8:00 p.m. Radio Station CKBC will broadcast the proceedings from the opening gong until 10:00 p.m.

The Chamber has invited all candidates to attend the meeting in order to provide a forum in which to express their opinions on election issues. Arrangements for the affair were completed under the direction of Doug Baker.

Nick Dimitroff will act as chairman for the occasion and after extending welcoming remarks, George Chiasson will introduce the various principals.

The following set of rules will be adhered to:

Candidates for council will speak first in the order as they had drawn their names prior to 8:00 p.m.

Each candidate will be allotted seven minutes in which to address the audience. The chairman will give a one minute warning to ensure this time limit is complied with.

A question and answer period will follow the candidate's talk. Each individual asking a question is required to identify himself or herself, the ward in which they reside and the candidate to whom the inquiry is directed.

The chairman will have the right to rephrase any question as well as re-direct a question to another candidate.

Only one reply to a question will be permitted.

Federal Minister's Message Is Awaited

Hon. Andre Ouellet, federal Minister of State for Urban Affairs, could have some interesting announcements to make when he addresses the annual dinner meeting of Bathurst Chamber of Commerce at Danny's Colonial House Saturday evening, May 7.

Accompanied by Herb Breau, MP for Gloucester, Mr. Ouellet is due to arrive in the city at noon. Later in the day he will hold a press conference.

Recently the minister, in his capacity as Liberal Party organizer for that province, has been occupied with the current by-election campaigns in Quebec.

It is expected that Mr. Ouellet's remarks here will deal with the national decentralization program as it concerns Bathurst, federal housing policies and the post-FRED agreement affecting the North Shore. He will no doubt also have some comments on the national unity issue.

Frank Hay will preside as master of ceremonies at the meeting which will be preceded by complimentary cocktails between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m., and followed by a dance to music by the Mystic. A large number of Chamber of Commerce members and guests and other interested people are expected to attend all three functions.

Beach Homeowners Make Some Headway

A delegation of concerned taxpayers representing the Youghal and Carron Point Property Owners Association who presented a four-page submission to City Council Monday will have their request considered in the fall when the 1978 budget is drawn up.

The submission, read by Al Buzas who is chairman of the association's tax committee, explained the plight of cottage owners within the city limits who are faced with an increase in taxes on beachfront property.

The brief pointed out that because there is no provision in the present municipal tax structure which takes into account the curtailment or seasonal restriction of services for about 75 per cent of the year, cottage owners contribute about four times more for services.

"This injustice is further compounded when you consider that most cottage owners are also taxpayers on residential property within the city and therefore, in certain instances, are paying twice for the same services", the spokesman said.

Mr. Buzas indicated that other centres in New Brunswick have instituted a dual rate municipal tax structure for serviced and partially serviced land.

"This committee wishes to emphasize that the Youghal and Carron Point Property Owners Association is not requesting increased services beyond those that should be reasonably expected for areas containing seasonally occupied dwellings", he concluded. "We are petitioning council to make adjustments in the municipal tax rate so that it more closely reflects the level of services provided."

Other members of the tax committee were listed as Tom White, Kevin Mann, Mrs. Lawrence Anderson, Gerald Milton, David Mason, Barry Williamson, Frances Fournier and Mrs. Brian Johnson.

Councillor Joe MacNeil wondered if the committee was aware that the budget for this year was set, or if the property owners were looking for a tax rebate. "Will you wait until a new budget is drawn up ... one fall, or are you going after a decrease now?"

Mr. Buzas replied the property owners have been advised to pay their taxes as tabulated this year, but the group would seek a new rate next year.

Councillor Terry Lenihan [illegible]

SLATE ELECTED - FESTIVAL DATES SET

The executive of the Nigadoo Miners Festival was recently elected at the Nigadoo Community Hall. The festival is cheduled for August 25-28. Seated from the left are Pierre Guitard, director; Lise Pitre, treasurer, and Joe Comeau, president; standing, Flavien Arseneau, director; Therese Comeau, secretary; Elmer Roach, director, and Wilbrod Aubie, vice president.

City Council Denies Lions' Club Request

An attempt by the Bathurst Lions Club to have the City of Bathurst enforce its established policy on carnivals and, more specifically, to adhere to the provision which states there must be an interval of two months between shows, was rejected Monday evening by City Council.

Appearing on behalf of the local service club was Hal Winter, director, who noted that the group has relied on carnivals as a major fund-raising project for over 20 years.

"However," he noted, "the Lions had been requested not to sponsor a carnival during festival week because it could prove detrimental to other planned events.

"It is difficult to comprehend and most discouraging and disappointing to learn through the news media of council's decision to approve another application which is contrary to the established policy", Mr. Winter stated.

Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin reiterated an earlier stand that other festival events would suffer from the presence of a carnival. "We should honor the wishes of the Lions Club who spend a great deal of their funds on the youth of this city."

However, Coun. Terry Lenihan pointed out that a council majority had voted to rescind the policy. He wanted to know if the Lions were in favor of allowing only one carnival per summer.

Coun. Joe MacNeil pointed out that the change in policy had come about as a result of the withdrawal of one of the festival's largest sponsors. He thought the commission should have its circus to help make up for the loss of revenue, as did Coun. Robert Hodgins.

Taken to a vote under new business, council decided 6-1 to deny the request from the Lions Club. Opposed was Deputy Mayor McLaughlin.

In other business relating to the summer festival, council was informed by the Downtown Merchants Association of plans for an arcade in the city centre again this year. Council agreed to draw up a resolution to allow for one-way vehicular traffic proceeding easterly from the traffic circle to the Main Street-Miramichi Avenue intersection, according to the request of the merchants.

Councillors Val Saulnier, Terry Lenihan and Pat McLaughlin will serve on a committee named to prepare and present a brief to the Canadian Transport Commission hearing in Bathurst June 8.

Money Matter Delays Street Construction

A request from Eddy Housing Limited that would see the paving of streets and curb construction in Forest Glen Subdivision has been tabled by Bathurst City Council pending the outcome of a proposed meeting between the two sides.

At Monday's regular meeting of council, the final session before municipal elections are held May 9, council heard remarks from Greg Colbourne, general manager of the local real estate firm, who wondered why the work had not been included in the 1977 capital works budget.

"The work in question had originally been set for 1976, but was postponed with our knowledge because of a lack of funds on the part of the city. However, we had expected to see the work included in this year's budget. We have invested $¾ million in this subdivision, and would appreciate it if the city kept it's side of the agreement."

Mr. Colbourne added that one of the reasons given for the second delay, a lack of housing fronting on the subdivision roads, was not a part of the subdivision agreement, and should therefore not stand in the way.

COMPETE AS PIANO SESSIONS CONCLUDE

EXECUTIVES ELECTED AT JAYCEE CHARTER NIGHT

At a Bathurst Jaycees' charter night held at Danny's Colonial House April 29, the Jaycees and Jaycettes were served a buffet dinner followed by a dance with music supplied by a group named Highway 11. Guest speaker for the evening was Marcel Coulombe who was introduced by Gary Lyons and thanked by Brian Teod. Mr. Coulombe, who is president of the Bathurst Recreation Centre Inc. Committee, enlightened his audience on the proposed complex for Coronation park. Master of ceremonies was Frank Glendenning. Awards were presented to members of both groups before the installation of officers. Seated is the Jaycettes' new executive, from the left are: Diane Doucet, Treasurer; Marilyn Glendenning, past president; Susan Comeau, president; Phyllis Boudreau, vice-president; and Joy Chapman, secretary. Standing is the Jaycees' slate of officers, from the left are: John Neeleman, 1st vice-president; Morley Foran, treasurer; Larry Chapman, president; Bill Comeau, past president; Edmond Pitre, 2nd vice-president; and Aurele Theriault, secretary.

LOCAL MAJORETTES PLACE WELL IN COMPETITIONS

Happy smiles are registered by the 26 Chardo Twirlers back from the International Seaboard Majorette Competitions in Moncton recently. Between them they received 49 first place trophies, and 54 medals for placing second, third and fourth.

The girls, aged four to 16 years, are students of Dorothy's School of Dance and Baton. However, their group name is Chardo Twirlers.

The majority of the girls are from Bathurst and surrounding areas. Lynn Smith is from St. Anne and is one of the St. Anne Majorettes. Suzanne Guitard, from Richardsville, is the leader of the Richardsville and McLeod Royal Majorettes.

The girls will be appearing in the annual spring recital held by the dancing school. The only specification raised for the group is that they must have dance training along with their twirling.

Dorothy, their teacher, is very proud of them and wishes to thank them and their parents for all their support and helpfulness this past season.

When the first Irish immigrants arrived in this country they met hostility (shades of the Acadians). They were given only the most menial, poor-paying jobs. It became necessary to shop for the cheapest foods, which at that time included beef brisket and cabbage.

Be it to their credit that they made the most of them both, with long, slow cooking, thus inventing what is considered a delicacy by people of all classes of society.

NOT ELECTIONEERING

Filling the city's potholes so early in the season was not an election ruse as some people may have construed, according to a source close to city hall.

The opportunity presented itself to prove or discount the point that asphalt patching on streets with a concrete base before the frost is completely out of the ground will sustain.

By the same token, citizens should be happy over escaping some of the usual wear and tear to which their vehicles are annually subjected.

ALSO IMPORTANT

Promotion by and for candidates vieing for support in the May 9 municipal election has been more or less concentrated on the mayor and council level. School boards seemingly have been relegated to the back benches.

What, however, is more important than education and the training of our young people in these difficult times? Consideration therefore should also be given to putting or keeping the best persons in the right place.

In School District No. 4 candidates have been elected or re-elected by acclamation in four of the six sub-districts. This indicates that people in the areas are either satisfied with the status quo or unconcerned.

Competitions are called for, on the other hand, in Sub-Districts 1 and 6. In the former there is a three way fight among a woman, who is a present office holder, and two male contenders. The latter also finds a battle of the sexes, and incumbent trustee opposed by a newcomer.

All aspirants are qualified in their own right. Nevertheless serious consideration should be given as to whom offers the most for the post.

What difference does it make anyway, you might ask, as long as the present policy of electing 6 and appointing 9 people to the board prevails? Defeated candidates are usually among the appointees.

All well and good, but there is a certain amount of satisfaction for both electors and elected when candidates are selected by popular choice.

Are we the only cowards who can't bear to look at the numbers the gasoline pump is rolling up? Not so long ago you could have bought a second-hand jalopy for not much more than a fill-up now costs. DIOCESAN

OFFICERS ELECTED

The officers for 1977 - 78 were elected as follows:

Mrs. Donald Irvine, Glen Levit, president; Mrs. Leandre Landry, Belledune, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Patrick Chesser, Glen Levit, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. David Bolton, Dalhousie, recording secretary; Mrs. Marguerite Normandeau, Dalhousie, corresponding secretary; Miss Helen Thibodeau, Bathurst, treasurer.

Elections chairman was Mrs. E. D. Murray, life member, Campbellton, and Mrs. Richard Goyette, Bathurst, secretary.

At the convention banquet held at Danny's Colonial House, chaired by Mrs. Dorothy Venot, head table guests included Most Rev. Edgar Godin, Bishop of Bathurst, Rev. J. E. Fournier, Mayor John A. Duffy and Mrs. Duffy, Mrs. Donald Irvine, Rev. O. J. Parker, Rev. Charles Picot, Mrs. C. A. O. Morris, Mrs. Ann Hay, Grand Knight Hector Sonier and Mrs. Sonier of Bathurst, Mrs. J. C. Kean, Mrs. E. D. Murray and Mrs. Leandre Landry.

Guest speaker at the banquet, Rev. C. Picot, Dalhousie, was introduced by Father Parker. He chose as his topic "The Church Today."

Father Picot reminded delegates that "we are living in a difficult time and at the end of an epoch called Christendom. "Things are no longer taken for granted and we have to affirm our Christianity. We must be missionaries for one another and assume our responsibility as Christians."

To instill the message, Father Picot played a recording by Burton Cummings entitled "I'm scared", and a taped message by Mother Theresa of Calcutta.

LIFE MEMBER

A standing ovation was accorded Mrs. Edgar Normandeau when she was presented with a life membership. Mrs. Normandeau has held various offices on parish, provincial and diocesan levels. The recipient is the former Marguerite McLaughlin, a native of Bathurst.

One sad note of the convention was the retirement of the diocesan director, Father Parker, after eight years of dedicated service.

Mrs. A. J. Arsenault and Mrs. Sidney Adams of the hostess council were in charge of registrations. Holy Family, Little Flower and Holy Rosary Councils in Bathurst, were hostesses for the coffee breaks.

Appointed To Publicity Post

J. Edward (Ted) Guidry of Fredericton, Maritimes Regional Information Officer for the Canadian Forestry Service's, Maritimes Forest Research Centre, Fisheries and Environment Canada, for the past 10 years is the new public information officer for the Federal Department of Regional Economic Expansion, Moncton. The appointment was made by the Public Service Commission of Canada. He is to assume his new duties early next month.

In his new position, Mr. Guidry will plan, develop and implement a total information program, under the direction of the Manager, Regional Information Services, in support of and as part of DREE's national and regional development objectives.

A graduate of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., he has a wide and varied career in the fields of journalism and public relations. During his journalistic career he was on the editorial and reportorial staffs of the Telegraph-Journal and Evening Times-Globe, Saint John; The Daily Gleaner, Fredericton; and Saint Croix Courier, St. Stephen.

A native of Chatham, N.B., the appointee spent the early part of his life in Campbellton. He was radio and TV news editor for a number of years following the completion of his university education, with CHSJ Radio and TV stations, Saint John, and did extension writing for the Canadian Press and The Daily Commercial News and Building Record, Toronto. He also did much freelance writing.

More recently, from 1961 - 1965 Mr. Guidry was engaged in promotional work and public relations with the New Brunswick Travel Bureau in Fredericton. Since 1966 his role with the Canadian Forestry Service was to conduct a comprehensive information program to interpret the work of the department, to encourage public interest in the forests, and to promote an understanding of forestry's importance in the Maritime's economy.

PARTICIPATION EXCELLENT IN SCIENCE FAIR

Mrs. Diane McDonald's Grade 6 students at Sacred Heart School held a Science Fair during Sacred Heart School Week April 25 - 29. A number of projects were made and the excellent participation of the class led to a successful program. Open-house for parents was held on April 27. The above photos show the students with their projects.

Seeks Village Council Seat

One of six candidates running for four municipal council seats in the Village of Beresford Saturday, May 9, is Ulric DeGrace, a well-known upshore resident.

Born and educated in Beresford, Mr. DeGrace has spent his entire lifetime there apart from three years in Ontario. He is presently employed at Beresford Arena as coordinator of the Canada Works Program.

Mr. DeGrace is a director of the Beresford Sports Association and a member of Beresford Richelieu Club. He was formerly associated with the Bathurst Tribune as editor of the French section.

Due to his close connection with municipal affairs, Mr. DeGrace feels he has first-hand knowledge of the needs of the community.

Projects he intends to promote include laying of a sidewalk along the principal street; upgrading of certain other streets; construction of a reservoir to equalize water pressure in the present system; village council meetings every two weeks rather than the current twice-a-month policy; numbering of houses; establishment of a municipal park to provide recreational facilities for all ages, assuring that village council business becomes the knowledge of all, not only of a small group.

ULRIC DeGRACE

Mr. DeGrace is married to the former Pauline Arseneau of Beresford and they have two daughters, Julie 4, and Christine, 12 days.

According to Mr. DeGrace, the village has 1900 eligible voters and he hopes that the majority will exercise their franchise this time. Last election only 25 per cent bothered to go to the polls, he says.

nough confirmed this as being one of the major drawbacks, saying the city had expected more than the existing number of houses to be built in the initial development stages.

Councillor Valmond Saulnier's motion that the city administration get together with Eddy Housing to see if an arrangement could be worked out in view of the city's financial status was approved, and the matter was tabled until the next meeting.

In other business, council was advised by J.P. Blanchard deputy minister of commerce and development, that the department is currently attempting to identify sufficient resources through federal-provincial cost-sharing agreements to enable funding of an additional water supply for Hachey Ward. The deputy minister also noted that planning for the development of phase two of the Industrial Park is proceeding with the co-operation of the industrial commission.

Council will send a delegate to the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Society of Acadians to be held in the city June 11-12 at Nepisiguit High School. In a similar regard, councillors voted to host a meeting of the Environmental Council May 25-26, provided there is sufficient space at City Hall.

Council moved to have one street in Jamieson Subdivision in Hachey Ward named Orser Street, Avenue or Drive in honor of former Mayor W.B. Orser.

Nursing Week To Be Observed

Bathurst Chapter of the New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses and Bathurst School of Nursing are combining forces next week in observance of International Nursing Week (May 8 to 14).

Special window displays in keeping with the occasion and the Florence Nightingale tradition have been arranged. City stores cooperating in this program include W. J. Kent and Co. Ltd., Schrier's Style Centre, Creaghan's Ltd. and Shoeland.

Also in connection with the theme, the nursing school on the former Bathurst College campus will be open to the public.

Interested people are cordially invited to visit the premises on Thursday, May 12. They will be conducted on guided tours from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Lobster Fishermen Being Intimidated?

CARAQUET — Members of the New Brunswick section of the Maritime Fishermen's Union (MFU) are boycotting Associated Fisheries of Canada Ltd. because they claim the company has refused to negotiate lobster prices with the union and instead, has resorted to "intimidation."

Harold Manuel, provincial secretary of the MFU, said in an interview Monday night that after the company's refusal to negotiate, the union met Friday with small buyers and came into agreement with them that they would not turn their fish over to the company. Monday was the first day of lobster fishing season.

He, however, said that some of the buyers are tied down to the company because of advance payments and are committed to sell to it at least a part of their buys. The company would also be buying lobsters from fishermen who are not members of the MFU.

Mr. Manuel said about 80 per cent of the fishermen belong to the union. The present membership of the union stands at 920, he said.

He said the fishermen would be selling canner lobster at $1.25 a pound. The company, he said, had told some fishermen that it would pay $1.20 a pound for small lobster and $1.45 for large lobster if the fishermen would pay for transportation to the plant. He said they would sell their fish to other companies.

Mr. Manuel said the union wanted to negotiate prices between $1.25 and $1.35 a pound for canning lobster and $1.65 and $1.75 for market lobster.

Mr. Manuel said the union will now negotiate with the company "only if they come to us and discuss why they locked the door on us. They'll have to apologize more or less because we went to them in good faith."

He said the union representatives tried to negotiate with the company a number of times and even though a couple of dates were set the meetings never took place.

Mr. Manuel said the union representatives talked briefly with N.B. Fisheries Minister Omer Leger who was here Monday at a public meeting. He said they would be meeting with him again Wednesday to discuss a legislation that would recognize Fishermen's union and oblige companies to negotiate with union.

He said the company has also threatened that it will not hire union members' wives in the plant because it will have nothing to process. Mr. Manuel said the company was to call them to work this morning and he should know later today if the company has actually carried out its threat of not hiring them.

Dies At Tracadie

CARAQUET — The death of Miss Albertine Doiron occurred Apr. 30 at the Hotel-Dieu in Tracadie. She was 78.

She was a daughter of the late Onesime and Philomene (Frigault) Doiron.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Constant Poirier (Yvette) of Caraquet, Mrs. Pierre Albert (Rosanna) of Caraquet, with whom she resided and Mrs. Alexandre Albert (Theotiste) of Notre-Dame-des-Erables.

The Big Day Dawns

Municipal election time is only days away. Advance poll voting has already taken place.

During the past several weeks the candidates have been courting the people in their efforts to become elected. This is the democratic way and a healthy sign of interest and concern.

Many of the candidates, after they have made their election pitch, end with the words, "Vote how you wish, but vote." If they mean that the right to vote is a privilege, they are right. But just to vote for the sake of voting is another question.

Not to vote shows one of two ways of behavior. We do not vote because we do not, after very careful consideration, feel that any of those who are offering for election are worthy of our vote. To vote just for the sake of casting a ballot is not always the right thing to do. The statement, "vote as you wish, but vote" has been considered a laudable one. But, is is really?

Then there are those citizens who do not vote because they have no interest whatsoever in the affairs of their community or their country. Why should they be urged to cast a ballot when they do not care what happens or who is elected? Their votes could swing an election and this could result in a candidate being elected who has made irresponsible promises.

"Vote as you wish, but vote." These are the words so often heard at campaigning time and they have been accepted as a great truth. The time has come to question the wisdom of this statement.

Here is another important thought: Those in wards where representatives have already been elected by acclamation should not feel their responsibility ends here. There is still a mayor to be elected and these citizens should make certain that their franchise is exercised accordingly. Only in this manner can it be said afterwards that one of the three candidates in the contest will be truly elected by popular choice.

True Or False?

Parts of a recent television documentary featuring New Brunswick's political unrest are untrue, according to Hon. Richard Hatfield.

The premier suggests that statements were taken out of context and that comments attributed to certain persons, were, in fact, not made by those persons.

The program's producers, in rebuttal, insist their facts were accurate and that they have witnesses to back up statements they say were made by New Brunswick residents.

So it's just one more example of confusion in our times. You get part of one side of the story and part of the other, but you never learn the whole truth of the matter.

No one in this province wants New Brunswick's problems being exaggerated or exploited by the outside media. On the other hand, if reporters from other parts of the country are able to uncover facts seemingly unavailable to the local press, radio and television, then the public should know this as well.

One person, however, who has access to a solution to this dispute is Premier Hatfield himself. He can personally charge the producers of the program under the laws of defamation.

This sort of action would bring the entire matter into court where many New Brunswickers would like to see it so the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth will out.

Rightway Highways

Probably no other province in the country has highways in as deplorable condition as those in New Brunswick. Liberal Rayburn Doucett's recent charges in the Legislature are therefore, for the most part, justified.

Travellers entering this province from any border point quickly realize there is a vast change in highway conditions. Even the Trans-Canada Highway does not meet the standards set in other provinces.

New Brunswick's major highways, have inadequate passing lanes on hills and winding stretches of road. In addition, there are places where the pavement is inferior.

As the traveller leaves the Trans-Canada to enter the other arteries, even greater discrepancies exist. Route 8, Fredericton to Newcastle; Route 7, Fredericton to Saint John; and Route 11, Moncton to the North Shore and around the Caraquet Coast are among our major highways. Their condition, however, leaves much to be desired.

There is no doubt about it. New Brunswick needs a proper road-building program. And that does not mean the mere slapping of tar and gravel or new asphalt on top of existing potted and eroded surface.

Road-building consists of starting at the foundation and constructing a new base on which to build the road. Needless to say all this takes a great deal of money. Yet, in the long run, money will be effectively spent if proper methods of rebuilding are carried out.

The token efforts of resurfacing, as at present, are worthless. It looks good and lasts for one season, but is the end of it.

Mr. Doucett, an area MLA has raised a valid point. It is time that New Brunswick constructed roads

DUAL CELEBRATION FOR FAMILY

The 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Godin, 1030 Clearwater on April 3, also marked a reunion for this family of five children. It was a particularly happy function due to the unexpected arrival of their only son, Gerard, and his wife Donna from St. Catharines, Ont. The celebration was held in Dunlop at the home of one of their four daughters, Mrs. Paul Babineau. Another daughter, Annette is married to Rodney Boucher and Claudette and Angela Godin live at home. Left to right, standing, are: Rodney and Annette Boucher, Claudette Godin, and Monique and Paul Babineau; seated are Mrs. Donna Godin, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas (Marianne) Godin and Gerard Godin. In front is Angela Godin.

Social And Personal

Mrs. Wilfred Sisk, Schnectady, N. Y., has arrived to spend a month with her father, Mr. Edward Whelton, Black Rock. She will also be visiting other relatives in the area and Bathurst.

Recent guests of Mr. Edward Whelton, Black Rock, have included his sons, Mr. Donald Whelton from Fort McMurray, Alta. for a week-long visit, Mr. George Whelton, Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whelton and little son Barth of Montreal who were home for the weekend.

Litter Problem Said Deplorable

Beresford, N.B.
April 28, 1977

Pollution takes many forms, whether it be oil spills in our oceans, sewage and other pollutants in our rivers dumped by municipalities and industries, or air pollution from industries or again pollution in our streets and backyards, caused by individuals.

One situation that is deplorable, although perhaps less serious for its environmental impact, is the situation with regards to trash disposal near the new Provincial Building on St. John Street. There is trash littered all over, near the Provincial Government's trash bin, and this should be rectified immediately.

If an individual polluted his backyard in this same way, he would be fined in court.

Backs McLaughlin For Mayoralty

Bathurst, N.B.
May 3, 1977

As a resident of Coffyn Ward, it is with pleasure that I endorse Mr. Patrick Mclaughlin for the office of mayor of our city.

The trust we place in Pat is not without reason. During the past three years, during his term of office, the residents of this ward had the occasion to call on Pat to head off events that were contrary to our wishes.

Each time we asked for a hearing we were very well-received and prompt action by Coun. McLaughlin, ably assisted by Coun. Douglas Williamson, brought each matter to a successful conclusion.

Pat does his homework well. Before moving on an issue, he makes contact with the people living in the area concerned to determine their wishes. He then accepts the desire of the majority of citizens.

This is the spirit of democracy at work, which, with its imperfections, is still the only form of government that the people have a voice in.

Pat was born and raised in Bathurst, a member of a very respected family. He was educated here and with the exception of the years he spent in the armed forces, has worked here and has raised a fine family of his own.

Discussions with Pat over the past few months have convinced me that he will try to put brakes on public spending in city government.

One cannot help but endorse a candidate who is concerned with the taxpayers' money. In this he is one of two councillors running for the various offices who have spoken out and are deeply concerned with the cost of government operations in our city.

With all due respect for other candidates, I shall put my confidence in Pat.

In my second article I want to tell the public about the history of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets. At the start of the Second World War, in 1941, the Air Cadet League of Canada was formed. Its purpose was to train young Canadians for military duty.

The program was continued after the war and they still used the blue-gray uniform of the Royal Air Force. To date, some squadrons still use the RAF uniforms but they are being replaced by the modern green uniforms.

Cadets train in photography, rifle shooting, ham radios, survival courses, pilot training and many more activities.

I would like to inform you that girls' bush exercise was successful and a boys' bush is still planned.

On April 23, the 640 rifle team fought the officers of the squadron and the rifle team won by 371 points.

The annual inspection is in three weeks and will be held for the public. The photography contest will be judged next week and the band contest at Moncton will be held May 27 and 28.

Wants Refund Of Damage Costs

Bathurst, N.B.

Sunday afternoon, May 1, at about 3:30 p.m., four men were shooting golf balls on the hill at University Drive. One golf ball came through the upstairs window, breaking both the inside and outside windows on the house at 620 University Dr.

I am sure that these men didn't notice that they broke the windows, so I'm telling them now. I know they will be decent enough to come and pay for the repairs, between the four of them.

I wish to thank them in advance for doing this.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to the citizens of Bathurst and surrounding areas and to the students of the N.B. Community College for their donations that enabled the Red Cross Blood Donor Service to surpass its spring clinic quota.

There are many persons involved in setting up and running a clinic, too many to thank individually. It goes without saying, however, that their assistance was very much appreciated.

The Northern Light, Radio Station CKBC and the Bathurst Tribune are three promoters which must be named. Without their cooperation we would be unable to publicize the clinics. Their contributions are gratefully acknowledged.

I am a concerned citizen especially when the economy of our country is involved.

There are a large number of unemployed people in this region who are unhappy and are planning on leaving this beautiful place to go West or to the USA. Some citizens of this city refer to them as "lazy bums".

I wish some of these people would look at themselves. Are these people holding two jobs when all they really need is one but they like the better things in life.

Are the people who should be retired and enjoying greener pastures - but think retirement means the end of life but really it is just the beginning of enjoyment in life?

Are these married women who are bored sitting at home all day when they could take up a hobby or look after their children instead of hiring a young girl who requires a better paying job, to do it?

I think "Women's Lib" is great, but if it is going to destroy our country, then "Down with Women's Lib."

I have gotten a burden off my mind, but those who are guilty of the above crime, may you carry it for me.

MORE WINNERS YET TO COME

The second weekly draw of Club 222 sponsored by the Rotary Club was held this week with five more $50.00 winners. Hayden Hatheway (left), committee member, was one of the lucky winners along with Leo Arseneau to whom he is presenting a cheque. Missing from the photo are Ian Eddy, Howard Doucet and Margaret Payne who also received $50.00. Next week's draw will be for $500, leaving 34 more draws to be made. There are tickets still available and these may be purchased from any Rotarian.

PREPARATIONS FOR HARVEY IN FINAL STAGES

Tickets for Community Theatre's three-act comedy Harvey went on sale Monday, and members of the cast are hard at work constructing sets and making final arrangements. The play will be presented May 19 and 20 at Nepisiguit High School and admission is $2.50 for adults and $2 for students. Tickets are available at the Big Scoop, The Captain's Cabin, and the Big Deal or from any member of Community Theatre. In the photo, Miles Meagher (left), Steven Jamieson and Paul Lavigne prepare sets for the former Boys' and Girls' Club on Victoria Avenue. The group would like to thank the Bathurst Kinsmen Club for the use of the building, as well as Emile Christie of Big River for storing sets during the winter months.

Mayoralty Candidate Announces Programme

A 12-point platform entitled "Program for the People", has been announced by the city's incumbent mayor.

John A. Duffy is running again in the May 9 municipal election as one of three candidates contesting the chief magistrate's post.

Mr. Duffy's plans and proposals are listed as follows:

1. Continue to keep the people informed.
2. Maintain the "open door" policy at City Hall.
3. Sewerage Treatment Plant and Water Treatment Plant to be completed.
4. Urge the Provincial and Federal government to complete the project on Demeresque St. for our Senior Citizens. I hope to develop a part of Coronation Park for the use and pleasure of our Senior Citizens.
5. Keep working to restore Air Service to our city.
6. Continue to negotiate with all levels of government for the betterment of our city which would include the new U.I.C. building.
7. Keep working for the continuation of Co-op Housing and put forth greater emphasis on development within the city boundaries.
8. I did my best to implement bus service within the city and will strive with all the power I have to obtain "share the ride" taxi service as soon as possible.
9. Continue to work with the provincial government that they may reconstruct their roads within the city such as King Ave., Bridge St., and the northern part of St. Peter Ave. and the southern part of Miramichi Ave.
10. I am confident that an announcement will be forthcoming regarding two specific parcels of land for parks within the city. I have been giving this subject (Parks) my closest attention for the past year. I am attempting in Hachey Ward to obtain land for a park from the Federal government and I will still endeavour to make this a reality. Hopefully, we will employ a Recreation Director in the very near future; on conjunction with this, my plans are to establish a committee with representatives from all wards to assist the Recreation Director in co-ordinating recreation for ALL the city.
11. Work in a very co-operative effort with the Provincial government to have the bridge over the Nepisiguit River replaced and strive to have Miramichi Avenue connected to St. Peter Ave. with a modern 4-lane highway, which will give the motoring public safer access to the shopping areas of the city.
12. To facilitate and allow our citizens to have access to and enjoyment of Mt. Carleton Park, I pledge to continue to press the provincial government to complete as soon as possible the Road to Resources.

Consumers Welcome Fredericton Speaker

The newly formed Bathurst Chapter of the Canadian Association of Consumers held its third monthly meeting on Monday, May 2nd. In attendance as guest speaker was Michael Crowther, Consumer Services Supervisor with the Consumer and Corporate Services in Fredericton.

Mr. Crowther enlightened the group on the purpose and various services offered by the Consumer's Bureau to the public.

The initial complaint handled by the Consumer's Bureau could originate by telephone, letter, or directly to one of their officers, and progressive steps would be taken to rectify the matter. These steps consisted of: attempting to obtain a voluntary settlement between both parties concerned; a Consumer Bureau officer's intervention as mediator; and if necessary, legal action by the Consumer and Corporate Services.

Mr. Crowther cautioned that the Consumer's Bureau was not equipped to supply legal advice credit information, or quality performance and life expectancy of merchandise on the market. Further, the Consumer's Bureau could not intervene on a case presently being handled by an attorney or another government agency.

Being familiar with the operation of established C.A.C. groups, Mr. Crowther suggested various projects and objectives on which the Bathurst C.A.C. could possibly concentrate their efforts.

Priority, he stated, should be given to educate the public in areas of greatest concern - areas affecting the consumer on a day to day basis.

Attention could be drawn to the price discrepancies between retail grocery outlets through a comparative survey, or exposure of high pricing, involving locally grown produce as related to the same produce priced in other areas.

On behalf of Consumer and Corporate Services, Mr. Crowther extended congratulations on the group's origin and hopes to see it develop into a useful and purposeful aid in resolving problems on a consumer level in the Bathurst area.

The meeting adjourned on an enthusiastic note, with the next meeting being scheduled for June 6 at 327 Bayshore Drive.

Anyone interested in attending or furnishing the group with ideas for possible future projects is asked to contact William Luff at 548-8284.

Potato-Cheese Casserole

There's no end to ways that potatoes can be combined with varied ingredients to produce tasty and nutritious dishes. This potato and cheese casserole is one of the best.

Ingredients: ½ cup chopped onion; ½ cup diced celery; ¼ cup diced green pepper; 3 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; ½ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; ½ teaspoon dry mustard; 1¼ cups milk; 1 cup (4 ounces) grated cheddar cheese; 4 cups cooked diced potatoes; 2 tablespoons buttered breadcrumbs; 6 strips bacon.

Method: Sauté onion, celery and green pepper in melted butter until onion is transparent, about 5 minutes. Blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted.

Combine sauce with potatoes and turn into a buttered 6-cup casserole. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake at 350 degree F until lightly browned, 25 to 30 minutes.

Fry bacon until crisp and arrange on casserole before serving. Makes six servings.

RETURN FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Daley have returned to Stonehaven after spending three months at Treasure Island, Florida. En route home they visited for three weeks with their sons, Messrs. Gilbert and Murray Daley and families at Weymouth, Mass., and Mr. Newman Daley and family of Abington, Mass. During their vacation in the south, Mr. and Mrs. Daley (the former Adrienne Knowles) celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Feb. 20. A family celebration was held on their arrival at Weymouth in April. Natives of the Downshire area, Mr. and Mrs. Daley had lived in Weymouth for about 30 years and following his retirement, returned to Stonehaven where they had purchased a home. They also have eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Rangers, Gulf Oil League Champs In Volleyball

The Bathurst Schooner Volleyball League completed its season last Thursday, April 28 with the final playoff games in each section.

The Rangers captained by Louis Caissie, upset the Kentucky Fried Chicken squad, captained by Yvon Vinet, to capture the championship in Section "A".

In the other final played last Thursday, captain Roger Dugas led his Gulf Oil teammates to a win over Savoie Meubles, captained by Florent Hachey, to become champions of Section "B".

Yvon Vinet and his Kentucky Fried Chicken team won the League Trophy for finishing first in the regular season standings which finished as follows:

Kentucky Fried	226
City Glass	178
Steakhouse	166
Rangers	144
Gulf Oil	128
Savoie Meubles	70
Ned's TV	60
D.N.R.	38

The league schedule began October 14, 1976 and was completed on April 7, 1977. All games were played at the Bathurst Community College Gym which was made available through the cooperation of the City of Bathurst. Those eligible to play in the league included any man who was not attending school or university - primarily working men.

The league is looking forward to another successful season of Volleyball starting next fall. Anyone wishing to participate will have an opportunity to join the league when next season's plans are announced next Fall.

Tigers Capture Hardy Cup With 6-3 Win Over Lakers

A four-goal uprising in the third period propelled Campbellton Tigers to a come-from-behind 6 - 3 triumph over Warroad Minn. Lakers bfore some 3000 happy fans in Memorial Gardens Monday night.

The victory gave the Campbellton club the Canadian Intermediate A Hockey Championship and the Hardy Cup with a 3 - 1 margin in the best-of-five final.

The Lakers led the game 3 - 2 after two periods and it looked for a time like the series would be extended to the limit. But the Tigers came roaring back in the final 20 minutes climaxing an uphill battle throughout the contest.

Defenceman Sterling Loga led the Tigers with a pair of goals including the winner in the final period. Mike Morton, John Wood, Marcel Dumais and George Berube were the other Campbellton goal-getters while Bob Storey led the Lakers with a pair. Playing Coach Warren Harrison counted the other goal for the visitors.

Mike Morton opened the scoring at 13:07 of the opening period but Storey's first of the night tied it up two minutes later. Storey gave the Lakers a 2 - 1 lead at 6:13 of the second but Loga drew the Tigers even at 13:32 on a play with Jean-Marie Bouchard and George Parker. Harrison put the Lakers in front once again a minute later and the Western champs carried a 3-2 margin into the final period.

John Wood started the Tiger surge when he evened the count at 1:10 of the final. Loga then added what proved to be the winner at 6:43. Marcel Dumais counted the Tigers' fifth of the game midway through the period and veteran George (Chief) Berube fired home the clincher at 17:33.

The Hardy Cup championship was the second for the Campbellton team, which first turned the trick in 1972, and the fifth for New Brunswick teams since Bathurst Papermakers captured the cup in 1971.

Extend Series

Warroad Minn. Lakers refused to roll over for the Campbellton Tigers in the current Hardy Cup final series being played at Campbellton.

Trailing 2 - 0 in the best-of-five final, the Lakers stunned the Tigers 7 - 2 Sunday in the third game to keep hopes of a comeback alive.

The loss broke Campbellton's playoff winning streak at 23 games, their season's win streak at 27 and also stopped Tiger goalie Mike Frawley's unbeaten string at 38.

Dave Colborne was the hero of the piece for the Lakers scoring a pair of second period goals including what proved to be the winner. Dave McConnacky, Ken Krantz, Frank Krahn, Gerry Hangleven and Jack Ganyo were the other marksmen for the Lakers who built a 4 - 0 lead entering the final period. Jean-Marie Bouchard and Mike Morton tallied third period goals for the Tigers.

Hangsleven and Ganyo gave the Lakers a 2 - 0 lead in the opening period and Colborne netted his pair in the second. Jean-Marie Bouchard put the Tigers on the board just 26 seconds into the third but the Lakers came back with three in a row to destroy any notion of a Tiger comeback. Frank Krahn, McConnacky and Krentz built the Laker lead to 7 - 1 before Mike Morton added the Tigers' second goal in the final minute of play.

Forester Stars

Brian Forester led the Tigers to their first two wins netting the winning goals in both games.

Tigers edged the Lakers 4 - 3 last Friday in the opener and Forester banged in the winner.

In Saturday's 5 - 3 Tiger win, he fired a pair of goals including the eventual winner in a 10-minute overtime period in which the Tigers outscored Warroad 3 - 1.

Forester and Eric Cameron gave the Tigers a 2 - 1 first period lead after playing coach Wayne Harrison opened the scoring for the Lakers. Gerry Hangsleven pulled the Lakers even with the only goal of the middle frame and the teams battled through a scoreless final period.

Jean-Marie Bouchard put Campbellton ahead 3 - 2 and Forester followed with the eventual winner at the 4:47 mark. Bob Storey cut the margin to 4 - 3 with a minute left but George Berube connected with an empty-net goal to wrap it up.

NBAHA To Meet This Saturday

The Annual Meeting of the New Brunswick Amateur Hockey Association will be held this Saturday, May 7, 10 a.m. at the Keddy's Motor Inn, Portland St., Saint John.

One of the items on the agenda will be to review the proposed new constitution. All those concerned are urged to attend this very important meeting.

Islanders Extend Series On Harris' Overtime Marker

Billy Harris scored at 3:58 of overtime to give New York Islanders a 4 - 3 victory over Montreal Canadiens in the fifth game of their best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final series Tuesday night. Montreal now leads the series 3 - 2.

The sixth game will be played Thursday night at Uniondale, N.Y., with a seventh, if necessary, back in Montreal on Saturday night. The series winner will meet Boston Bruins in a best-of-seven set for the Stanley Cup.

The winning goal came when Dave Lewis fired from the point and hit a goalpost behind Montreal netminder Ken Dryden. Harris put the rebound home with New York's first official shot on goal of the overtime period.

Jude Drouin scored for the Islanders with 6:51 left in the third period to force the overtime. His shot from the right wing faceoff circle bounced into the net behind Dryden off defenceman Guy Lapointe, who was trying to keep New York's J. P. Parise away from the crease.

Lambert's score at 11:38 of the third period snapped a 2 - 2 tie but the Canadiens couldn't protect that lead. Larry Robinson took a pass from Guy Lafleur and fired from the left point, with the puck deflecting off Lambert and behind New York netminder Glenn Resch, making his first start of the series.

For Lafleur, the assist put him in the scoring summary for the 37th consecutive game, including the final 28 games of the regular season, an NHL record, and nine playoff games against St. Louis Blues and New York.

Resch turned in a sliding stick save on a breakaway by Bob Gainey in the seconds after Lambert's goal, and Drouin netted the equalizer.

The Canadiens outshot the Islanders 29 - 19, including one shot each in overtime.

Referee Bob Myers incurred the wrath of 16,174 fans with what they regarded as a lenient eye on the New York squad. The game was delayed for several minutes in the second period when Gainey was entangled with Harris without the New Yorker receiving what Canadiens supporters felt was a deserved penalty.

Parise scored on a power play at 8:11 of the first period to give the Islanders a 1 - 0 lead as he took a quick passout from Pat Price behind the net, but Lemaire tied the score less than a minute later.

Resch stopped Doug Risebrough in a breakaway seconds after Lemaire's goal and the period ended in a deadlock even though the Canadiens had two power play opportunities when Clark Gillies was caught slashing Lafleur on two occasions. Resch stopped Robinson point-blank from close range during the second penalty.

Racing Starts June 15

Danny's Speed Bowl Opens With 50 Lap Provincial

The management of Danny's Speed Bowl has confirmed that the racing season at the popular oval will start Wednesday June 15, with the running of the Provincial '77, at super 50 lap feature. The event will start at 8:00 p.m. and the rain date will be Thursday June 16, with the same starting time.

Racing will continue every Wednesday through the summer months with an 8:00 p.m. start and rain dates will be set for the following days (Thursday).

After the June 15 Provincial '77 regular race cards will be staged on consecutive Wednesdays, June 22 and June 29.

The schedule for July will kick off July 6 with the Labatts 50, another 50 lap feature. Regular racing will resume July 13 and July 20, but an added feature of the July 20 card will include the annual appearance of the Imperial Heil Drivers.

The regular race on July 27 will feature Jose Canuc.

In August, regular racing will continue August 3, 10, 17 and 31. The Lessard Brothers will be back for another performance during the regular program on August 10.

On August 24, the regular racing card will be replaced by the Canadiana, another 50 lap feature.

On September 7, the Speed Bowl will stage "The Schooner Race" a 50 lap feature scheduled for an 8:00 p.m. start. Rain date for this event will be Sunday, September 11 at 2:00 p.m. The final regular program is also scheduled Sunday, September 11, and the rain date for this event is the following Sunday, the 18, also with a 2:00 p.m. start.

The resumption of racing last season at Danny's Speed Bowl, after an absence of several years, was a welcome addition to the area's summertime entertainment offerings and this year's schedule of events promises to be even more enjoyable to drivers, car owners and racing fans alike.

Canoe Courses Again Available

Canoe New Brunswick and the Provincial Department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources are this year, again cooperating in providing the opportunity for youth and adults in the Province to obtain experience and a qualification in canoeing and canoe safety.

Last year these two organizations were successful in graduating 90 canoeists in provincial rating levels I, II and III and 30 in provincial rating IV (Canoeing and Tripping).

The course will again be offered from the regional offices of the Department of Youth located at, Saint John, Moncton, Bathurst, Campbellton, Newcastle, Edmundston and Fredericton. The independent areas of Sussex and Woodstock who had clinics last year will again be included. These clinics are available in either the English or French language.

The Level 4 graduates will be given priority in applying for the natural canoe school, sponsored by the Canadian Recreational Canoeing Association and the Federal Government jointly.

The national school for the Atlantic area is sited at Camp Kadinah, near Bridgewater in Nova Scotia. The Camp Director is: Mr. Harold Brown, P. O. Box 7, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. Phone 752-8209 and local information will be supplied by Bill Palmer, 1014 Smythe Street, Fredericton. Phone: 454-2249.

CONSOLIDATED - BATHURST LIMITED

With your support this is what I will DO for YOU in Ryan Ward - So. Bathurst

1. UPGRADE King Ave. with provincial and or city support, (neither level has wanted to claim responsibility in the past few years) and also work on the alternate route which would take away the heavy traffic load from King Ave. for our children's safety.

2. INCREASE support of NIP and RRAP Programs which are already in progress. (I have worked on the planning of the NIP Program with the citizens' groups, of which I am a member, over the past year).

3. ESTABLISH park and recreation facilities for both young and old in Ryan Ward, (our NIP Program is already working towards that goal) as well as for the City of Bathurst, which has not had a recreation director for the past 8 months.

4. IMPROVE the snow removal program in Ryan Ward. Also provide an alternate exit for Melanson Subdivision residents during the winter months.

5. IMPLEMENT street representation in the ward, which could assist me to plan and determine what action should take place in my jurisdiction.

For killing weeds and fertilizing lawns...

Get Green Cross lightweight Weed'n Feed with Killex.

Its double-action formula eliminates weeds and provides balanced feeding to make your lawn grow.

- For killing weeds – Weed'n Feed contains Killex, the effective herbicide that controls over 15 varieties of lawn weeds – including stubborn chickweed, clover, plantain and dandelions.
- For fertilizing lawns – Weed'n Feed contains two types of nitrogen for growth and greening – plus potash for sturdy root structures, and phosphorous for structural strength to both roots and leaves
- One easy-to-carry 22-lb. bag covers 5000 square feet of lawn.

"A VOTE FOR ME IS A VOTE FOR YOU"

A man who is already working hard for the citizens of

Here are just some of the things I am already working for.....

1. Development of East Bathurst area and Industrial Park.
2. Economics of the city should be more evenly balanced.
3. More recreation facilities needed – skating rinks, parks, etc.
4. Road improvements in Hachey Ward.
5. Upgrading of snow removal.
6. Council should allow more time for the general public to have their views known. Possibly a one hour special meeting before or after council meetings.
7. 1977 tax increases should be looked into.
8. FIRE STATION for East Bathurst.
9. Replacement of East Bathurst bridge - the present one is totally unsafe.
10. The tax rate should vary in every part of the city depending on services rendered by the city.
11. Form a ratepayers association for Hachey Ward.

IN MEMORIAM

PAYNE — In loving memory of a dear father and grand-father Allan Payne who departed from this life on April 29, 1966.
We often think of days gone by,
When we were all together.
A shadow o'er our lives has cast
Our loved one's gone forever.
Sadly missed by daughter Phyllis, son-in-law Ernie Sealy, son Clifford, daughter-in-law Ann and Grandsons Ricky and Ronnie.

LAVIGNE — In loving memory of our dear mother Mrs. Emery Lavigne who passed away May 2, 1975.
Sweet memories will linger forever
Time cannot change them it's true.
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you
Sadly missed by family

LAVIGNE — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Emery Lavigne, who passed away May 2, 1975.
So many things have happened, Mom.
Since you were called away.
So many things to share with you.
Had you been left to stay
We cannot bring the old days back,
You're hand we cannot touch,
But we still have fond memories,
Of the one we loved so much.
Always remembered by daughters, Emelda and Rena and grandchildren.

KNOWLES — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Gordon Knowles who passed away May 4, 1975.
We think of you dear Daddy,
And our hearts are filled with pain.
This world would be a heaven,
Could we hear your voice again.
Two years has swiftly passed,
But still we don't forget,
For in the hearts that loved you best,
Your memory lingers yet.
Always remembered by wife, his children, Ralph, Carl, Kay, Shelley, Betty-Ann and Gail.

IN MEMORIAM

LAVIGNE — In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs Emery Lavigne, who passed away May 2, 1975
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear mother,
That I do not think of you
Sadly missed by daughter Sharon

SEALY — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Eldon Sealy, who passed away so suddenly May 3, 1974
The month of May is here again,
The saddest month of the year.
Because it took from us
The one we loved so dear
You bade us not a last farewell,
Nor even said good-bye,
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why
So many things have happened,
Since you were called away.
So many things to share with you.
So, you who have a father,
Cherish him with care,
For you'll never know the heartache,
Till you see his vacant chair
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife and family

NOTICE

PROCLAMATION

This May, the Canadian Coordinating Council on Deafness, the New Brunswick Coordinating Council on Deafness and the local associations serving the hearing handicapped are sponsoring "Hearing Awarness Month" to promote public awareness of deafness.

Deafness is an invisible handicap. It is a handicap of communication. Few of us are aware of the isolation and frustration by deaf and hard of hearing people who are constantly trying to understand a hearing world. The goal of this month's campaign is to raise public awareness of deafness so that hearing people will take the time to communicate with the deaf and hard of hearing.

To promote this effort, I, hereby designate the month of May as "Hearing Awarness Month". I urge all citizens to take this opportunity to become more knowledgeable about hearing problems and deafness. I encourage community agencies and volunteer groups to participate in this effort. Finally, I salute the Canadian and New Brunswick Coordinating Councils on Deafness and the Gloucester County Parents association for the Deaf for their fine service to our population.

Given under my hand and seal this twenty-fifth day of April A.D., 1977

John A. Duffy,
Mayor of Bathurst.

Red Cross Director Praises Volunteers

For safety and economic reasons the Red Cross blood transfusion service "Must continue to depend on volunteer blood donors, according to Dr Roger A. Perrault, national director of the service

If the Red Cross used paid donors in its service which is mandated by the government, Dr. Perrault says the quality of the blood obtained would suffer

"Volunteer donors are the only people who will give you a straight medical story," said Dr. Perrault, citing hepatitis and the use of drug, as areas of concern. He was the Keynote speaker at the annual meeting of the Red Cross' N.B. Division in Saint John Saturday

"The rate of hepatitis is four times higher in paid donors than in volunteers. If we had to replace volunteers with paid suppliers we wouldn't get the quality and a conservative estimate of the price tag would be $35 million," said Dr. Perrault

He warned delegates that "any effort that is made to destroy that system must be given serious study."

Dr Perrault said the Red Cross service has supplied the Canadian health care system for such a long time that it has resulted in a false sense of security. But from a safety and economic viewpoint, he said people should beware of those who are "constantly making attempts to nip away at the volunteer system."

He said "the number of people in every province who support the volunteer system never ceases to amaze me," adding that he also appreciated the financial assistance given to the Red Cross from the provinces

Other speakers at Saturday's luncheon, including Justice Minister Rodman Logan and Mayor Edis Flewwelling, who paid tribute to the volunteer organization.

"Volunteer organizations are playing an ever increasing part in society. If it weren't for volunteers, those jobs would fall to the government which would mean more tax money," said Mr. Logan

William M. Brace, chairman of the national executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, told the New Brunswick delegates that he would return to Toronto with a good report of their enthusiasm and dedication

He told the meeting that a major review of Red Cross programs has resulted in new directions for Red Cross youth, women's work, and blood donor recruitment activities

Mr Brace also said that a bureau of translation has been established in Montreal to translate old materials into both English and French and to ensure that new materials are issued simultaneously in both languages.

The Red Cross budget of $60 million was broken down for delegates and Mr. Brace said the society is currently tightening up its accounting procedures

TO GO OR NOT TO GO?

The Bathurst landscape will never be the same without this clock tower on the Old Post Office Building, a landmark and architectural rarity since the late 1800s. It's destined to be removed and replaced by a nondescript flat roof unless someone in authority takes quick and decisive action. The well-preserved sandstone structure is now occupied by the local militia

Death Occurs In 88th Year

LAMEQUE- The death of Ambroise Noel occurred May 1 in hospital at Lameque at the age of 85. He was pre-deceased by his wife, the former Elisabeth Noel.

Mr. Noel was a son of the late Xavier and Blandine Guignard Noel and was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Surviving are two sons, Laurier and Hermidas, both of Little Lameque; nine grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Noel rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Lameque.

The funeral was held at Notre-Dame-des-Flots Church in Lameque Tuesday at 4 p.m.

STUDENTS LEARN LIFE-GIVING TECHNIQUE

Superior School Principal Albert Lavigne served as a subject in a blood-giving demonstration last week at the Red Cross blood donor clinic held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall. The demonstration was part of a guided tour arranged with the clinic for Mrs. Edith Gammon's grade 5 class from Superior School during which the children had the opportunity of witnessing the entire operation, from the typing of blood to the actual donation itself. Gathered around Mr. Lavigne are, from left, Jimmy Hache, Donna Good, Donna Imhoff, Kristen Duncan, Petro Nune and Mark Kenny.

Brother Dies In Ontario

Sympathy is being extended to a former Bathurst man, J. Eric Magee, on the death of his brother, Joe L. Magee of Ottawa, which occurred Apr. 26 after a long illness. He was 62.

Born in Bath, N.B., he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Magee.

Mr. Magee was educated in Moncton and was a veteran of the Second World War, having served with the North Shore Regiment. For a time, he was employed with The Moncton Transcript and, after the war, moved to ottawa where he worked as a printer in the federal civil service.

Surviving are his wife, the former Georgette Van Helsland; a daughter, Mrs. Bernard Boucher (Lillian) of Ottawa; one granddaughter; three sisters, Mrs. Alonzo Godin (Marguerite) of Ottawa, Mrs. Claude Savoie (Regina) of Fredericton and Mrs. Edgar McDevitt (Marie) of Sherbrooke, Que., also a one-time Bathurst resident; and five brothers, Albert of Montreal and Fred, Paul, Eric and Frank, all of Moncton.

Dies In Bathurst Rests At Tracadie

The death of John William Keefe of Salmon Beach, formerly of Pokemouche, occurred Monday at Chaleur General Hospital following an illness of four years. He was 67.

Born at Pokemouche, he was a son of the late Andrew and Ellen (Whitty) Keefe.

Mr Keefe was a farm and woods worker prior to his illness and had been residing at the home of Thomas Ellis for several years. He was unmarried.

Surviving are one brother, Joseph who resides in Ontario and several cousins

Mr Keefe rested at Elhatton's until Wednesday when he was taken to Tracadie to rest at Robichaud's Funeral Home.

The funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Pokemouche. Entombment in the parish receiving vault will be followed by burial later this spring.

WHEELCHAIR ATHLETE CITED BY CITY

Prior to Monday's City Council meeting, Mayor John A. Duffy, presented, on behalf of the City and councillors, an engraved plaque to Clarence Bastarache. The award was given in recognition for outstanding achievement in the 1976 World Olympics for the Physically Disabled. Mr. Bastarache won a bronze medal in the pentathlon competitions.

Mrs. J. Glazier Funeral Thursday

The death of Mrs. John Glazier, 294 Nevins Lane, occurred Monday at Chaleur General Hospital after an illness of four years. She was 63.

Born in Bathurst, she was the former Bridget Simmoneau, a daughter of the late William and Martha (Daigle) Simmoneau, and was a lifelong resident of the area.

Surviving besides her husband are one daughter, Mrs. William Tait (Leona) of Edson, Alta; four sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Legacy, Mrs.. Vincent Legacy (Leona) and Mrs. Melindy White, all of Bathurst and Mrs. Isabel Mallet, Saint John; one brother, James Simmoneau of Bathurst; and three grandchildren including Kerry Taggart who resided with her.

Mrs. Galzier is resting at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

The funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday at Our Lady of the Rosary Church. Entombment in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Avenue will be followed by burial in the adjoining cemetery later this spring.

Inquires About Remaining Cars

Where are the last two Bricklin cars in the possession of the provincial government being stored?

That is the question which Frank Branch (L-Nepisiguit Chaleur) has tried in vain to ascertain during two successive questions periods, Thursday and Friday

Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew told Mr Branch on Thursday that only two cars were left in the government's possession, but when Mr Branch asked where the cars were stored his question was ruled out of order as not of an urgent public nature.

On Friday, Mr Branch repeated the question, but Premier Richard Hatfield called for order

"In their underground storage yard," said Opposition Leader Robert Higgins

"Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the minister could inform the house what the government plans to do with these two cars?" asked Mr. Branch. "Are there any plans for them?"

"It would hardly appear that is a very urgent matter at this point," said Mr. Merrithew. "I would be pleased to discuss that during my estimates."

Later during the question period Andre Robichaud (L-Shippegan-les-Iles) asked, "Do we have any assets left from the Bricklin company?" Immediately after Mr. Robichaud asked his question there was by coincidence a piercing screeching sound over the electronic translation system.

"There's your answer", said Mr Merrithew

"It should have been your answer to Malcolm when he first called," said Mr. Higgins, in reference to the promoter of the Bricklin sportscar venture, Malcolm Bricklin.

Mr. Merrithew said there were assets left but it was a technical question which he would prefer to answer during his estimates.

The cutting board and knife should be thoroughly washed before changing from cook to raw foods, raw to cooked foods or vegetables or meat, or poultry products

TEN PRIORITY POINTS

For strong representation in Coffyn Ward

VOTE McArdle

I will endeavour to implement the following ten priority points:

1. Equal share of the tax-spending dollar.
2. Park and playground facilities replacing Kent Pond Canal
3. The replacement of a lost or stolen kiddies' playground for O'Neil and Golf Street area
4. Further development of the new one acre playground near the Royal Canadian Legion for a minor league ball park.
5. Immediate follow-through of paved streets for the College Hill area following the installation of water and sewer facilities.
6. The re-location of stop signs at Laurier and Chaleur Streets to enable through-traffic along Evangeline Drive to traffic lights at Chaleur Street and St. Peter Avenue.
7. A feasibility study for the location of a fire hall and City Service Center to serve the West Bathurst area to relieve the highly congested present City Works Department.
8. To insure surface drainage ditches and driveway culverts in the unserviced area of Riverside Drive.
9. A solution to the flow of heavy truck traffic on Riverside Drive.
10. To install a much needed and realistic traffic signal system at St. Peter Avenue and St. Anne Street, comparable to St. Peter Avenue and Vanier Blvd.

For the City in general, I will strongly support for a start on the Arena Complex. Also, a renewed interest in the Boys and Girls' Club.

I propose more co-operation between City Council and the many service clubs who give so freely their time to the many worthwhile projects for the benefit of all citizens of Bathurst.

Band Appreciative Of Public Support

The president of the Bathurst Citizen's Band, George Robertson, would like to express his appreciation to the following people for their extreme efforts and cooperation in producing a very successful spring concert which was held on Sunday evening April 24 at Nepisiguit High School:

The executive of the band comprised of Roger LeBlanc, vice-president; Bill Morrison, secretary-treasurer; Judy McKendy, Mary Willett, Milton Scott, Raoul Cormier and Michele Dube, directors; as well as the general membership of the band for their dedication and cooperation throughout the past season.

One individual who is due a tremendous vote of thanks is Doug Pineau who has devoted a fantastic amount of time and effort into the preparation and presentation of this concert.

Mr. Robertson would also like to thank the media, the general public, the various businesses throughout the city who contributed towards the advertising, Ralph Hachey, who acted as doorman for the concert, Patrick McLaughlin who performed the duties of master of ceremonies, Lorne Poitras for his assistance in co-ordinating the Nepisiguit High School musical facilities and to the school's principal Lionel Bruneau and the School Board of School District No. 4 for making the auditorium facilities available to the band for this occasion. Also to Rene Beaudet of the Carpet Ranch for the loan of carpet.

The Bathurst Citizens' Band which operates as a non-profit organization relies entirely on concerts presented during the year as well as private donations for its operating finances, which include purchasing of new instruments, repairs to instruments and also the purchasing of new music.

Expenses incurred for the preparation of a concert such as advertising, tickets, sound and lighting technicians' services, rental fees and janitorial fees for the school auditoriums where the concerts are held are also taken out of the concert revenue.

Above and beyond these expenses, the Bathurst Citizens' Band, each year provides a scholarship program for students to attend the Mount Allison University Summer Music Camp, and this year we plan to send as many students as our funds will allow. The names of the successful scholarship applicants will be announced in a press release within the next couple of weeks.

Full band rehersals will commence on Monday evening May 9 at 7:00 p.m. in preparation for an outdoor concert to be presented in Coronation Park on a suitable Sunday in June. The date for this concert will be announced in the next couple of weeks.

Agreement For Teachers

A new collective agreement was signed May 3 between the New Brunswick Teachers' Federation and Treasury Board covering the period from Jan. 1, 1977 to Dec. 31, 1978.

It provides a wage increase of five and one half percent in the first year and four per cent in the second year.

Treasury Board Chairman Jean Maurice Simard congratulated both sides on "a job well done" and said he was pleased that agreement had been reached under the collective bargaining system covering provincial employees.

Plant Changes Show Results

Modifications to heating and cooling plants in twelve of New Brunswick's all-electric schools have more than paid for themselves in six months or less.

Wayne Colpitts, engineer in charge of energy conservation for the department of education, says the schools have reduced their electrical consumption by 7,531,700 kilowatt hours in comparison with last year's figures for the same time periods. At 2.2 cents per kwh, the reduction represents a saving of $165,697.00.

Colpitts said the modifications, which include time-clock controls allowing for night and weekend shutdown, cost a total of $120,025.00 for the twelve schools. The cost was expected to be recovered within a twelve-month period.

Schools where the work has been completed are Tantramar High in Sackville, St. Stephen Elementary, Mathieu Martin in Dieppe, Villa des Amis in Sheila, Neguac Junior High, W.A. Losier High in Tracadie, James Hill High in Chatham, the Fredericton High School Complex, Blackville Rural High, Croft Elementary in Newcastle.

Belledune Boy N.B. Winner

Declared winner Saturday of a provincial public speaking contest was Carl Duivenvoorden, a student at Belledune School. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Duivenvoorden, of Armstrong Brook.

"Quebec Separatism and Its Effect on New Brunswick" was the youth's topic.

The competition was held at Millidgeville North High School in Saint John.

Young Duivenvoorden won the right to represent Bathurst zone in the finals by taking top honors in a similar contest at South Bathurst School April 8 sponsored by the English Council of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association.

Accordingly he was declared zone winner among junior high and high school students. He originally entered the circuit via a victory at his own school in March.

CARL DUINVENVOORDEN

THE SPEECH

As of November 15, Canada is facing perhaps the greatest threat to her unity yet: Separatism. This innocent-sounding word represents the will of the Quebec government to separate from Canada in one of the most controversial issues ever to strike Canada yet. (Miss Chairman, Honorable Judges, Guests)

Ever since Rene Levesque was elected premier of Quebec, the question has loomed forth more menacingly than ever before. Will Quebec separate from Canada, or will she stay by the agreement of 1867, which binds her to Canada? There is much opposition from the remaining parts of Canada, especially the Maritimes, concerning Quebec's plight, for where will we be if Quebec separates? Should this happen? The Maritimes, already considered as slow in growth and development will be left without any connection to the rest of Canada. In this situation, we have a few undesirable choices.

We could join the U.S., but do they want us, and do we want them? We are now proud of being Canadians, and are not willing to give up our National Identity. Even if we are accepted by our southern neighbors, we are not prepared for it, both mentally and psychologically.

Another possibility is that we form a nation of our own, but how is this possible, as we are already considered as slow in growth and development? How could we survive in today's world as a nation if we have a difficult time surviving as provinces? Already, the unemployment rates in New Brunswick and Newfoundland are the highest in Canada, and are still on the rise.

Our third alternative is that we keep up all of our relations with the rest of Canada. This choice is also not completely desirable, for all of our trade relations will be marred by taxes and duties. Our main seaway from the east will belong to Quebec, cutting off much trade to Western Canada.

Rene Levesque, leader of the Parti Quebecois, said during his campaign, "The desire of the Parti Quebecois is not separatism, but a better Quebec." Why is it that he has changed his tactics? Is it because in earlier elections, the Parti Quebecois was defeated when it stated that it's goal was separatism? Could it be that Mr. Levesque was afraid of the results if he proclaimed separatism, and so changed his original plans as an election stunt? Whatever his means of campaigning, his present motive is clear, for why is his party now wooing the Parti Acadien, here in the Maritimes, for their support, should Quebec separate.

Many Quebecers obviously feel that separatism is the correct road to choose. I wonder do they know what separatism is more than just gaining freedom from Canada. What about trade relations? What about defense? What about Internal Affairs which need special organization and control? What about.... what about? This list is endless.

A proverb from the bible states that, "A house divided against itself will fall." Thus, in my opinion, if Quebec separates, Canada will surely fall.

L'Election Des Dames d'Acadie

Les Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst se réunissaient mercredi, le 20 avril, pour leur souper mensuel avec un programme l'élection d'un nouvel executif.

Ont été élues Bernadette Fongémie, présidente, Peggy Bourque, Armelle Brideau, Jeanne d'Arc Daigle Bibiane Desjardins, Yolande Losier, Desanges Ouellette, Huberte Rossignol, Francoise Savoie et Bernadette Stever.

Outre la présidence, les fonctions de chacune seront déterminées a une prochaine réunion.

Des cours de leadership offerts par l'Association provinciale des Dames d'Acadie pour les cercles de Campbellton, Dalhousie et Bathust auront lieu au Collège de Shippagan le 29-30 avril et le premier mai. Dix membres de Bathurst y participeront.

Les Dames d'Acadie souhaitent la bienvenue a un nouveau membre, Gilberte Losier qui a été présenté avec beaucoup d'humour par Cécile, Duguay.

Linda Leblanc a éte choisie pour faire parti du comité de nominations pour l'élection de l'exécutif provincial; une assemblee réunissant les déléguées des différents cercles se tiendra à Caraquet en septembre.

Card Party Prize Winners

Nine tables participated in the April 21 regular card party of the Maple Leaf Club held in the recreation room of the Dennis S. Fournier Senior Citizens residences.

Mrs. Willie Lavigne captured ladies' first prize and Frank Comeau won the men's prize.

Lunch was prepared and served by Mrs. Aloysius Lavigne, Mrs. Emily Boudreau and Mrs. Linda Cripps.

At the April 22 session, Mrs. Elsie Doucet and Bernie Arseneau were top scorers.

LePage Denies Union Charges

New Brunswick Federation of Labor President Paul LePage of Bathurst has denied charges made against him in connection with an arbitration hearing involving Local 894, International Union of Operating Engineers.

Mr. LePage was replying to an earlier statement by Fred Grigsby, international representative, that the federation head had denied the union local permission to give evidence during the hearing.

The local unanimously approved a resolution April 29 calling for Mr. LePage's resignation as he had abused his office by sitting on the arbitration case and had pitted two union affiliates against each other because of it.

The labor president said there is no doubt in his mind about his right to hear the case and he stands by the ruling that gave a job on a Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. branch line train to a Canadian Paperworkers Union member instead of to a man from Local 894.

The union, however, felt there was a conflict of interest involved, and that Mr. LePage's actions were "unprecedented." They have indicated intentions to appeal the arbitration decision to the N.B. Supreme Court.

Mr. LePage, however, says he doesn't consider the action a serious threat to his job. The labor federation has a convention slated for two weeks from now and Mr. LePage said he will be judged by the union people then.

Bathurst Man Named To Head Association

The Northeastern New Brunswick Tourism Association will lose a grant of $35,000 from Community Improvement Corporation, the association's annual meeting was told Sunday, April 24.

Speaking to about 65 members who attended the session in Campbellton, Tourism and Environment Minister Fernand Dube criticized the association for relying too much on grants. "Looking at your budget, maybe something isn't being done We have so many dollars and have to go on a priority basis."

Master of ceremonies for the meeting was Gilles Chamberland, executive secretary. Councillor Gladys Swan welcomed association members on behalf of Campbellton's mayor and council.

Other addresses came from retiring president Marianne Schwarz of Beresford who outlined the association's accomplishments since its formation in 1973. Ms. Schwarz recommended that the group ask Tourism NB for land, such as Heron Island and the Nigadoo River region, for parks. Tourist guidances would be more important in 1977-78 due to competition, she said.

BILL COMEAU

Mr. Dube also spoke of the New England area's woeful lack of knowledge about Northeastern New Brunswick, but explained the province had found it necessary to cut the advertising budget in this area in favor of job-creation programs, such as park development. He referred specifically to Caraquet's Acadian Village and Sugarloaf Provincial Park in Campbellton.

The minister indicated the province intends to do more advertising in the tourism field across Canada, particularly in Quebec and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Dube described the tourism industry as a multi-million dollar investment which generates up to 19,000 man-year jobs. His solution to the region's difficulties in attracting more tourists was the development of Mount Carleton, which he considered a natural site for a year-round park.

Mr. Chamberland, speaking in response to the minister's remarks, explained the reason for the $8,000 surplus in 1976, and noted the association had received an extension on the CIC grant until June, pending the new FRED agreement. He also rejected Mr. Dube's Mount Carleton proposal.

Restigouche MP Maurice Harquail also indicated disagreement with the minister's comments, saying the minister must have very little understanding of the group's work in the large area it covers (Caraquet to St. Quentin).

"The federal government pumps $500 million into New Brunswick, including tourism. Where is it going? The province insists on autonomy, and yet it cannot assist this association with a measley $35,000?"

Mr. Harquail said he was impressed with the association and the work being done by members, such as the Indians at Eel River in the field of arts and crafts and furniture manufacture.

Elected president of the association for the 1977-78 year was Bill Comeau of Bathurst. Directors include Ms. Schwarz, Jeannine Cote of Campbellton, Arthur Paradis of Dalhousie, Antoine Landry of Caraquet, Raymond Hachey of Shippegan and Georges Roy of Petit Rocher.

Loan Guarantee Extended Firm

Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew said April 26 the province will issue a loan guarantee of $966,334 to Associated Fisheries of Canada Ltd. of Shippegan.

However, he pointed out there is no additional financial assistance involved. The loan guarantee is being reissued because the previous government guarantee was released when the company changed lenders.

Associated Fisheries started operations in 1975. The plant processes queen crab and other fish species.

The company employs 250 people on a seasonal basis at present and is investigating alternative uses to increase the operating season.

The reissue of the province's loan guarantee is in an amount equivalent to the outstanding balance of the previous loan guarantee of $1,115,000 issued in 1974 to Associated Fisheries.

Sentenced For UIC Infraction

A Tracadie man who pleaded guilty in Provincial Court April 27 to charges laid under the Unemployment Insurance Act has been fined $100 or, in lieu of payment, ten days in jail.

Barry G. Stymiest, who was charged under Section 121 of the act for failing to declare earnings while drawing benefits, was also instructed to reimburse $637 in benefits received fraudulently.

SPECIAL CONTRIBUTION FOR A SPECIAL CLASS

Results Of Survey On Alcohol Heard At Home-School Session

The results of a survey taken from a good cross-section of the student population on the use of alcohol highlighted the April meeting of the Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association.

Program chairman John Sweezey had distributed 150 questionnaires to students, and when results were tabulated, five students took part in an interview-type program based on these results.

The survey showed about 12 per cent had taken their first drink at age ten, with the percentage rising to 91 per cent by age 15. Seventy-two per cent said they drank regularly (regularly meaning once to twice a week).

A few interesting points showed 105 thought their drinking habits were "social" although 116 thought drinking was not a "social must". While 115 said their parents knew they drank, only 46 reported having been punished. The highest percentage indicated television or other forms of advertising did not influence their drinking habits. Most reported liking school with no resentment of school rules, good attendance and an average between 50 and 80 per cent.

All agreed they would probably drink considerably less, or maybe not at all, if the teens had a recreation centre or something to do in Bathurst.

Plans for the annual meeting of the provincial home and school association, to be held June 11 in Newcastle, were discussed, and the local association decided to send a representative. Several briefs will be presented from the members to vote on, including one from BHS and J. Gordon Chalmers Association requesting the Department of Education to institute without delay, a system of health services in public schools to provide full-time nursing services.

The association agreed to support seven other briefs, including those calling for shorter hours for children travelling by bus so they will not be away from home more than 6½ to eight hours a day; provisions for necessary textbooks for each and every student; the continuation of driver education, and the immediate reinstatement of the basic writing, grammar and math drills at the elementary level.

The meeting was told that hearing tests are now available at a clinic at Chaleur General Hospital, and it is no longer necessary to go through the family doctor for the testing.

The association agreed to make available a $100 bursary to a deserving Grade 12 student. Another $25 will go towards the expense of having a student attend a professional writer's course in Fredericton.

Home and School President Mrs. Joy Winton reminded members to think very carefully on their choice of school board members in the upcoming elections as their dec

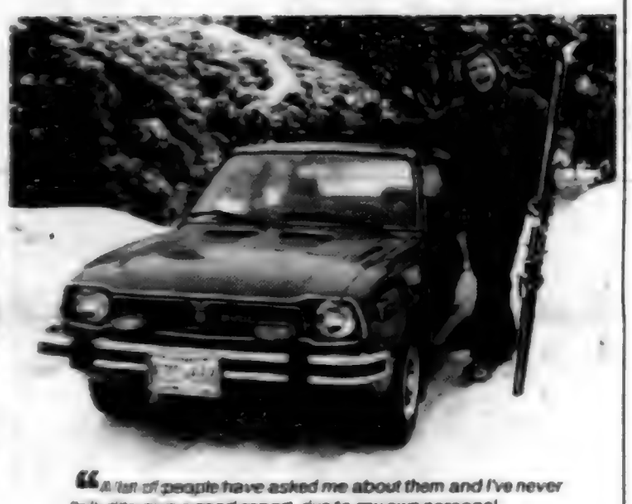
HONDA FAN CLUBBERS.

"I've sold a few. I didn't sell 'em myself, I just told the person to go down and see it. And if you like it, buy it. If you don't want to, nobody's going to push you to buy anything. And it doesn't cost anything to try one. Most people that I've sent there have bought cars."

Mel Gregoire, Winnipeg, Manitoba.



"A lot of people have asked me about them and I've never failed to give a good report, due to my own personal experiences. I'm sure I've sold three or four of them. It's very low and it gives you the feeling, even in the ordinary Civic of being a sports car. I guess you could call it a poor man's sports car."

Mike Frosie, Ottawa, Ontario.

"That front wheel drive is the greatest thing ever done with a car. The day we had the big snowstorm here in Toronto, that Honda was going through anything and everything while the larger North American cars were either spun off or they were hung up in a ditch or were spinning on the slight grades. And I think that really capped off the whole thing... that Honda was the car I was just delighted to be driving."

John Robinson, Burlington, Ontario.

"I am Honda's biggest fan. Being a girl on my own, I don't have a lot of money to put into the maintenance of a car or the initial purchase of one. It's important to me to go places, without worrying whether it's going to start or whether it's going to get me there. And this Honda... the maintenance, the service is fair and economical, and only requires attention every 5000 miles. Plus the gas mileage is the best you can find anywhere."

Lynn McArthur, Richmond, British Columbia.

You'd almost think owning a Honda was the ticket into a secret society. Horns honk and lights blink when one Honda driver spots another.

That sort of delightful gesture nearly disappeared as cars got clunkier and chunkier. Honda has revived the true spirit of driving by building a car that balances practicality with punch, zip and dash.

Your initiation into the group is simple and pleasant. Go to a Honda dealer's and ask for a test drive. That's the key. And keep your eyes peeled for an honest-to-goodness Honda Fan Club, coming soon. HONDA

EMPLOYEE HONORED ON TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Arthur Lee, proprietor Sea View Dining Room at Keddy's Motel, presented an engraved gold watch to Mrs. Marie Dupuis (centre), for 10 years service as a waitress. Mr. Lee's wife, Linda, looks on. A small gathering was held in Mrs. Dupuis' honor Saturday afternoon, April 23, followed by an official 10-year anniversary party Sunday evening at the Golden Nugget. The Sea View Dining Room employs a staff of 36 compared to 15, ten years ago.

Parti Acadien Rejects Communistic Views

"Communistic leanings" by a "certain group of militants.. a minority" was given as the reason April 27 for the resignations of five members of the Parti Acadien executive.

Party President Jean-Pierre Lanteigne told a press conference in Moncton that the five quit at the "suggestion" of the remaining executive. For some time they had forced pro-communistic views and aims onto the party and had in fact posed a serious threat with their Marxist-Leninist overtones to the credibility and progression of the province's youngest political party, Dr. Lanteigne said.

Although the party respected the rights of each of its members, Dr. Lanteigne said, it could not continue to function when some of its executive members displayed "communistic leanings."

He pointed to the pro-Acadian publication l'Acayenne, which folded recently as the work of such militants "to liquidate reformist movements" and that the plight facing the Parti Acadien was that of either evolve pro-communistic views or fold as did l'Acayenne.

Another executive member said there had been a division within the 14-member party executive for some time specifically because of those members whose ideas were deemed too leftist for the party. Some of those ideas were "squarely unacceptable" to the rest of the executive and a rift developed.

Dr. Lanteigne said he felt the resignations, believed inevitable, was in fact "a positive step" for the party although he regretted the loss of the vice-president whom he valued highly and credited with much of the initial work in getting the party together.

The PA is the first organization to undertake study, and work on the many-faceted problems which face the English and French today, Dr. Lanteigne said. Though the party could never hope to gain power in New Brunswick, he said, it could ultimately form the balance of power.

Those members tendering resignations were Gilles Therriault, vice-president; Jean Claude Basque, Fernande Godin, Rene Lanteigne and Raymond Leger.

Attend Public Speaking Contest

Belledune School students who had competed in the public speaking competitions in their own school earlier in the season travelled to Saint John to be present for the provincial competitions April 30.

Those attending besides Carl Duivenvoorden, Belledune, zone winners of the public speaking contest in Bathurst included Robert Boulay, Diane Guitard, Helen Young and Rita Flanagan. Accompanying the students as chaperones were mrs. Lorenzo Grant, Belledune School teacher and Mr. Grant.

This travel project was sponsored by the Belledune Home and School Association and the objective was that the group might gain experience.

POLITICAL SCENE

PCs Emphasized Liberal Victory

By STEWARD MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

Yes, it was indeed a riotous day in Parliament when Jack Horner appeared for the first time as a flower-carrying member of the Liberal cabinet. But, for the life of me, I can't figure out why the Conservatives have this compulsion to pour salt in their own wounds.

I could understand it if the Liberals had spent the day tossing taunts at the Tories. After all, it's fair political game to make the most out of these rare defections. And in this particular case the Tories lost an MP with 19 years of parliamentary experience while the Grits gained a cabinet minister and their first Alberta MP since 1972.

But for reasons I can't quite comprehend, it was the Tories who spent the day drawing attention to the new Liberal Horner. Within an hour, they had almost managed to make a martyr out of their former colleague with a variety of barbs, snide remarks and unkind comments.

On the surface, it appeared as though all the Conservatives were united in attempting to downgrade the new cabinet minister, but Horner still has a wide assortment of friends on those opposition benches and some of them were privately furious at the parliamentary proceedings.

SETS TONE

The tone was set by Conservative Leader Joe Clark who led off the questioning after Horner was given a walloping big welcome by the Liberal MPs.

"A thorn by any other name," was the expression used by the Conservative leader to acknowledge the presence of the new minister.

I think we could safely interpret this to mean that Clark was stopping short of wishing Horner unlimited success in his new party.

Former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker did a bit of editing on Gray's elogy and said "the paths of duty lead but to the gravy." And Horner's old buddy, Patrick Nolan PC-Annapolis Valley, asked Prime Minister Trudeau this question:

"Is part of the Prime Minister's political philosophy that every man has his price?"

Nowlan was to say later that this was not a reference to Horner, but the packed public galleries certainly thought it was.

Another Conservative said there was an aroma of heifer dust in the House, while everyone laughed in the direction of rancher Horner. Otto Jelinek, a Toronto Conservative, referred to "the poor loser from Crowfoot."

But, on this particular day, Horner was clearly not the loser. And regarding any suggestions that he had a price, he had this to say to his fellow parliamentarians: "It is a cost that I have paid, a cost that I have been prepared to pay for the good of my country. I would hope that in setting an example for all Canadians, all Canadians would make a re-dedication to help this country. Rather than a price, I look upon it as a cost."

The Liberal applause was thunderous.

NOT BOTHERED

Horner said later that the verbal needling didn't bother him. "When you sit in the House for 19 years you get used to this type of thing."

But Trudeau made it clear he didn't think much of the performance.

"When a member has been sitting in this House for 19 years... the least he can expect is not to be insulted," said the Prime Minister.

Later that night, a senior member of Clark's shadow cabinet who had enthusiastically applauded his leader in the House, was pounding his fist on a desk in anger.

"Oh, I know, we now have to look united on this, but I couldn't take much more of that performance in the House. I don't know whether we are masochists, but there is something wrong when we spend all that time drawing attention to a Liberal victory."

There are some who will argue that Horner was a divisive force within the Conservative caucus and that his departure will bring a new sense of unity to the Tories and a new sense of division to the Liberals.

MINING ENGINEER WINS TOASTMASTERS INTERNATIONAL SPEECH CONTEST

Herman Derbuch, 575 Stout Court, is the Bathurst-Miramichi area best speaker. Mr. Derbuch defeated one other contestant in the Annual Toastmasters International Area 3 District 45 Speech Contest April 25 at Danny's Colonial House.

The other participant in the contest was Angus MacDonnell of Newcastle. A few weeks ago these men advanced to the area event by winning their club's speech contests.

A member of the Bathurst Toastmasters Club, Mr. Derbuch will compete May 27 to 29 as the area representative in a district-wide contest to be held in Charlottetown. The District 45 Speech Contest will be conducted at the Charlottetown Hotel and the public is invited.

Other contestants will include speakers from various clubs in the Maritime Provinces and the States of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine.

Judges for the event will include Chief Judge Brian Jamieson, assisted by Edward Aube, John Doucet, Roly MacIntush and Charles Green.

A mining engineer, Mr. Derbuch's topic was "opportunity for all Canadians".

Toastmasters International is a non-profit, non-partisan, non-sectarian educational organization that provides its members with a program in communication and leadership development. Meetings are held every Monday at 6:15 p.m. at Danny's Colonial House and is open to men and women.

Commission Praised For Efforts In Region

Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew, the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission held at Jacquet River April 27 said that the commission has an important role to play in the economic development of New Brunswick.

"We believe that the province's industrial development efforts must be directed, to a greater extent, towards the development of a strong local economy," said Mr. Merrithew. "This means a diversified and healthy small business sector supplying a local market with local resources."

He told his audience the industrial commission is in the best position to respond to the problems of small business in the Chaleur region and to provide local entrepreneurs with guidance and information on resources and skills available in the area.

The commission is also able to help local businessmen take advantage of the many government programs available to assist them, added Mr. Merrithew.

The minister reviewed the recent activities of the commission. This includes a study to determine the needs of the resource-based industries in the Northeast and to identify those needs which could readily be met by new companies locating in the region.

"I am certain the results of this study will prove to be beneficial to the whole area," said Mr. Merrithew.

"In view of the wide-ranging types of activities the commission has involved itself with during the past year, it becomes more and more evident to us that a goodly number of concerns must be treated at the local level," he added.

One of the most important accomplishments of the commission is to have established an esprit de corps within the region, said the minister. "community cooperation in areas where social and economic ties are strong ensures best end use of available assets."

Mr. Merrithew commended the communities making up the commission for putting the good of the region as a whole as their first priority.

PIRELLI

Everybody doesn't know Pirelli.

But the people who do, know us for some pretty impressive things. They know that for years Pirelli tires have been standard equipment on high performance cars like Ferraris, Porsches, Mercedes, etc. And that Pirelli has been making radials for over 25 years, which is about 15 years longer than any radial made in America.

And that other tire manufacturers think so much of Pirelli radial designs that 68 of them have used our patents.

Because of all this acclaim, many people think they can't afford Pirelli tires.

This is far from true.

And if you'll just stop in we think we can show you that you can afford to put Pirelli tires on your car.

We may even be able to show you that you can't afford not to.

Forests Are Growing Concern In This Area

National Forest Week, May 1 to May 7, is designed to draw your attention to one of our most valuable assets, one which due to its common nature is often unappreciated except by those who are directly involved in its evolution.

Our forests represent our life line to nature and it is the hope of the promoters of National Forest Week that by focusing national attention upon this asset, we may nurture a common awareness which will permit all mankind to appreciate and develop our forests.

The theme for this year's National Forest Week may ring an ecological bell in all our minds. Our beautiful up-river and Tetagouche areas are really in our back yards where sportsmen fish, hunt and camp and generally enjoy our great outdoors.

As well as providing such recreation facilities, our forests directly provide a livelihood for some 900 Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. employees and their families and an additional 1,000 people and their families in Gloucester County.

This may not seem like much, but our forests have been providing for New Brunswickers since the first settlers set foot here.

Our forefathers built ships, homes, tools of wood and in a society which has cast aside many traditional values, wood is still very much a part of our lives.

Considering the fact that the forest is a provider, we can't separate people, industry and the forest from each other. The interaction of these three elements have contributed to the standard of living we enjoy.

Without industry, our forest resource's contribution to our well being would be greatly reduced. The health of the forest industry is not only a function of these elements.

Canadian forest products must be sold on the world markets and thus compete with American, South American, Scandinavian, Russian and other producers of pulp and paper and lumber. Each of these regions have certain advantages which, on the world market, make them competitive.

The United States and South American competitors benefit from lower labour costs and exceptional forest growth due to their climate. The Scandinavian countries have higher production costs but benefit from their close proximity to the European markets.

Canadian competitiveness has been dropping for many reasons, to the point of contributing to cyclical fluctuations in the demands for our product.

As an industry, we have to look to the forest, along with many other areas as possible avenues to improve our position on world markets.

When considering our forests, we must keep in mind that we are dealing with a lengthy crop rotation, in the order of 40 to 100 years, depending on the species and site conditions. Productivity is in the order of ½ cord per acre per year with 1 cord per acre per year being considered excellent.

In contrast, the southern pine forests of the United States yield 7 - 8 cords per acre per year or a pulpwood crop rotation of approximately 15 years.

Our climate is the main factor in limiting fibre productivity. Productivity of our forests can be improved but in most instances this can be done only with significant expenditures for site preparation and planting. In this respect, the cost must not exceed the projected benefits.

Forests are a renewable resource, and man can work to improve the next crop. This is why the N.B. Tree Improvement Council was formed during this past year. Ultimately we, industry and government, can expect a 10 to 15 percent increase in growth productivity with the dividends payable in 50 years or so. What the Council is doing, is selecting trees and stands that appears to be superior. After testing the seed from these superior stand and trees, the proven genetically superior seed is used for reforesting suitable sites.

Unlike potato or any other crop growers, the foresters' experimentation has considerably larger dimensions. This crop will mature in 50 years or so and will probably give the forester an indication of its success at 10 years. The areas of the crop are in the order of hundreds of square miles. Other crop growers can usually evaluate their efforts within months, and because of the short rotation are dealing in acres and not square miles.

There is another approach that may be considered much more scientific than the Council's approach in aiding mother nature, thus is the development and introduction of exotic species. This facet of research has had some very promising developments, especially with rapid growth populars, pines and larches.

The difficulty is not in getting the trees to grow but to get them to survive and reproduce in our forests. Due to the long crop rotation, time is an unavoidable dimension in the development of the miracle tree that will grow quickly, be insect and disease resistant and at the same time be suitable for processing into marketable products.

Government and industry are exploring means to maximize the return from our wood resource. This encompasses, as well as pulp and paper and lumber, secondary manufacturing such as furniture, packaging and a better marketing of our products.

It is clear, that careful investment in people, forests and forest based industry in proportion to their respective potential on both the long and short terms, will be the wisest management of our forest resources for all New Brunswickers.

Needless to say, with wise management, the forests as a renewable resource will continue to play an important role in the life of every New Brunswicker.

Special Recreation Day Gets Favorable Response

The creation of an awareness and understanding of recreation as it relates to the disabled person was the aim of a successful Recreation Awareness Day held at the Bathurst Shopping Mall April 21 by the Bathurst Regional Council on Recreation for the disabled.

Organized by the New Brunswick Council on Recreation for the Disabled in conjunction with the N.B. Department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources' Recreation Week, the day was designed to give the general public a better idea of the role of recreation in the lives of handicapped persons.

Special groups who participated in the displays at the mall included the CAMR Adult workshop, the North East Deaf Association (N.B.) including representation from the classes for the hearing handicapped in Petit Rocher, The Chaleur Handicapped Sport and Recreation Club, the Canadian Council for the Blind, the Flowers of Hope Training School and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

A spokesman for the regional council said the response from the day was very good, the general idea being to make the "normal" public aware of what is being done in the recreation field for the handicapped.

"Recreation forms a very important part of the handicapped person's life in the way of rehabilitation, and the more financial, moral and physical support they receive, the more the handicapped will be able to accomplish. The two must meet in the middle", The spokesman related.

Also in connection with the day, the students from the Flowers of Hope Training School gave a swimming demonstration at the Bathurst High School pool. On Friday evening, April 22, senior citizens from the city met members of the CCB Club in a bowling match at Capital Lanes with the senior citizens coming out ahead by 61 pins. Members of the Chaleur Handicapped Sport and Recreation Club were also in attendance.

Member Raps Power Rates

Telephone rate hearings, the powers given to public interveners and power rates all came under fire April 29 in an exchange between Liberal MLA Frank Branch and Provincial Secretary Paul Creaghan.

Mr. Branch, member for Nepisiguit-Chaleur, opened the discussion by asking Mr. Creaghan why hydro rates are not submitted to the public utilities commission in the same way as telephone rates are.

"They are excluded by statute", said Labor Minister Rodman Logan.

Mr. Branch said he has received innumerable complaints about power rates. "I'm not going to accuse personnally of mismanagement at Point Lepreau", he said.

"That's kind", said Mr. Creaghan.

"—but I know a veteran of the Second World War who has a disability and he told me he just doesn't know how he's going to pay his hydro bill."

Mr. Creaghan said as provincial secretary it was not his responsibility to determine whether the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission should be subject to the public utilities commission.

Mr. Branch criticized the salaries of the chairman ($29,500) and members ($5,000) of the Public Utilities Board as being too high. Mr. Creaghan said their work load had grown phenomenally in recent years.

"Who funds the public intervener?" asked Mr. Branch. He said that in the last hearings the intervener did not have proper funds to present his case.

"The cards are stacked against the individual paying the phone bill unless these people are given adequate resources. The phone company has tremendous resources.

"The government is working hand in glove with the phone company. They increase the tax on the company, and the company passes it on to the consumer. What input do the people have?

"It's a little better than with hydro bills; they can't even come before the board, but still the whole thing is a farce. The public utilities commission is becoming a rubber stamp."

Justice Minister Rodman Logan, whose father at one time worked for the Public Utilities Board, asked Mr. Branch, "Would the honourable member permit me to ask him a question?"

Mr. Branch agreed, but Alfred Roussel (L-Restigouche West) protested vehemently, saying it was contrary to the rules of the house. Mr. Branch said Mr. Logan could send him the question in writing.

The question was "Have you ever attended a meeting of the New Brunswick Public Utilities Board?"

Helmet History

Helmets of leather, bronze, brass, iron, or steel were worn by fighting men from the earliest times until the introduction of gunpowder in the 17th century brought an end to armored combat. Yet, it was firearms that caused helmets to be reintroduced in World War I.

FIVE WINNERS IN FIRST 222 DRAW

The Bathurst Rotary Club's 222 held its first weekly draw last week, with five ticket holders picking up $50 cheques. Presenting the lucky winners with their prizes at The Northern Light office Thursday was Hayden Hatheway, a member of the Club 222 committee. From left, Mr. Hatheway, Bob Verret with daughter Terry, and Don McAllister. Other $50 winners were Corinne Landry, John Hazen Sr. and Teddy Christie.

Blood Donor Quota Reached

After a slow start on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons of last week, the citizens of Bathurst came through in the evening to put the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic over the top.

Thursday evening was especially gratifying when 250 persons turned out.

There was a total of 608 donors at the Legion Auditorium on April 27 and 28, and 159 donors at the Trade School on the 26th.

The Red Cross and the Blood Donor Committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion were well pleased with the response and are looking forward to another successful appeal on August 13 and 14 next, again at the Legion Hall.

The Budworm Problem And Why It Persists

An article in keeping with National Forest Week 1977 by W.D.F. Brown, of NBIP, Dalhousie, a director of the Canadian Forestry Assn of New Brunswick Inc.)

The history of the budworm is known to a certain extent, but the complexities and the cyclical nature of the population dynamics and their relationship to any particular patch of forest or the entire eastern Canadian forest is more complicated.

The history of logging and the resultant changes in forest species composition are still, and were in the years gone by, a direct result of the market

ROYALTY CHOSEN AT SACRED HEART SCHOOL

A King and Queen were crowned at Sacred Heart School April 27. The royal family was named in conjunction with Sacred Heart School Week April 25 - 29.

Grade 8 student Paula Doucet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Bobo) Doucet, 410 Main St. was voted Queen. Enthroned as King was Louis Robichaud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robichaud, 960 Edgewood. Louis is in Grade 7. Looking on is Conrad Coughlan, principal.

Parti Acadien Wants Autonomous Province

A resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Parti Acadien Sunday in Moncton has called for the creation of an autonomous Acadian province in the French-speaking sections of New Brunswick.

Approved by the 50 delegates to the annual session, the resolution gave the party executive a mandate to prepare a charter outlining structures of a government for Acadians.

The resolution said the proposed province would respect the rights of Indians and English-speaking people living in the area.

The party, formed in 1972 and without an elected member in the legislature, now is to concentrate its efforts to build a political power base in seven New Brunswick counties - Victoria, Madawaska, Restigouche, Gloucester, Northumberland and Kent - where the majority of the population is Acadian.

The party also resolved to demand recognition as Acadian leaders from Ottawa and other provinces and to demand participation in the renegotiation of the Canadian Constitution.

Dr. Jean-Pierre Lanteigne of Bathurst was re-elected president of the party and 21 other executive positions were filled. The party's 14-member former executive had been reduced to nine last week when five members resigned.

Executive members of the Parti Acadien renewed calls Saturday for a guaranteed minimum wage for N.B.'s inshore fishermen and a study to determine if the province's fishing industry should be taken over by the provincial government.

The positions were outlined in one of four policy papers presented to the first day of the party's two-day annual meeting at the University of Moncton.

Party director Jean-Marie Nadeau said the party believes the fishery needs more and better leadership from the provincial government and he reiterated the party's support for inshore fishermen attempting to form unions.

In other papers, executive members called for the creation of a French-language agriculture and technology school and removal of laws allowing employers to pay women less than men.

Dr. Lanteigne, told the meeting the Parti Acadien supports the establishment of better specialized health facilities at hospitals in Northern and Southeastern New Brunswick.

"There exists in the Acadian regions of this province a great lack of medical institutions for the chronically ill," said Dr. Lanteigne. He said there is a lack of doctors and dentists in Francophone areas.

Dr. Lanteigne said as well the provincial government should investigate present methods of distribution of medicines and drugs, "with the intention of eliminating the indecent profits being made by multi-national corporations."

Director Euclide Chiasson's brief said agricultural credit should be interest free "or at least maintained at a two per cent level." He said the province's farmers should have better access to agricultural information.

Horizons Grants For Local Clubs

Three Bathurst and area senior citizens organizations have been awarded more than $34,000 in New Horizons program grants by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

The Club Villa Age d'Or of Bathurst won the largest, a $19,684 grant, while the city's Club d'Anees d'Or will be given $4,904 and Les Retraites d'Allardville will receive $9,736.

A total of 23,106 senior citizens involved in 263 projects will share $1,858,199 in New Horizons grants distributed by the government during March

YOUR BUSINESS

Older Job-Hunters Need Careful Plan

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Unemployment may be highest among the young and relatively inexperienced, but people in all age groups are feeling its impact today.

Even those with successful employment records of many years' standing can and do suddenly find themselves at loose ends as a result of some kind of upheaval.

A list of job-hunting tips for managers, engineers and scientists has been drawn up by Neil A. Macdougall, general manager of the Technical Service Council, a non-profit placement service sponsored by industry since 1927.

Macdougall counsels professional job-hunters to realize two basic facts – employers take a long time to decide, and up to half of them don't bother to acknowledge applications.

Here are his tips for people seeking a market for their specialized experience:

DON'T RELAX

Make a lot of contacts in a short time. If you don't, an employer is likely to wonder why you haven't been able to land a job in, say, three months.

- At the same time, organize your personal finances for a long hunt. "No managerial ability" was one prospective employer's assessment of a senior engineer who, in the second month of lay-off, didn't have the cash to pay the rent on his apartment.

- Work particularly hard at first so that most contacts will materialize around the same time, thus permitting you to compare them. The TSC's Macdougall believes that job-seekers should plan to make at least five contacts per working day.

- Friends and contacts at professional and trade associations are good sources of job leads, but they may not know much about your experience although they have been acquainted with you for years. Give them a resume that they can pass on to prospective employers, Macdougall advises.

SELF-RELIANCE

- Don't depend too much others, however. Although a friend may say there aren't any job vacancies at his company, that's not necessarily final. Many positions are created when the right person comes along.

- Write to employers on speculation (using directories such as the Canadian Trade Index as a source of names) and telephone a week later to ask for an interview. Even in slack times, people resign, die, retire or are transferred every day.

- Register with one or two major placement services, but don't rely on them exclusively. Listing with too many, Macdougall believes, may cheapen your services.

- Prepare a good resume, usually no more than two pages long, he advises. (Others recommend that it be confined to a single page.) Set out all vital information, including the length of your past employment. But omit your salary requirement and job objectives, Macdougall suggests, because they might restrict your search.

REALISTIC AIMS

- When the time does come to discuss salary and job objectives with a potential employer, be realistic. A 10 per cent salary increase in changing jobs is much more common than 50 per cent, Macdougall points out.

- Don't be too firm about location. The best jobs aren't necessarily confined to the place you live. But if you aren't prepared to move, recognize the fact that this may slow your search.

- Even if the firm in which you are most interested should express interest in you, don't slacken your efforts elsewhere.

MUSIC AND FUN FOR EVERYONE AT CHALEUR VILLA

Musical entertainment supplied by Cyrille Hachey, Roger Picot and their group, was heard for the third time April 24 at Chaleur Villa. The entertainers delivered a variety of French and English country and western songs, good-old-time country fiddling and comedy told by Cyrille Hachey. The evening was organized by Auguste Dumas, a resident at the villa, who recruited the volunteer performers. Any donation is accepted at the door in order to raise funds for the Club Villa Club at Chaleur Villa. A number of residents took part in the program by enjoying an evening of dancing. Among the many visitors were Mayor and Mrs. John A. Duffy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Frenette. Mr. Frenette is executive director at the Villa. Other members of the group included Linda and Moise Dumas, Roland Bernard, Raymond Picot, and Richard Hachey.

CAMPAIGN DESIGNED TO SAVE LIVES

The Bathurst Rotary Club's "Heart Life-Saver" campaign is underway in the city following months of planning and preparation. Designed to help save more lives in the event of fire, the campaign is being actively supported by the Bathurst Fire Department and Radio Station CKBC. The clear acetate peel-and-stick decals are now available from the fire hall, and should be placed in the upper corner of windows in bedrooms occupied by children and elderly or incapacitated persons. In the event of fire, fire fighters look for these decals and vacate these rooms first. Back row, from left, Armand Daigle and Jean Guy Dumas of the Fire Department. Front, Tom Moran of the Bathurst Rotary Club, campaign chairman, Fire Chief Frank Brennan and Al Hebert, CKBC broadcaster.

Son Dies In Sixth Year

SHIPPEGAN — The death of Gilles Hache, five-year-old son of Arcade and Fernande (Mallet) Hache, occurred April 26 in the Dr. Georges Dumont Hospital in Moncton.

Surviving besides his parents are one brother, Roberto, his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alexina Hachey of Shippegan, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Lorette Larocque, also of Shippegan.

The child rested at Bulger's Funeral Home Shippegan.

The funeral was held at St. Jerome Church in Shippegan Thursday at 11 a.m. with burial in the parish cemetery.

NBISC To Hold Safety Seminar

Three one-day mining safety seminars sponsored by the New Brunswick Industrial Safety Council in co-operation with the Mining and Metallurgical Accident Prevention Association of New Brunswick will be held in Bathurst May 17, 18 and 19.

To accommodate the expected large attendance at the sessions, which will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, the program presented on May 17 will be repeated on the following two days. Seminars will be entitled "A Challenge to Supervision" and will cover dealings with employees who are categorized as "The Scoffer", "The Forgetter", "The Hot Head" and "The Disorderly Worker".

Seminars will be conducted by safety council personnel and a noon time luncheon will be held each day at the Gloucester Motor Hotel.

The use of a common spoon for stirring and tasting should be avoided. The spoon may transfer bacteria from the mouth to the food.

Social and Personal

Miss Colleen Doucet has returned home for the summer after completing her first-year science studies at Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred M. Doucet, 740 West Dr.

Mrs. John O'Kane, North Tetagouche, and her daughter Miki, Halifax, are back from Winnipeg, Man., where they were guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Weldon Underhill (Sheila) and Mr. Underhill. Mrs. O'Kane also spent a week with Miki in Halifax before returning home.

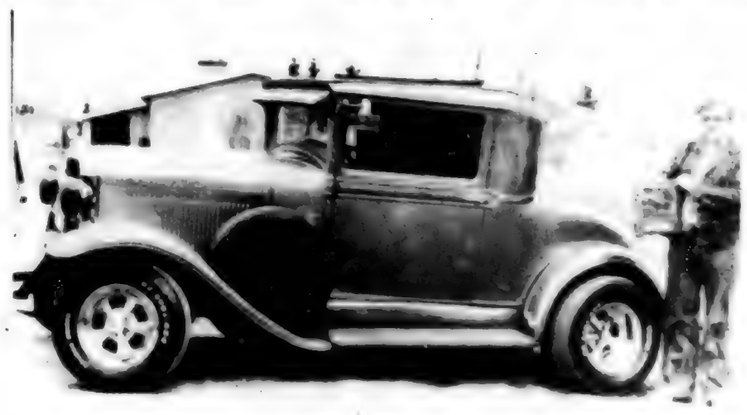
Local Autos Capture Car Show Awards



Among those from the Bathurst area who were successful entrants in the third annual Speed Sport East Custom Auto Show sponsored by Moncton Motor Sport Club Inc April 22 - 24 were the two cars above. In the top photo, Ron Morrison of Youghal Drive displays his first place plaque picked up in the street coupe and sedan category with is 1928 Oldsmobile three-window coupe. Third prize in the same class went to Nelson Morrison, also of Youghal Drive, for his 1933 five-window Plymouth. The cars were two of four vehicles which placed among the winners in the yearly show

Moose Draw Time Only Month Away

Moose licence applications are now available for the 1977 Moose Draw to be held in Edmundston on June 7 and 8.

Natural Resources Minister Roland C. Boudreau has announced.

Under the 1977 regulations any resident 18 years or over on the opening day of the moose hunting seasons, September 22, whose hunting privileges have not been revoked under the authority of the Game Act and who has not held a moose licence since 1971, will be eligible to apply, said Boudreau.

Application forms are available at 366 King Street, Fredericton, or from any forest ranger office throughout the province, until Friday, May 27th at 5 o'clock and must be completed at one of these offices.

Applications will not be accepted by mail. All the information requested on the application must be recorded, incomplete or defaced forms will not be accepted.

The 6,000 successful applicants will be notified after the public drawing. They may purchase a license for $25 from a forest ranger office after successfully completing the moose hunter capability test.

The test, given by the department of natural resources field staff at forest services offices throughout the province, will examine an applicant's knowledge of moose hunting regulations, hunter safety and marksmanship.

Successful applicants must pass all three sections in order to qualify for a license. In the event of failure, a second test will not be allowed.

The 1977 moose season will run from September 22 to 24 inclusive throughout the province, except the islands in the Charlotte County parishes of West Isles, Campobello and Grand Manan, where it will be closed.

Season Ending With Piano Performance

Pianist Nina Tichman will be the featured artist at the closing concert of the current artistic season of the Bathurst Community Concert Association.

Columbia Artists Management Inc. of New York has just confirmed that Miss Tichman will fill in for Rico Saccani who, unexpectedly, was unable to appear in Bathurst on the scheduled date.

The concert, as usual, will be held in the fine auditorium of L'Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit, Tuesday, May 9, at 8:30 p.m.

Praised by critics and audiences alike for her warmth and musicality as well as for the driving intensity of her playing, Nina Tichman is already a seasoned and often crowned veteran of musical competitions and of the concert circuit.

She began to play the piano at the age of four under the guidance of her mother. After further studies with Jane Carlson and Ilona Kabos she graduated from the Juilliard School in New York, which awarded her the Edward Steuermann Memorial Prize in recognition of outstanding musical achievement.

In the same year Nina Tichman won the prestigious Busoni Competition in Bolzano, Italy and remained in Europe as a Fulbright Scholar to complete her studies with Alfons Kontarsky, Hans Leygraf and Wilhelm Kempff.

Chosen as the recipient of the Mendelssohn Prize in Berlin 1973, she made a highly successful recording debut with the Piano Works of Mendelssohn, then proceeded to win competition after competition: First Prize in the Casagrande Competition of Terni, Italy; the Kosciuszko Chopin Competition of New York; the Washington, D.C. International Piano Competition, as well as being declared laureate of the 1975 German Broadcasting Contest in Munich, Germany.

Nina Tichman has made numerous appearances on radio and television in Germany, Belgium, Italy and the United States, as well as annual concert tours throughout Europe and America.

Her repertoire ranges from Baroque to contemporary piano literature, with special affinity for the works of Bach, Mozart, Schubert, Liszt, Debussy and Bartok.

Whether in chamber music - in 1976 she was invited to participate in Rudolf Serkin's Marlboro Chamber Music Festival - or in recital, or as soloist with orchestra, she captivates her listeners with her spontaneous temperament and refined musicality.

Bathurst music lovers who have not yet had the opportunity to renew their membership or to join the local Community Concert Association may still do so by calling Mrs. Kumari Sundaram at 548-2243 or by requesting their membership at the door, previous to the concert, on May 9.

Unhappy Over Loss Of Grant

The Board of Governors of l'Universite de Moncton expressed disappointment at the government's refusal to grant an amount in the order of $800,000 this year for repairs and major renovations to College Jesus-Marie in Shippegan.

The money was approved by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission but was not granted in the 1977-78 budget because funds were not available. The Board requested that this commitment be honoured as soon as possible.

At the April 30 meeting of the Board of Governors representatives on the Board from Northeastern New Brunswick explained the steps that have been taken.

Following a meeting held on April 17, the Advisory Committee of the Shippegan College made known its disappointment to the president of the Treasury Board, Jean-Maurice Simard.

Sister Irene Leger, president of the College, presented a brief to the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission at the public hearings held in Fredericton on April 25.

Tribute Paid Mrs. Jos. Cowan

The funeral for Mrs. Joseph Cowan was held at Saint Cecile Church, Island River, Wednesday, April 20 at 4 p.m.

Rev. G. D'Astous, parish priest, Rev. Arthur Duguay of St. Cecile, Rev. A. Raymond of Inkerman, and Rev. G. Boudreau who delivered the sermon officiated at the con-celebrated mass.

The pallbearers were six grandsons, Milton Cowan, Gordon Cowan, Howard McLean, Cowan Glazier, Norman Cowan and Roger Cowan.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault pending burial later this spring.

Mrs. Cowan died suddenly April 17 at Lameque Hospital at the age of 90. She was well known in Bathurst where she made frequent trips through the years; visiting with members of her family.

Her husband died in 1950.

Surviving are four sons, Hughie and Nelson, both of Bathurst, and Raymond and Howard of Island River; six daughters, Mrs. Caliste Glazier (Emily) and Mrs. Edgar McLean (Stella), both of Bathurst, Mrs. Albert Lanteigne (Mabel) of Little Shippegan, Mrs. Roland Julien (Gladys) and Mrs. Phil Boudreau (May), both of Valleyfield, Que. and Mrs. Raoul Brideau (Marguerite) of Montreal.

Three brothers, Leon Chiasson of Athol, Mass., Edmond of Caraquet and Alex, Island River; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Valley and Mrs. Alice Albert, both of Caraquet; 47 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Cowan rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Shippegan.

Those attending from Bathurst included Mr. and Mrs. Caliste Glazier, Mrs. Edgar McLean, Howard McLean, Mr and Mrs. Nelson Cowan, Cletus Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cowan, Glendon Glazier, Cowan Glazier, Mrs. Clifford Christie, Mrs. Romeo Hachey and Leandre Jones; also Mr. and Mrs. Dan McInnis and John McInnis from Pokemouche.

Present also were other relatives from out of town including Westbrook, Maine; Montreal, Dalhousie, Fredericton, Rothesay, Saint John, Bathurst, St. Isidore, Pokemouche, Caraquet, Cap-Bateau, as well as friends from various North Shore centres.

Hope Expressed For Reopening Of Plant

Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew told the legislature Friday his department is "engaged with several prospective purchases in the hopes of starting up the Cirtex Ltd. textile plant at Caraquet as soon as possible."

Replying to a question from Onil Doiron (L-Caraquet), Mr. Merrithew said he expected to have a report on Cirtex from the Kurt Salmon Association consulting firm within 10 days.

He confirmed that one group had made an application to the Industrial Development Board relating to the plant, but the application was turned down.

The plant was closed late last year by its Japanese owners because of market problems. The province took possession of the plant Dec. 25, to protect its approximately $5 million involvement.

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger confirmed to Andre Robichaud (L-Shippegan-les-Iles) that a member of the Fishermen's Loan Board has resigned. He said the member would not be replaced until after changes in the organization of the board.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau informed Alfred Roussel (L-Restigouche West) that he would advise the house of new stumpage rates to be paid by forest product companies by next week.

He also told Mr. Roussel that he will table a summary of the small sawmill study which was conducted with the aid of a $169,998 expenditure to la Scierie de Nigadoo Ltd. before the end of the session. He said the summary will include recommendations for small sawmill owners in the province.

The chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, G.W.N. Cockburn, told Frank Branch (L-Nepisiguit Chaleur) that he will announce details of a program to assist home owners in insulating their buildings by June or July.

Mr. Branch asked Premier Richard Hatfield what is being done to revamp abandoned railroad lines in the province.

Mr. Hatfield said, "The program is waiting on the federal government to deal with the reorganization of transportation policy. If Parliament does, in fact, pass the principles that were advocated by the Council of Maritime Premiers and supported by the federal minister of transportation I would certainly intend to raise the matter again with the minister once the matter is passed."

place.

The buyer, the public, and the military have had a profound effect on the susceptability of our forest to the budworm.

Five hundred years ago the forest of New Brunswick were greatly influenced by fire and windfall and were dominantly pioneer forests, pine and spruce with a fir understory in low profile.

The early demands on the Canadian forest were for pine spar trees and square timber. For many years the forest were combed for prime pine trees and as years went by they became scarce and quality demand was lowered.

Eventually saw timber became important and quality spruce and pine were taken. As the decades passed the forests were high graded for the products that would sell on the markets of the world, balsam fir was bypassed or knocked down in the process. Due to the natural ability to grow in shade conditions and germinate seed on a deep duff forest floor which most other species cannot do without the help of severe disturbance such as fire, fir gained in importance.

A phenomenon which is not well known by many, is that there are many fungi which affect balsam fir as well as other species, but balsam is more highly susceptible than most.

Three types of rots are most common, brown cubicle butt rots (2 types), white stringy butt rots (2 types) and the third most destructive is sterium sanguenolentum, a red stem rot.

In most forests the spores of these fungi are present in the air much of the time, in profusion.

Normal untouched forests are relatively protected by unbroken bark until the older ages when the fungi enter through natural damages and aid in fast deterioration of trees to enrich the growing medium for a new crop.

Unfortunately the type of logging which was carried out was a partial cut based on marketability of the harvest and in the act of logging many injuries occurred to the remaining stems and there was a continuous trend toward:

1. A forest of higher and higher fir content and
2. A higher incidence of cull in the remaining forest.

In the early 1900's, the forests were much down graded from the old forests, because of the more and more important part of the stand taken up with fir. We find the budworm taking a much more prominent role in the forest scene.

About this time a newer industry was becoming important, partly due to a forest suited more to fibre production and a rapidly growing populations needs for paper and pulp products.

The industry in New Brunswick grew rapidly and the demands on the spruce fir forest grew likewise.

The demands grew to be competative with the budworm and hence the battle began. Far sighted people recognized the need to protect the available resources.

It is certain that had the forests of New Brunswick not been protected, some of the mills giving a stable labour and economic scene would be searching for resources from far flung places and likely be closed for economic reasons. If fiber costs continue to rise through budworm depredations and increased management costs, the New Brunswick wood using industry will not survive on the world's marketplace in competition with other countries.

Although the budworm has always been here, the shifts in species composition of our forests and the use of these trees has put him in a whole new and important light.

The battle is joined. Through the intelligent and respectful use of the available tools, it will be won.

THE MARITIMES' GREATEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Contract Terms Revealed

According to the terms of a new contract agreed upon this week by New Brunswick teachers, their salaries will range between $5,919 and $21,683 annually.

The low figure represents the annual income of a first-year teacher with a teacher's licence, while the high figure is the income of a certificate six holder with over ten years experience.

Salaries for teachers with various levels of qualification and experience range between these two figures.

Ross MacCallum, co-president of the New Brunswick Teachers Federation, said last week he could not release the terms of the contract. But details of the wage settlement were contained in a press report based on a copy of the contract.

The teachers voted 64 per cent in favor of the contract.

A Realistic View Of Provincial Economy

With the recent election of the Parti Quebecois Government, New Brunswickers have been looking closely at the economic realities of Confederation. Had not Confederation come about, our markets probably would have run down the American seaboard and towards the Carribean.

Railroad construction was to open substantial new markets in Central Canada for the Maritimes, and the Maritime Fathers of Confederation (Tilley and Tupper) saw a geographical advantage for the Maritimes to become as successful as the American eastern seaboard states.

Shortly after Confederation the country suffered an economic depression, which caused the infant country to follow very high protectionist policies anticipating protection to Canadian markets and stimulation of new industrialization.

Numerous Maritime industries collapsed as a result of losing their markets while the federal transportation and tariff policies established on integrated economy from Montreal to the Western Provinces.

Periodically the Canadian Government has adjusted the Maritime economy through the tariff rate, transportation policies, fiscal policies, and more recently DREE.

The Atlantic Provinces receive approximately 40 per cent of the DREE budget of $200 million while unemployment insurance benefits to the area are over $500 million with equalization payments roughly $800 million, yet only $25 million is for industrial development. Why are the Atlantic Provinces still unable to catch up?

Recent Federal Government studies of U.S.A. indicate that Canadian prices on machinery and equipment are usualy 14.5 per cent higher; Canadian wages to the private and public sector are higher; labour productivity in Canada is much lower than U.S.A.

The Maritimes through federal tariff policies have been forced to do business with Central Canada, who use the Maritimes as a dumping ground for their products.

Our high transportation costs and limited subsidization in the transportation sector to Central Canada have kept the Maritime economy at the mercy of Quebec and Ontario politicians.

Ontario and Quebec account for 80 per cent of the manufacturing output and employment in Canada and according to the Economic Council of Canada (ECC) about 37 per cent of manufacturing jobs in Quebec and 27 per cent in Ontario are dependant on federal tariff protection for sales to other Provinces.

The separation of Quebec and provincial internal tariffs would undoubtedly strangle Central Canada, but would benefit Western Canada. In the Atlantic Provinces, the population would probably decrease, workers in manufacturing would have to look elsewhere for employment, but imports would cost less, and transportation links with Central Canada would no longer be necessary.

It is the conclusion of MacLeans Magazine "The Atlantic Provinces could hardly be worse off then they are now.

However, if Quebec opts out of Confederation, it is not because of economic reasons. Quebec accounts for 27 per cent of Canada's population yet Canada receives only 18 per cent of personal income tax revenue from Quebec, leaving that Province with a net advantage of almost $3 billion more Federal money than the Province raised.

New Brunswickers will have to study closely their natural and historical economic links as soon as possible. Unfortunately our economic future may only lie to the American eastern seaboard – a certain sacrifice of our social identity.

HONOURED FOR WORK WITH REGIMENT

On Saturday, April 23, a number of the officers and N.C.O.s, both past and present, of the 2nd Royal New Brunswick Regiment, gathered at the Regimental Headquarters Building on Murray Avenue in honour of Paul Lavigne, who has been associated with the unit over many years. Mr. Lavigne went overseas with the regiment during the second world war where he was wounded in action. Since his return to Canada, he has taken an active part in many RNBR functions. Presenting Mr Lavigne (right) with a gift on behalf of the Bathurst section of the regiment was Major Norman Branch who expressed the thanks of all those who have been associated with Mr. Lavigne through the years. Paul will still be around but will not be taking as active a part as he has in the past.

At Conference For Consumers

More than 200 participants from the ten Canadian provinces as well as from New Jersey and New York, were in Toronto April 17, 18 and 19 to take part in a seminar sponsored by the Ontario Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs.

Entitled "Working Together", the three-day session brought forth a variety of new ideas, particularly from American participants as their schooling system already includes consumer education in the regular elementary and secondary school programs.

There were seven delegates from New Brunswick in attendance, representing the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, the Department of Education, N.B. Community Colleges, the Maritime Board of Trade and Romeo J. Theriault of Bathurst as consumer information officer.

Consumers were reminded they must work together to see that individuals are made aware of advertising schemes which promote unnecessary items through catchy and attractive ads.

Delegates were told they must recognize their spending limits in order to help regulate Canada's economy. The present education system in Canada was said to give consumers a false security because it encourages the individual to earn as much money as possible but at the same time does nothing to teach the individual how to spend the money wisely.

It was pointed out the problems experienced 20 to 50 years ago in this field are basically the same, but any solutions must be applied to the problems as they affect society as it is today.

New Service For Airport

A new Quebecair passenger service which will link Charlo Airport with centres in Quebec, will go into operation May 9. The airport will then be connected with mainline service and several centres in the Gaspe and lower St. Lawrence region.

The new operation will be connected with the main lines at Sept Isles, Mont Jolie and Bagotville and will also involve Gaspe, Bonaventure, Ste. Anne des Montes, Havre St. Pierre, Port Menier, Roberval, Chicoutimi and Val D'Or.

Timetables have been coordinated with those of Quebecair and lower joint fares will be introduced for passengers making connections to Quebecair's network points.

Canada Manpower Job Information

BY G. J. FRENETTE

This is the fourth in a series of articles obtained from G. J. Frenette, Manager of the Canada Manpower Centre in Bathurst.

Job Talk

Our Canada Manpower Centre has recently been relocated from the Post Office Building on King Avenue to the Frenette Bldg. at 159 Main Street. With the move something new has been added, it is known as a Job Information Centre and is located on the first floor of the building, adjacent to the Continental store.

The main Canada Manpower Centre occupies the major portion of the second floor. With new premises and facilities it ensues that we are now in a much improved situation to provide a more efficient service to the population of the Bathurst area.

Our Job Information Centre on the ground floor level is open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. while our main CMC is opened from 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Workers who are looking for employment or seeking information on availability of training courses can come in and browse around.

Employers and the general public are also invited to drop in. The Job Information Centre is a self service operation with a maximum of two employees. Visitors can go through and examine job vacancies displayed on job boards as well as all other type of information relating to the labor market.

The procedure for referral to a specific vacancy is simple. A request for referral which contains the job number of the vacancy can be presented to a Manpower counsellor who after a brief interview may arrange for referral to the employer concerned. Paper work is reduced to the strict minimum and no applicant registration for employment is required.

There are two aspects to our Job Information Centre which are essential to its successful operation. Number one is the requirements for both local and outside job vacancies and number two is the need for the patronage of worker clients seeking employment.

We have a fairly large number of outside jobs available and we have clients the great majority of whom we feel are well qualified and willing to work. We need more local vacancies to attract the interest of job seekers and this is why we invite local employers to try our new Job Information Centre by listing all their vacancies with our CMC.

Vacancies which can be filled immediately from our main operation centre on the second floor will not be listed in the JIC. It follows that clients can still register for employment with a Manpower counsellor on the second floor. Employers can rest assured that their names will not be advertised but will be given only to these clients whom the Manpower counsellor feels could meet the requirements of the job vacancy.

We have also opened a Canada Manpower Centre for students at 415 King Avenue in premises formerly occupied by Drago Photo Service. As of this week there are three students employed full time in trying to find summer employment for their fellow students.

The patronage of local employers and householders who require assistance for cleaning up or various types of work, would be greatly appreciated. The telephone number of the Canada Manpower Centre for students is 548-2128.

Dies Suddenly In 70th Year

INKERMAN — The death of Mrs. Edmond Boudreau occurred suddenly April 19 at her residence at the age of 69.

She was the former Cecile Power, a daughter of the late Joseph and Annie (Mallet) Power of Inkerman.

Surviving besides her husband are five daughters and one son, Mrs. Philippe Robichaud (Melina), Mrs. Charles Robichaud (Dorina), both of Inkerman, Mrs. Eudore Theriault (Alexina) of Mississauga, Ont., and Adelia, Bella and Romeo, all of Inkerman.

Six sisters, Mrs. Elzear Boudreau (Emma) of Four Roads, Mrs. Adelard Mallet (Elizabeth) of Shippegan, Mrs. Thomas Godin (Alexandrine) of Allardville, Mrs. Julien Albert (Anna) of Caraquet, Mrs. Romeo Comeau (Melise) of Evangeline and Mrs. John Stafford (Adeline) of Mississauga, Ont.; two brothers, Albenie of Evangeline and Edmond of Caraquet; 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Boudreau rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Shippegan.

The funeral was held at Saint Michael Church in Inkerman Thursday at 4 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery later this spring.

ELDER G. FERRIN

New Mormon From Arizona

A new missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints (the Mormons) arrived in Bathurst last week. His name is Elder G. Ferrin and his home is in Thatcher, Arizona.

As a missionary, he has served in the Saint John area and again in the St. Stephen-Calais area. He said he enjoyed them both and has met success with many of the people.

Missionaries from the Latterday Saints number about 25,000, and are sent into every free country of the world. They are under the direction of Spencer W. Kimball, whom they feel and testify of as a prophet of God.

As missionaries, they receive no formal schooling or instruction prior to their calls, outside of the doctrinal knowledge they learned from their parents and the church.

Elders serve for two years as full-time missionaries on a voluntary basis. They receive no money or payment for their duties, but they support themselves, or are supported by friends or family. After their term is over, they'll continue to be active in other calls as regular members of their congregations.

Before he came out on his mission, Elder Ferrin worked with his father as a roofer, and during school (he was majoring in electronics) he worked part time in the Graham County Library.

Although the country and climate is quite different from the desert life of Arizona, he's excited to be in Canada, and is looking forward to meeting more of the people here.

PET NEWS

Health Tips For Your Pet

By Marguerite Morrison

True or False: Dogs and cats get virus colds from people.

False. Dogs and cats have their own kinds of colds and virus diseases. Nevertheless, the symptoms closely resemble the human cold, including running noses, running eyes and fever.

True or False: Just before a trip, give your animal something to eat and drink.

False. Don't feed your pet for about six hours before the trip, and don't give it water within two hours unless the weather is very hot. A healthy dog or cat can go 24 hours without water (unless the temperature is high) and longer without food.

True or False: Cats need more protein than dogs.

True. Although the minimum nutritional requirements for cats has not yet been fully established, the protein from eggs, meat, fish, soybeans, etc. is about two to four times more than needed for dogs.

Action at the Animal Shelter: Three kittens found new homes, as did four puppies.

Pet Owners, please keep your puppy in your own yard, tied or in a run, as a fine will have to be paid if the animal is found roaming the streets. Be Sure he has food and drink.

TD No-charge chequing

...it's not a big deal, but it's a good deal!

QUESTION: Why did TD introduce No-Charge Chequing?
ANSWER: We're trying to get your business.

QUESTION: What does No-Charge Chequing offer?
ANSWER: During PCA statement periods in which a customer's minimum balance is $200 or more, TD cancels the normal 16¢ charge per cheque.

QUESTION: Why is there a minimum balance?
ANSWER: TD invests the $200 to help offset the expense of processing the customer's cheques.

QUESTION: Who is benefiting from No-Charge Chequing?
ANSWER:
(1) Our records show that many of our PCA customers always keep a $200 balance.
(2) Some TD customers now plan ahead and keep an extra $200 in their account when they intend to write a lot of cheques.
(3) Some customers occasionally build up to a $200 minimum 'by chance.'
They can all benefit from No-Charge Chequing.

QUESTION: Would it be more profitable to keep the $200 in a Premium Savings Account?
ANSWER: If you write more than 7 cheques during a statement period, we can show you that No-Charge Chequing is a better deal.

QUESTION: Isn't No-Charge Chequing really just 'a little extra' to make TD more competitive?
ANSWER: Yes. We want you to be a TD customer.

QUESTION: So it's not a big deal?
ANSWER: No. But it's a good deal. You should look into it.

Third Gardening Edition Offers Much Information

By JOHN BRADSHAW

Never before have so many books on gardening been offered by publishers.

Alas, all too many of them are much too complicated and make extensive use of hard-to-understand Latin names. They end up giving most gardeners little help in solving their many garden problems.

Still others are collections of pretty pictures with almost no pertinent useful information.

So, at the start of another outdoor gardening season, let's take a look at several first-class gardening books:

For solving the hundreds of problems that confront the gardener each year, I always recommend 10,000 Garden Questions Answered by 20 Experts, edited by Marjorie Dietz (Doubleday; 1,421 pages; $12.75).

The book was first published in 1944, again in 1959 and 1974. For more than 30 years, hundreds of thousands of North American gardeners have relied on it for down-to-earth gardening information.

The third edition has been completely revised and enlarged, and contains the answer to almost any problem occurring in the garden or indoors. It covers such subjects as soils and fertilizers; landscaping and planning; ornamental plants and their culture; home-grown fruits; vegetables; perennials, trees and shrubs; lawns and house plants. At $12.75, it's the current best buy in gardening books.

TREE, SHRUBS

Trees and shrubs are essential to the successful garden. Planning is the most important single factor when planting them. The best book on the subject is The Home Gardener's Guide to Trees and Shrubs by John Burton Brimer (Prentice Hall of Canada Ltd.; 357 pages; $17.25).

The price may seem high for a book - yet a single tree in the wrong location will cost you far more in the end.

The information in the Brimer book is given in question-and-answer form, which is very easy to follow and understand. The line drawings and black-and-white photographs are excellent.

Among the many subjects covered are shade and trees; trees for winter protection; shade through the day; special-purpose for privacy, view-blocking and hillsides; hedges; roses; and a special chapter on rejuvenating older gardens.

GERANIUM LORE

Now that we are successfully eliminating disease in geraniums, either by growing them from seed or culturing the cuttings, they are enjoying a new wave of popularity.

For help in growing geraniums in the garden, in the window garden, or on the balcony or patio, you won't go wrong if you choose the paperback, The Joy Of Growing Geraniums by Helen Van Pelt Wilson (Gage Publishing Ltd.; 364 pages; $5.25).

I like it because the author has made it very readable. At the same time, it's the most comprehensive book ever published on geraniums, covering the best known favorites and rare ones for collectors. I enjoyed the comprehensive early history of geraniums, followed by every aspect of growing and caring for them.

My only complaint would be the fertilizer recommendations, which don't take into account the fact that geraniums need large amount of phosphorus for a formula of 15-30-15 rather than the 12-6-6 especially recommended by the author.

FRESH VEGETABLES

More and more Canadian gardeners are growing their own vegetables, and now R. Milton Carleton has written a pocket-book that you can take out into the garden. It's called Vegetables For Today's Gardens (Burns and MacEachern Ltd; 180 pages, $2.40).

All the well known vegetables are covered, and the author lists the older varieties, still available in the seed catalogues, that have the old-fashioned gourmet flavor.

Most of the vegetables introduced in the last 20 years have been bred to ship from California and Mexico to arrive on Canadian supermarket shelves looking fresh. Much of the taste quality has had to be sacrificed for fibre.

The practical aspects of vegetable gardening - site and soil, starting seedlings indoors, tools and equipment, watering, mulching, fertilizing and measures against pests and disease - are detailed in the realistic language of the gardener.

HOUSE PLANTS

Thousands of Canadians now live in apartments and must do their gardening indoors. The House Plant Decorating Book (Clarke, Irwin and Co. Ltd.; 243 pages; $17.95) is the first book to come along that helps you to fit plants into your house or apartment, and then care for them after they're in place.

This practical but authoritative book was written by the husband-and-wife team of Virginie and George Albert, who are experts on growing plants under artificial light.

There are easy-to-follow floor plans that show how to make good use of wasted room space. I like the ideas for furniture combined with plants in new ways.

REWARD

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. and Belledune Fertilizer have sponsored a study of lobster rate of growth in the Bay of Chaleur. This research programme is being conducted by Noranda Research Centre.

Approximately 2,000 lobsters have been tagged since 1973; the tag is a metal wire encased in plastic.

Since we wish to monitor the growth of these lobsters over the past winter, any fisherman who traps a tagged lobster is asked to send or bring it with its tag to the Technical Superintendent at either plant, who will pay the commercial value of the lobster, plus a reward of 5.00; the tag must not be removed from the lobster. We would appreciate receiving the lobsters alive.

Recovery of these lobsters is expected to be in the Bay area from Dalhousie to Petit Rocher.

Should anyone have no way of returning the lobsters to us, please, call us at either 522-2100 or 522-5250 and we will arrange to pick them up.

RECOMPENSE

Brunswick Mining & Smelting Corp. Ltd. et Belledune Fertilizer Ltd. ont entrepris une étude concernant le taux d'accroissement du homard de la Baie des Chaleur. Ce programme de recherche a été institué et est exténué par le centre de Noranda Research.

Approximativement 2,000 homards ont été ferrés depuis août 1973; le fer est de fil métallique recouvert d'un plastique.

Afin d'étudier l'accroissement de ces homards pendant tout l'hiver, aucun pêcheur qui pêchera de ces homards ferrés est prié de les retourner au Surintendant du Department Technique d'une des usines. Nous paierons la valeur commercial du homard en plus d'une récompense de 5.00; toutefois, le fer ne doit pas être enlevé du homard. Nous apprecions des homard vivants.

Ces homards seront trouvés dans les environs de Dalhousie à Petit Rocher.

Si parfois il y aurait quelqu'un qui n'aurait pas les moyens de nous retourner ces homards, s'il vous plait, appelez nous sois à 522-2100 ou 522-5250 et nous irons les chercher.

More Home Buyers Moving More Often

(Inserted by the Northern New Brunswick Real Estate Board)

More than 30 per cent of home purchasers in Canada plan to move again within two to three years, according to a survey taken by Connie Reade Client Relations (Canada) Ltd. The survey was based on the response of several thousand buyers in all provinces except Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island.

Another 19 per cent of the families polled plan another move within four to five years after the purchase of their present home, the survey results showed. The remainder of the respondents either had no opinion regarding their next move or intended to change addresses in a period outside the two-to-five year time frame.

The survey confirmed that almost one-third of home owners have broken with the once traditionally accepted average of a move every four or five years. It also pointed up the importance of salespersons maintaining contact with persons to whom they have made sales.

"Although these statistics are based on a small percentage of total buyers we feel that because of the percentage responding (41.7 per cent), they reasonably reflect the attitude of the buying public", commented President Wally R. Dunn.

Other questions asked in the survey and the responses follow:

Q: How did you select the real estate firm?

A: Newspaper 24 per cent; house sign 19 per cent; salesperson 11; personal referral 28; reputation 19; radio T.V. .0001; yellow pages .002, and other 11. (Total is more than 100 per cent because some buyers indicated more than one source.)

Q: How many homes did you inspect?

A: More than 10, 33 per cent; six to ten, 40 per cent and one to five, 27 per cent.

Q: Would you recommend the firm to others?

A: Yes, 78 per cent; no, 15 per cent; no response, seven per cent.

Q: Would you use their service again.

A: Yes, 74 per cent; no, 19 per cent, no response or don't know, seven per cent.

Q: Was this your first, second, third or more purchase?

Many Mourn Alban Landry

THERIAULT OFFICE — The death of Albain Landry occurred April 26 at the age of 67.

He was a son of the late Oliver and Sophie (Theriault) Landry.

Surviving are his wife, the former Yvonne Theriault; four daughters, Mrs. Steve Kellyer (Lydia) of Ottawa, Mrs. Georges Christie (Lucianne) of Montreal, Sister Emerentienne of Green Point and Mona of Bertrand; seven sons, Louis, Theotime and Gilbert, all of Montreal, Robert, Gerald and Jerry, all of Bertrand and Claude of Vancouver.

Three sisters, Mrs. Moise Pinet (Febby) of Caraquet, Mrs. Arthur Bellefeuille (Albertine) of Montreal and Mrs. Jeanne Theriault of Paquetville; and 12 grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Landry rested at Racicot's Funeral Home, Caraquet.

The funeral was held at St. Joachim Church in Bertrand Friday at 4 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery later this spring.

Dies In U.S. Funeral Here

TRACADIE — The death of Levi Gallien, a native of Tracadie, occurred March 25 at Tupper Lake, New York, at the age of 69.

He was a son of the late Prudent and Marie (Albert) Gallien.

Surviving are his wife, the former Lurette Brideau (a sister of the late Rev. Albert Brideau); two brothers, Rev. Arthur Gallien of Lower Caraquet and Ernest Gallien of Caraquet, and one sister, Mrs. Philomene Roberts of Leominster, Mass.

The body was transferred to Tracadie and rested at Robichaud's Funeral Home.

The funeral was held at St. John the Baptist Church in Tracadie Friday at 4 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery later this spring.

University Education Should Be Free NBFL

The president of the New Brunswick Federation of Labor, Paul LePage of Bathurst, told the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission (MPHEC) April 27 that any student who can demonstrate his ability to pursue post-secondary education should be able to do so free of charge.

Presenting a 25-page brief to the commission in Fredericton at hearings regarding the present and future status of post-secondary education, Mr. LePage said free education should be offered to students because the existing student loan system doesn't provide for equal access and opportunity for higher education.

Citing the maximum allowable loan of $1,800 under the Canada Student Loan plan, Mr. LePage said many students would face a $7,000 debt at the end of four years of university.

"To continue to pass costs on to the students is counterproductive and will inevitably become a charge on government as more and more students abandon the idea of going to university or find themselves unable to meet loan commitments as more and more stuments after graduation", the federation brief said.

Chairman of the MPHEC, Dr. Catherine Wallace, said instead of thinking solely in terms of free education, it might be worth considering a plan to grant short term loans for students who only need money temporarily while giving more extensive funding to those who could not afford university at all.

However, Mr. LePage said the federation is opposed to any kind of "means test".

He said the demand for free education is not new since a federation resolution that dates back to 1898 requested free compulsory education, which should now be extended to the post-secondary level.

Mr. LePage told the six commission members who attended the session the federation feels the commission should make a more aggressive pitch to government for higher education funds.

"Inadequate university operating grant assistance has led to higher tuition and room and board charges at a time when tuition fees in the Maritimes are already the highest in Canada", the brief stated.

The problem is further aggravated by the expected short supply of summer jobs, Mr. LePage said. He suggested a possible solution to that problem is for students to support union demands for increased vacation time. If regular workers have more vacation time, he argued, students could take their place on the job.

The federation also wants to see free tuition and additional operating assistance provided to the universities if the request for total free education is not met.

The federation urged the commission to actively encourage and financially support proposals by universities for labor education. Mr. LePage expressed disappointment at the universities response to the idea of holding labour education courses.

Among other things, the federation president suggested more universities should have a labour representative on their board of governors as is already the case at St. Thomas University and the University of New Brunswick.

NB Seafood Receives World-Wide Exposure

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger said April 27 Canada's second-place finish in last fall's culinary olympics in Frankfurt gave unprecedented exposure to Canada's cuisine and to New Brunswick's seafood products in particular.

"That honor, which saw Canada take the runner-up spot to Switzerland and ahead of France and the United States of the 21 participating nations, is beginning to pay dividends to New Brunswick," Leger said.

For instance, New Brunswick lobster was served to 7,000 guests at a recent Ontario dinner whose menu was prepared by Hans Bueschkens, president of the Canadian Federation of Chefs-de-Cuisine.

Bueschkens was among guests who attended a Moncton dinner recently to honor New Brunswick's chefs. He and his wife also toured National Sea Products in Shediac and E.P. Melanson in Cocagne. They were later guests of chefs-de-cuisine at hotels and restaurants in Moncton and Fredericton.

In addition to the Ontario dinner, Leger said he has held discussions with the senior chef of an international hotel chain about the availability of the province's seafoods.

"The process of exposing New Brunswick's cuisine, especially its seafoods, was greatly hastened by the last culinary olympics. Those who have since contacted me personally or the fisheries department are in a position to influence the menus of thousands of restaurants. This could ultimately have a substantial impact on the export of our seafood products," Leger added.

According to Hans Meier, president of the 40-plus member federation of New Brunswick chefs-de-cuisine, the province will soon have two executive chefs in Moncton and one each in Fredericton and Saint John.

Aside from specific managerial skills and demonstrated experience in food preparation, food marketing and quality control, the title executive chef is reserved for those with responsibility for a staff of 15-20, said Meier.

When asked about New Brunswick's representation at forthcoming international culinary competitions, Leger noted that at least one New Brunswick chef is expected to attend the first international conference of Jewish culinary art, slated for Israel next January.

45.2 miles per gallon. 0 to 50 in 7.7 seconds.

For the last number of years, car makers have been struggling unsuccessfully with a huge problem, how to produce a car that is right for these changed times as well as for the changing times ahead.

A car that effortlessly combines economy, room, performance and safety.

It was beginning to look like a impossible chore.

Until now. Until the Volkswagen Rabbit. The car that does the impossible.

We spent five years planning and creating it fresh, from the ground up.

Its engine is a gem of ingenuity and function. Transversely mounted, this 1.6 litre, overhead cam [illegible] per gallon on the highway and 30 miles per gallon in the city.* Yet remarkably, it can also propel you from 0 to 50 in 7.7 seconds. And accomplish [illegible] without feeling underpowered.

Cirtex Proposal Rejected?

What has been described as a viable and comprehensive proposal made to the N.B. government by a group of Caraquet investors interested in reviving operations at the Cirtex knitting mill may have been turned down by Fredericton, it was stated April 28.

According to a source in the capital, the proposal was made to the province's commerce and development branch and more recently to the financing board.

The knitting plant shut down in December when Japanese investors pulled out, leaving the province with an empty building and idle machinery.

The proposal to the N.B. financing board was apparently rejected on the grounds of lack of equity on the part of the small group of investors. However, a member of the group said April 28 there had been no official confirmation or rejection from the board.

The proposal itself, the result of three months of study, was presented to the government in two parts, the first dealing with technical aspects and the second with financing of the textile operation.

Although reluctant to mention figures of any kind, the spokesman did say the proposal, if approved, would have made the mill self-sufficient "from day one" if certain problems were taken into account. It would have been "normally viable" after three years and would from the start have offered employment for many of the 100 or so employed at the plant when hit by the marathon strike in December of 1974.

Eucher Landry Dies In Bathurst

NOTRE-DAME - des - ERABLES — The death of Eucher Landry occurred April 23 at Foyer Notre Dame de Lourdes in Bathurst at the age of 81. He was predeceased by his wife the former Cecile Landry.

Surviving are two daughters and one son, Mrs. Luger Landry (Rosa) of Bathurst, Mrs. Ernest Gagner (Ina) of Victoriaville, Que., and Theophile of Kapuscasing, Ont; one brother, Charles of St. Leolin and one sister, Mrs. Ella Theriault of Bertrand.

Mr. Landry rested at LeGresley's Funeral Home, Paquetville.

The funeral was held at Notre-Dame - des - Erables Church Monday at 3 p.m., followed by entombment in the parish receiving vault. Burial will take place later this spring.

$400,000 For Track Project

The commissioner of the Economic Expansion Commission of the Peninsula, Saad Ghanem, announced April 25 the approval of funds amounting to $400,000 for a CN railway track relocation project in Tracadie.

The information was contained in a letter from the provincial department of commerce and development to the Canadian Transport Commission in Ottawa.

"The new CN terminal in the Tracadie Industrial Park will be much improved and will increase the efficiency of handling products", Mr. Ghanem said. "It will be advantageous for all shippers", and will improve the cost of operation to CN railways."

Funds for the project are being providing through a federal-provincial agreement.

Company Gets New Territory

Versatile Air Services of Sydney has more than doubled its operational territory with permission from the Canadian Transport Commission to expand into New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland and Labrador.

The helicopter company has until now been limited to contracts it could pick up in Nova Scotia and those areas outside the province which falls within a 150-mile radius of the Sydney Base.

Permission to expand was granted by the CTC's Air Transport Committee over the objections of Trans-Quebec Helicopters Ltd., Trans-Canada Helicopter Ltd., Mont-Joli Helicopters Ltd., Fredericton Helicopters Ltd., Universal Helicopters Ltd., Northern Wings Ltd., and Newfoundland's Transportation and Communication Minister.

Supporters for the expanded service included the Newfoundland and Labrador Development Corporation Ltd. and Versatile's parent company, H.B. Nickerson and Sons.

In its application, Versatile claimed that restrictions on its license had prevented the company from winning a three-month 300-hour contract in Newfoundland which went to a competitor at a higher cost and that it is unable to bid on a number of contracts involving crop spraying and seal hunting.

The intervenors in the case all suggested the region is adequately serviced by existing helicopter firms.

New 4-H Club Formed In Area

Approximately 60 young people, and a number of parents met April 12 at Central United Church Hall for the organizational meeting of a 4-H group in the Downshore area.

The new group is called the New Bandon 4-H Club.

The 4-H Club's new officers were elected and are as follows:

President, Harry Eddy; Brenda Chiasson, vice-president; Laura Daley, secretary; Karla Jagoe, Treasurer; and Glenda Rector, club reporter.

Projects of interest chosen by the club include crafts, horses, forestry, cooking and woodworking.

The project leaders for the various club activities include: Mrs. Joanne Dempsey, Mrs. Dorothy Chiasson, Mrs. Jean McNeely, Mrs. Colette Buttimer, crafts; Miss Marjorie Daley, Miss Margo Scott and Miss Glenda Rector, horses; Hanson Miller, forestry; Mrs. Sandra Hornibrook, cooking; and Irving Scott, woodworking.

Regular meetings will be held the third Monday of each month, it was decided. The young people will meet their project leaders on other occasions.

These young folks are looking forward to next month's activities which include a bottle blitz and a rock-a-thon.

The next regular meeting will be held at Central United Hall on May 16 at 7:30 p.m.

SNACK FACTS

Lots of people are skipping meals and nibbling as needed. This routine suits a super-fast lifestyle and there's nothing wrong with the snack habit - if you make it count. That means making snacks and meals work together for a balanced total, day by day. To find out if your snacks are good snacks, test your snack know-how with the following questions and answers.

Q. Healthful snacks should be loaded with protein.

A. Healthful snacks should provide a variety of nutrients; protein is only one of these.

Q. Snacks between meals ruin your appetite.

A. Some snacks, such as vegetable sticks, can enhance it. Just eat long before meals, and limit amounts.

Q. Three hot well-balanced meals a day are nutritionally superior to several smaller snacks. True or False?

A. False. It isn't how often you eat, or the temperature of the food but what you eat that counts

Q. You've had a mini-breakfast of an orange and an eggnog. What's missing to help round out the meal?

A. You've had the fruit, meat and milk food groups but not cereal, so add a bran muffin, or whole wheat bread or cereal.

Q. Snacks containing carbohydrates should be cut out completely

A. Carbohydrates (sugars and starches) have a bad name these days, but they play an important role in providing energy (sources include fruits, vegetables, milk, cereals, as well as sugar, honey, etc.) Unfortunately, because they taste good and make us feel good, we have abused them. It's really best to snack on carbohydrates from fruits and vegetables and cereals, and cut down or cut out the overly "sweet" snacks such as honey and concentrated sugars

Q. Certain snacks have curative powers: carrot juice for the complexion; celery juice for indigestion, etc.

A. These claims have neither been scientifically proven or disproven. If and when specific and curative powers are found in foods, medical literature will report it with supporting evidence

Make it a point to have better-value edibles on the shelf and in the refrigerator. For example: plenty of cheese) and one-inch cube of Cheddar has the calcium equivalent of 2-3 cup of milk), hard-cooked eggs, luncheon meat slices, yoghurt, ice cream, milk, pudding, fresh and canned fruits. Keep bags of fresh vegetable sticks, nuts and seeds, whole wheat cereals, bran and oatmeal muffins, cans of sardines and salmon, cans of chunky meat soups

If all of your snackers get good nutritional habits at home, you'll be more selective about meals from fast-food counters and cafeterias. Remember that snacking is not wrong... as long as you do it right

L.A. DONATION MADE TO RANGERS

Two members of the Sharvanae Rangers in Bathurst have each received a donation from the Nepisiquit Local Association to help finance their trip to Cape Breton, N.S. this summer at the International Girl Guides Ranger Camp. Mrs. Rollande Furlotte, L.A. left, president, presents Carol Orser, centre, and Kelly Grebenc each with $25 which they will use towards expenses in conjunction with the camp being held from July 20 to August 3rd.

UCW Program Features Front Page Challenge

The highlight of the April 18 meeting of the Friendly Circle Unit of United Church Woman was entertaining members of the Birch Hill and Friends and Neighbors Units

The meeting, held in the lounge of the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall, was opened by the president Lois Good who extended a welcome. This was followed by a short devotional led by Mae Branch, assisted by Kathy Mullen

The evening's special program was a mock Front Page Challenge called the "Friendly Circle Challenge"

Mae Branch, as director of the show, introduced the moderator, Rose Scott, as Freda Avid. The panelists were Florence Ross as "Borden Tinclair", Betty Chamberlain as "Letty Fennedy", Ada Barbery as "Tierre Serton", and Flora Annand as the guest panelist.

Those participating in the show included Ruth Laszewski and Marg McMaster disguised as Sonny and Cher; Maxine Hannah as Mayor Duffy, Dorothy Ann McCallum as Margaret Trudeau, Lois Good as Bobby Orr; and Jean Smith as Queen Elizabeth.

Very special guests for the show were police Chief and Mrs. David Camp, and were warmly welcomed by the moderator, Mrs. Scott

The panelists did extremely well in guessing the identities of these persons. An interesting question and answer period followed with the members and Mr. and Mrs. Camp.

At the close of the program, Mr. and Mrs. Camp were presented with a small token gift from the Friendly Circle members

Thanks were extended to all panelists and participants for being such good sports and taking part in the program

President of the Friends and Neighbors Unit, Betty Chamberlain thanked their hostesses for a pleasant evening, on behalf of the guest units. The serving of lunch brought the evening to conclusion

Early-Teen Mother Cause For Concern

The 14-year-old mother who wants to keep her baby although she is still in public school herself is an increasingly common problem, The United Church Observer reports in its current issue

"A baby with a baby" is the way the director of one church home for unwed mothers describes the phenomenon

Anne Storey, executive director of the Victor Home in Toronto regularly sees 14 and 15 year-olds and, last year, 60 per cent of the unmarried mothers in that United Church home decided to keep their babies

Social workers in Regina, Halifax, Vancouver and Winnipeg all report seeing younger mothers, sometimes in the 12 and 13-year age range

The younger mother often wants to keep her baby for the wrong reasons, The Observer says

Sandra Bentley, a supervisor with the Halifax Children's Aid Society, finds the girl is frequently from an unhappy home and is saying "I will finally have someone who is mine, someone who will love me". She is too young to realize "that parenting is a difficult job and has more responsibility than cuddling, that it will mean a change of life-style."

Some of the girls get pregnant because they don't believe in birth control, others because they don't know about it, The Observer report says. Some see the baby as an attention-getter, or a status symbol.

Too often, social workers say, the girls simply repeat the patterns of their mothers', beginning another cycle of welfare, broken homes and illegitimacy.

The right of a mother - of any age - to keep her baby has been generally accepted. But now, the increasing number of younger teenage mothers is forcing society to consider the right of the baby to adequate care, according to The Observer report.

RISK OF ABUSE

The executive director of a care agency for unwed mothers in Baltimore, Maryland, is outspoken about her fears of increased risk of abuse and neglect with these mothers.

"The young mother's fantasies about the baby and her role as parent are rudely disappointed by life's realities," says Betty Schwartz. "The shock of real life can stir rage, depression and withdrawal."

Gwen Kent, who worked with the United Church Home for Girls in Winnipeg before it was closed, echoed those feelings as she recalled one girl who returned to the home after a weekend leave with cigarette burns on her baby, and another who threw her child on the floor in front of a social worker.

The United Church of Canada only has one home for unmarried mothers now - the Victor Home in Toronto.

For years, the Church operated others across the country until declining numbers of girls made financing difficult

There are now suggestions. The Observer reports, that the Church should once again get involved in this area, perhaps administering group homes with government help in funding

These homes, staffed with house mothers, could be places where young mothers could stay for some time after the birth as they adjusted to being a parent

WINNER PREFERS PRIZE IN CASH

Mrs. Diane Moran, left, presents a cheque to Paulette Doucet, 145 Melanson St., winner of the recent Bathurst Kinette Club lottery. The winner accepted the money, it being preferred in lieu of a micro-wave oven. Mrs. Moran, chairman of this fund-raising project, said that the proceeds from the sale of tickets will assist the mentally retarded children's cause in this area

Archibald Notes

By M. C. Archibald

Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacKinnon and children Tracy and Greg, Douglastown, and Misses Susan and Jean Ann MacIntosh, Moncton, visited with their parents over the Easter holidays.

Mr. Wayne Archibald has returned to Toronto after spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Archibald.

Friends of Mr. David Winton are sorry to learn he is suffering from a broken leg received while playing hockey.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Firlotte and Mrs. Thomas Furlong visited recently with their father, Mr. Charles Firlotte who is undergoing treatment in hospital in Saint John.

Friends of Mr. Chester Winton are pleased to learn he is convalescing at his home after being a patient in Chaleur General Hospital, Bathurst, where he underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Archibald and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold MacCurdy visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, Tide Head.

The friends of Mrs. Chester Winton are pleased to learn she has returned home after being a patient for several weeks in Chaleur General Hospital, Bathurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Archibald visited recently with relatives and friends in Moncton and vicinity.

Mrs. Joyce Brown RN, Bathurst, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Winton.

RNAs Meeting At Sussex

The annual meeting of the Association of New Brunswick Registered Nursing Assistants will be held at Sussex May 5 and 6th.

All sessions will be held at the Legion Hall, on Magnolia Street, with the opening scheduled at 1:00 p.m. on May 5.

The president, Mrs. Joan Hyman, RNA of St. Stephen will preside at all meetings of the association. Considerable business is expected to be handled at this session, chief of which is the progress of the association toward an act of incorporation.

A banquet will be held at the Legion Hall May 5 at 6:30 p.m. and it is expected Dr. F. Khedheri will be the speaker.

The second session will begin at 9 a.m. May 6 and continue until all business of the association has been dealt with. It is expected this meeting will be largely attended.

Bridge Results

Mrs. Percy Wedge and Ray Poirier posted top scores in the April 25 session of Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club which was an international charity game.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bass (Newcastle Club) wound up in second place followed by D. Betts (Campbellton) and Robert Baker, third.

Fourth place honors were to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hare and fifth to Helen MacLean and Paul Hachey, all of Newcastle.

There will be a special game on Wednesday, May 4, at the club's regular quarters in the library of J. Gordon Chalmers School.

At the close of play, each player will receive a professional analysis of each hand which should make this special session an interesting event.

Regular games are held Mondays, starting at 7:30 p.m. For partnerships and further information, phone 546-2142 or 546-5233.

Bathurst Chapter OES Officers Are Installed

Bathurst Chapter No. 22 Order of the Eastern Star members met in the Masonic Hall Tuesday evening, Apr. 12 Worthy Matron Mrs. Herbert Scott presided, assisted by Worthy Patron John Scott.

The worthy matron welcomed all present. Past Grand Matron Mrs. Arnold Taylor of Newcastle and Past Grand Patron Edward Crowther were presented at the altar, welcomed and escorted to the East and accorded grand honors.

Other grand oficers were introduced: Mrs. Dorothy MacDonald of Dalhousie as Grand Adah and Mrs. Fenton Daley as Grand Martha, along with several other visitors from Newcastle, Dalhousie, Sussesx and Saint John.

Routine business was taken care of and annual reports indicated the chapter had experienced a very successful and busy year.

Norman Scott, in reporting on the Masonic dinner which was a decided success, thanked the members of the Eastern Star for their assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Coles who are leaving in the near future to reside in Calgary, Alta., were presented with a gift on behalf of the chapter by Mrs. Vivian Howatt. Mr. and Mrs. Coles, valued members who both held offices, will be much missed.

The retiring worthy matron and worthy patron, Mrs. Herb Scott and John Scott, in their farewell speeches, thanked the chapter for the honor of serving during the past year and pledged their continued support.

Mrs. Marie Scott, past matron, next was escorted to the East for the installation of the new slate of officers. All offices, with the exception of three, were filled with charter members and seated in the office they held when the charter was presented 30 years ago.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

In a colorful and impressive ceremony which was well presented by Mrs. Marie Scott as installing officer, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Myles Amos, Mrs. Vivian Howatt was installed as the chapter's worthy matron for the coming year. Other officers installed were:

Fenton Daley, worthy patron; Mrs. Ronald Scott, associate matron; Edgar Coles, associate patron; Mrs. Murray Clouston secretary; Mrs. Norman Scott, treasurer; Mrs. Burns Branch, chaplain; Mrs. Harold Gammon, marshall; Mrs. Fenton Daley, organist.

Mrs. Stuart Norton, Adah; Mrs. John Kerr, Ruth; Mrs. Don Spragg, Esther; Mrs. Clifford Barbery, Martha; Mrs. Hubert Drillen, Electa; Mrs. Hubert Knowles, warder; Clifford Barbery, sentinel.

Following the installation of the worthy matron as she was being escorted to her chair, Mrs. Maurice Horsley was heard in her beautiful rendition of "Only Shadows." As the worthy patron was escorted to his chair, Mrs. Horsley and Mrs. Daley sang "Was That Someone You."

In a challenging acceptance speech, Mrs. Howatt stressed friendship, and asked for the co-operation of the chapter so that she might have a successful year. She thanked Mrs. Marie Scott and those assisting Mr. and Mrs. Amos, for a beautiful installation ceremony of work so well done, and for a memorable evening which she said she will long remember.

The worthy matron has chosen the blue violet as her flower, with all officers wearing hand crotcheted corsages of blue violets.

Mrs. Howatt was presented with an engraved gavel by the worthy patron as a gift from her three daughters, Barbara, Nadine and Patsy.

Mrs. Norman Scott presented Mrs. Herbert Scott with her past matron's jewel. Mrs. John Scott presented her husband with his past patron's jewel. Gifts were presented each by their officers who congratulated them on a job well done.

The worthy matron reminded the chapter of the church parade to be held Sunday, May 15, to Bayview Baptist Church, all to attend if possible.

The Chapter was then draped in loving memory of the late Brother Stafford Smith and Abide With Me was sung.

The meeting closed in ritualistic form, after which refreshments were served in the dining room by Mrs. Blair Chamberlain and her committee. For the occasion, the dining room was tastefully decorated with blue African violets.

Social And Personal

Mr. Bill Hosking, Grand'Mere, Que., spent a recent weekend with his mother, Mrs. W. S. Hosking, while engaged in Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. interests in both the New Richmond, Que. and Bathurst divisions.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Noble were their daughter, Mrs. Charles Pilson and Mr. Pilson, Halifax, and Miss Helen Fleming, Brunswick, Maine.

Club Decides On Donations

The February meeting of Bathurst Lionette Club held at Danny's was conducted by the president Mary Winter, opening with the Lionette prayer repeated in unison.

After the minutes were read and approved, correspondence read included thank-you notes from families who had received gifts from the Lionettes at Christmas.

Jean Brown gave an informative report on the home care program for senior citizens being established in the city.

Ways and means chairman, Alice Lavigne suggested patterns for the club's quilt to be lotteried. It was decided that each member should make quilt blocks to be turned in at the next meeting. Tickets will be on sale this summer, it was noted.

The mystery prize was won by Bert McGinley.

The March meeting having been cancelled, the next regular dinner meeting was held at Danny's with the president in the chair.

After routine opening procedures, a discussion was held on the Multiple Sclerosis Society Bathurst Chapter and their need for funds. It was decided to make a donation to the society.

Lionette Geraldine Boudreau, in the absence of her husband, A.A. Boudreau, CNIB district administrator and Lions Club member, demonstrated a two-track, four-track tape recorder to be used by citizens in the area with a seeing handicap.

The club decided to purchase one of these recorders for the local CNIB, thereby allowing a means of communication to the unsighted by means of tapes.

A wicker framed mirror was donated by one of the Lionettes and it was decided to sell tickets among the members.

Alice Lavigne collected quilt blocks made by members.

The mystery prize at this meeting was won by Lois Tower.

Social and Personal

Former Bathurst residents Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Smith, Millerton, were in the city to attend the Apr. 12 meeting and installation ceremonies of Bathurst Chapter No. 22 Order of the Eastern Star held at the Masonic Hall.

Misses Irene Latam, Forest, Ont., and Susan Piercey of Cornwall, Ont., spent last week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vanderhayden.

Rev. and Mrs. S.C. Lewis, Sydney, N.S., visited during last week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith, New Bandon, while in the city conducting seminars for the Women's Missionary Council and the Men's Fellowship Departments of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada for the North Shore district.

Mr. Sylvain Boucher is visiting at Elliot Lake, Ont., the guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albanie Boucher and children Chantal and Serge.

Mr. Bill Williams, Lake Louise, Alta., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacKay and their daughter, Miss Velma MacKay R.N.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken White returned Apr. 26 to their home on St. Patrick Street after spending winter in the South. They spent most of the time at Reddington Shores, Fla., and visited over Christmas and Easter weeks with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Millar at Savannah, Georgia. En route home, Mr. and Mrs. White spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Dave Dougherty, Mr. Dougherty and family at Southwick, Mass.

Mr. John Michael Noble, a student at St. Thomas University, Fredericton, has arrived spending the summer holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Noble.

Miss Cynthia Carson who has completed second-year studies at Mount Allison University, Sackville, is spending the summer here with her parents, Dr. J. D. Carson and family, and Mrs. Carson who is a patient in Chaleur General Hospital.

SENIOR CITIZENS COMPLEX OFFICIALLY OPENED

The official opening of the Denis S. Fournier Golden Age Home on Demeresque Street took place Monday afternoon, beginning with a mass followed by the ribbon-cutting ceremony, and a banquet.

Approximately 40 persons, residents of the apartments and several guests were present for the con-celebrated mass at 4 p.m.

The celebrants were Rev. J. Emile Fournier, pastor of Sacred Heart Cathedral; Rev. John Duguay, Tracadie; and Rev. G. Forest, chaplain of Chaleur Villa in Bathurst.

The reading was given by Mrs. Phyllis Paquette. The choir which comprises the residents of this senior citizens' home was directed by Mrs. Sylvia Lavigne. Organist is Mrs. Linda Cripps.

Following the service, the ribbon was cut by Huntly Ferguson who had assisted the residents in organizing their Maple Leaf Club nearly two years ago.

Father Fournier said the grace at the banquet which followed at 5:15 p.m. Father Duguay spoke briefly as did Mr. Ferguson.

Mrs. L. Cripps, president of the Maple Leaf Club, expressed appreciation to the clergy, Mr. Ferguson, the invited guests and to the members who had prepared the banquet and assisted in every way to make the opening a successful event.

Among the invited guests were representatives of Club l'Age d'or in Petit Rocher; Joseph Cormier, president, and Mrs. Cormier; Mrs. Emily Duguay, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Leandre Arseneau, immediate past president; also Mrs. Huntly Ferguson and Mrs. Archie Jamieson.

Unable to attend were representatives of the recently-formed club for senior citizens in Allardville; Rev. Gregory Culligan, Rev. Achille Maillet and Rev. Yvon Boudreau who, together with Father Fournier have officiated at regular masses Saturdays at 7 p.m. for the senior residents; Mayor J.A. Duffy and Mrs. Duffy and Archie Jamieson, and Blair Bourgeois, Moncton, manager of the N.B. New Horizons Program who telephoned his last-minute regrets, having ealier accepted the invitation.

Other Maple Leaf Club officers are Bernie Arseneau, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Emily Boudreau, secretary; and Mrs. Ida Lavigne, treasurer.

The two two-storey buildings comprise the complex; one contains 24 units and the other has 16 units along with community and recreation rooms, a lounge and kitchen.

Construction was begun in 1973 and all 40 units, the first phase of this complex, were occupied by early September, 1975. The apartments are modern, compact and comfortable.

Various extra furnishings for the community area including tables, chairs and television set among others donated by local organizations have added to the comfort and enjoyment of its residents.

Mayor And New Council Assume Duties May 24

About 53 per cent of Bathurst's 10,000 eligible voters went to the polls Monday to re-elect incumbent John A. Duffy to a second term as chief magistrate.

Mayor Duffy grabbed an early lead in the three-way mayoralty race and compiled a total of 2,757 votes to gain an easy victory. His nearest opponent, Patrick McLaughlin, polled 1,674 while Conrad Coughlan received 857 votes.

The mayor, who made election history by becoming the city's first to be elected to a second term, described the contest as a clean campaign although a tough one, and he congratulated his opponents, without whom "there would be no election."

He added he would be maintaining the same form of municipal government which has existed for the past three years in the city - "that is, with open doors to keep the people informed. Without their guidance, I would be lost."

Mayor Duffy also thanked his campaign workers and members of his family for their strong support.

Wishing the mayor and new council the best of luck, Mr. McLaughlin, who served as deputy mayor for the 1974-77 term, stated he would be continuing his interest in municipal affairs. He also expressed his gratitude to his workers and to the electorate.

Mr. Coughlan expressed concern over the apparent apathy of Bathurst voters, pointing to the turnout percentage and to four seats being filled by acclamation.

However, he congratulated Mayor Duffy on a "strenuous and positive campaign. The easiest thing to do is to accept victory but it is a bit harder to accept defeat with dignity."

He commended all candidates for their public minded and public-spirited efforts.

Five of the nine council seats in the city went to Douglas Williamson, Hugh Campbell, Ken Frenette, Robert Hodgins and Albert Lavigne.

In Coffyn Ward, Mr. Campbell polled 921 and Mr. Williamson 849 to defeat Donald McArdle with 337.

Mr. Hodgins (703) and Lavigne (845) defeated two other candidates, Wayne Lambert (522) and Valmond Saulnier (375).

In Ryan Ward, Mr. Frenette received 326 votes to defeat Nick Kovats (175) and incumbent Henry Murphy (93).

Others elected to council by acclamation were James MacLaggan (Burns Ward); Hilaire Brideau (Michaud Ward); Jean Paul Lavoie and Joe MacNeil (Kent Ward).

Official swearing-in ceremonies for new councillors, with the exception of James MacLaggan, will take place at the next regular council meeting on May 24. Mr. MacLaggan, who will be out of town at that time, will be sworn in on Thursday, May 12 at 10 a.m.

Surrounded by television and radio newsmen, re-elected Mayor Duffy makes victory speech.

DESIGN FOR DEAF

Before leaving for the national convention of the Canadian Coordinating Council on Deafness being held in Ottawa this week, Wilfred Battah, of Bathurst, a member of the board of directors, made several comments concerning progress on behalf of the hearing handicapped in this area.

Although the newly-labelled Northeast Deaf Assn. (N.B.) - Assoc. de Sourds de Nord-Est (N.B.) officially encompasses 98 people, there are at least 40 more qualifying members, he said.

Mr. Battah also announced that an exhibition and sale of handicrafts fashioned by the local deaf population would be held near Book Village at the K mart from 2 to 9 p.m., Thurs., May 20. A similar previous event met with encouraging public response, he noted.

PROGRESS REPORT

A meeting of the Youghal and Carron Point Beach Property Owners Assn. is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Tues., May 17, in Holy Rosary Church Hall (Crossroads).

Members will hear a report from the Tax Committee on meetings with Bathurst City Council and Hon. Horace Smith. The N.B. minister of municipal affairs, incidentally, lent a very sympathetic ear to the local delegation for 1½ hours in Fredericton last week.

MOVING UP

A former Bathurst man, Maurice White, has been transferred to Montreal as director of Food Services, Saga Canadian MGMT Services Ltd. at Sir George Williams University. His appointment was effective May 1st.

Mr. White has been manager of the firm's services at the University of New Bunswick, Fredericton, for the past four years.

Mr. White and his wife, the former Rebecca Branch and a native of Bathurst also, have two children, Meredith and Christopher. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil White, St. Anne.

HONOR FOR CITY

The election of Blake Oulton as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of N.B. is a distinct acknowledgement of his personal calibre and ability and a high honor to the City of Bathurst where he is numbered among the leading citizens.

Mr. Oulton is the first member of Lodge St. John to hold this exalted post. His appointment, therefore, also reflects favorably on the more than century-old organization to which he has been dedicated for many years.

The Northern Light joins many friends in extending congratulations to Grand Master Oulton on this latest distinction added to an already impressive

BM And S Annual Meeting May 17

The annual meeting of shareholders of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd., scheduled for Tuesday, May 17, is being held again this year at the company's Bathurst minesite, but in the engineering conference rooms in the new wing of the administration building.

While next week's session will deal with last year's operations, Brunswick can look back on a good first quarter this year, according to Mine Manager John Moerman, who comments further as follows:

"Number 12 underground mine came close to producing 7,000 tons per day for two consecutive months, despite some problems. The 1900 level crew established a new monthly production record of 98,000 tons. New hoisting records were also set.

"Regular stoping operations were well underway in the crown pillar and the first ore was produced from the No. 6 underground.

"At the end of March, the new No. 3 shaft was excavated full size to 3000 feet. In the headframe, Brunswick electricians and mechanics made good progress on electrical installation and assembly of the auxiliary cage hoist.

"Slashing also started on the new V-5 fresh air ventilation raise. This fresh air raise will double the volume of fresh air sent underground.

"In the concentrator, the new secondary zinc circuit started in December operated satisfactorily throughout the first quarter. This has resulted in an improvement in zinc recovery of approximately five percent. As well, installation of a new ball mill and vacuum pumps is under way.

"In other surface work, one of the biggest jobs to be undertaken in the second quarter will be the new concrete ore bin which will be constructed near the north end of the concentrator. Construction will get under way in the second quarter. The bin will have a capacity of 6000 tons and will be 100 feet high.

"Progress was made in accident prevention in the last two months, proving again that a mining operation can be carried on safely. In this connection, it should be noted that over 50 hourly-rated employees completed 10 years of service last year without a lost-time injury".

BLAKE A. OULTON

Local Man Elected N.B. Grand Master

Blake Allen Oulton of Bathurst was elected Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of New Brunswick at the 110th annual communication held May 6 and 7 in Campbellton.

Very Worshipful Brother Lloyd A. Carter, Grand Chaplain, conducted a service of whorship and thanksgiving. His devotional address was on "Free Masonry - A Way of Life". This was on May 6.

Prior to the service, distinguished guests from other grand lodges were received and accorded grand honors by the brethren present. Representatives were from Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Alberta, Maine and Massachusetts.

The Grand Master's luncheon was fully attended and an excellent address was given by Most Wor. Bro. W. Everett Mosley, Past Grand Master, Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia.

The theme of his address was on "Free Masonry - A Way to Moral and Spiritual Uplifting". In developing this theme, Most Wor. Bro. Mosley extracted quotations from Gibbons, "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire", to emphasize comparisons with today's decline in our moral and social life. Free Masonry provides a way to better life.

Present for the opening ceremonies were seven Past Grand Masters: Donald A. Sommerville, Henry D. Hopkins, William J. Summerville, Murray S. Speight, Maurice W. Dalton, J. Stewart Brooks, Albert C. Lemmon and the Grand Master Earl B. Ross.

Appointed Grand Director of Ceremonies was Wor. Bro. Murray E. Clouston while Wor. Bro. Roy A. Day was appointed a Grand Steward. They are respectively Immediate Past Master and Worshipful Master of Lodge St. John, Bathurst.

Other members of Lodge St. John, Bathurst, attending the communication were: Rt. Wor. Bros. Edward T. Crowther, Ronald D. Mundle; Wor. Bros. Clinton C. Gammon, Eugene Spence, Kenneth Chalmers, C. Keith Dobson, Donald B.

Mr. Hospitality invites you to Hospitality Days 1977.

Bathurst Hospitality Days will be held this year from July 6th to the 10th inclusive.

A whole slate of events is presently being planned and organized. Some events from last year's festival will be repeated, but many new ones have been added to the program.

Among the new attractions, the organizers are planning to honour the mother and baby of Hospitality Days. The first baby to be born as close to the official opening as possible will receive some gifts as well as be proclaimed Baby of Hospitality Days. The official opening is slated for 2 o'clock p.m. on July 6th, 1977.

The organizers wish to invite the whole population of Bathurst and the surrounding areas to start planning now for these four days of enjoyment and leisure.

A spokesman for the festival said that this year again, a moustache contest will be held over a three-day period. This is to allow more people to participate, and allow the judges greater flexibility. An invitation is hereby sent to all men, young and old, to start growing a moustache, so that this year's event may be the best ever

Pageant Deadline Extended

Director of the Miss Bathurst Pageant committee, Kumari Sundaram, announced this week the deadline for entries into the festival event has been extended to May 14.

The pageant committee is currently looking for single girls in the 18 to 22 age bracket, who are interested in taking part in this year's pageant, which is held in conjunction with Hospitality Days. In addition to trophies, trips and cash awards, successful entrants will also be given the opportunity to participate in provincial and national pageants.

Anyone interested in entering the pageant is asked to contact Mrs. Sundaram at 548-2243.

Promote Beautification Of City

As part of a beautification program sponsored jointly by the Bathurst Jaycees and the City of Bathurst Tree Commission, a tree sale will be held Saturday, May 14, from 8:30 a.m.

European Mountain Ash and Crimson King Maple, approximately 5 to 6 feet tall, are the two types of trees available, according to Ron Doucet, chairman of the Jaycee's Arbor Day tree-planting project.

Coun. Jean-Paul Lavoie, who is representing the City in the program, says he hopes many citizens will cooperate in this venture. He was referring to both private homeowners and business operators.

The trees will be sold at two different locations: in front of the Pop Shoppe at Bathurst Shopping Mall; and near the Tourist Bureau on Harbourview Boulevard.

Advance orders are being accepted by Remi Doucet, phone 548-2238.

BELIEVED VICTIM OF ARSONISTS

The Belledune lighthouse, an historic Bay Chaleur landmark, was completely destroyed by fire sometime during Saturday night and arson is suspected. About a year ago, the lightkeeper's dwelling, an impressive 3-bedroom structure located nearby, met a similar fate. In the more recent incident, village authorities have posted a $2,000. reward for information leading to the conviction of the responsible persons. Belledune was in the process of moving the abandoned lighthouse, considered the only one of its kind in Eastern Canada, to Belledune Park where as part of a $14,000. project it was to be restored as a tourist bureau. Both the lighthouse and its keeper's residence were built in 1907 by the late Joshua Gammon, a Bathurst contractor. The matter is being investigated by Jacquet River Detachment RCMP assisted by personnel from the General Investigation Service Branch, Moncton.

DISPLAY ILLUSTRATES HOSPITAL SERVICES

An impressive montage-type presentation, which is alternating between the main lobby of Chaleur General and, hopefully, one of the city's shopping malls this week, has been arranged to mark Canada Hospital Day, Thursday, May 12. It will later be located in the hospital's conference room. Entitled "A Hospital Story", the information piece concentrates on some of the auxiliary services at the institution, which the patients and public may not be too familiar with. The layout was designed by Hazel Moody, of the hospital's management team, who also wrote the English text. Francoise Savoie completed the French translation, while the photography was by Pharmacist Gordon Kane.

TOP PERFORMANCE

The Bathurst Chamber of Commerce annual dinner meeting at Danny's Colonial House on Saturday and its accompanying program all added up to a highly successful affair.

Personable Urban Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet impressed his audience with an encouraging message, forceful pitch for national unity and his fluency in both official languages. Among those accompanying the minister here were his 9-year-old son, Pierre who is also completely bilingual, and his executive secretary, Marcel Vienneau, originally from Bathurst.

Frank Hay capably emceed the event, confirming he might have missed his calling - he would have been equally successful as a professional entertainer as he has been in the business field.

Marcel Coulombe, who appropriately thanked the guest speaker and made a token presentation on behalf of the Chamber, also had a special message for Herb Breau.

Referring to an earlier suggestion about maximizing the potential and minimizing the problems of this area, Mr. Coulombe asked the Gloucester MP to bring along the minister of transport the next time he comes in order to get the Bathurst Airport project off the ground.

Commenting on Mr Ouellet's reference to National unity, Mr Coulombe affirmed he too is a French Canadian from Quebec. He is now happily established in N.B. and has no intention of returning to his native province, he added.

The traditional hat that the newly elected Grand Master chose to wear was worn by his father Wor. Bro. W. Enzor Oulton when he was Worshipful Master of Westmorland Lodge, Port Elgin in 1932. It was subsequently worn by another son, Wor. Bro. Austin A. Oulton when he was Worshipful Master of that Lodge in 1961. The hat is presently being used this year by the son of Wor. Bro. Austin A. Oulton, Wor. Bro. Donald A. Oulton who is the Worshipful Master of The Corinthian Lodge, Hampton.

The first official act of the newly elected Grand Master was to present Most Wor. Bro. Earl B. Ross, Immediate Past Grand Master, with the John Beardsley Medallion, the highest award in the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick.

This year was the centennial year of Campbellton Lodge which received its charter on September 21 one hundred years ago. The presiding Master Wor. Bro. E.J. Davis welcomed the 250 delegates and visitors from New Brunswick, other parts of Canada and New England States.

Mayor William T. McRae, a Master Mason, greeted the visitors on Friday evening at the city's United Church Hall. The Friday evening reception and Saturday's luncheon were held at the Sugarloaf Park Lodge.

At the regular meeting of Lodge St. John on Monday evening, May 9, Most Wor. Bro. B.A. Oulton was escorted into the Lodge by the Past Masters, all of whom are members of Grand Lodge. The Worshipful Master, Wor. Bro. Roy A. Day welcomed the Grand Master and conducted him to the East after which grand honors were given the new Grand Master. Most Wor. Bro. Oulton is the first Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick to be elected from Lodge St. John.

The Worshipful Master, Wor. Bro. R.A. Day, on behalf of himself and the Past Masters presented the Grand Master with an attache case in recognition of the honor which had been brought to Lodge St. John.

The Bathurst Chamber of Commerce elected a new slate of officers during its annual dinner meeting at Danny's Colonial House May 7. Michael Wilson, who was elected president, said he will strive to create more communication between the chamber's executive, board of directors and individual members. Doug Baker was elected vice-president. C of C directors for 1977 will be Linda Austford, Margaret Fekeshazy, Michael Gallagher, Joe Hache, Roger LeBlanc, George Neumann, Victor Raiche, Gerry Leger, Lionel Roach, Gerry Hudon, Ron Doucet, Dave Ferguson and Dennis Daley. Outgoing president John Hazen (shown here presenting gavel to his successor) outlined projects the Chamber of Commerce used to improve the business sector of Bathurst. He urged more participation from the chamber members. Federal Urban Affairs Minister Andre Ouelett was guest speaker at the event. He was accompanied by Gloucester MP Herb Breau.

BHS Performances Set For Tuesday

Bathurst High School students hit the stage once again for a one-night persentation of five one-act plays on Tuesday, May 17 at 7:30 p.m. Since the Bathurst High School amphitheatre can provide only minimally adequate facilities for which to present these productions, it is hoped the audience will appreciate the kind of work, cooperation and coordination necessary for final presentation. The community is also advised that due to the limited seating capacity of the amphitheatre, the better seats will be filled early.

Nearly 50 students are involved in stagework, make-up, costumes, lighting, ticket sales and acting for the five performances.

"The Apple of My Eye" stars Monique Leger and Larry Furlotte as Faithful and Standfast Billings, Judy Hachey as Charity, Monique Gamache as Susanne and David Thibodeau as Tom.

"This Property is Condemned" stars Nancy Davidson as Willie and Nicky Duivenvoorden as Tom.

"Here We Are" stars Michael Belland and Brenda Lee Chapman as newlyweds.

"The Last of My Solid Gold Watches" features John McLaughlin as Mr. Charlie, John Guidry as Bob Harper and Adrian Moerman as Leroy.

"Tour" stars Bronwyn Davies as Cora, John McLaughlin as Woodson, Michael Belland as Driver, Diane Farine and Cecilia McKendy as natives.

Tickets are available at Frank Hay's on King Avenue or at the high school. Only $1.50 without student cards; $1 with student cards.

County Teams To Take Part

Chrysler Canada Ltd.'s seventh annual Trouble Shooting Contest, sponsored each year to encourage technically-minded secondary school students to pursue careers in automotive service, will be held in Moncton May 12 at the J. Louis Levesque Arena.

The contest, which has developed over recent years into a nationally-recognized competition, has attracted student teams from nearly 300 schools across Canada this year. Each participating school selects two automotive students, who are sponsored by a local Chrysler Canada Ltd. dealer.

Regional and national competitions consist of written examinations followed by practical mechanical tests. Each team is assigned a new Dodge or Plymouth that has been deliberately tampered with by Chrysler service engineering experts. The teams race the clock to locate and diagnose the malfunctions and get the cars repaired and running.

Written examinations count for 40 per cent of a team's final score, and the practical test 60 per cent. Winners of each regional contest advance to the national finals in Toronto June 20-22, and the winning national team will represent Canada at the international finals in Mexico City in July.

Participating schools in the regional contest this year in Moncton include W. Arthur-Losier School, Tracadie and Nepisiguit High School, Bathurst.

Details UIC Setup, Makes Plea For Unity

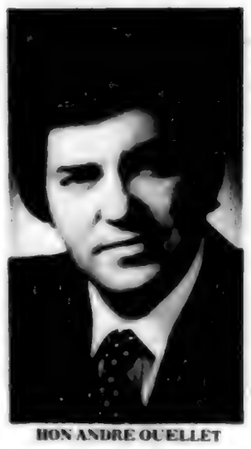
The complexity of relocating the Unemployment Insurance Commission to Bathurst as well as the immense changes the move will create in the city were among topics discussed Saturday at a press conference called by Andre Ouellet, Federal minister of urban affairs.

In the city to address the annual meeting of the Bathurst Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Ouellet told members of the news media that because the relocation is one of the biggest government decentralization moves in the country, a four-month federal-municipal study will research the impact on the community. The study will initiate a development plan to integrate the commission into Bathurst with a minimum of problems.

Mr. Ouellet stated the move will mean 600 to 700 new jobs, and the building will be triple the size of any structure now in the city. It will occupy 140,000 square feet and will cost 50 per cent more that the total volume of building costs in the city during 1975-76.

Target date for construction is 1979.

Speaking on housing, the minister said the government is considering extending the federal home ownership program to other than new homes. He noted AHOP has been involved in 54 housing projects in the Bathurst area during the past year.



HON ANDRE OUELLET

Over 273,000 new homes were built in Canada last year, Mr. Ouellet said, and the government hopes to see another million constructed in the next four years.

He described the housing situation in Canada as good, except for certain regions, including the Maritimes.

Turning to the subject of national unity, Mr. Ouellet said he doubts Quebec will separate from Canada but that it is important the country assure its people their cultural and linguistic rights.

"The government in Quebec has a mandate to govern, not to separate", he said. "The worst thing we can do is to act as if Quebec has already separated. A lot of Quebeckers have dedicated themselves to making sure that doesn't happen".

The urban affairs minister said New Brunswick is the only officially bilingual province in Canada. If other provinces would provide similar legislation, he said, guaranteeing linguistic rights to minorities would succeed.

In a way, the recent Quebec election had an advantage, said Mr. Ouellet. It pointed out to all Canadians the need to work together more than ever before.

He said the time has come to revise our constitution and, in the spirit of cooperation, ensure that it guarantees the right of all Canadians to preserve their language and culture.

Mayor Is Re-Elected

A promise to put Shippegan "on the map" was the word Monday evening from Jean Chiasson following his election to a third term as mayor of the town.

"I am very happy to receive this support from the people, and I'm happy all my colleagues are re-elected. They are the cream of the crop."

Mayor Chiasson said new industry and more employment would be his council's priority for the next three years.

Defeated mayoralty candidate Raymond Hachey.

Mr. Hachey polled 364 votes to Mr. Chiasson's 875.

Elected to the Shippegan council were Domitien Mallet (621), Percy Mallet (632), Raoul Mazerolle (647), Jean Guy ioux (825), Charles Edouard Robichaud (528) and Florian Robichaud (616).

Italian-Born Citizen Dies

The death of Nazaire Juliano, 1340 Narcisse Lane, occurred May 5 at Chaleur General Hospital after an illness of seven weeks. He was 83.

Born in Italy, Mr. Juliano came to Bathurst in 1910. He worked at the Pepsi-Cola plant here for 15 years before becoming employed with Bathurst Power and Paper and remained there for 23 years until his retirement.

Mr. Juliano was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Surviving are his wife, the former Elizabeth Chambers, three sons, Tony of Bathurst, Hubert of Saint John and George of Leominster, Mass.; seven daughters, Mrs. Frederick Lavigne (Agnes), Mrs. Edward Couture (Carmella), Mrs. Levonie Savoie (Evelyne) and Mrs. Norman Dufresne (Rita), all of Bathurst, Miss Sylvérina Juliano, at home, Mrs. Edmond Poirier (Evangeline) of Tracadie and Mrs. Frank Brideau (Mary) of Pont Landry; 25 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Juliano rested at Elhatinn's Funeral Home.

Rev. L. Vermeersch officiated at the funeral mass held at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church Sunday at 2 p.m.

The pallbearers were four sons-in-law, Frank Brideau, Edmond Poirier, Norman Dufresne and Levonie Savoie, and two grandsons, Gerard Couture and Roger Juliano.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Mary Avenue, pending burial later this spring.

Those attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Rouselle and son from Rimouski, Que.; Hubert Juliano, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kallak, Mr. and Mrs. Ragnar Joehanson, Saint John, Anselm Eddy, Pius Noel, Alfred Noel, Jacquet River, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Poirier and family, Tracadie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brideau and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Landry, all of Pont Landry.

Worth Noting

International Nursing Week, May 8 to 14, was established by the International Council of Nursing to focus attention on the contribution made by the nursing profession to the health needs of mankind.

It is an internationally - celebrated event as is May 12, the birthdate of Florence Nightingale, the "lady of the lamp!"

And to mark the occasion, Bathurst School of Nursing will be open to the public tomorrow, Thursday, May 12, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

In keeping with the contribution to health needs theme, May 12 is also recognized as Canada Hospital Day.

This special "day" is designed to spotlight the role of the hospital in the community and the theme chosen for this year is "Your Community Hospital - Your Health Care Centre".

Hospitals and hospital care loom ever larger in our modern society. And Bathurst, with the modern facilities offered at Chaleur General Hospital, is one of the province's principal medical centres.

Aided by sophisticated devices, techniques and drugs, which have advanced tremendously over the past several years, highly professional and skilled teams are available at all times to aid those beset by illness or accident.

Many of the personnel are unseen by patients, but all consistently contribute a share. They continually upgrade their skills to meet new challenges.

Budget costs and government restrait programs have produced some stress in the hospital system. Employees are finding their work loads increasing as more patients have to be cared for as patient/staff rations increase.

Care, however is that intangible, but necessary ingredient which speeds the curing progress and makes what to many patients would be an unbearable experience, bearable. Hospital employees over the years have the reputation of "going the extra mile" trying a little bit harder to give good patient care.

Hospital employees know well that care is not the sole preserve of the nursing staff, although that care is indispensable. They know that the extra care of the dietitians, maintenance, engineering housekeeping and linen staffs, the pharmacy health records staff, the laboratory, business office and administration people, x-ray techonologists, occupational therapists and physiotherapists can make the difference between a pleasant and an unpleasant hospital stay.

Bathurst is indeed fortunate to have some 80 physicians and surgeons in private practise and associated with Chaleur General Hospital, including the highest qualified specialists in various field.

In this respect we should continuously count our blessings. This week, however, we should particularly recognize the hospital and all those connected with it as a dynamic, changing institution, adapting to new demands of a scientific, professional, local or economic nature.

Some of this, it also must be remembered, is made possible by the voluntary efforts of many of our community members, who work as hospital trustees, volunteers and donors.

Old Ways Better?

One of our favorite writers is Richard J. Needham, whose down-to-earth, grassroots philosophy appears regularly in a Toronto Globe and Mail column entitled "A Writer's Notebook." You'll find it in the lower right-hand corner of the editorial page.

In his contribution one day last week, Mr. Needham aptly expressed some of the main reasons for the ills existing in today's society. Everything else having failed, a return to the old regimen might improve the situation. Perhaps it's worth a try." What do you think"

"I don't see how you can have any sort of education unless the principal is totally in command of his own school, his own teachers, his own students. He should be free to strap, to detain, to suspend and to expel at his own discretion, without any appeal.

"His teachers should, in turn, be free to enforce tough discipline and he should always back them up with no hassles from the parents, the trustees, the Department of Education, bureaucracy, etc.

"The only right I would grant the parents is the right to withdraw their children from the school they attend and place them in some other of their choice.

"By the same token, I don't see how a business firm can function efficiently unless the management has full and absolute control of the employees, their wages, hours, working conditions, etc.

"In every situation on this earth there is room for only one master. The sole freedom I would grant to employees is the freedom to quit and find themselves a better deal elsewhere."

CLUB 222 WINNER SECOND TIME AROUND

Corinne Landry, of 816 Donald Ave., receives a $500 cheque from Dave Underhill, project chairman for Bathurst Rotary Club's Club 222 Draw held May 9. For Miss Landry, a Canada Manpower employee, it was the second lucky Monday in as many weeks. On May 2 her ticket won $50. Club 222 has 33 more draws to go, including those for the three grand prizes: two automobiles or $4000. in cash in each case, and $1200. worth of travelling to a destination of choice. Tickets are still available from Rotarians.

CLASS AS USUAL DURING NURSING WEEK

First-year students at Bathurst School of Nursing are in class as usual during International Nursing Week, May 8 to 14. They'll suspend studies and instructions, however, tomorrow, Thursday, May 12, when visitors arrive to tour the institution which is open to the public between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. and 7:00 and 9:00 p.m.

For Preservation Of Clock Tower

Bathurst, N.B.
May 9, 1977

On behalf of the Student Council of South Bathurst School I. wish to express our concern for the future of the clock tower of the Old Post Office Building.

We hope that action will be taken to preserve "this landmark and architectural rarity since the late 1800's."

Now is the time for our community to take action and express concern for our heritage before it is too late.

Secretary

Event Gets Response

At the invitation of the Care Group of the Peace, Joy and Love Prayer Community of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal of Bathurst, Rev. Frank McGrath and Sister Fran of the Sisters of Mercy order conducted a five-day teaching on the "charismatic renewal" in the Catholic Church April 27 to May 1st.

The teaching was held at the House of Prayer, 775 College Street.

Sister Fran is working full time in the Catholic Charismatic Parish of St. Patrick, Providence, R.I.

Beginning with registrations Wednesday evening, visitors from various Maritime centres were welcomed. Rev. Gregory Culligan introduced the guest speaker.

Sister Fran spoke of her early days in the Catholic Charismatic Renewal with a small group of 15 people. She became involved in the life of a dying inner-city parish which has since blossomed into a fully-fledged charismatic parish.

Many people, looking for a deeper commitment, have moved into this parish and have become involved in a truly charismatic community life, Sister Fran said.

Father McGrath, in his talk, said that as a seminarian, he and several colleagues became interested in the Catholic Charismatic Renewal. He referred briefly to his work in this renewal since that time.

Both guest speakers were instrumental in shedding enlightment on various domains of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal which answered many needs of the local community.

Each meeting at the College Campus Chapel consisted of teachings by Fr. McGrath and Sr. Fran and closed with the celebration of the Eucharist. Paul Chiasson, Ed Creary and Gerry Roy, prayer leaders, alternated as master of ceremonies during the sessions, followed by fellowship and the serving of coffee and doughnuts.

A question and answer session took place Thursday afternoon with about 30 members participating. Teaching and celebration of the Eucharist were held in the evening in the Campus Chapel.

On Friday evening, many more members registered for the weekend teachings, with many coming from such centres as Amherst and Stellarton, N.S.; Saint John, Moncton, Fredericton, Norton, Campbellton and Dalhousie, and even from Toronto.

Beginning at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, a full day of teaching was enjoyed. A noon meal was shared at the House of Prayer and the day was climaxed with a con-celebrated Charismatic Mass at 8:00 p.m. in Sacred Heart Cathedral where about 400 were present.

The con-celebrants were Fathers McGrath, Culligan, Boudreau and Sampson. Fellowship followed at the House of Prayer.

Another teaching was held at the Campus Chapel Sunday beginning at 9:30 a.m. This was followed by a mass and farewells.

Father McGrath and Sr. Fran were invited by Msgr. Edgar Godin, Bishop of Bathurst, to meet him at the bishop's residence where Fr. McGrath taped a message which was enjoyed by all listeners on Bishop's Godin's regular Sunday program on May 8.

Members of the Peace, Joy and Love Prayer Community of Bathurst have expressed appreciation to both Fr. McGrath and Sister Fran for their inspiration and teaching; also to the Care Group who were instrumental in bringing these guests speakers to the city; the steering committee who organized the entire program; members who provided lodgings for out-of-town guests; the Music Ministry who so ably led the groups in joyful song; and all who participated and gave their time in any way to make this event the success it was.

AMONG FINALISTS IN PIANO CLASSES

CUBS PROMOTED TO SCOUT STATUS

On May 8th, three Cubs from the Mount Carmel Cub Pack were accepted into the Mount Carmel Scout Troop in a short, simple, but impressive Going-Up Ceremony.

Michael Babin, Rene Dugas and Randy White said farewell to their 'Akela, Leaders and fellow Cubs after being congratulated for their work and achievements as members of the Pack and were wished much success in the Scout Troup.

Once the farewells were said to the Pack, Akela Roland White led the three up a short flight of stairs where they were welcomed to the waiting Scout Troup by Scout Leader Rod Henry and Assistant Scout Leader Earl Nini. Many parents of both Cubs and Scouts were present at the ceremony.

Gold medalions were also presented to the members of the Mount Carmel Cub Pack in recognition of their winning the Second Annual Bathurst District Cub Hockey Tournament which was held earlier in the year. A special presentation was made to Activity Leader Michel Doucet for his work with the hockey team.

After the ceremony and presentations the Cubs and Scouts were treated to a light snack.

The boys and leaders send a sincere thanks to all those who made the evening the success that it was.

LAMEQUE STUDENT GRADUATES

Two Named To School Board

Two seats on the District No. 4 School Board were filled by Bathurst voters Monday.

Mrs. Joyce Mann received 567 votes to take sub district 1 over Louis Aube (336) and Gerald Levesque (180).

A close 128-124 count in sub district 6 resulted in a victory for Mrs. Claire Hodgins over incumbent Ian Oliver.

Elected by acclamation when nominations closed April 16 were Mrs. Donna Baker in sub district 2, Thomas White in sub district 3, Lawrence Bertin in sub district 4 and Frank Miller in sub district 5.

In Zone A Albert Doucet (916), Adrien Frenette (1,132) and Paul Losier (767) emerged victorious over Jean Gilles Girard (587) and Gaetan Roy (614).

Blanchard Victorious In Caraquet

A closely-fought mayoralty race in the town of Caraquet Monday resulted in the election of incumbent Germain Blanchard as the municipality's chief magistrate for another three-year term.

Mayor Blanchard, with 1,146 votes, narrowly defeated arch rival and former mayor Lorenzo Morais who polled 1,025 votes. Mayor Blanchard had himself lost out to Mr. Morais in the 1974 election, but became mayor in a byelection in 1975 when Mr. Morais resigned his office.

Others elected in Caraquet included, in Ward One, Conrad Dugas (152) and Robert Landry (169); Ward Two, Donat Cormier (359) and Roger Frigault (348); Ward Three, Henri Blanchard (323) and Godfrey Landry (316); and Ward Four, Aurelien Lanteigne (271) and Egide Lanteigne (259).

Defeated candidates were Charles J. Bissonnette (135), Mrs. Patricia Boucher (16), Jeremie Landry (138), Isidore Dugas (285), Aristide Savoie (290), Marcel Albert (314), Lionel Theriault)300), Edmond Hache (220) and Lucien Sonier (229).

Whale Take

Each year, whalers from the Azores harpoon from 100 to 200 whales. That's not much when compared to the more than 32,000 taken by the fleets of Japan and the Soviet Union in 1973 alone.

NEW EDITIONS PRESENTED TO LOCAL SCHOOLS

All secondary schools in Canada are now receiving the latest edition of a unique Canadian reference book as a continuation of the Centennial project launched 10 years ago by Simpson-Sears Limited.

Distribution of the new 967 page Volume IX of the Dictionary of Canadian Biography began in March. This is the fifth volume in a series to be donated by the catalogue and department store firm to Canada's 4500 high schools.

The dictionary is considered one of the most important works of reference ever undertaken in this country. It documents the events, and records the activities of the adventurous, dedicated and often controversial figures in Canadian history, who contributed in one way or another to the shaping of Canada's destiny from the earliest recorded history.

The pages of Volume IX contain the lives of 524 persons, who died between 1861 and 1870 and who are remembered in Canada's history. Included are major treatments of figures such as Bishop John Strachan, who shaped so much of Upper Canada; rebel William Lyon MacKenzie; entrepreneur Sir Samuel Cunard; politician Louis Hippolyte La Fontaine; and writers Francois-Xavier Garneau and Thomas Chandler Haliburton, to mention but a few.

Not neglected are the minor, often unusual characters from our past, such as the Cape Breton Giant, Angus McAskill, who once lifted an anchor weighing 2700 pounds, but slipped and was pinned beneath it. The lives of folk heroes, Laura Ingersoll Secord and Joseph Montferrand are unravelled and the story of how their legends grew is told.

As a reference work, this Volume is incomparable because of the number of significant persons it covers, and the two 19th century volumes now published (Volume X appeared in 1972) provide an important resource for all interested in the history of Canada.

The Dictionary of Canadian Biography is published jointly by the University of Toronto Press and Les Presses de l'Universite Laval in Quebec City. The massive research work and publication were made possible by a bequest of the late James Nicholson of Toronto, with the assistance of grants from the Canadian Centennial Commission and the Canada Council in Ottawa.

Each volume is researched and written by English and French-speaking scholars in their own language, edited by both universities and finally published simultaneously in companion English and French editions by the two university presses. The volumes distributed by Simpsons-Sears are in either English or French depending on the principal language of the school.

A total of 20 volumes will be required to bring the Dictionary of Canadian Biography up to the present period. It is expected to take the next 15 years to complete the series.

Tracadie Mayor To Second Term

Tracadie Mayor Henri Thomas was elected to a second term of office in Monday's municipal elections, defeating his sole opponent, Everard Losier, by 184 votes.

"The people have expressed their feelings and have elected the mayor and councillors they wanted", said Mr. Thomas when results of polling were in.

The successful candidate thanked those who supported him and admitted that although the fight had been a fair one, it had also been hard.

"I don't believe that the citizens wanted to destroy some of the projects we have already begun but that they want to improve the situation", he stated. "I believe the group of people who have been elected will continue to work for the good of the town."

Defeated candidate Losier said he was satisfied with the hard work his supporters had shown. He said the campaign demonstrated to him just how sincere the people who worked for him are, and he expressed his thanks to them. Mr. Losier noted that democracy had come through once again.

Named to serve on the town council were George McLaughlin (657), Gerard LaPlante (628), Camille Ferguson (568), Michel McLaughlin (550), Reginald Basque (548), Andre Morais (513), Elvy Robichaud (513). There will be a recount for the eight seat as Albert Vautour and Victor Lucy both came through with 488 votes.

Population

The world's population is increasing at the rate of 80 million a year—more people than live west of the Mississippi in the United States.

Bathurst Area Men Assuming New Posts

PHIL LEPAGE

Youth, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Pierre Ouellet has announced important changes in his department's amateur sports branch.

Laureat "Ty" Theriault of l'Université de Moncton will head the new services section within the branch, while Jim Morell will be responsible for the planning and programs section.

Jean-Guy Viennedu, originally from Robertville, a Université de Moncton professor, will join Morell in the planning and programs section and Phil Lepage, formerly with the department's regional office in Fredericton, will join the amateur sport branch. R. J. ('Roly') McLenahan is director of the branch.

The appointments are effective immediately and reflect the minister's recently-announced plans to reorganize the department.

Phil Lepage of Bathurst, a graduate of UNB, has been with the department since 1973. Well-known to baseball, hockey and curling fans Lepage was on the team which represented New Brunswick this year at the Canadian Brier Championship. for the last year, he worked closely on the department's coaching and junior olympic programs.

He is married to Susan Kennah. The couple has one child. Mr. Lepage is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lepage, of Bathurst. His father is well-known in the province as president of the N.B. Federation of Labour.

Weekly Prayer Meeting Report

The Charismatic Approach

The Peace, Joy and Love Prayer Community held its weekly meeting at the House of Prayer, 775 College Street Monday evening.

The topic chosen was highlights from the recent charismatic conference which was held over a five-day period from Wednesday evening until Sunday, the main theme being "How God is working in our life and in our community."

The meeting opened with the reciting of the Hail Mary in honor of "Our Blessed Mother" during the month of May which is dedicated to her.

Members of the community formed groups and shared their individual thoughts and experiences regarding the conference.

Four newcomers were made welcome to the community.

The readings were from the Acts of the Apostles and John, Chapter 10.

Mass was celebrated following the meeting by Rev. Gregory Sampson and Rev. Gregory Culligan. Fellowship was enjoyed after the mass.

Bible Reference: Ecclesiasticus 24:3-4. And in the midst of her own people she shall be exaulted, and shall be admired in the holy assembly. And in the multitude of the elect she shall have praise, and among the blessed she shall be blessed.

Summer Job Program Funds 500 Projects

The Department of Manpower and Immigration April 18 outlined operational plans for the Summer Job Corp, a $40 million component of the Student Summer Employment and Activities Program, which will create close to 5,000 jobs or 60,000 weeks of work for young Canadians this summer.

The program, which is part of the federal government's employment strategy for 1977 will fund about 500 projects distributed among the provinces and territories.

Nineteen departments will be active participants in the program although all the jobs created will be outside the Public Service. The departments or agencies will sign contracts with selected qualified project leaders who will become the employers. The projects will be implemented between May 2 and September 2 and are expected to extend over a period of from eight to 14 weeks. Grants to individual projects are not to exceed $50,000.

All positions will be filled by the project leaders through Canada Manpower with the minimum wage in each province.

Most of the 5,000 jobs will be created in areas with the highest rates of unemployment.

The young people will be hired to engage in activities related to the responsibilities and concerns of the federal departments and agencies involved. They will work on projects dealing with energy conservation, prevention of juvenile delinquency, tourism, promoting awareness of environmental problems and the promotion of physical fitness.

Condition Satisfactory

A Haut St. Simon woman is in satisfactory condition in Moncton City Hospital following an attempt to jump from the window of a burning house in Caraquet Saturday night, May 7.

Mrs. Stella Hebert, in her 40s, became trapped in the upstairs portion of the house, and was critically injured when an attempt to jump clear of the building resulted in impalement on a piece of broken glass protruding from a second storey window.

She was rushed to Moncton Hospital immediately following the incident but was removed from the critical list about 24 hours later.

Mrs. Hebert's father-in-law, who had been sleeping on the ground floor level, was awakened by neighbours and escaped uninjured. There was no one else in the house at the time of the blaze.

An RCMP spokesman said the fire had apparently started in the upper portion of the house, but the origin had not been determined.

The dwelling was completely destroyed in the outbreak and little of its contents was saved.

Mrs. A. Roach Dies, Aged 84

The death of Mrs. Derilda Mary Roach, formerly of Bathurst, occurred Apr. 29 at the Port Colborne General Hospital in Port Colborne, Ont. after a short illness. She was 84.

Born at Petit Rocher, she was a daughter of the late John and Sarah Jane (Bebey) Boudreau.

Mrs. Roach made her home in Bathurst, and Port Colborne and had resided in Ontario for the past year. She was a member of St. Jean de Brebeuf Roman Catholic Church.

She was predeceased by her husband, Aurel Roach, in 1965, as well as by two sisters and five brothers.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Pat Doucet (Dell) of Baie Comeau, Que., Mrs. John Bertin (Francetta) of Port Colborne and Mrs. Louis White (Ernestine) of Bathurst, four sons, Arnold of Hautrive, Que., Berley of Petit Rocher, Romeo of Sudbury, Ont. and Raymond, Port Colborne, Ont.

One sister, Mrs. A. DeGrace of Bathurst, 25 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Roach rested at the Armstrong Funeral Home where a Bible vigil service was held Sunday evening.

Rev. Louis Pelletier officiated at the funeral mass held at St. Jean de Brebeuf Church May 2 at 10 a.m.

Burial was in Mount St. Joseph Cemetery.

Present from the local area were Mr. and Mrs. Perley Roach, Petit Rocher; Mrs. Kenneth Smith and Mrs. Louis White, Bathurst.

In lieu of flowers, donations to the Heart Foundation and Cancer Society were accepted by the family.

Ron Wheeler Still Crazy Over Horses

On a recent trip to the United States, Cyrille Hachey and family of Bathurst dropped in on the Ron Wheelers of Aiken, South Carolina.

The travellers found Bathurst onetime city parks and recreation director, his wife Mary and young son Andrew in good health and spirits. They were very hospitable to the Hacheys and asked to be remembered to their many friends in Bathurst, of which they cherish fond memories.

Says Cyrille:

"Ron is still very much of a cowboy. The Wheelers have a wonderful place to live in. It is certainly not a one horse town. All we saw were professional horse trainers and riders. We met quite a few and true to form Ron knows them all."

When the Hacheys were in Aiken, where the horse is king, it was "Triple Crown Time", with competitions among owners and breeders in full swing. They brought back with them a supplement to the Aiken Standard, in which the following article of interest appeared. It was written by Jeane Hall of the newspaper's staff.

The American Quarter Horse, developed in the early days of the American Colonies, was used as a quarter-mile sprinter. That explains its odd name.

In the early days, the race track was merely a cleared strip of land called a "race trail" which extended for 440 yards or a quarter of a mile.

Since the distance was so short, the horses had to be sprinters rather than big horses and were bred to be rather small, standing under 15 hands, and capable of going from a stand-still into top speed almost immediately.

An ideal working horse, with a sureness of foot and sudden bursts of speed that have helped many a cowboy win a cutting contest, the Quarter Horse has established a small footing in Aiken County.

One of those owning Quarter Horses in Aiken County is Ronald R. Wheeler of Aiken, who has four, two of which are cutting horses.

Wheeler said his Quarter Horses are show horses. They participate in shows on the Quarter Horse Circuit throughout the United States.

Wheeler said he has owned Quarter Horses for 16 years. He has stables off of S.C. Highway 215.

Wheeler said he originally had no thought to moving to Aiken with his horses and had no idea Aiken was such a horse center.

"We're pleased with Aiken and hope we can contribute something to it," he said.

The greatest concentration of Quarter Horses, numbering about a million in the United States, is found in Texas, California and Oklahoma. They are spreading though as far east as New York, New Jersey, Florida and Maryland, where some of them are sent to cutting school.

In cutting school, the horses are trained to cut calves from a herd for sale or branding. This skill is also used in arena competitions.

Some Quarter Horses are bred especially for racing the quarter-mile springs that so often end in thrilling neck-and-neck finishes. They also find employment as lead ponies at thoroughbred tracks.

Other Quarter Horses are trained to compete in cutting contests or in American Quarter Horse Association Shows. Performances in roping, reining and cutting events are scored. Most of today's top rodeo performers are Quarter Horses.

Horse Sense

It wasn't until a couple hundred years ago that farmers started using horses as work animals. Prior to that the ox bore the burden, while horses were used to hunt and fight wars.

Villages To Meet In June

The community of Petit Rocher has been named to host the sixth annual general meeting of the Villages of New Brunswick Association June 10.

The executive meeting, scheduled for 6 p.m., will be held at the municipal hall in Petit Rocher, while three simultaneous workshops to deal with resolutions will be conducted, beginning at 7 p.m., in the village recreation centre.

On Saturday, June 11, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., association members at the meeting will take part in a general meeting to discuss varied issues before the provincial organization. A banquet Saturday evening will conclude the two-day session.

Co-ordinating the event are Guy Clavette, Petit Rocher administrator, Atholville Mayor R. Legace, Ste. Anne-de-Madawaska Mayor G. Martin, who heads the resolution committee, and Hampton Mayor A. Hicks, chairman of the nominations committee.

Timekeeper:

Check out these quality features:

LOAD WHEEL-Aluminum bronze alloy "cushions" the load—reducing wear and increasing efficiency.
TOP AND BOTTOM HOOKS—alloy steel, drop forged, hardened and tempered, for longer life and safer use. In the event of extreme overloading, they tend to expand rather than fracture.
SIDE PLATE ASSEMBLY—designed and engineered to maintain precise alignment for smoother operation.
BRAKE ASSEMBLY—Weston Screw-Type (with light lubrication). Extra large diameter friction disc assures long-life and permits heavy use or lowering through long distances without overheating and damaging the brake. Lubrication assures braking effectiveness under adverse weather conditions even if grease or moisture gets on the braking surfaces.
HAND CHAIN ROLLER GUIDES—fitted to assure smooth, efficient action even when the operator is not directly in line with the hand wheel.
GEARING—hardened alloy steel, splined drive shaft design, offers maximum strength and resistance to wear. Accurately machined gears assure smooth operation and longer life.
LOAD CHAIN—hardened and tempered alloy steel offers resilience, safety, and long life combined with reduced weight.

Teacher Workshops Set For Sackville

The annual spring workshops for members of the 18 subject councils of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association are slated for May 12 and 13 in three areas of the province - Sackville, Moncton and Fredericton.

In the planning stages since last September, the numerous workshop sessions are designed to permit a sharing of ideas and to assist teachers in teaching children to better themselves through every discipline.

Eleven councils will meet in both combined and separate sessions on the campus of Mount Allison University in Sackville. They are as follows: Arts Education, Driver Education, Elementary, Guidance, English, Mathematics, Music Education, School library Media, Science, Social Studies and Special Education. The conference theme is "The Emerging Role of Interdisciplinary Education" Dr. Gerard Knieter, chairman of the Department of Music Education, Temple University, Philadelphia, will deliver the keynote address on Thursday, May 12 at 9:45 a.m. Dr. Knieter will also conduct several other sessions during the workshop.

Another workshop highlight is a banquet and roast of A.H. Kingett, executive director of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association, scheduled for Thursday, May 12 at 6 p.m. Mr. Kingett, who has been executive director of the NBTA for 23 years, will be retiring on June 30. The roasters include former students, politicians, teachers and colleagues.

Three councils are meeting in separate sessions in Moncton. Business Education and principals and vice-principals at the Universite de Moncton, and French III at the Howard Johnson Motor Inn.

The other four councils will be meeting in the Fredericton area. The three vocational councils - Industrial Arts, Industrial Vocational and Home Economics - will be meeting in both combined and separate sessions at the Wandlyn Motor Inn and Fredericton High school. The Physical Education Council will be meeting at Mactaquac Park, where outdoor education is the topic.

Of the approximately 5300 teachers who are members of the NBTA, 3,442 belong to one of the subject councils. Preliminary registration indicates that a high percentage of the members will be attending. For those teachers not attending council meetings inservice sessions have been organized at the district and school levels.

Even A Rose Didn't Help

A Gloucester County MLA's efforts to have Health Minister Brenda Robertson approve the opening of a psychiatric wing in Chaleur General Hospital fell upon deaf ears in the Legislature May 5 at the close of the study of the department's budget estimates.

Frank Branch (L-Nepisiguit-Chaleur), who has been carrying on a campaign for the beds to be activated, made a last appeal and capped it with a red rose which a page carried across the floor to the minister "to brighten the rest of your day".

"It will take more than a rose", said Mrs. Robertson, and the committee moved to consider estimates of the agriculture department.

PAUL BERRY

Graduate Plans Banking Career

One of several graduates this year from Mount Allison University was Paul Berry. At convocation Monday he was awarded a bachelor of commerce degree with honors.

Among those attending the ceremonies in Sackville were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Berry and daughter Donna, and his grandmother, Mrs. Beatrice Lavigne, all of Bathurst.

Mr. Berry was this year's winner of the Don Norton Memorial Award, presented annually to the male student at Mt. A. who in his final year makes the greatest contribution to university life.

During his college career, Mr. Berry won the Gold A Award for extra-curricular activities, and the most valuable swimmer award, both for three consecutive years. In his final year he devoted his time and efforts to student government.

Mr. Berry has accepted a position with the Royal Bank of Canada in Sussex, N.B.

Right thinking is a requisite for the art of right living.

Skaters Plan Protest March

In light of the recent decision by the Honourable Jean-Pierre Ouellet, Minister of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources, to terminate the Technical Director Program, the New Brunswick section of the Canadian Figure Skating Association has decided to approach the Minister directly.

During the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Section on May 7, the delegates and section executive, including more than thirty clubs across the province, felt that this could be best accomplished by formal and overt action. This will take the form of a march from the Lady Beaverbrook Rink to the Centennial Building on Thursday, May 12, 1977.

The protesters, representing some 6500 registered New Brunswick figure skaters, will congregate at the Lady Beaverbrook Rink at 1:00 p.m. and will proceed to the Centennial Building via University Avenue and King Street. A delegation from within the group hopes to obtain an audience with Premier Hatfield, Minister Ouellet and Deputy Minister Martin.

It is the consensus of the group that only through full time professional leadership by qualified personnel can sport programs develop to the extent that figure skating has over the past three years through their Technical Director.

NBAHA Elects Directors; Increases Number Of Zones

The New Brunswick Amateur Hockey Association, in accordance with the provincial hockey study report, increased their number of zones from four to eight at its annual meeting in Saint John last Saturday.

The eight zones with directors are: Fllmmerswille-Woodstock Bruce Smith, Saint John Gerry Griffin, Moncton Bob Bailliffeur, Fredericton Don Hallett, Newcastle - Chatham George Lloyd, Bathurst Dracadie-Caraquet Jim MacLaggan, Edmundston (director to be announced).

Claude MacKinnon of Saint John was returned as president with the vice-president to be appointed by the eight regional directors.

Bob MacPherson of Moncton was returned as head of the Minor Hockey Council and Pierre Turmel of Fredericton will remain as commissioner.

The new constitution of the Minor Hockey Council and the New Brunswick Hockey Officials Association was approved by the NBAHA.

A new fee structure for officials was approved.

Rates for Intermediate "A" and Junior "A" regular season games will be $60 for a three-man team and $75 for playoffs. Inter-zone officials will receive $100.

The fee for Junior "B" will be $50 and Junior "C" $50 with $15 per hour for minor hockey.

A motion by Howie Trainor, representing Moncton Hawks, to have a residence rule adopted was defeated. Trainor's motion called for players to be bonified residents of the province by January 10 of the current season to be eligible to play. Players who played last year would be exempt.

More than 40 attended Saturday's meeting and Fredericton has been named as site of next year's annual meeting of the association.

NB Track And Field Association Names Coaches

The New Brunswick Track and Field Association is pleased to announce that the following candidates have been chosen to coach the Track and Field team that will represent the Province of New Brunswick at the 1977 Canada Summer Games in St. John's Newfoundland.

Mr. Gould is a Physical Education teacher at Moncton High School. He coaches cross-country, men's and women's varsity basketball, as well as Track and Field at Moncton High, along with his teaching assignments. He is also head coach of the Moncton Kinsmen Kavaliers Track and Field Club during the Summer months. Mr. Gould participated in the First Canada Summer Games in Dartmouth, 1969.

Ms. Morell has only been in New Brunswick for a short time, but she has already made her presence felt as an assistant coach with the Oromocto Legion Track and Field Club. She has an extensive background teaching and coaching in the Ontario School System, particularly the throwing events.

Mr. Steeves has been competing in Track and Field over 12 years, and has been involved with the New Brunswick Track and Field Association in an administrative capacity in the past. He is currently enjoying his best year as an athlete. His administrative skills will greatly benefit the New Brunswick team.

Mr. Pelletier is head coach of the St. Francois Track and Field Club. In the past few years, he has maintained an interest in track and field, amongst the youth of Northwestern New Brunswick. He is knowledgeable in the jumping events, particularly the long and triple jump.

Mrs. F. Molnar Dies In Ontario

The death of Mrs. Frank Molnar, the former Patricia Bertin, occurred April 30 at the Port Colborne General Hospital in Port Colborne, Ont. after a long illness. She was 25.

Born in Port Colborne, she was a daughter of John Isidore Bertin, a native of Belledune, and Francetta (Roach) Bertin of Bathurst.

Mrs. Molnar, familiarly known as "Tish", frequently visited relatives and friends in Bathurst and the surrounding area. She will be greatly missed by her friends in sports circles as she was especially interested in all sports and had numerous trophies and ribbons indicating her ability.

Surviving besides her parents of Port Colborne, are three sisters, Susan, Jackie and Nancy and two brothers, Mike and Ricky, all of the Port Colborne area; two nieces and four nephews.

Mrs. Molnar rested at the Armstrong Funeral Home, Port Colborne, where a Bible vigil service was held Sunday evening.

Rev. Louis Pelletier officiated at the funeral mass held at St. Jean de Brefeuf Roman Catholic Church Monday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Molnar was the granddaughter of Mrs. Derilda Roach of Bathurst, and more recently of Port Colborne, whose funeral was held earlier the same day.

Attending the funeral from the Bathurst area were Mr. and Mrs. Perley Roach, Petit Rocher, Mrs. Ken Smith and Mrs. Louis White, Bathurst.

RAY CHAMBERLAIN

Death Occurs In 67th Year

The death of Ray Chamberlain, 236 York Street, occurred May 8 at Chaleur General Hospital after a period of failing health. He was 66.

Born in Dunlop, he was a son of the late Frederick and Elizabeth Moody Chamberlain. He moved to Bathurst as a young boy with his family and continued to reside in the city.

Mr. Chamberlain was an employee of the former Northern Machine Works Ltd. for over 30 years and was foreman of the plate shop. He retired six years ago.

A member of Lodge St. John No. 27 F. and A.M., Mr. Chamberlain also belonged to First United Church and was active in the Men's Club at the church, among other activities.

Surviving are his wife the former Lillian Brown, four brothers, Harold of Stellarton, N.S., Douglas of Ottawa, Guy of Bathurst and Percy Windermere, Ont., two sisters, Mrs. Murray Bunker, Lena of Fredericton and Mrs. Borden DeLong (Marjorie), of Campbellton, and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Chamberlain rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home, where Masonic services were held Monday at 7:30 p.m. with M. Roy Day officiating, assisted by Rt. W. Bro. E. T. Crowther.

Rev. R. A. Francis officiated at the funeral held at the funeral home Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

The hymn, How Great Thou Art, was sung by the First United Church choir. Mrs. E. R. Shirley was organist.

The honorary pallbearers were F. G. Comeau, Elmer Robinson, George Hudson, Gordon Moody, Newton Smith and Willard Lindsay.

Active pallbearers were six nephews, Donald Brown, Joe Hodgins Jr., Edgar Brown, Merle Hodgins, Robert Brown and Harry Williamson.

Burial was in the First United Church Cemetery, St. Anne Street.

Those attending from out of town included Douglas Chamberlain, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chamberlain, Stellarton, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. Murray Bunker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Comuzzi and family, Fredericton; Mrs. Borden DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. Al Anslow, Campbellton; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bunker and family, Moncton.

Newfoundland Joins

Newfoundland, joining with mainland Labrador, became Canada's youngest province in 1949. Until then she was a separate dominion and issued her own stamps commemorating her history, resources and rulers.

Yearly Report Outlines CRIC Accomplishments

DONALD FOURNIER

Delegates to the third annual meeting of the Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission in Jacquet River April 27 learned of the progress of a three-year promotion and advertising program in the order of $15,000 annually to be undertaken in close cooperation with the Department of Commerce and Development

The object of the program, as explained by Industrial Commissioner Victor Raiche in his annual report to the meeting, is to draw the attention of potential investors to the development opportunities offered by the Chaleur region and to provide factual, up-to-date and suitable packaged information

Reporting on the budget for the 1977-78 year, Mr. Raiche said an estimate of $86,600 had been submitted for approval to participating municipalities for 1977-78, and subsequently approved by the department. Contributions from the different municipalities for 1977-78, which will provide for a part of the operating funds, are as follows

Bathurst, $5,196; Beresford, $1,212; Nigadoo, $279; Petit Rocher, $688, Belledune, $1,011 and Jacquet River, $274. The increase in operating expenditures for 1977-78 over the previous year is about 13.9 per cent

During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1977, Mr. Raiche stated, requests for financial assistance were received from 27 prospective entrepreneurs. Of these, eleven were not eligible under existing programs and were referred to the Federal Business Development Bank. The remaining 16 projects, if implemented, would involve capital investments in excess of $1.5 million and create some 250 jobs. To date, however, only four of the proposed ventures are operational or expected to be in the near future

Indirect assistance was also provided by the commission in the way of information and or contacts with government departments or private agencies on behalf of local entrepreneurs

Other services provided during the year, the report stated, included the administration of the Bathurst and Petit Rocher Industrial Parks, a total of 65 acres of land

Elected president of the commission to replace Aubin Doucet of Beresford was Donald Fournier of Petit Rocher Other executive members are Terry Lenihan, Bathurst vice president Robert Gaudet, Petit Rocher, secretary, and R. A Winton, Jacquet River, treasurer.

Directors are Maurice LeBlanc, Beresford, Richard Curry, Belledune, Joe MacNeil Bathurst Donald Arseneau Beresford Roger Boudreau Petit Rocher Emery Comeau, Nigadoo George Luce, Belledune, Pierre Marquis, Bathurst

Royal Inquiry Is Called For

What has been described as a "stinking" situation in the provincial fisheries department has prompted former MLA Lorenzo Morais to call for a "royal inquiry" into the department's activities.

Mr. Morais said he would gladly testify at such an inquiry, which he termed necessary "to get the opportunists off the backs of the fishermen".

He was commenting on an allegation contained in a document tabled in the Legislature May 5 that Morais had twice expressed a wish to destroy Caraquet Marine Industries.

The statement, signed by Harry Frye, said Premier Richard Hatfield had ordered the transfer to a Nova Scotia shipyard of three boat-building contracts at Caraquet during the 1974 election.

Nurses Deeply Concerned Re Further Staff Cutbacks

In view of government's further planned cutting down of nursing staff in hospitals across the nation, the nursing personnel are becoming more and more concerned about the services they can give to patients in regards to their well-being and safety, even.

The nurses and staff of Chaleur General Hospital are every bit as concerned about the patients under their care. They feel a further cutback on staff will be detrimental to the patient as well as to their own ability to cope under circumstances which will definitely become more intolerable, and that the general public should be made aware.

The following article, by Thelma Elizabeth Miller, R.N. Surrey, B.C., copied from the April issue of "The Canadian Nurse" in a regular column entitled "Input" in which members express their views, also expresses the views of the responsible nursing staff serving in Canada's hospitals:

During the past year, nursing staff in this province (British Columbia) as indeed, in most other provinces, has been greatly reduced.

This situation has caused much concern as on several occasions it has literally forced us to run – not for the sake of fire or hemorrhage – but in order to keep up with workload.

HAZARDOUS

I could give many examples of situations which were potentially hazardous although, so far, not fatal. However, the last straw, a comparatively trivial incident, came when a patient complained that although told to drink, he had not been supplied with any fresh water for 16 hours!

The fact that I had been busy giving an hourly heparin I.V. and concentrated care of two of my six patients (on one occasion I had had ten patients) pushing one patient to emergency etc. did not impress him.

As a urological patient, he felt, and indeed I agreed with him, that service should have been better. Also, since he was the fittest of my patients it was after my tour of duty ended that I was able to make his bed.

Arriving home that evening, I was exhausted, frustrated and angry.

Although I had worked hard and finally got everything done, the reason I hadn't done my nursing duties at the right time was because I was portering patients and running to the diet kitchen for their lunch, etc. This made me decide to write to my member of parliament in an effort to improve the situation.

I enclose a copy of the letter addressed to Hon. R. H. McCelland (B.C. Minister of Health) for your perusal:

Dear Sir:

Recently a patient under my care complained that never in his life had he received such poor service!

COMPLAINTS JUSTIFIED

Unfortunately, his complaint was justified!

NOT because the Nurse was neglecting her duties.

NOT because the Nurse was at coffee break, but simply

BECAUSE the Nurse (as indeed the rest of the staff) had too heavy a workload and too few hands.

A Registered Nurse with many years of experience in all areas of nursing, I am used to pressure and accustomed to hard work.

Nevertheless, I am tired that in order to maintain high standards of care, I must give up my coffee breaks and go off duty 30 to 45 minutes late on an almost regular basis.

The sad part is that a high percentage of a nurse's time is spent in non-nursing duties! A mechanic does not change tires; a chef does not wash pots.

WHY should a Nurse spend her time running messages and specimens to the lab, or portering patients to other departments?

If, sir, the government is determined to run a hospital on a strict budget with a skeleton staff, then, sir, the public is entitled to be made fully aware of the reasons for this intolerable situation which does indeed sometimes cause poor service.

Pamphlets should be published and placed in each patient's drawer (if not pamphlets, at least display large notices) advising them and their relatives of the fact that there has been a great reduction in staff numbers resulting in extra nursing and non-nursing duties, which makes it almost impossible to give care to every patient at the RIGHT time. Naturally, it is the patient who is the least ill who receives LESS attention. Though sometime their psychological needs are GREATER!

HUMAN ELEMENT

Perhaps, instead of determining size of staff by statistics and work effenciency experts, the government should employ a Registered Nurse Consultant who actually spends three to six months at a time in busy areas not discussing, not looking, not evaluating or supervising (for as Sir Winston Churchill once said anyone can criticize, not everyone can do!) but actually working all three shifts on a full-time basis. And who knows, when one of the efficiency experts experiences the frustration, exhaustion and heartache associated with modern-day nursing, maybe the human element might once again become the greatest part of nursing.

If all the hours of unpaid overtime each nurse had done within the past year were added together, we must have saved the government thousands of dollars.

I beg of you to take some constructive measures to aid your fellow man, for who knows perhaps you or your loved ones might find yourselves without help because one nurse is too busy answering the telephone which sometimes rings incessantly, or answering half a dozen calls which somehow all go on at once. . .

YOUR BUSINESS

The public Debt: A Perpetual Loan

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

John Mynard Keynes died 31 years ago - wishing, with almost his last breath, that he had drunk more champagne - but his influence lives on.

The trail-blazing English economist gave his name to a type of public financial policy that most of the industrialized nations have adopted - up to a point.

A simplified description of Keynesian economics is that governments should go into debt and spend beyond their means during recessions. When times are prosperous, on the other hand, they should spend less than they take in, and use the surplus to pay off the debt.

To politicians, the first part of that theory is as attractive as the sparkle of champagne. As for the other part about spending and saving more when times are good – that may be very well in theory, but surely in the real world you don't expect etc. etc.

The result of this dedication to one half of Lord Keynes' advice coupled with rejection of the other half is the staggering increase in public debt, and in the cost of paying interest on it each year.

DEBT DOUBLED

As Canadians, each of us bears a burden of $822.92 of direct government debt. As recently as the 1971-72 fiscal year, our per-capita public debt was $444.44.

In the same period, the cost of servicing that debt - that is, the interest required each year - has risen 120 per cent)135 per cent on the federal debt, 100 per cent at the other two levels of government).

What is equally significant is that hardly anybody cares. Make a fuss about it and some cynical professor of economics will put you down as a primitive.

Within the space of a single generation, there has been a revolution in public attitudes toward debt. A couple of decades ago, borrowing was becoming acceptable in special circumstances, but the general intention was that the debt would be repaid in due course.

That's all changed today, and debt has come to be considered a natural - even desirable - component of capital structure, as unlikely to be paid off as common stock is to be redeemed.

When a government bond issue matures, governments "roll it over" - that is, borrow enough money to repay it and maybe a little extra, probably at higher interest than before.

NO CEILING

"There are no absolute criteria that can be applied, and thus it's impossible to forecast how much debt is too much", says economist G. Leigh Skene of Burns Fry Ltd., investment dealers.

"We can only say that a larger proportion of debt decreases the credit rating".

(The lower the credit rating, the higher the interest that a borrower must pay.)

Mr. Skene believes that the recent years' explosion of debt is symptomatic of all inflationary periods.

The inflation of the 1970s is different, however, in that it is accompanied by high unemployment. Normally, governments would be following Keynes' advice to borrow more now in order to spend and relieve unemployment.

That's out of the question today, because of the size of our public debt is already straining its limits, and private industry is hard-pressed to find the loan capital it ought to have to expand and create new jobs.

The worst could be yet to come, however.

If an all-out depression should arrive within the next few years-as is predicted by some economists, especially those who believe in economic cycles - then the burden of our huge, high-interest debt could become intolerable in a deflationary period.

Moncton Glass Firm Expands

Chances are that if you buy a new glass coffee table, a full-length wardrobe mirror, or a glass shower door you will be buying a product from the Moncton firm of Lamilite Limited.

The company is presently expanding warehouse space and buying new equipment so that it can exploit new product lines immediately.

It is doing so with the help of an incentive offer of $73,132 made by the federal Dept. of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE), the Honourable Romeo LeBlanc announced this week on behalf of Minister Marcel Lessard. The company has bought an existing warehouse and will add another 11,500 square feet to its present building. It already has a rail spur.

The $73,132 is 20 per cent of the authorized capital costs of $365,658. The company presently employs 27.

Company spokesman James F. Sartain said the federal government aid allows Lamilite to increase production immediately.

The company manufactures laminated glass and laminated glass products.

It produces safety glass for railway cars, industrial equipment and heavy trucks in addition to its line of furniture and other household articles.

Lamilite's glass, in addition to being used for safety, is used also for sound, heat and glare control.

Canada Pension Plan, Retirement Attitudes Are Targets Of Book

By MICHAEL WALKER

In days when each newspaper headline is more sensational than the next, when fictional creations of disaster fill our newsstands and movie theatres, it is hard to create much interest in a disaster that will befall Canada in 50 years.

Such, however, is the intention of Geoffrey N. Calvert, actuary, statistician and futurist, in an important new book about government policy, pensions, populations and economic growth and the implications of their interactions during the course of the next half-century.

One of the most devastating critiques of long-range government policy that has surfaced in recent times, Pensions and Survival - The Coming Crises of Money and Retirement (Financial Post Books; 167 pages; $10.95), provides the reader with a veritable banquet of insights and information about the future of pensions in Canada.

It documents, in an authoritative yet eminently readable fashion, that Canada's "social security" system is neither very social nor very secure.

The targets of the book are the government-sponsored Canada Pension Plan and the evolving social attitudes toward retirement. The treatment of these two subjects - the former largely a technical matter and the latter a very human, almost philosophical one - is interwoven in a surprisingly easy and attractive style.

A TIDAL WAVE

The thrust of the book is that there is a human tidal wave in our midst that we are, by and large, unaware of, but which will, if we and our government are not careful, engulf us with the most worrisome consequences.

The tidal wave is the "baby boom" - a surge in the birth rate that occurred in the years immediately following World War II. This surge in the birth rate, combined with a decline in the birth rate ever since, means that "boom" babees are more numerous than babies born either before or since.

This seemingly whimsical observation turns to a spine-chilling shocker when Calvert calculates the population implications 50 years hence. One of those implications is that, at current retirement age of 65, by the year 2031 there will be one person on pension for every three of working age. If the standard retirement age is dropped to 55, there will be two pensioners for every three people of working age.

Will the work force be willing and-or able to support such an "overhang" of pensioners?

Their ability to do so will largely be determined by the extent to which sufficient capital in the form of plant, machinery and equipment is provided.

Their willingness will be determined by the extent to which they will be required to pay directly for the pensions in the form of higher taxation.

PYRAMID PLAN

In Calvert's opinion the way in which the Canada Pension Plan has been set up will, in the future, undermine both the willingness and ability of the working age population to support pensioners.

The crucial flaw in the government pension plan is the fact that it is not "funded". It is essentially a "pyramid" type of plan that depends on the contributions of those still working to support those who are on pension.

The fact that the plan is not funded means that it does not generate a source of investment funds to help provide the capital that workers will need. The fund of resources that is being accumulated now is being spent by the provinces on current consumption or "non-productive" capital.

But more than that, the existence of the government plan means that people will contribute less to private plans which we depend on for 70 to 80 per cent of our investment capital.

The fact that the plan is of the pyramid variety, in combination with the overhand of baby boom pensioners, means that contributions to the plan by workers in the future will have to rise. The exact extent is unknown since the birth rate may yet fall further, and growing resistance to in-migration may produce an even higher ratio of pensioners to working-age people.

The prospect of this already forbidding future is made even less attractive once inflation and indexing are added to the picture.

A REFORM PLAN

Almost as an aside, the author guides us through the swampy ground of the provincial government pension plans which are, if anything, in worse actuarial shape than the federal plans.

Those who observe with smug detachment the fiscal nightmares of New York City will find the tour of the provinces a jarring afront to their complacency. In fact, according to Calvert, Canada is in worse shape than New York City.

Fortunately, Calvert does not leave the reader to deal single-handedly with this vision of gloom. Almost unique among the doomsayers, he also tells us all what must be done if the retirement years of the baby-boom babies are to be happy and secure.

Tele-Publik To Be Looked Into

The suspension of eight employees of Tele-Public, a French-language television production unit operating in the Bathurst area, will be looked into by a citizens' committee.

The employees were suspended May 3 by the Northern Development Corp., an industrial promotion agency that provides funds for the productions aired on a Quebec station beamed to Northern New Brunswick.

The suspensions followed placement of an advertisement in l'Evangile of Moncton seeking a manager for Tele-Public. The corporation said it did not authorize the ad, and television operations would be suspended for ten days while an investigation was conducted.

The unit has been without a manager for some time and employees told a news conference in the city May 4 the lack of a manager has caused problems.

Michele Paulin told the meeting the corporation has told employees a new manager will not be hired until a new federal-provincial cost-sharing agreement is signed later this year.

She said the delay in hiring a manager would also mean a delay in getting new equipment.

It was impossible to continue production with existing equipment, Miss Paulin said, and the staff was exhausted from working twelve hours a day. It was also impossible to negotiate with the corporation "because they tell us we don't have a manager.

POLITICAL SCENE

How Should Canada React?

By STEWARD MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

It's bad enough trying to keep abreast of all those fast-moving events in Quebec without having this incredible confusion over how we are supposed to react to them.

The prime minister tells us that if we over-react we are playing into the hands of separatists. Then he turns around and tries to kick the stuffings out of Rene Levesque's Parti Quebecois. Trade Minister Jean Chretien tells us that when corporate head offices move out of Montreal they are playing into the hands of separatists. The Regional Expansion Minister Marcel Lessard releases the names of 91 firms which have done just that.

It turns out that many of the firms don't even have telephones. And this provided Levesque with some real, live ammunition for his repeated charges about federal propaganda.

Talk about playing into the hands of separatists.

If the federal cabinet can't even get together on how it is supposed to react to events in Quebec, I don't see how I can expect to acquire answers.

It was the same thing with the financial statements on confederation.

In the beginning, all political leaders, including Trudeau, Levesque and Ontario Premier William Davis, agreed that dollars and cents shouldn't enter the argument, since the issue was much more meaningful than mere money. Yet, within weeks they all had us knee-deep in confusing and contradictory balance sheets concerning the advantages or disadvantages of confederation to particular provinces.

Now, few people believe any of the statistics.

But the most confusing issue of all involves the Quebec language bill, which would make French the overwhelming commercial language of the province. At this stage, I haven't the faintest idea how we are supposed to react.

SHOULDN'T OVER-REACT

Again, in the beginning, we were warned against over-reacting, and when the legislation was introduced Trudeau set an example by being very cool and low-key. He didn't offer any critical comments, suggesting it should be studied in detail and examined by committees. Over-reaction would be playing into the hands of separatists.

And the prime minister was heartily supported by John Ciaccia, an English-speaking Liberal member of the Quebec National Assembly, who said there should be a muted reaction among the non-French.

"We know that French-Canadians have suffered from a certain inferiority complex and a certain hostility to the English", he told an Ottawa audience. "The PQ strategy for separation is magnify and inflame these historical traits of the Quebec people which only serve to perpetuate any complexes that existed....

"If English-Quebecers rise against this bill, as they did with Bill 22, then they will fall right into the PQ's strategy."

LEVESQUE HUMILIATED

Normally, I would be happy to accept that version. But here we have Levesque himself talking about how humiliating it was to introduce the legislation.

"I am worried", he said. "I haven't been hiding it over the last few weeks. I've said I am of many minds on a question like that...I find it kind of humiliating."

A man who talks about being humiliated doesn't strike me as someone trying to stir up anger and resentment. But perhaps I am missing something.

Anyway, it turns out that while English-speaking Canadians were listening to this varied advice about keeping our powder dry, Claude Ryan, the influential editor of Le Devoir, was examining the language bill and he offered the view that it was rigid, dogmatic, jealous and authoritarian and it was prompted by narrow, chauvinistic nationalism.

Ryan was obviously not impressed with Levesque's humiliation.

Then Trudeau, who now had

Please God I'm Only 17, Give Me One More Chance

Editor's Note: This article was originally printed in a High School newspaper, then in 1971 the Toronto Star reprinted it. I think it is worthy of our notice since we are at present concerned with Education and one field of Preventative Medicine is the prevention of accidents.

The above "editor's note" with the following item is taken from the April edition of the official publication of the Canadian Association of Hospital Auxiliaries. The Northern Light also feels it is worthy of reprinting. Who knows? It may help save a life.)

The day I died was an ordinary school day. How I wish I had taken the bus. But I was too 'cool' for the bus. I remember how I wheedled the car out of Mom. "Special favor," I pleaded. "All the kids drive." When the 2:50 bell rang, I threw all my books in the locker. I was free until 8:40 tomorrow morning.

I ran to the parking lot, excited at the thought of driving a car and being my own boss. Free! It doesn't matter how the accident happened. I was goofing off - going too fast. Taking chances. But I was enjoying my freedom and having fun.

The last thing I remember was passing an old lady who seemed to be going awfully slow. I heard the deafening crash and felt a terrific jolt. Glass and steel flew everywhere. My whole body seemed to be turning inside out. I heard myself scream.

Suddenly I awakened, it was very quiet. A police officer was standing over me. Then I saw a doctor. My body was mangled. I was saturated with blood. Pieces of jagged glass were sticking out all over. Strange that I couldn't feel anything.

Hey, don't pull that sheet over my head. I can't be dead. I'm only 17. I've got a date tonight. I am supposed to grow up and have a wonderful life. I haven't lived yet. I can't be dead.

Later I was placed in a drawer. My folks had to identify me. Why did they have to see me like this? Why did I have to look at Mom's eyes when she faced the most terrible ordeal of her life? Dad suddenly looked like an old man. He told the man in charge, "Yes, he is my son."

The funeral was a weird experience. I saw all my relatives and friends walk toward the casket. They passed me one by one, and looked at me with the saddest eyes I've ever seen. Some of my buddies were crying. A few of the girls touched my hand and sobbed as they walked away.

Please... sombody ... wake me up. Get me out of here. I can't bear to see my Mom and Dad so broken up. My Grandparents are so racked with grief they can barely walk. My brothers and sisters are like zombies. They move like robots. In a daze, everybody. No one can believe this. And, I can't believe it either.

Please don't bury me. I'm not dead. I have a lot of living to do. I want to sing and dance. I want to laugh and run again. Please don't put me in the ground. I promise if you give me one more chance, God, I'll be the most careful driver in the whole world. All I want is one more chance. Please God, I'm only 17.

Rehabilitation To Be Discussed

A special monthly meeting of the Nepisiguit Salmon Association to discuss the rehabilitation of the Nepisiguit River and the fishway at Grand Falls will be held on May 11 beginning at 7 p.m. in the Bathurst High School amphitheatre.

Special guests will include Dr. Wilfred M. Carter, executive director of the International Atlantic Salmon Foundation, St. Andrews; E.W. Burridge, Ottawa, director of enhancement and restoration, Dept. of Environment and Fisheries; Gerry Turner, Halifax, senior biologist with the Dept. of Environment and Fisheries; and William C. Hooper, Fredericton, senior biologist, Dept. of Natural Resources.

Provincial Hospitals Described As Outdated

An appeal for new institutions for treating the mentally ill in New Brunswick was issued in the Legislature May 3 by Frank Branch, Liberal member for Nepisiguit-Chaleur.

Terming the existing facilities in Saint John and Campbellton "grossly outdated", Mr. Branch said the mentally ill are also "cared for by a staff of underpaid and overworked personnel."

The Saint John institution is the oldest in Canada, having been built in 1848, he said. The Campbellton hospital, "which is unquestionably superior to the building in Saint John", didn't meet the minimum standards of the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation, he added.

Aside from the inadequate facilities, there are other "unacceptable" problems at Campbellton. He referred to problems created because some of the doctors there cannot speak French, closing communication between themselves and French-speaking patients.

Mr. Branch also outlined other areas of health care he feels need correcting. He was speaking during debate on the health department's spending estimates.

Ambulance service remains "inadequate and unreliable" in many areas and "although the department has made efforts in establishing standards and coordinating these services along with their financing, much remains to be done", the member said.

Upgrading vehicles and equipment, personnel training and efficient communications systems "must continue to be a priority."

Mr. Branch said one of every 20 New Brunswickers who drinks liquor is an alcoholic and many more are problem drinkers. Because New Brunswick collected more than $33 million in profits from liquor sales during 1975-76, the government has done more to encourage alcoholism "than Al Capone did in Chicago."

Mr. Branch urged the government to implement programs to alleviate alcoholism and to proclaim the Treatment of Intoxicated Persons Act.

He also criticized the ratio of doctors and dentists in the province. The latest figures show there is one doctor for every 923 New Brunswickers, compared to a national average of one for every 608 people.

Figures for dentists show one for every 4,408 people here, compared to one for every 2,611 nationally.

As well, the government launches itself on a program of new hospital construction while closing smaller and often more efficient community hospitals while clamping a cutback on beds and staff in these newer institutions", Mr. Branch said.

Mr. Brogan said birth certificates now can't be issued in the language of one's choice.

Mrs. Robertson said she will be introducing a new Vital Statistics Act this session and the situation will be rectified.

Red Cross Seeks More Volunteers

The Friendly Visiting Committee of the Bathurst Red Cross held a meeting chaired by Rev. E.R. Woodside on April 21st.

Rev. Woodside informed the group that Jean Brown had resigned as secretary and a replacement would be needed. Mrs. Mildred Hatheway offered her services for the time being.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. Jocelyne Lajoie, supervisor of the program, gave her report on the workshop for volunteers. The second part of the workshop will he held on May 18th in the evening. Mrs. Lajoie also reported that 127 senior citizens were being serviced by volunteers or office staff. There are 41 active volunteers, and three volunteers have left the program.

Mrs. Lajoie strongly stressed that one of the main problems encountered by many of Bathurst's senior citizens is transportation. The senior citizens living at Villa Chaleur, Foyer Denis Fournier and the Foyer Vallee Lourdes find it very difficult to go out too often as they have to do most of their travelling by taxi. Mrs. Lajoie felt that something had to be done in this regard to keep this segment of the population in a healthy state of mind and to have them participate in the community.

For the present senior citizens could benefit if there were more volunteers were more volunteers who a while or take a senior citizen along when he or she is doing their own errands.

Anyone interested or concerned with this part of the program and willing to participate is asked to call the local Red Cross Branch at 548-2824.

Social Worker hear plans for new centre

Guest speaker at the regular April meeting of Chapter V (Northumberland and Gloucester) of the N.B. Association of Social Workers held recently in Chatham was Paul Symour, Chatham was Paul Seymour, administrator of the Miramichi Rehabilitation Centre for the Mentally Retarded.

Mr. Seymour told the gathering that the staff at the Centre was gearing up for the new Rehab. Centre which is to be built in the very near future. The announcement of such a project was made recently by the Department of Social Services, under which the Rehab. Centre operates.

It was stated by Mr. Seymour that the new project is to be different from the present one which has been in operation in the old St. Thomas University buildings for the past 6 or 7 years. It is intended that group homes will be erected or established in various areas of the community with an administration and workshop core. Six to eight adults would be residing in each home. Mr. Seymour and the staff at the Centre are looking forward with enthusiasm at the new project.

The administrator for the Centre also explained the operational concept of the Miramichi Rehabilitation Centre, which will remain basically the same once the new Centre is in operation. This concept is one of instilling good personal habits and vocational training.

During the business part of the agenda, plans for the coming annual meeting of the provincial Association of Social Workers were discussed. This annual meeting is to be hosted by Chapter V, and is to be held in Bathurst on June 9, 10 and 11. Two major topics will be discussed: manpower utilisation in social agencies and the value of the proposed decentralized Bachelor of Social Work programs at Moncton and at Halifax.

The next Chapter meeting is scheduled for Monday, May 16 at Caraquet.

Canada

His plan for reform, in addition to requiring an overhaul of the Canada Pension Plan, looks to revisions in private pensions and changes in government regulations and tax policy. Perhaps reflecting his own preference for an active retirement, Calvert also calls for revised attitudes toward retirement and toward mandatory elimination from the work force of vital, productive members of society.

an opportunity to reflect on the legislation, mentioned that it might interfere with his government's plan to decentralize "hundreds of thousands" of public service jobs, many of them to Quebec. There were immediate visions of a wrecked Quebec economy.

But, as it turns out, the federal government is planning to decentralize only 4,400 jobs in the entire country. Again, the people of Quebec must be impressed with federal statistics.

I could accuse Trudeau of over-reacting, but that would make me guilty of over-reacting to over-reaction. And I am sure there is someone out there who says this would be playing right into the hands of separatists.

Social and Personal

Congratulations are being extended on the arrival of Stacy Watson, infant daughter of Howard and Anita (Christie) Watson, formerly of Bathurst, born April 4 at St. John's Hospital, Oxnard, Calif., weighing 6 lbs., 11 oz.; a sister for Loresa and Nadine. The baby is also another grandchild for Mr. William Christie of South Bathurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKinnon and little daughter Mitzie, New Richmond, Que., were weekend guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Lorne McKinnon, and visited other relatives in the city.

Ladies from the Downshore area who attended the annual Miramichi Presbyterial of the United Church Women held at Tide Head April 30 included Mrs. Hugh Jagoe, Mrs. Ellsworth Chapman, Mrs. Ivan Jagoe, Mrs. Harold Jennings, Mrs. R. G. MacKenzie and Mrs. Douglas Daley.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pitre and their four sons have taken up residence at 483 Archibald St., having moved from 630 University Drive. Mr. Pitre is caretaker at Holy Family School.

Mrs. David Paul recently arrived from Ottawa to spend some time with members of the MacKay family and to visit with her sister, Mrs. Fred MacKay Sr., a patient in Chaleur General Hospital.

The family and friends of Mrs. Michel Landry, 1117 Model Ave., are pleased to learn she returned home Saturday after undergoing gall bladder surgery in hospital in Moncton where she was a patient for nearly two weeks. All wish her a hasty recovery.

Correction: Mr. and Mrs. David Ferguson were in Chatham recently to attend the funeral of the latter's grandmother, Mrs. John Morton Sr. and not as stated in a recent issue of this newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean and family have moved from 980 Meadow Ave. to their new home at 1030 Winton Avenue. Mr. McLean is a broadcaster for the local radio station.

Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Beurkskon and family of four from Rhodesia now are residing at 385 Hennessy Street. Mr. Beurksken is a mining engineer.

Mrs. Edgar Thibodeau returned home the end of april from a month-long vacation. She spent nearly three weeks in Montreal visiting her daughters, Ann and Bill Welburn and children Andrea and Brandon, and Thelma and children Louise and Michel. Mrs. Thibodeau also accompanied her daughter Thelma on a ten-day trip through the New England States and south to Virginia Beach and through to Washington, D.C. and on to New York where they spent several days.

The relatives and many friends of Mr. Leo F. Cormier are pleased to learn he is convalescing at his King Avenue residence after undergoing a series of tests in hospital in Saint John.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hosking, Montreal, were among the many who attended class reunions at Mount Allison University, Montreal. Mr. Hosking, class of '66 and his wife, the former Kathy Richardson, a 1967 Mount A graduate, visited in Bathurst with his mother, Mrs. W. S. Hosking, en route to their home in Montreal.

Mrs. Raymond Comeau has returned to Toronto after spending three weeks here at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Medley MacKay and family, and visiting her mother, Mrs. Fred MacKay Sr. who is progressing favorably in Chaleur General Hospital where she has been a patient for several weeks.

Mrs. Louis White and daughter Mrs. Ken Smith have returned from Port Colborne, Ont., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Derilda Roach on May 2, and of Mrs. White's niece, Mrs. Patricia Molnar, earlier the same day at Port Colborn. En route home, they remained overnight in Montreal to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Stan Radaczynski, the daughter of Mrs. White, and a sister of Mrs. K. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens and their three children from New Richmond, Que., have taken up residence at 469 Golf Street. Mr. Stevens is area manager for the electrolux Company.

Stains

Tea and coffee stains can be removed from china with a little borax on a soft cloth.

Save Space

Avoid wasting precious freezer space by cluttering shelves with too many ice cube trays or foods which can be purchased inexpensively throughout the year. Save space for a variety of often-needed foods.

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST "And now, Lord, behold their threatenings: and grant unto thy servants, that with all boldness they may speak thy word. By stretching forth thine hand to heal; and that signs and wonders may be done by the name of thy holy child Jesus." Acts 4:29, 30

Don't give up - look up! He is a midnight specialist bringing with Him miracles and wonders. Father, please touch shattered lives, broken and diseased bodies with a miracle just now in Jesus' mighty name. Amen. We give you praise.

Minister Goes To Seed

MLAs returning to their desks in the Legislature May 3 were met by a mini-forest of black spruce seedlings.

Sitting atop each member's desk and arrayed along the press table were ten-inch seedlings in plastic pots which were set into a hollowed piece of wood with bark intact.

The seedlings were provided by Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau to mark National Forests Week.

Grown at the provincial tree nursery, the seedlings were samples of 17 million trees to be planted on 20,000 acres of Crown land this year.

PET NEWS

Your Mother And Your Pet

By Marguerite Morrison

Are you a boy or girl? Do you have a cat or dog? Have you ever thought about who feeds your pet the most and makes sure it doesn't roam?

It's your Mom, I'm sure. Have you ever thought about it? Even though you may say it's your dog or cat, you wanted that pet, just like your Mom wanted you and gives you tender loving care.

So take care of your pet, and help your mother too. Remember, God has us all in His care.

SLATED FOR BANGOR PAGEANT

Suzanne Guitard of Richardsville, a student at Dorothy's School of Dance, is shown with six trophies and a medal which she won at the International Seaboard Competitions in Moncton April 16. Miss Guitard is the leader of the Royal Majorettes of Richardsville-McLeod, and will be participating in the International Pageant in Bangor June 10 - 11. She has also acquired the titles of Junior Miss Strut, Junior Miss Twirl, and is runner-up for Jr. Miss Prettiest in Division No. 3 for New Brunswick.

Book Of Mormon Supplements Bible

Some people even in this day of education and enlightenment profess to believe that the Mormons (members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints) do not believe in Christ, but rather have some mystical theology based on a belief in Joseph Smith, or Brigham Young, or Mormon. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (known informally by the nickname 'Mormons') believe in the Bible. Indeed, so literally and completely do their beliefs and practices conform to the teachings of the Bible that it is not uncommon to hear informed persons say: "If all men believed the Bible, all would be Mormons." Bible doctrine is Mormon doctrine and Mormon doctrine is Bible doctrine. They are one and the same.

But as is well known, the Bible does not contain all the doctrines and truths taught by the prophets and apostles, nor have the teachings preserved in it come down to us in an absolutely perfect form. There are and have been many translations and versions of the Bible, each of which varies from the others.

Sometimes, also, it has been extremely difficult when, for instance, passages have been translated from Greek to Latin to English, to preserve the exact thought expressed by a speaker who used the idiom and vernacular of Aramaic. Yet, with it all, the Bible as now translated is one of the marvels of the ages, and is revered and devoutly believed by the Latter day Saints.

Mormons fortunately, however, are not forced to rely solely on the testimony of prophets and apostles of Old and New Testament times, and lands. They have latter-day revelation, given through prophets of modern times, and also an inspired record of God's dealings with the ancient inhabitants of the American continent.

Joseph Smith was the prophet who, under the direction of Christ, translated and brought forth in modern times the Book of Mormon. This book is a record of God's dealings with a people who had the fulness of the gospel and who anciently inhabited the American continent. Their prophets has the same spirit of testimony and revelation enjoyed by the old world representatives of the Lord. They spoke of Christ, prophesied of his coming, taught his doctrines, had his gospel and administered the ordinances of salvation with his authority.

All of these things are spoken of in the Book of Mormon and, accordingly, that volume is a new witness of Christ. It is a volume of scripture that supplements and supports but does not supplant the Bible. They go hand in hand in bearing testimony of the divinity of Christ and in teaching his doctrines, but the Book of Mormon has the advantage of plainness and simplicity in style. Indeed, there never were plainer or more powerful prophecies foretelling the coming and mission of Christ than those preserved for us in the Book of Mormon. And these came to the modern world through the instrumentality of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

Both the Bible and the Book of Mormon bear the same testimony. Both are records of God's dealings with ancient peoples who had the fulness of the gospel, who knew of Christ and his laws, and who had a sure hope of eternal salvation in the kingdom of the Father. They are in perfect agreement with each other and when taken together give a plain and clear picture of Christ and of the laws of salvation.

New Church Service Begins

As of May 2nd, a local church has begun a new service, "Dial-A-Message", to the citizens of Bathurst and surrounding area.

"Dial-a-message" enables interested persons to call a designated number at any time of day or night in order to hear a pre-recorded devotion from the scriptures. It also enables the caller to leave a message if so desired.

The service is under the auspices of the Bayview United Baptist Church, 780 O'Neil Ave. Bathurst. The message is recorded by the Pastor Rev. Reid Cooke.

Rev. Cooke is a familiar voice from the radio program "Rise and Shine", heard every Monday, Wednesday and Friday over CKBC at 6:45 a.m.

Calling the designated number will allow persons to hear a three-minute message, followed by an opportunity to leave a message themselves, if they have a particular spiritual need. Rev. Cooke hopes that callers will feel free to ask for assistance of a spiritual nature if needed, by leaving a name and phone number where he can call. No one, of course, is obligated to do so.

The number to call is 548-3555. The devotional message will be changed every two days.

This service is open to all the community regardless of religion.

City Dept. And RCMP Combine Forces To Mark Police Week From May 15 To 21

For the past several years, one week in May has been set aside as Police Week. During that period the various Police Agencies across Canada open their doors to the public, and by means of displays and programs of various types attempt to make the public more aware of the role of the Police in the community.

The theme for this year's Police Week is "Working Together - Supporting Justness."

The word "Justness" is an uncommon word and was chosen as a part of this year's theme because of the many interpretations that may be implied. The central meaning of the word involves, however, justice, honesty and fairplay, and this must be the basis of Police-Community relations if the police are to be effective in serving the varied needs of the community.

The words "Working Together" indicate very clearly that the Police and the citizens of the community must cooperate with each other if meaningful results are to be obtained.

This year's police week is aimed particularly at the youth, and as a result several items of interest to the young will be incorporated into a Police Week display to be set up at K-Mart Mall, St. Peter Avenue on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 19th to 21st inclusive. This display is a joint venture of the Bathurst City Police and the Bathurst Detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Featured at the mall will be bicycle and motor vehicle safety displays, as well as various items of police equipment and slides and movies depicting the various roles of the police in their service to the community.

As well as the display inside the mall, two fully equipped Police Cars will be on display outside the mall entrance. One car will be supplied by the RCMP and the other by the City Police.

Young people visiting the display, which will be manned by RCMP and City Police Officers from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. each day, will be given a personalized identification card bearing their fingerprint.

You, citizens of Gloucester County are invited to drop by the display area and meet Police Officers who serve you. Feel free to ask questions and discuss your concerns. The Police cannot serve you properly if you do not interact with them.

MR. AND MRS. ADELARD GRANT

Mr. and Mrs. A. Grant Mark 60th Anniversary

Diamond wedding anniversary celebrations for well-known Petit Rocher residents, Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Grant on April 24 began with a special mass.

The anniversary service was held there at St. Polycarpe Church at 4 p.m. with Rev. Leopold Laplante, a cousin of Mrs. Grant, as the celebrant. Rev. Claude Pinet, parish curate, assisted.

Two grandchildren, Nicole Grant and Etienne Boudreau, were the altar servers. The organist Francine Cormier, accompanied Sister Florence Power who was the soloist. The reading was by Jacqueline Roy.

Frank Grant, the groom's brother, and Leandre Chamberlain, brother of the bride of 60 years, were the witnessing attendants for the mass as well as throughout the banquet and social function that followed. These were held in the parish hall of the church, and approximately 175 relatives and friends were present.

Yves Frenette was master of ceremonies.

A special address on behalf of the children was read by a son, Gerard Grant, and a gift of money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Grant by their granddaughter, Nicole Grant.

Special congratulatory messages were received from Prime Minister P. E. Trudeau, Msgr. Donat Chiasson, Bishop of Moncton, and a former parish priest at Petit Rocher, Msgr. Camille Andre LeBlanc, retired bishop of Bathurst, N.B. Opposition Leader Robert Higgins, Petit Rocher, Mayor Pierre Godin, and Rev. Edmond Richard, parish priest of St. Polycarpe Church who was spending a holiday in Florida at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant (nee Priscille Chamberlain) were married April 24, 1917 in their native Petit Rocher by the late Rev. John Carter. Their attendants were Mrs. Marie Anne Frenette (nee Grant) and Theodore M. Roy, both now deceased.

They had seven children. Those attending the celebrations include Mrs. Mathias Boudreau (Alma) and Mrs. Emilien Roy (Eveline), both of Petit Rocher, Gerard of Beresford, Armand of St. Jacques, Madawaska County, Rodolphe of L'Islet, Que. and Leon, Petit Rocher. A son, Leopold died several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant also have 32 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Grant who is 87 was employed with Canadian National for 40 years. He retired in 1955. His wife, 79, does her own housekeeping work including the cooking and rarely missing a game of bingo, one of her favorite pastimes. They both are interested in church and community affairs and enjoy a game of cards with family and friends.

NICE TO BE AWAY, GOOD TO BE HOME

Visits with family and friends, side trips to points of interest as far away as Mexico and other sight-seeing journeys, culminating in a cross-country to home motor trip of about 6,000 miles were all part and parcel of a 15 week winter vacation for a Bathurst couple.

Leaving here via plane in mid-January, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Noble returned home May 1st.

Their immediate destination was Tucson, Arizona where they spent two months and visited with Mrs. Noble's brother-in-law, Ray Cannon, formerly of Dalhousie. They also visited with and were entertained by a Bathurst native, Mrs. Edgar Major (nee Anita Hachey) who has resided in Tucson for a number of years. The Nobles accompanied Mrs. Major to Nogales, Mexico, on one occasion. Mrs. Major's family included son Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble also spent one week in El Paso, Texas, and another in Juarez, Mexico.

During about ten days in the state of California they again visited several former localites including Dr. and Mrs. Fred Germi (nee Dorothy Mullins) and on another occasion had lunch with Murray Langston, who incidentally now is writing scripts for "The Gong Show."

Langston who, like Mrs. Germi was born in Bathurst, mentioned he had recently been to Vancouver to tape a television show with Bruno Gerussi, star of both the Beachcombers and Celebrity Cooks.

Leaving Tucson with Ray Canon by motor, they travelled north and on to British Columbia to spend a week with Mr. Noble's sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wilson (Marion) at Surrey, and their married children and families. Then, it was on to Kelowna, B.C. to visit a sister-in-law, Mrs. Everett Noble.

The party continued on east to Ottawa to spend another ten days with Mrs. Noble's sister, Miss Regina Levesque, before motoring to Montreal for a week's visit with her niece, Miss Rose-Marie St. Pierre.

They were met in the metropolis by their son, John Michael Noble, a student at St. Thomas University, and their daughter Mary Pilson and husband Charles of Halifax, and returned by motor with the young folk to Bathurst.

"A change is good. We had a wonderful holiday, but nicest of all is coming back home and seeing our family and friends again... is the way Alexina and Malcolm sum it all up.

Present Gift To Speaker

The General Unit of United Church Women of Central United Church, New Bandon Pastural Charge, was held April 25 with the president Mrs. Ellsworth Chapman in the chair.

The UCW Purpose was recited in unison. Roll call was answered by 32 members. The minutes read by the recording secretary Mrs. Harold Jennings were approved. The financial report was submitted by Mrs. Gordon Ellis and it was noted all bills had been paid.

Mrs. Harper Smith, corresponding secretary, read several thank-you notes. Dime cards for the leprosy mission were distributed.

Money for the world development fund was collected.

Plans for the annual lobster supper on May 14 were finalized. Members were asked to cater to the Shriners' banquet for 500 on May 28.

Several ladies said they planned to attend the annual Presbyterial meeting at Tide Head where the New Bandon Unit will be in charge of the memorial service, conducted by Mrs. E. Chapman and Mrs. Harold Jennings.

The evening's program was in charge of the Salmon Beach unit with Mrs. Douglas Ellis and Mrs. Russel Buttimer, the theme being Canadian Indian Speak-Out.

Program convener, Mrs. David Wood introduced the evening's guest speaker, Mrs. Vibert Shury, formerly of Guayana who has been residing in Canada for six years, and in Bathurst at present.

Mrs. Shury gave an informative talk on her country and a question and answer period of Guayana followed. She was thanked by the president, Mrs. Chapman.

Mrs. Russell Buttimer presented Mrs. Shury with a token gift of appreciation on behalf of the group, after which lunch was served by the appointed hostesses.

The South Side Story

Rev. Yvon Boudreau celebrated mass at Our Lady of Grace Mission Church Sunday when 16 small girls and boys received the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist for the first time.

The children are: Nancy Branch, Lorraine Chiasson, Donna Gray, Nancy Gray, Janette Gray, Daniel Esson, Stephen Furlotte, Bradley Gray, Darryl Lavigne, Derek Melanson, Alcide Legacy, Ricky McParland, Jean Claude Pitre, Terry Pitre, Stewart Stanger and Patrick Wilbur.

Mrs. Doran Melanson was their catechism teacher. The junior choir under the direction of Miss Rita Boudreau, sang hymns in keeping with Mother's Day.

Mrs. Gerald Imhoff and children Bradley, Christopher, Kimberley and Judy, and Mrs. Medric Henry, all of South Teteagouche, returned home Saturday after spending a month in England visiting with relatives and friends.

A garage owned by Benson Smith of South Teteagouche was burned last week when some children reportedly set a grass fire. A quantity of fertilizer stored in the building was lost.

Master Alan Babin was in Edmundston over the weekend competing in the regional public speaking contest. He placed second in the junior competitions.

Rev. Alphonse Hache and his sister Mrs. Henry Henry were in Saint John last week where they were called by the serious illness of their brother-in-law, Mr. Murray Amos.

WATCH FOR THE "FIDDLEHEAD"

Fiddleheads, which taste like a combination of asparagus and mushrooms, are the curled up fronds or stems, buds of the ostrich fern - the earliest spring greens. The graceful spirals resemble the heads of tiny fiddles or violins.

Any number of ferns appear in the same curled up shape, but they differ in texture, flavor and protective covering. With many, the covering is difficult to remove and the flavor of the stem bud quite bitter and unpalatable.

Ostrich ferns grow wild in the soil of river banks and web slopes. They spring up from the parent rootstock in tight little clumps containing 10 to 20 or more heads. The inner side of the stalk has a groove, and the heads are covered with a thin brown sleath which breaks into clinging bran-like scales as the fiddlehead grows.

Fiddleheads are at their best when they are two to six inches tall, stalks crisp and heads tightly curled. Each clump may be picked progressively, but the season is short - a rainy spell comes, a few days pass, and the fiddleheads have become quite big.

Fiddleheads will keep fresh for 4-5 days if sprayed with water and refrigerated.

To prepare them for the freezer first remove the brown sheath and scales. This can be done by rinsing them in the sink a few times. The stubborn covering will have to be picked off. The fiddleheads then need to be "blanched" before freezing to prevent them from turning black and mushy.

To blanch, heat a pot of water, place the fiddleheads in a wire basket and plunge in the boiling water. They should be cooked for two minutes only. Remove immediately and cool under running water, drain well and dry on absorbent paper. When chilled, package in sealed containers or plastic bags tied with twist-ties.

There is no need to thaw before cooking, just boil them in a small amount of water and salt. Once they are boiling, separate the fiddleheads gently with a fork. Cook until fork-tender, about 8 minutes. Serve hot with butter, lemon juice, or vinegar.

The Department of Agriculture has a very useful booklet on the methods of freezing various foods. If you would like a copy you may call or write at the above address.

TRINITRON COLOR TV
SONY SHOOTS YOUR FAVOURITE PROGRAMS TO YOU IN TRUE TO LIFE LIVING COLOR
Once you've seen Sony color you won't be satisfied with anything else.

12", 15", 17" or 19"

Trinitron—Sony's one gun system—makes the big difference in color TV. With Trinitron you get a sharp, bright color picture with very few adjustments or service problems. Flesh tones are more natural—people look real. Colors are vibrant, exciting, true-to-life. With only one gun, Trinitron practically eliminates set-up adjustments that are required to bring the three color beams—red, green and blue—into registration on the screen. Conventional TV sets require at least 12 dynamic convergence adjustments—Trinitron needs only two or three. And, Trinitron's solid state circuitry is your assurance of years of dependable performance. Compare Trinitron with any other color TV and discover the difference for yourself.

REWARD

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. and Belledune Fertilizer have sponsored a study of lobster rate of growth in the Bay of Chaleur. This research programme is being conducted by Noranda Research Centre.

Approximately 2,000 lobsters have been tagged since 1973; the tag is a metal wire encased in plastic.

Since we wish to monitor the growth of these lobsters over the past winter, any fisherman who traps a tagged lobster is asked to send or bring it with its tag to the Technical Superintendent at either plant, who will pay the commercial value of the lobster, plus a reward of 5.00; the tag must not be removed from the lobster. We would appreciate receiving the lobsters alive.

Recovery of these lobsters is expected to be in the Bay area from Dalhousie to Petit Rocher.

Should anyone have no way of returning the lobsters to us, please, call us at either 522-2100 or 522-5250 and we will arrange to pick them up.

CHAPTERS' OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi officers installed during the annual Founder's Day dinner and ceremonies April 30 at Danny's Colonial House, left to right, are: Rosemary McGrath, corresponding secretary; Clara Goguen, vice-president; Madeleine Sirois, president; Madonna MacManus, treasurer; and Linda Bourque, recording secretary.

Sample Of WI Exhibit Shown

President Mrs. Gary Knowles chaired the May 8 monthly meeting of the Stonehaven Women's Institute branch held at the home of Mrs. Harper Smith.

The meeting opened with singing O Canada, repeating the club women's creed, salutation of the flag and God Save The Queen. Roll call was answered by nine members. The minutes were read by Mrs. Harper Smith, secretary and correspondence was read and discussed.

Mrs. Harper Smith was appointed delegate to the annual provincial convention with Mrs. Gary Knowles as alternate.

Mrs. Eric Ellis brought in several samples of hasti-notes which she had made. Hasti-notes are one of the convention exhibits.

It was decided to send a $10 donation to the Canadian Cancer Fund, also that the branch make small cakes for the Bass River Adult Workshop project on June 4.

Mrs. Burton Comeau, treasurer, gave her report and moved that all bills be paid. The motion was adopted.

Cultural activities convener, Mrs. Beatrice Jagoe, displayed some quilt blocks. It was agreed that houseplant slips will be exchanged at the next meeting.

For agriculture, Mrs. Eric Ellis read an article entitled Tales Of Pioneer Days.

Mrs. Ivan Jagoe read two poems, Mother's Love and Mother's Helper.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Daley.

A contest on the heritage of the Upper Gloucester W.I. conducted by Mrs. Gary Knowles was won by Mrs. Doug Daley. The mystery prize given by Mrs. Harvey Knowles was won by Mrs. Adelaide Payne.

The meeting closed with the Institute Ode being repeated and a lunch served by the hostesses for the evening.

Duplicate Bridge Results

Mrs. Glenda Stickles and Mrs. Kenneth Warren placed first at the May 2 regular session of Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club.

Mrs. A. Ferguson and Mrs. Martin C. Hachey were runners-up; Dr. and Mrs. K. Rosiek were third and Mr. and Mrs. P. Hare, Newcastle, ended in fourth position.

1st, R. Baker and Don Betts; 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Picot, 3rd, Mrs. J. A. Dube and Edgar Hachey; above average: Mr. and Mrs. K. Warren; Mrs. A. McBride and Mrs. Ivan Stairs; Mrs. Ernest Aube and R. MacLean.

Beta Sigma Phi Groups Observe Founder's Day

Members of Beta Sigma Phi, a social, cultural and service organization for women, recently celebrated the 46th anniversary of its founding.

Beta Sigma Phi is the largest women's sorority in the world. Celebrations took place in the 25 countries in which the organization's 250,000 members in over 12,000 chapters exist. The organization is non-academic, non-political and non-sectarian.

The keynote of Beta Sigma Phi is friendship.

The three local chapters, Xi Delta, Kappa and Chi, observed the anniversary of its organization's founding on Saturday, April 30, at Danny's Colonial House.

Chairman of the Founder's Day activities was Jill White, president of the executive coordinating committee.

Prior to the dinner, a cocktail hour was enjoyed, after which members of Xi Delta Chapter provided entertainment and the Beta Sigma Phi prize-winning song, "Follow the Rainbow Road" was sung by Carol Knowles accompanied by Margo Greenough at the piano.

Toastmistress for the evening was Edna Roussel (Xi Delta) Chapter. Mrs. E. J. Leger, social sponsor for Kappa Chapter, recited the Beta Sigma Phi "Grace" and Myrna Stothart (Xi Delta) led members in the opening ritual.

A special welcome was extended by Jill White (Xi Delta) to Pat Mongeau (Kappa), a recent transferee from Ontario, and to Lynda Austfjord (Xi Delta), Sandra Pentland, Rosemary McGrath, Sharon Mcdonald, Calva MacDonald, Madonna MacManus and Celia Jamieson (Chi) and Anne Rendelle, Susan McTavish and Sue Burns (Kappa), all of whom were celebrating their first Founder's Day as members of Beta Sigma Phi.

Peggy Nadeau (Kappa) proposed a toast to the founder, Walter W. Ross, and led members in reciting the Founder's Day pledge.

Each local chapter adopts the plans for socials, civic and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of its members and summaries of each chapter's activities were presented by Linda Bourque (Chi), Anne Crozier (Kappa) and Judy Losier (Xi Delta).

Sharon MacDonald (Chi) had the honor of presenting a special message from the sorority's president. Included in the message was the announcement of the International Theme for 1977 - 78, "Light Another Torch."

Prior to Founder's Day, members voted within their own chapters for their choice of "Girl of the Year", an annual award given to the member who best exemplifies the ideals of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Leger presented these awards to Jill White of Xi Delta, Lexie Martin, Kappa, and Clara Goguen, Chi Chapter.

Program Topic Is Skin Care

Skin care for all women over and approaching 30 was the topic of the program presented by Margaret Fekeshazy at the bi-monthly of Xi Delta Beta Sigma Phi.

The topic, needless to say, was of interest to all members and it brought about lively discussion. Donna Cormier hosted the meeting on April 27.

A tour of the hospital was planned for May 11, while the 18th of May will see the chapter members at Karma Health Studio in search of ways and means to get rid of those unwanted pounds.

A charm was presented to Cindy Popp who will be moving to Nova Scotia in the near future.

A special lunch was served by Jane Richard and the hostess in honor of Mrs. Popp.

VISITED IN OTTAWA

Mr. Edgar Hachey has returned from Ottawa where he spent several weeks visiting his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hills and sons Graham and Gary.

LINES AND WRINKLES

By MARY KAI LUA

Cosmetic science has extracted a skin beauty substance from the bean of a tropical plant that works wonders by making rough, lined face and dry chapped hands look years younger fast. Use it tonight and you should see vast improvement in the morning. Many small lines around the eyes and mouth may already have disappeared and wrinkles you have given up as hopeless should start to vanish in a few days. But that isn't all. That discouraging weather-darkened old-age skin tone fades away. But don't take my word for it . . . use this exciting substance yourself for 7 days . . . satisfaction is guaranteed or return for refund. It's the tropical nut extract that works wonders for wrinkles and lines. It's called Coerena Dry Skin Creme.

Notes Many Activities As Year Is Reviewed

Newly elected president, Mrs. Dorothy Veniot chaired the monthly meeting of Sacred Heart Council of the Catholic Women's League of Canada at Sacred Heart Convent May 2.

In the absence of the director, Rev. J. Emile Fournier, opening prayers were led by the church life convener, Sister Theresa Salter.

After reading of the minutes which were approved, the treasurer reported and correspondence was read.

Mrs. Veniot was appointed delegate to the provincial CWL convention in Moncton June 3 - 5.

Sister Theresa announced that arrangements had been made for the evening of recollection at the monastery Capuchin Fathers May 25 beginning at 7:30 p.m. All members were invited to attend.

In conjunction with Right to Life Week May 8 - 15, a church tag day will be held May 14 and 15, it was noted.

The president expressed her appreciation to everyone for the success of the Bathurst Diocesan convention held here April 30 to May 1st.

A light lunch was served after adjournment.

At the annual meeting in April, the slate of officers elected for 1977 - 78 is as follows:

Mrs. Dorothy Veniot, president; Mrs. Geraldine Boudreau, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Carmel MacDonald, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Jean Cormier, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. Joan White, immediate past president; Mrs. Rollande Furlotte, recording secretary; Mrs. Norma Doucet, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lydwine Chiasson, treasurer.

Mrs. Veniot congratulated the retiring president, Mrs. White, for her untiring dedication and asked for everyone's support during the coming year.

Conveners appointed were: Sister T. Salter, church life; Mrs. Barbara Vincent, organization, Mrs. Lillian Arsenault, Christian family life; Mrs. Jean Cormier, communications and public relations.

Mrs. Geraldine Boudreau, community life; Mrs. Carmel MacDonald, resolutions and legislation; and Mrs. Bernadette McKendy, cultural life.

Conveners' annual reports showed a great accomplishment of work during the year and included: sponsoring the 1st Bathurst Girl Guide Company; donation to Canadian Legion Poppy Fund; serving lunch at a Canadian Council of the Blind Bathurst Club monthly meeting; visiting of shut-ins at Foyer St. Camille at Christmas and distribution of gifts; awarding of a bursary to a high school student and donation to the Bathurst Music Festival.

The council also held a reception for first communicants and their parents; served breakfast to members of The Franciscan Family Circle pilgrimage; held a parish supper and gave a donation to the parish towards the purchase of altar linens.

Members also take an active part in community affairs and many serve as canvassers for service clubs and organizations.

Don't accept gifts from others if you value your freedom.

General Outlook Good, BM&S Shareholders Told

In a friendlier atmosphere than has prevailed in recent years, shareholders of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation Limited held their annual meeting at the Bathurst minesite Tuesday morning.

An estimated 75 persons attended the session which opened at 10:30 and ended at 11:05

Brunswick President William James had many interesting facts and figures in his address, the complete text of which follows:

"Earnings in 1976 were $7.5 million, sharply decreased from $12.6 million in the previous year. The principal causes of this 40 per cent decline in earnings were a three-month strike at the mine and a six-week shutdown of the lead smelter. Earnings were also adversely affected by a 15 per cent increase in operating costs and an increase in zinc treatment charges. In spite of the three-month strike, wages and salaries during 1976 increased 10 per cent from the previous year. The strike at the mine was settled in August and mining operations returned to normal in the final quarter.

"Earnings for the first quarter of 1977 were $3.6 million or 11 cents per share compared to $3.0 million for the same quarter last year. Several new production records were set at the No. 12 mine in the first quarter and zinc recoveries in the concentrator continue to improve. Higher concentrate production, rising prices for lead and a declining Canadian Dollar all contributed to higher earnings.

"The directors, at their meeting yesterday, declared a dividend of five cents per share payable June 27 to shareholders of record May 25, 1977.

"The major undertaking of your company at this time is the expansion program to increase the capacity of the No. 12 mine from 6,350 tons to 11,000 tons per day. The project is proceeding according to schedule. The latest estimate of total capital cost is up $2 million to $53 million, due to inflation. Actual expenditures to date are $30.6 million. The No. 3 shaft is approximately two-thirds complete on its way to the 4500-foot level and the new changehouse and service tunnel between the No. 3 shaft and the concentrator are now in use. Installation of production hoists in the headframe is underway. The expansion as well as maintaining the existing jobs at the mine and lead smelter, will also create permanent employment for an additional 300 people, increasing total payroll to about 2400.

"When the expansion is completed, production will increase by one-third to over 500,000 tons per year, of zinc concentrates and about 240,000 tons per year of lead concentrates.

"In 1976, total expenditures on fixed assets, deferred development and capitalized interest, were $26.5 million, of which $9.1 million was spent on expansion. This year, capital expenditures for the expansion program and for improvements at the lead smelter will total $47 million. Of this amount, $17.2 million is for the mine expansion and $5 million for environmental control at the mine and hygiene and safety at the lead smelter.

"Financing of this extensive capital program has been provided by the issue of $35 million in bonds last December. Further cash requirements will be provided from operations and bank lines of credit.

"Ore reserves at the No. 12 mine were again increased and at year-end were estimated to be 105 million tons of ore grading 13 per cent combined zinc and lead and 2.8 ounces per ton of silver. These reserves are sufficient for at least 25 years of operation at the expanded rate of production. the orebody is, however, still open at depth and to the north. The No. 6 mine has open pit reserves of 240,000 tons with a combined zinc-lead grade of 6.7 per cent plus underground reserves of 1.3 million tons grading 10 per cent combined zinc-lead. The open pit will be depleted this year and underground ore is now being mined by means of a decline driven 200 feet below the pit bottom. Operations at the No. 6 mine will gradually be phased out over the next two years as increased tonnage from No. 12 becomes available.

"Since the beginning of operations, a great deal of research and testing has been carried out to improve recoveries and concentrate quality from Brunswick's complex ores. These efforts have recently met with considerable success. Through additional regrinding and flotation of tailings, overall zinc recoveries have increased significantly from an average of 75 per cent in 1976, to a current level of 80 per cent. Research is continuing, with the goal of further improving metal recoveries, particularly of lead and silver. Three years ago, a task force of scientists and engineers was set up with broad terms of reference to study, implement and direct a research program to improve metal recoveries. Their investigations include improvements in recovery and product by flotation and hydrometallurgical methods.

"The lead smelter performed satisfactorily in 1976 with considerable improvement in operating efficiencies. Unit operating costs have remained stable over three years in spite of rising material costs. This has been accomplished through a combination of a 10 per cent reduction in manpower, lower

COUNCILLORS SWORN INTO OFFICE

Two Objections To Pool Bylaw Recorded

The outgoing Bathurst City Council met in one final session Monday evening to hear objections to a revised bylaw governing swimming pools in the city.

Chairing the meeting in the absence of Mayor John A. Duffy, who along with Coun. Joe MacNeil is in Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, was Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin. Other councillors in attendance included Henry Murphy, Robert Hodgins, Douglas Williamson, Terry Lenihan and James MacLaggan.

The first objection noted came from Claire Wilt, who has been experiencing some difficulty because of the present regulations with a swimming pool installation at her home at 996 Centennial St.

Mrs. Wilt, who was present at the hearing to read her submission, felt that section of the bylaw limiting the type of fencing to wood and chain link was too restrictive, and should be altered to include other materials.

She also pointed out that a distance of five feet, and not ten, is sufficient space between the pool and the side or rear lot line.

Presenting his objections to the proposed amendment was Dr. Alfred Lagace of 995 Edgewood St., who stated he and his family had experienced serious adverse effects since the installation of a privately-owned pool about a year ago.

Dr. Lagace stated the present bylaw represents "minimal regulations regarding spacial relationships and omits some other regulations. "He felt a serious safety hazard is associated with the closeness of the pool edge to the surrounding wall, and stated a minimum of four feet should be required to prevent a child from falling directly into the water if he or she should climb the fence.

As for the aesthetic aspects of the bylaw, Dr. Lagace pointed out the bylaw does not include any consideration for close neighbours of a pool installation. "I refer to the disturbing effect on our sleep and general comfort from the late evening and early morning usage of this installation", he stated. He

TEN YEARS OF CO-OPERATION AND ASSISTANCE

Faithful Navigator Joseph Corbin of the Knights of Columbus in Bathurst, presents North Shore Shrine Club President Philip Humphreys with a cheque for $525. This was a special occasion, the tenth year of the presentation of a gift of money to the Shriners for their use in aiding crippled children and maintaining the Shrine Hospitals for crippled children. Over $500. has been given by the K of C to the Shrine Club in the past decade. Looking on are Ellsworth Chapman, co-chairman of the annual Friendship Ball; and Past Faithful Navigator and originator of the Friendship Ball Howard D. Ross. Other committee members absent are Shriners Walter McKay and Harry McLean; and Knights Harvey Caissie and Rudolph Doucet.

OFF THE CUFF

Special reference was made by Chairman William James at Tuesday's meeting of Brunswick Mining shareholders to the attendance of K. C. Irving, "who created more jobs in this province than anyone else in this room"; to L. McC. Ritchie, distinguished N.B. legal figure and longtime associate of Mr. Irving and to Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau, with whom the company enjoys good relations.

Mr. James, who has ties with N.B. because his father is a native of Saint John, congratulated Allan Young, manager of the company's smelting division at Belledune for the excellent accident prevention program there; and Big Robert Hachey, president of the union local at Brunswick, for the high production record.

Referring to an underground tour undertaken Monday by Mr. Irving and sons Arthur, Jim and Jack, Mr. James said they were very welcome visitors as well as interested spectators. He lightly referred to the Esso-drums in evidence below at the time as an "oversight."

THE SQUEAKING WHEEL

The Dalhousie customs office is not going to be closed after all. Thereby hangs a tale and an example to other communities, like Bathurst; for instance, that the squeaking wheel gets the oil.

National Revenue Minister Monique Begin announced over the weekend that an earlier decision had been reversed. She said some small customs offices across the country have

School Board Okays Priority Repair List

Members of the No. 4 School Board, meeting in regular session May 5, gave their approval to a list of major repairs to be carried out during the 1977-78 year at schools in the district.

Although the exact amount of money laid aside for repairs had not been determined at the time of approval, it was agreed that the top two priorities would be carried out at each school, with the board's construction committee to make the final decision on projects if there are funds remaining.

Projects gaining approval include the repair of the east wall ($10,000) and installation of thermopane windows ($10,000), both at Salmon Beach School; tile floor in seven classrooms at Superior School ($10,500); replacement of glass blocks at South Bathurst School ($10,000); and painting of 20 classrooms at Assumption Academy ($10,000).

Three larger projects were recommended for inclusion in the capital repairs budget of the department of education. These are renovation of the complete electrical system at Sacred Heart School ($50,000), installation of a drainage system, gravel and grade for Superior School yard ($25,000) and completion of the electrical renovations on the first floor of Assumption Academy ($50,000).

The meeting was told that tenders for the complete renovation of the Belledune School will close Thursday, May 19, and the classroom wings and gymnasium are expected to be ready for the opening of school in September.

The building, built about five years ago, was extensively damaged in a fire about two months ago. Classes are currently being conducted in temporary quarters at the Belledune Recreation Centre.

Trustees also learned that the architect will be ready for a tender call for piling and essential site work on the proposed Bathurst High School extension. Work is expected to commence as soon as the school closes for summer holidays.

On the Robertville School project, the board was told the working drawings were nearing completion and the architect would be ready for the calling of tenders by the end of May.

More than one trustee objected to reducing the number of grade nine classes at Chalmers School from four to three for the next school year.

The explanation for the change by the district administration was it would even up the teacher-pupil ratio for grade nine classes in the city through the transfer of 18 students from Chalmers, would save a teacher for elsewhere and would give equal opportunity to all grade nine pupils since a modified or remedial-type program cannot be offered at all the schools due to insufficient enrolment.

The dissenting trustees argued the ratio at Chalmers School was just three short of the desired figure, the modified program was working well, and there was little logic in enroling the students at other schools and then transporting them to Chalmers where the home economics and industrial shop facilities are located.

It was finally decided to refer a questioning letter from the Bathurst High and J.Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association to the board's finance committee for a report at the next meeting.

Resignations submitted and accepted during the meeting

Pageant Finalists Chosen

Preliminary judging for the Miss Bathurst 1977 Pageant was held Sunday, May 15 at Danny's Colonial House.

A total of nine semi-finalists were chosen by a panel of local judges to take part in the pageant, set for Nepisiguit High School on Wednesday evening, July 6. They are Cindy Taylor, Monique Leger, Carol Benoit, Lynn Losier, Judy Hachey, Leeann Northrup, Yvonne Landry, Shirley Picot and Carmelle Gauvin.

Sponsoring this year's event are The Captain's Cabin, Danny's Ltd., Alpha Realty, Lounsbury Co. Ltd., Stothart's for Mazda, S.P. Fashions, Doucet Landscaping, the Royal Bank and J. P. Furniture.

"HARVEY" MEETS THE PUBLIC THIS WEEK

Community Theatre Inc. takes its second major production to the stage this Thursday and Friday, May 19 and 20 at Nepisiguit High School auditorium. Set for 8 p.m. on both evenings, the comedy, entitled Harvey, features a cast of eleven, including Gary Levert, Barry Power, Paul Lavigne, Colleen Murphy, Diane Mallet, Penny Schoolcraft, Tony Nicholson, Steve Jamieson, Darlene Hickey, Stephen Parker, and Wanda Lavigne. Tickets for the play, which was written by Mary Chase, are $2.50 for adults and $2 for students. The public is cordially invited to take in this latest effort by the young acting company.

GROUP GEARS FOR CLEANUP

A general cleanup of a certain section of the upriver camping district, with members assisted by a younger generation group participating, has been organized by Bathurst Fish and Game Association

The big push is set for Saturday, May 28, with the various coordinating forces gathering at the Golden Cup ice-cream outlet on Harbourview Boulevard at 8.00 a m Rain date is the following day, May 30

The area to be covered extends from Blue Mountain (gravel pit) to and including part of the Rogers Lake Road and terminating at California Lake

The N. B. Department of Natural Resources is cooperating in the project by providing both men and vehicles

Prompting this Fish and Game Assn action is the indiscriminate scattering of litter and refuse in places whose natural endowments make them ideal for sightseeing and recreation

It is also designed to encourage the public to come equipped with containers in order to take their garbage back home with them and dispose of it in the proper manner had to be closed in order to reduce expenses and that Dalhousie had been included in this list.

But because of local opposition to the move, including protests from Restigouche MP Maurice Harquail, town council and various service clubs and organizations and the news media, the service has been saved by the bell.

Let's hope Bathurst will be as lucky in connection with the old post office tower certain bureaucrats are bent on destroying in order to save a few paltry dollars. And, did you know this is one of only two historic sites recommended for preservation by the Bathurst Impact Study?

TIPS AND TAKES

Sympathy is being extended to Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Francis, who were called to Tatamagouche, N.S. Monday by the death of the latter's father, Frederick Hamilton. . . Connections: Hon. Tony Abbott, federal minister of consumer and corporate affairs, is a son of Douglas Abbott, also a onetime cabinet minister as well as Bathurst Power director and freeman of the former Town of Bathurst . . . came from Rheeta Dickie, principal at Chalmers School; Edith Ellis, May Goguen, Tony Honeyborne, Judith Rousselle and Dorinda Armstrong, Bathurst High; Martina Smith, Superior Rosemary Ronalds, Mary Gosnell School; Bernadine DeGrace and Irene Landry Nipisiguit High; Evelyn Godin, Assumption Academy; Frank Parent, Notre Dame; Sr. Paulette D'Entremont, Holy Family; Donald Boucher and Jeannette Gaudet, Petit-Rocher Elementary; Sr. Edith Boucher, Sacred Heart and Julia Frigault, Beresford School.

Also being studied for a report from the administration at the next meeting is a request from La Societe Culturelle to sponsor concerts in the French schools at a minimum charge. It was stated 86 per cent of the 1,628 survey sheets returned were in favor of day concerts and only nine per cent of those replying were not willing to pay admission.

The group, represented by Jacques Ouellet, stated it could no longer present the concerts at no charge and yet it was important to cultivate a cultural interest in children especially since the adult population in the area had not supported the events as was hoped.

School board policy is there can be no admission charge in such cases which was the reason for the request. Ouellet said the group did not plan to charge those who could not pay.

The school calendar, approved for 1977-1978 designates 13 off days for pupils. Most of these days are set aside for professional development activities for teachers as provided for in their collective agreement with the province.

The days on which there will be no classes are September 6 (administration day), October 11, November 9 (½ day), November 10 (subject councils), January 9 February 16-17, April 14, May 10 (½ day), May 11-12 (subject councils), June 29 30 (administration) plus two half days for New Brunswick Teachers Association business, the times for which had not been set.

The board reiterated its stand not to change the district budget year to coincide with the fiscal year of the province, congratulated the Bathurst High hockey team and the N.B. Science Fair local winners, and approved the observance of Arbor Day again this year.

Teacher hirings approved were Sharon Davenport, physical education; Kevin Mann, English, Kathy Baldwin, mathematics; Peggy Gorman, mathematics, Peter Rawding, sciences, and Garfield Saunders, fine arts, all for Bathurst High; and Victoria Godin electricity at Nepisiguit High.

Edmund Poirier was named head of the English department at Bathurst High for one year while John Sweezey is on sabbatical leave.

Receives B. Ed From St. Thomas

Among those receiving degrees from St. Thomas University at recent convocation exercises was Kenneth "Butch" Leger, Nackawic, who was awarded a Bachelor of Education degree.

A native of Bathurst where he graduated from LeBlanc High School, Mr. Leger received his Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Thomas in 1972. He taught one year at James M. Hill High School in Chatham and for the past three years has been on the Nackawic High School faculty at Nackawic.

Mr. Leger is married to the former Irene Duclos of Bathurst and they have one daughter, Heather, eight months.

Tribute Paid Mrs. J. Glazier

Rev. J.W. Roche officiated at the funeral mass for Mrs. John Glazier held at Our Lady of the Rosary Church May 5 at 7 p.m. Rev. F. Landry assisted.

The pallbearers were Fred Glazier, Edmond Richard, Gerald Glazier, Hart Glazier, Gordon Chamberlain and John McCarthy

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Avenue, pending burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Labour Day Parade Given Green Light

The Bathurst and District Labour Council announced May 11 that it will once again sponsor a Labour Day Parade in the Bathurst area

Kevin O'Connell, president of the Bathurst and District Labour Council, said that Labour Day was the prime topic of the meeting

Charles Bass was elected Chairman of the Labour Day Committee and he is to convene a meeting of all affiliates on June 7. This meeting will be to co-ordinate the activities of his committee with that of the area locals. Each local is to have two representatives at this meeting

In other Council action, a resolution was passed in an attempt to keep Brother Gregory Murphy, Canadian Labour Congress Rep., in New Brunswick. Council showed appreciation for Mr. Murphy's good work and expressed a desire to see it continue Council also heard a report from Area Vice-President of the N.B.F.L., Brother Eric Pitre, on the Maritime Higher Education Commission of which he is a member.

Council decided on the topics "Labour History" and "Political Education" for its Labour Workshop to be held in November. Council also made a donation to the Canadian Heart Fund.

Personal savings continue to rise in New Brunswick

New Brunswickers appear to be on the right savings track!

Personal savings at the chartered banks in New Brunswick are growing rapidly and now total almost $1,100 for every man, woman and child in the province.

That's up 14 per cent from $950 a year earlier, according to J. J. Kimm, chairman of the New Brunswick committee of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Mr. Kimm, manager of the main Fredericton branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, said total personal savings deposits in the province's banks now exceed $750 million. Two and a half years earlier they were less than $500 million.

Banking system figures for the country as a whole show that some 70 per cent of all accounts contain less than $1,000 and 40 per cent are less than $100.

"It's clear that the small depositor is an important element in the savings picture and increases the flow of savings through the banking system to be available for homebuyers, businessmen, individuals and others," Mr. Kimm says.

J. J. Kimm

The largest increase in personal savings in New Brunswick was in fixed-term deposits, with a rise of 23 per cent. These are the accounts that pay the higher rate of interest.

Non-chequable personal savings were up 20 per cent while chequable savings deposits declined slightly.

Mrs. F. Jennings Dies In 80th Yr

The death of Mrs. Fred Jennings, 2045 Rough Waters Dr., occurred May 13 at Chaleur General Hospital where she had been a patient for six months. She was 79.

Born in Bathurst, she was the former Ola Peters, a daughter of the late Norman and Henrietta (Forbes) Peters.

Mrs. Jennings was a lifelong resident of the Bathurst area and was a member of St. George's Anglican Church.

Her husband died last May.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Harry Russell (Evelyn) of Bathurst and Mrs. Mirl Craig (Neva) of McAdam; two sons, Harper and Douglas, both of Bathurst; one sister, Mrs. William Good (Lyla) of Stonehaven; 17 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Another daughter, Neva, died in 1940 as a child.

Mrs. Jennings rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

Archdeacon R. H. Murphy, assisted by Canon T. H. Drillen of the New Bandon Anglican Parish, officiated at the funeral held at St. George's Anglican Church Monday at 2:30 p.m.

The hymns sung were The Lord's My Shepherd, O Master Let Me Walk With Thee and Abide With Me. The organist was Aubrey Miller.

The pallbearers were six grandsons, Rodney Jennings, Kevin Jennings, David Jennings, Malcolm Russell, Dean Craig and Wayne Carroll.

The committal service and interment was in St. George's Cemetery, St. Anne Street.

Those attending from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Mirl Craig and son Dean, McAdam, and Mrs. Bedford Peters, Moncton.

Widely Known In Many Fields

G. Roy MacWilliam, 73, who set a record of longevity as a Member of Parliament from Northumberland - Miramichi died Sunday, May 15 at Ottawa.

Mr. MacWilliam, who sat as a Liberal from 1949 until his retirement in 1968, died at the Department of National Defence Medical Centre in Ottawa.

He had undergone surgery in Ottawa and had been hospitalized there for one month after returning to Canada from his winter home in Florida.

Born in Sydney, N.S., he was a son of the late George F. and Rose (Millea) MacWilliam.

Shortly after his birth, the family moved to Newcastle, his mother's home town, where his father established the North Shore Leader, a weekly newspaper, in 1906.

Mr. MacWilliam was educated at Harkins Academy and St. Francis Xavier University, and later was associated with his father in the family newspaper business. He was editor of the paper until the death of his father in 1961 at which time he became publisher and president of the company, positions which he held until the paper was sold in 1973.

Mr. MacWilliam was first elected to the House of Commons as a Liberal in 1949 and was returned in six subsequent elections. He retired undefeated in 1968. From 1969 until 1972, he served as a member of the National Parole Board and, on his retirement, returned to Newcastle to live.

As a member of parliament, Mr. MacWilliam was parliamentary secretary to the Postmaster General and also the minister of public works. He served a term as Canadian government observer at the United Nations in New York. As a member of parliament, he participated in several delegations which visited Europe and Russia.

In his hometown, Mr. MacWilliam held presidential and other offices in several organizations including the Newcastle Rotary Club, Royal Canadian Legion Branch 10, of which he was a life member, Grand Knight of Miramichi Council, Knights of Columbus, Newcastle Credit Union, Miramichi Officers' Mess, as well as in town, county and provincial Liberal associations.

ROY MacWILLIAM

An active player in all sports in his younger days, he kept up a lifetime interest in athletics as a player, coach and referee.

Mr. MacWilliam joined the North Shore Regiment as a young man, attaining the rank of major. In the Second World War, he served with the Canadian Army as adjutant.

Mr. MacWilliam and his family lived in Bathurst for a number of years while he served here with the militia during the war and made many friends in the area.

Surviving are his wife, the former Kathleen Richard of Newcastle; two sons and a daughter, George R. MacWilliam, Ottawa, Judge David L. MacWilliam of St. Catharines, Ont. and Mrs. Karl Bruun (Carole), Carleton Place, Ont.

One brother, Cecil E. MacWilliam of Toronto; four sisters, Mrs. F. Herbert Barry, (Charlotte) of Chatham, Miss Mona MacWilliam, Mrs E. F. MacAllister (Edith) and Mrs. C. E. Hayes (Helen), all of Newcastle; 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Mr. MacWilliam rested at 330 Prince Williams Street until today (Wednesday) when the funeral was held at St. Mary's Church at 11 a.m., followed by burial in the parish cemetery.

DOCTOR'S ORDERS

What is 'shock?'

One of the most feared killers has always been the mysterious malady known as "shock."

Shock is a condition in which there is not enough blood circulating through the body. This sets in motion a chain of events in which sufficient blood continues to be routed to the vital organs of the body but less goes to non-vital tissues such as the skin.

As a result, the cells do not get enough of the food and oxygen that is normally delivered by the blood and eventually begin to die. The breakdown of the dying cells releases toxic acids that circulate through the bloodstream and attack the vital organs, eventually killing them.

According to Dr. William Schumer, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Surgery at the University of Health Sciences The Chicago Medical School, septic shock due to infection, which sometimes follows surgery, is being countered in a new way. Dr. Schumer has shown that adding one or two massive doses of steroids to antibiotics and fluid replacement therapy is effective. Steroids stop leakage of fluid from blood vessels and act to get the liver working again.

Social And Personal

Mr. Edward Scott who has completed his second-year studies at Mount Allison University, Sackville, has arrived to spend the summer holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scott, Janeville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walsh, South Tetagouche, recently returned from a two-week vacation in Ontario and attended the 35th reunion of the 418th Squadron "City of Edmonton" held at the Holiday Inn, Toronto, Apr. 22 - 24. Later Mr. and Mrs. Walsh visited in several centres and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Prendergast and family, Sault Ste. Marie; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oliver at Wa Wa; and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Walsh, Ottawa.

I, Mrs. Claire Hodgins would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who voted and-or helped me in my campaign. As a member of the School district No. 4 Board of Trustees I will endeavour to work on your behalf to the best of my ability.

A SINCERE THANK-YOU

I wish to thank the voters of Coffyn Ward for expressing their confidence in me by electing me to City Council

I pledge to work with the Mayor and Council for a Better Bathurst.

Classroom Crime

Like a malignant growth, vandalism, turmoil and violence are spreading into schools across the country, wasting fortunes in hard-to-spare tax dollars and destroying more and more youngsters' chances of learning, reports Barry Conn Hughes of Pickering, Ontario and Judy Rasminsky of Montreal, Quebec in a May Reader's Digest article.

In 1970, a Canadian Education Association (CEA) survey of 29 school boards across the country found that window breakage, costing $800,000 annually, was the chief form of vandalism. Things are not as simple now.

"Break-ins and damage to buildings create major problems for most school boards today," says Carmer F. Moir, president of the CEA and deputy minister of education for Nova Scotia.

In a follow-up survey conducted this past winter, almost 40 percent of the school boards studied reported an increase in vandalism.

The damage that vandals do to school property costs our school boards millions of dollars each year. The Montreal Catholic School Commission, the nation's largest school board, estimates that the cost of vandalism was $2.5 million last year – enough to build an entire new elementary school.

Between March 1976 and last February, 42 school fires in British Columbia (the majority due to student arson) caused more than $11 million in damage.

And a province-wide survey in Alberta, conducted by Professor C.J. Schott of the University of Lethbridge, found that vandalism drained more than $2 million of badly needed capital from the province's school budgets in 1974.

Our best hope of quelling the vandalism that plagues our schools lies not in guard dogs and crackdowns, say the authors, but in making school itself a humane experience. A number of communities scattered across the country are developing programs that show promise of coping with the problem and answering the students' real needs. Some of these pace-setting districts are relatively wealthy, others impoverished; some are urban, others more rural.

But all share one characteristic: they are facing up to the reality of vandalism and violence, not trying to hush up its existence. The Digest article deals with three different elements of innovation which are common to all programs:

Firmness with Fairness
Combating Student Alienation
Community Involvement

Invisible Handicap

The Canadian Co-ordinating Council on Deafness and its New Brunswick satellite of similar title are new organizations for the hearing impaired. A Bathurst man, Wilfred Battah, is one of the founding fathers of the latter group, and a director on the national level.

Through these associations, information about deafness will be shared among those agencies working with the deaf and between federal and provincial government departments and the hearing impaired.

Together these bodies are sponsoring "Hearing Awareness Month" ("Mai, le Mois de l'Ouie et de la Parole") during May.

Deafness is an invisible handicap. It is a handicap of communication. Few of us are aware of the isolaton and frustration suffered by deaf and hard-of-hearing people who are constantly trying to understand a hearing world.

According to statistics, our province has over 40,000 hearing handicapped persons requiring medical aid and of this number close to 1400 are profoundly deaf. The Bathurst area alone numbers approximately 140 hearing impaired persons.

The causes of deafness are many: noise pollution, genetics, side effects of drugs and rubella, a disease perhaps better known as German measles.

For years, many associations for the deaf in New Brunswick have worked voluntarily towards better understanding of this handicap, to improve educational facilities, employment, social environment and early detection, which, in many cases with timely and proper medical attention, could arrest deafness.

Hearing Awareness Month is designed in order that all agencies, employers, clubs, associations and the general public will more fully appreciate the problem.

With such dedicated people behind it and an audience which is usually receptive to the plights, and misfortunes of others to support it, there is no doubt that the project will be successful.

PRE-SCHOOLERS LEARN FIRE SAFETY

Children from the Bimbo Day Care Centre visited the Bathurst Fire Department on Friday, May 13 in conjunction with a week at the centre devoted to fire safety. While at City Hall, the children saw demonstrations involving the various types of fire fighting equipment, and learned the roles played by firemen in the city. Members of the local department also told the youngsters what they could do to prevent fires, both in the home and elsewhere. Pictured with the young delegation are, from left, Micheline Boucher, day care advisor; Armand Couture, fireman; Chief Frank Brennan and Jean-Guy Fortin, fireman.

Brunswick And Irving Want Smelter Delayed

New Brunswick Industrialist K. C. Irving and the Noranda people have never seen eye to eye on a lot of things. They now agree on one item, however, it was made obvious at Tuesday's meeting of shareholders of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. Neither camp sees any sense in rushing into construction of a zinc smelter, as proposed, in the Belledune area.

Need for caution was first mentioned in the prepared report of President William James of Toronto.

Then, during a question and answer period, Mr. Irving called upon the board of directors to show responsibility by not being forced into such a project through "political pressure."

After critizing the company on the high cost of borrowing, Mr. Irving went on to say:

"Operations of the mine in 1964, 1965 and 1966 had showed most satisfactory earnings but an abrupt end had been put to these earnings by the ill-conceived smelter.

"The building of that smelter, which was started in 1963 and went into production in 1966, was a disastrous venture which some of us shareholders and directors tried to avoid, but yielded to political pressure of a former government at that time who served us an ultimatum in 1963. It was a disastrous decision which should not be repeated. The record of earnings confirms this fact beyond any question of doubt.

"I say that a zinc smelter should not be built, certainly at the present time and not until the company is positive that it could be made a profitable undertaking.

"Noranda did say in 1967 that they could run the zinc smelter successfully. I felt I could not be sure of that. However, Noranda was so positive, that is why we are here.

"I guess we will never know how many millions of dollars that experiment cost the former shareholders. I have asked the question before but have never gotten a clean-cut answer. We do, however, know of the great loss suffered by many shareholders in the 1967-71 period.

"I trust that I have correctly interpreted some of your (Mr. Jame's) statements to the shareholders that the directors of Brunswick have a responsibility to the company and to the shareholders not to be forced again as a political expediency into the building of a zinc smelter and certainly not until you are absolutely sure that such a smelter is a viable operation and the company is in a position to comfortably finance it."

Mr. James agreed with Mr. Irving, noting the existing 2400 jobs at Brunswick should not be endangered in order to create another 400 positions.

"Rest assured we are not going to embark on some financial escapade that is going to bring us down into the ditch", Mr. James concluded.

During the past billion years—less than a quarter of the earth's age—there have been at least four epochs of ice covering major portions of the globe. Scientists say the earth is still gripped by the fourth ice age.

Litter Bugs Are Censured

May 16, 1977
Bathurst, N.B.

My family, all the neighbours' kids that I could con into the job, and myself, spent Sunday afternoon on the old Golf Course property, filling bag after bag with other people's garbage.

Being close to the city, this area makes for great snowmobiling and no way do I object to this. Every year it costs me money to have my fences repaired but I can cope with that.

However, what has got me a little excited is the amount of glass that was left on this property as a result of a good number of snowmobiling parties held there. Party after party was held on the same spot with the result, after the snow melted, of the place looking like a mini-dump.

Broken bottles, beer cans, beer cases and the biggest problem, wife from numerous tires which were burned, are scattered all over my hayfield and pasture. This is what I have to drive my tractors over and later pasture my cattle on.

I suggest some of these people might like to plan a picnic some weekend and pick a few bags of garbage. There's lots left!

If one fifth of the people who enjoyed the use of this area would show up for a few hours, a lot could be done to put things as they were.

As a follow up to the winter problems, would the fathers whose sons have mini-bikes etc., check on where they are driving them!

Do you love Bathurst?

I love Bathurst and I think it's a deplorable shame that we permit people from Montreal to bring their trash into our beautiful little city.

Once the minds of our youngsters are corrupted then comes the rapes, murders and other crimes.

No crime is committed without first passing through a thinking process. Once you attack the morals of a child and expose him to filth, you strip him of his good moral judgment and leave him with no conscience.

I'm sorry to say that many adults have lost all sense of values. When a person feels that the almighty dollar is more important than the morality of a child, I say you are pretty low and I hold no respect for such a person.

Residents of Bathurst, do you want Bathurst to become like big cities, with sex maniacs? If not, tell the people who run newsstands that they can throw their filthy magazines in the garbage where they belong.

Tell them you don't want Bathurst to get worst than it is, you don't want our children corrupted. Tell them you value a child more than their mighty dollar.

God's most precious gift on earth is life. It's a beautiful gift. There is nothing more beautiful on earth than a baby.

How fast they lose their innocence! Parents you may be of good will and do all the best for your children. Don't forget that there are many other parents who don't know what their children do, where they are and they don't even care.

These, the children of the streets, are the first to take advantage of pornography, they nourish their curious minds which quickly haunts them until the experiences follow. If we don't help them before it's too late, who will?

It doesn't take long for a rotten apple to rot others. These children who bring themselves up or who are so spoiled that their parents can't control them at the young age of 12 and 13. They influence other children.

For God's sake don't let this pass without doing something about it. We are responsible for such trash because we are the guilty by-standers!

On Telephone Company's Side

Bathurst, N.B.
May 17, 1977

Today's edition of The Moncton Times shows NB Tel being given a hassle by government bureaucrats.

This could mean cutback in switchboard personnel and a resultant longer wait for operator response.

We should encourage NBTel to go after a legitimate profit while at the same time providing the best service in the world.

We cannot allow our system to become as idiotic as the one which now exists in France.

We would therefore urge people from all walks of life to write letters to the editors in favor of NBTel.

recommended the addition of a provision for discontinuance of use after 10:30 p.m., as well as a provision to regulate the night lighting in such a manner that it not be intrusive to neighbours.

Finally, Dr. Lagace asked that these provisions be applied to the installation adjacent to his property.

Councillor Henry Murphy felt the owners of the pool in question should be given the opportunity to refute the statements contained in the objection, but Coun. Jim MacLaggan pointed out the purpose of the meeting was to hear public objections to the bylaw only.

Prior to adjournment, Deputy Mayor McLaughlin took the opportunity to bid farewell to his fellow councillors. "I admit I leave with a heavy heart, but with no bitterness," he stated, and he offered his help to the council newcomers.

Expressing his thanks and good wishes to council too was Coun. Murphy, who indicated he would gladly comply with requests for assistance from the "new boys" who begin their council terms May 24.

consumption of reagents, improved operating techniques and a significant decline in overtime through reduced absenteeism. The plant was closed for six weeks during the vacation period of July and August of last year for necessary maintenance and to reduce refined lead inventory. Production for the fourth quarter averaged over 5,000 tons of lead per month. Lead concentrate is currently being purchased from other producers to supplement mine production.

"Construction has started on a new $3.7 million air filtration plant which will improve ventilation and dust control throughout the smelter. Brunswick is firmly committed to improve working conditions, hygiene and safety at all operations. Last year, for the third time in the past four years, the smelter won the New Brunswick Metal Mining Association's Safety Award.

"For the past few years, the Provincial Government has been promoting the construction of a zinc reduction plant by your company in the province to further process concentrates produced by Brunswick and to provide additional jobs in the north shore area of the province where the high unemployment has been a problem for many years.

"We recognize that the Brunswick orebody is one of the great zinc orebodies in the world and at some time it will merit a zinc plant. Brunswick acknowledges that further processing in the province is desirable provided that such processing is both economically and financially viable. A study group has been formed with representatives from Brunswick and the Federal and Provincial governments to continue to examine the economic viability of a zinc plant.

"Recently, the provincial government has reviewed its mining tax structure and has held discussions on proposed changes with active mining and exploration companies in the province. No legislation has been presented to date, although we expect a higher, but reasonable tax system will be introduced.

"Turning now to metal markets, the year 1976 began with slightly higher zinc demand compared to the severely depressed levels of 1975. In anticipation of continuing improved demand, European smelters increased their operating rates during the second half of 1976, but when consumption did not materialize, inventories rose, and the market suffered some severe price discounting. World zinc stocks have continued to rise and are presently 1.0 million tons, the producer prices of zinc remained steady throughout 1976, and the first quarter of 1977, at 37 cents U.S. in North America and 36 cents U.S. overseas. Brunswick is currently benefitting from the reduced Canadian dollar. However, discounting continues.

"The poor performance of the zinc market was somewhat offset by the dramatic improvement in the lead market. Western world lead consumption improved by 10 per cent during 1976 while production increased only 7 per cent. It continues to be in strong demand due chiefly to higher battery sales. Demand is firm, stocks are below normal, and prices have been rising. The London Metal Exchange price rose from a low of 15 cents per pound in 1976, to a high of 35-½ cents in March of this year before settling at 31 cents, in line with the producer price in the United States and Canada.

"The L.M.E. copper price rose from a low of 53 cents per pound in January 1976, to a high of 75 cents in March of this year and is currently at 64 cents. Present production rates and world copper stocks of 2.2 million short tons are more than adequate to supply foreseeable requirements and it is difficult to see a significant upturn in the near future.

"There are ample supplies of silver available to meet projected demand and the price is expected to remain in the $5 range.

"Regarding the outlook for this year, both the mine and smelter operations are performing at high levels of output and efficiency. Metal markets and prices over the short term are uncertain and will be the controlling factors in our profitability this year. Over the long term, we remain confident that metal prices will be adequate to provide reasonable profits from our operations."

FIRST CONFIRMATION AT CHURCH IN TWO DECADES

Confirmation services at Our Lady of Grace Mission Church at Big River last Friday, June 13, marked the first time these rites were held there in 20 years. Msgr. Edgar Godin, Bishop of Bathurst, conferred the Sacrament of Confirmation upon 27 boys and girls in the 40-year-old church which was filled to capacity for the occasion. He was assisted by Rev. Yvon Boudreau, parish priest, and Msgr. R. Nadeau, secretary to the Bishop. The junior choir, under the direction of Miss Rita Boudreau, rendered the following hymns, The Spirit Is A Moving; Sing Alleluia, Alleluia; All That I Am, and They'll Know We Are Christians. Lunch was prepared by the ladies of the parish. Those confirmed include: Wayne Babin, Jan Helene Babin, Irene Catherine Blanchard, James Boucher, David Joseph Chiasson, Mary Paula Chiasson, Earl Joseph Chisholm, Lisa Ann Daigle, Mary Lucie Glazier, Stephen Alderic Daniel Glazier, Edward Gray Jr., Rodney Lerocque, Michel Lavigne, Deborah Ann Lecouter, Kenneth Leet, Donna Lee Legacy, Julia Legacy, Karen Ann Lemieux, Vivian Anne MacKenzie, Patrick Robert Pitre, Wanda Marie Pitre, JoAnne Louise Turpin, Shirley Ross, Beverly White, Kimberly Jane White, Kim Wilbur and Percy Wilbur. The children's catechism teachers are Mrs. Jeannine White and Miss Rita Boudreau. The church, also known as the Pabineau Falls Mission Church, was constructed in 1937. It has a seating capacity of 160, and services are held regularly every Sunday. Recent renovations have been completed in the basement as well as the exterior of the building.

NEW SLATE OF OFFICERS NAMED AT ANNUAL MEETING

The annual general meeting of the Bathurst Figure Skating Club was held May 12 at the Kinsmen Community Centre. The meeting was chaired by Sandra Riordon, president of the Club. Correspondence and reports from the various committees were read and approved. A discussion concerning the discontinuance of the Technical Director program, concluded that this would be a step backward for figure skating in the province. It was reported that Donald Morgan, Millville, N.B. was the winner of the Pontiac Ventura car draw sponsored by the N.B. Figure Skating Association. Election of officers for the 1977-78 season was held with the following persons being named. From the left are: Louis Bertin, 1st vice-president; Linda Lee, treas.; Roswitha Derbuch, chairman ice show; Betty Bouma, skater development; Sandra Riordon, president; and Susan Petrie, secretary. Missing from photo are: Greta Thurber, national skater test chairman; Ron Scott, past president; Ann Marie Gammon, 2nd vice-president; Faye Faulds, Patricia Edwards and Mary Gavin, test, publicity and membership chairmen respectively; Blanche Caissie, ways and means; Gladys Carrier, telephone; and Mae Branch, luncheon. The meeting approved the recommendation that Betty Bouma and Pat Edwards attend the Canadian Figure Skating Association annual meeting to be held in Halifax, May 27 - 29.

Master John Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carey, who underwent recent eye surgery at Chaleur General Hospital, returned home last Thursday.

Inquest Called Into Shooting

An inquest into the shooting death of a Campbellton man in Grand Anse early Saturday is planned for June 1 according to Gloucester County Sheriff and Coroner Roland Levesque.

Jean Basque, 32, was pronounced dead on arrival at Chaleur General Hospital after being hit at close range by a shotgun blast to the head. The wound was reportedly inflicted by a single blast from a 20 gauge shotgun believed loaded with bird shot.

Placed under observation and police guard in Caraquet hospital following the incident was 74-year-old Leonard Pinet.

The mishap, which is being investigated by Caraquet RCMP and the department's GIS branch, occurred shortly after midnight Friday in a home in Grand Anse.

The victim, a former resident of that community, had taken up residence in Campbellton but returned to Grand Anse to live with his parents about a week ago.

Debbie MacDermid, clinic co-ordinator for the club, prepares for the English event.

Clinic To Kick Off Riding Season

The Bathurst Horsemen's Club is getting off to a quick start this season with two events planned for upcoming weekends.

An English riding clinic is set for this weekend, May 21 - 23, at the Exhibition Grounds with instructors Mr. and Mrs. Andre Godin, formerly of Montreal and now residing in the Miramichi area.

On Sunday, May 29, all members of the club will be involved in a "Funday" which will include pleasure and game classes for both horses and ponies.

The public is cordially invited to take in both activities.

Canada Vs Italy Hoop Contest Set For Fredericton

Basketball New Brunswick has advised that Canada's National Basketball team will play Italy in Fredericton June 12, in one of five games to be played in Canada as part of the Intercontinental Cup, an International Basketball Tournament sponsored by the F.I.B.A. the International Basketball Association.

Canada is fourth-ranked and Italy fifth heading into the Cup competition which gets underway today, May 18, in Europe.

Games in North America will be held the first two weeks in June and include the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia vs Canada in Winnipeg, a Canada vs Israel contest in Windsor, Ontario, and a Belgium vs Canada game in Ottawa as well as the Fredericton game. The remaining four countries from North and South America are Mexico, United States, Brazil and Argentina.

Tickets for the Canada-Italy game are available at 767 Brunswick Steet (Brunswick House) Fredericton or write "Intercontinental Cup", P. O. Box 456, Fredericton, N.B. All tickets are $3.00 and are available on a first come first served basis as only limited seats are available. Make cheques payable to Basketball New Brunswick.

The game will be played at the U.N.B. Lady Beaverbrook Gym and is set to start at 4:00 p.m., Sunday, June 12.

Gowan Brae Ladies Plan Get-Together

Gowan Brae Lady members are invited to bring along guests to the first social event of the season.

A Get Acquainted Party is being planned for Saturday, May 28 from 10 a.m. until noon. This fun occasion is being prepared by Pat Buzas, Alice Crutchfield, Mary Gavin and Edythe Hatheway.

So come along and renew last year's friendships and get acquainted with new members and guests of the '77 season.

Rising costs plus concern over drinking too much caffeine are reasons to examine some coffee alternatives: tea, noncaffeinated cereal beverages; milk; hot chocolate, bouillon.

Thank you to all my workers and those who supported me on May 9, 1977. It was a pleasure to have represented Hachey Ward on City Council for the past three years.

Merci à tous mes travailiants et ceux qui m'ont supporté le 9 mai 1977. Il m'a fait plaisir d'avoir eu représenté le quartier Hachey pendant les trois dernieres années au conseil de ville.

GRATEFUL FOR SUPPORT

I would like to thank the people of Bathurst who supported me at the polls on May 9 and worked on my behalf during the campaign.

I would also like to congratulate the successful candidates.

Although I was not a successful candidate I will continue to strive for a better Bathurst on behalf of all citizens.

Tigers Dominate Final NSHL All Star Team Selections

It should come as no surprise to area hockey buffs that Campbellton Tigers, recent winners of the Canadian Intermediate Hockey championship, should dominate the final North Shore Hockey League all star selections.

Such was the case last week when the Tigers placed four on the team after final tabulations were released. Bathurst Alpines completed the team gaining the other two selections.

In addition to the player selections, Campbellton's GM Arnold Firlotte was named manager-of-the-year, and coach Gerry (Red) Ouellette picked up coach-of-the-year honors. They replace last year's winners from the Alpines - Jack Furlotte and coach Hubert Pouliot.

Tiger players selected were centre John Wood; winger Dave Wisener, defenceman Luc Tessier and goaler Mike Frawley. Veteran defenceman Denis Langlais of Bathurst topped the voting for defencemen and winger Mike Morton, the other Alpine to make the squad, beat out Dalhousie's Luc Bonneville for the right wing post.

Wisener, most valuable player in the playoffs, trailed Bathurst's Jack Roy 20 - 19 in the mid-season voting, but roared back in the final half outscoring Roy 25 - 15 for an overall margin of 44 - 35.

Tiger centre John Wood topped Michel Hamel of Bathurst for the centre ice position. Wood picked up 28 points in the mid-season tabulation to 16 for Hamel and then coasted home with 15 in the second half. Hamel retired in mid-season and failed to get a point in the second half. Campbellton's John Marie Bouchard who didn't get a point in the first half came back with 14 in the second but failed to catch Hamel.

Of all the All Star voting positions, the closest was for the goaltending post where Frawley edged Bathurst's Glen Seperich 54 - 48 after leading 26 - 24 at the halfway point.

Bathurst Boxers Win One, Lose Two

Three members of the Bathurst Boxing Club took part in the boxing card at Tide River last Saturday against Bill McGrath's Boxing Club. Bathurst came up with only one win but the two losses were by extremely close decisions.

Bathurst's Michel Roy defeated Mike Gallant in the 80 lb. class and this was a big win for Michel as he had lost to Gallant in their two previous bouts.

Robert Duclos, 147 lbs., the current New Brunswick Intermediate Welterweight champion, lost a split decision in a close contest with Gilles Nadeau, 147 lbs. the provincial senior welterweight champ.

In the other bout involving Bathurst boxers, Albert Cormier at 133 lbs. lost out to Richard Poirier, 139 lbs., the N.B. lightweight champion. These last two bouts were good, solid crowd-pleasing fights and served as preparation bouts for the two Bathurst boys who will be leaving Fri. for North Bay, Ontario and the Canadian Amateur Boxing Championships this weekend, May 21 - 22.

Donations Needed

Bathurst coaches Nick Kovats and Leigh Morrison have been informed recently that there are no provincial funds available to send these Bathurst boys, both provincial champions, to the Canadian Championships in North Bay.

This means that the necessary funds must be obtained from local support and anyone wishing to offer a donation is asked to contact either of the above coaches. It should be noted these boys have been training hard and continuously over the past year in preparation for these Canadian championships and it seems a shame they may be deprived of representing the City at this event for lack of funds. In this regard the Bathurst club urgently requests support from sports-minded individuals and companies in the Bathurst area.

The club is presently trying to put together a fight card within the next few weeks in its efforts to maintain boxing in the city and also to help defray costs of the trip to North Bay.

Bay Chaleur Baseball Loop To Remain Within NBFAB

Suspense for many came to an end Sunday when Bay of Chaleur Baseball League president, Arnold Watson of Bathurst announced the 12-team circuit will register with the New Brunswick Federation of Amateur Baseball after all.

The announcement came at a meeting between BCBL representatives and Scott Harvey of Fredericton, NBFAB president and Darrah Peterson, president of the N.B. Umpires Association at the Beresford Church Hall.

Over one month ago, Watson made public the league's intentions of pulling out of the NBFAB unless certain questions were answered and unless cooperation between the BCBL and the NBFAB improved.

"The main grievance we had," Watson related in an interview, "was that in past years, we didn't receive correspondence from the NBFAB at a reasonable time. It always arrived much too late."

As an example of the problem, Watson earlier stated the league did not receive a constitution from the federation until shortly before the playoffs started.

"That problem has already been rectified though," Watson put in, "because so far we've received information from the NBFAB that we haven't received in past years until a later date. It looks like things will work out okay."

Watson also claimed earlier a fair amount of discrimination existed in previous seasons but "I don't think it was intentional. Scott apologized for the things that may have been discriminating and said he would make an attempt to stop these things from happening in the future."

"I felt really optimistic after the meeting that things will work out," Watson added. "We gave a little and Scott gave a little, and things went perfect. Before the meeting I thought things could be worked out but I just want to thank Scott for coming all the way here to meet with us and to hear us out."

CONGRATULATIONS AND THANKS . . .

I wish to congratulate my successful opponent, Claire Hodgins, on her election as representative for Sub-District No. 6 on the School Board of District No. 4.

By the same token, I wish to extend my thanks to those who voted for me and or promoted my candidacy.

My past association with the members of the Board and other officials of the school system has been an interesting, pleasant and rewarding experience.

Mrs. W. Ward Dies In Hospital

The death of Mrs. Wilfred Ward of Pointe Verte occurred May 14 at Chaleur General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born at Trois Rivieres, Que., she was the former Juliette Benoit, a daughter of the late Victor and Blanche (Villancourt) Benoit.

Mrs. Ward had resided in Montreal until she moved to the Bathurst area eight years ago.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Muriel Lingley of Lower Sackville and Mrs. Herman Aubie (Pauline) of Bathurst; two brothers, Emilien and Gaston, both of Montreal; four sisters, Mrs. Louisette Cayer and Mrs. Rene Auger (Carmen), both of Montreal, Mrs. Gerard Garceau (Gertrude) of Trois Riviere, Que. and Sister Pauline of Burbank, Calif.; and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Ward rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home, Bathurst.

The funeral was held at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church Tuesday at 4 p.m. followed by interment in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. W. Ward Dies In Hospital

The death of Mrs. Wilfred Ward of Pointe Verte occurred May 14 at Chaleur General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born at Trois Rivieres, Que., she was the former Juliette Benoit, a daughter of the late Victor and Blanche (Villancourt) Benoit.

Mrs. Ward had resided in Montreal until she moved to the Bathurst area eight years ago.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Muriel Lingley of Lower Sackville and Mrs. Herman Aubie (Pauline) of Bathurst; two brothers, Emilien and Gaston, both of Montreal; four sisters, Mrs. Louisette Cayer and Mrs. Rene Auger (Carmen), both of Montreal, Mrs. Gerard Garceau (Gertrude) of Trois Riviere, Que. and Sister Pauline of Burbank, Calif.; and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Ward rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home, Bathurst.

The funeral was held at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church Tuesday at 4 p.m. followed by interment in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. Henry Doucet

Funeral Thursday

The death of Mrs. Henry R. Doucet occurred suddenly May 16 at her home in Nigadoo. She was 79.

Born at Nigadoo, she was the former Lea Arseneau, a daughter of the late Alex and Rose (Doucet) Arseneau. She was a lifetime resident of the community.

Surviving besides her husband are five daughters, Mrs. Lionel Frenette (Matilda) of Bathurst, Mrs. Donat St.Onge (Marie-Anne) of Pointe-a-la-Garde, Que., Mrs. Rosa Bois of Campbellton, Mrs. Edmond Cormier (Bertha) and Mrs. Alcime Arseneau (Clarisse), both of Moncton; four sons, Valmond and Alderic, both of Nigadoo, Willie of Ormemee, Ont. and Clement of Montreal.

Three brothers, Joseph Arseneau of Campbellton, Frank Arseneau, Dalhousie and George Arseneau of Shippegan; 38 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Doucet is resting at Verret's Funeral Home, Nigadoo.

The funeral will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at St. Polycarpe Church in Petit Rocher.

Death Occurs In 89th Year

MAISONNETTE — The death of Miss Basilice Landry occurred May 13 at the age of 88.

She is survived by several nephews and nieces.

Miss Landry rested at Le-Gresley's Funeral Home in Grand Anse.

The funeral was held at St. Theophile Church in Maisonnette Tuesday at 4 p.m.

IT'S GREAT TO BE BACK!

The voters in Michaud Ward have paid me a signal honor by electing me by acclamation and I am truly grateful.

I am looking forward with keen anticipation to resuming a seat on City Council after an absence of three years.

The welfare of the residents of Michaud Ward in particular, and of the entire city in general will be, as in the past, my one and only concern.

HILAIRE BRIDEAU

Je suis content d'etre revenu.

Un grand merci aux voteurs de quartier Michaud pour m'avoir elu par acclamation comme leur conseiller.

La confiance que vous me donnez m'encouragera à travailler de mon mieux pour vous.

Acadian Village Set For June 28 Opening

Regional Economic Expansion (DREE) Minister Marcel Lessard and Premier Richard Hatfield have announced that August 15 has been chosen as the date for the ceremonies marking the official opening of the Acadian Historical Village.

The historical site will, however, be open to the public as early as June 28 (not May 28 as stated in earlier releases). It will remain open until September 11.

Mr. Hatfield explained that August 15 has been chosen as the date for the official ceremonies because "this day is a national holiday for Acadians and it is very appropriate that the opening ceremonies of the village coincide with the Acadian festivities."

The program of special activities planned by the organizing committee includes a Mass to be held on the morning of the 15th at Sainte-Anne-de Bocage. The Mass will be concelebrated by a group of Acadian prelates and will be followed by a visit to the village by the dignitaries.

The village will open in the early afternoon for the opening ceremonies which will take place inside the village.

"Naturally the general public is cordially invited to attend the opening ceremonies," said Mr. Lessard, "since this project was planned and carried out for all the citizens."

The day will end with an open-air concert featuring several Acadian performers.

The building costs of the Acadian Historical Village, located along the North River between Grand Anse and Caraquet, were shared by the federal and provincial governments through the Northeast New Brunswick FRED agreement.

At Series Of Meetings

Dr. Ralph C. Chalmers has returned from attending the annual Conference of the Institute of Human Values, St. Mary's University, Halifax.

Dr. Chalmers also attended the annual meeting of the Board of the Institute of which he is a member. About 60 professors were present from universities in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, New Jersey, California and England.

The Board made plans for a third conference next May as well as the expansion of the work of the Institute with industrial and political leaders.

Dr. and Mrs. Chalmers also attended the convocation of the Atlantic School of Theology in All Saints Cathedral, Halifax, on April 29th, as well as the convocation exercises of Mount Allison University, May 7 - 9.

Dr. Chalmers represented the Atlantic School of Theology in the academic procession at Mount Allison on May 9.

Potential Of Nepisiguit River Outlined By Salmon Specialists

The regular monthly meeting of the Nepisiguit Salmon Association was held on Wednesday, May 11, at the Bathurst High School, with some 125 members and guests in attendance.

A special guest and principal speaker was Dr. Wilfred Carter, a vice-president and executive director of the international Atlantic Salmon Foundation, based in St. Andrews, N.B.

Other guests included E. W. Burridge, director of the Enhancement Division of the Fisheries and Marine Service, Ottawa, representing Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc, William Hooper, a senior biologist with the N.B. Dept. of Natural Resources and Gary Turner, head of special projects, Fisheries and Marine Service, Halifax, N.S.

The general topic of the meeting, the rehabilitation and development of the Nepisiguit River as a major salmon producer, along with the role of the Nepisiguit Salmon Association, was outlined in a brief presented to the guests and delivered to the membership at large.

The brief stated that while one of the main objectives of the association, the scheduling of the Nepisiguit from Grand Falls to the mouth for fly fishing only, due to begin July 1st, had at last been accomplished. This was but one small step, and much remained to be accomplished.

The brief stressed the disappointment of the associaton that while federal authorities in Ottawa state that they realize the vast potential of the Nepisiguit and that it is their No. 1 priority, they also state that there are no funds available for development, even for limited follow-up studies on previous work, essential at this time. In addition, the stocking program initiated in 1974 has been curtailed, as supposedly there are no stocks available.

Dr. Carter, a native of Gaspe, and a recognized world authority on the Atlantic Salmon, stressed the need for restoration of the salmon population, particularly where stocks have not as yet dropped below minimum survival levels. Once the fish are gone, it becomes a near unsurmountable task to bring them back.

He cited the Connecticut river, a once famous salmon river where salmon became extinct. After of intense effort and the expenditure of vast sums, one salmon was finally brought back in 1976.

The contract, the Saint John river, where the salmon run had dropped to a low of 1000 fish in 1968, was restored to major status by 1976, with a run in excess of 20,000 salmon.

This was accomplished by stream improvement, pollution abatement, and a massive stocking program from the Mactaquac fish hatchery.

In the same way could the Nepisiguit, with the inclusion of the fish-way at Grand Falls, be developed to its full potential in the same span of time.

Dr. Carter stated that the Atlantic Salmon, which took eons to develop, has steadily declined for the last 300 years, disappearing completely from many parts of the world, mainly due to the depreditations of man.

As one of the few remaining major producers of salmon, it is of the utmost importance to develop and utilize the full potential of any major river systems such as the Nepisiguit.

He emphasized the need for complete community involvement in pressing for this development, due to the economic benefits derived from plentiful stocks of salmon, as visiting anglers leave behind fresh capital.

Therefore all public spirited groups should support the preservation and propagation of the salmon, and the proposed development of the Nepisiguit river.

E. W. Burridge spoke briefly, praising the young organization for their enthusiasm and dedication, and advocating continued pressure to achieve their aims.

William Hooper presented an excellent talk, backed up by impressive figures, on the potential of the Nepisiguit, along with its socio-economic impact on the community.

He stated that, as a conservation estimate, the Nepisiguit system could support and sustain a run of salmon in excess of 30,000 annually, once developed to full potential. He also pointed out that in view of increased angler pressure on existing salmon streams, it is essential to develop such major systems as the Nepisiguit.

In this regard, Mr. Hooper advocated continued and increased pressure by all concerned on appropriate authorities for this required development. He also mentioned that Eastern Canada, and in particular, Northern New Brunswick, should press for their fair share of enhancement dollars.

As no satisfactory answer was forthcoming as to why adequate funds were not available to continue work on the Nepisiguit during 1977, Mr. Burridge was asked to convey to the Hon. Romeo LeBlanc a strong request that funds for the continuation of this essential development be found and allocated immediately.

Several questions from the floor were answered by the speakers, with able assistance from Gary Turner.

Discussed were the proposed renewal of a limited commercial fishery in 1978; the importance of leaving "green belts" along not only rivers, but all feeder streams as well, in order to maintain both level and quality of water.

Also discussed was the need for regulations pertaining to mackerel nets in the Bay of Chaleur; the need for stiffer fines for poaching; and the urgent need for a larger protective force.

The Nepisiguit Salmon Association was encouraged and enlightened by the co-operation and expertise of the guests, and wishes to publicly thank them for their participation.

The next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 1st, at the DNR building on Vanier Blvd.

Appointment Is Announced

Premier Richard Hatfield has announced the appointment of John S. Astle as comptroller of the province.

He succeeds Glendon Graham who was recently named deputy minister of supply and services. The appointment takes effect today.

Mr. Astle joined government service in New Brunswick in 1970 as manager of audit and management services in the hospital services division of the department of health. From July, 1972, until his present appointment, Mr. Astle was director of finance and administrative services in the department of health.

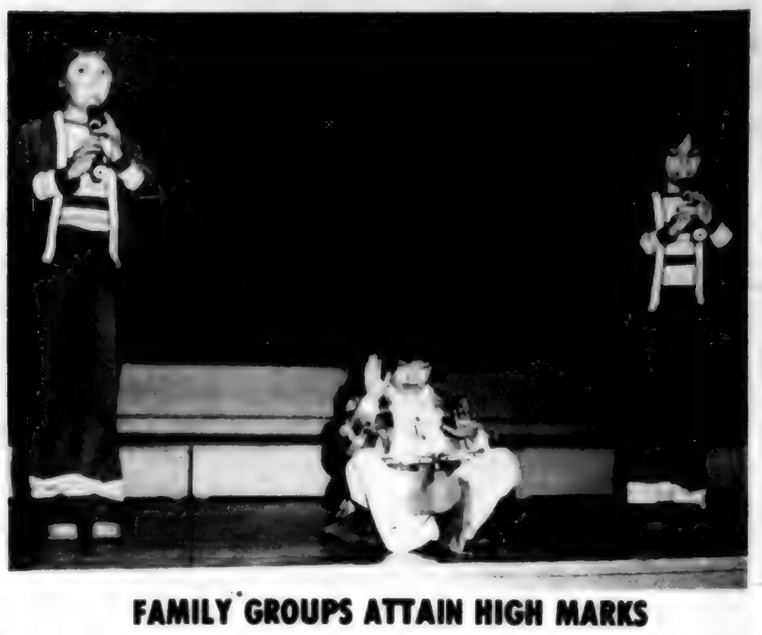
Prior to coming to New Brunswick Astle served from 1959-70 as director of finance at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal. Before that he was auditor for a Montreal chartered accountant firm.

Mr. Astle, 46 years old and bilingual, received his early education at Metis Beach, Quebec. He later attended high school in Ste. Anne de Bellevue and graduated from the Ontario Business College in 1949.

He received the degree of bachelor of commerce from McGill University in 1953 and through the same institution gained chartered accountant qualifications in 1955. He qualified as a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Quebec in 1956.

Married to the former Joyce McAllister of Bryenton, N.B., Mr. Astle is a former treasurer of the Fredericton YM-MWCA, current treasurer of the Fredericton Curling Club, former chairman of the board of trustees of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and a member of the council of the New Brunswick Institute of Chartered Accountants.

He and his wife, a barrister at law, have four children.



FAMILY GROUPS ATTAIN HIGH MARKS

At the "Concert of the Stars" May 4, family group ensemble from Beresford presented as an instrumental selection, "Va va ma petite Jeannette" for which they had received a mark of 90 during adjudications. The trio, children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Savoie, left to right are: Charline, Michele and Marc-Andre Savoie. Their music teacher is Mrs. Aline Parent. The family groups of Mrs. Jean Boylan and Mrs. Ann Legere also received marks of 90.

WINS MOTHER'S DAY CONTEST

Mrs. Doris Good, 990 O'Neil Ave., was the winner of the Mother's Day Contest sponsored by CKBC recently. Mrs. Good became eligible when her 9-year-old son Jeffrey entered her name for the draw. The grand prize was, a dinner for two at La Flamme Beverage Room, 12 red roses compliments of Oliver's Garden, and a Bulova ladies watch from CKBC. Wally Haley (left), promotion manager, made the presentation.

MS MOTHER OF THE YEAR HONORED

Bathurst MLA Eugene McGinley presents Mrs. Jeannine Paulin of Caraquet with a bouquet of carnations in recognition of her selection by Bathurst Chapter as Multiple Sclerosis Society Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Paulin and her husband Edmond are the parents of two sons, aged 12 and 9. She has been a MS patient for the past ten years.

During the presentation to Mrs. Paulin, Mr. McGinley, who is the honorary chairman of the Carnation Day campaign for Bathurst, said the cause and cure of MS remain unknown and the potentially crippling neurological disease affects over 35,000 Canadian men and women.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada is the only national voluntary health agency supporting MS research, providing research co-ordination with other countries and supplying services for people who have the disease, Mr. McGinley said.

Multiple Sclerosis most often strikes in the prime career and family-building years between 20 and 40. The disease may distort and block nerve impulses controlling such vital functions as speech, sight and co-ordination.

Deafness is a handicap of communication. The deaf may not hear but they can communicate. In most jobs the usual method of instruction is demonstration. You show the worker how to do it. May is Hearing Awareness Month - a good time to hire the deaf.

Delegates To H-S Workshop

Members from various home and school groups in New Brunswick met at the Memramcook Institute April 22-24 to participate in a bilingual workshop focused on leadership training. The project was funded by the Secretary of State Department and organized to fulfill a three-fold purpose:

- To further bilingualism in New Brunswick through participation of French-speaking and English-speaking home and school association members.
- To explore the practical application of discovery groups for the parents of pre-school children throughout the province, and
- To take part in an intensive leadership program for home and school members.

Delegates to the conference were welcomed April 22 by Mrs. Flora Cormier, president of the French-speaking section of the New Brunswick Federation of Home and School Associations, whose group organized and conducted the workshops. Doug Dougherty, president, brought greetings from New Brunswick Federation of Home and School and expressed pleasure in the aims and objects of the conference, and for the opportunity for the two groups to work together.

Introduction to the workshops on discovery groups was presented by Dr. Blanche Bourgeois of Cocagne, immediate past president of the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation, and a past president of the New Brunswick federation as well. An atmosphere of good-will and co-operation was developed during the opening get-acquainted session which was to continue through the entire weekend workshop.

Interest in the establishment of Discovery Groups for the parents of pre-school children has been growing in home and school organizations across Canada over the past few years. As an introduction to the April 23 morning workshop on Discovery Groups, Mrs. Claudia Whalen, professor of psychology at St. Thomas University, explained the needs and growth of the pre-school child from birth onward, and stresses the fact that the quality of a child's homelife and development during the pre-school years will determine the personal and scholastic development on the following years and throughout his or her lifetime.

Dr. Blanche Bourgeois chaired the workshops on Discovery Groups, in which the raison d'etre, the organization, and practical value of such groups was explored, and how they would meet the needs of these particular parents.

The establishment of Discovery Groups will be undertaken by home and school assns. in New Brunswick as a service to the community and such parents need not become members of home and school associations. The goal for such groups will be to help young parents recognize and better meet the needs of these pre-school children on a physical, intellectual, emotional and cultural level.

During the workshops, simultaneous translation of a very high quality greatly added to the spontaneity and effectiveness of the discussions.

An enjoyable and educational period of music was presented Saturday evening, April 23 by master of ceremonies Maurice LeBlanc which highlighted a birthday celebration to honour Dr. Bourgeois.

A short but intensive leadership training workshop was conducted Sunday morning, April 24 by the Rev. Reno Desjardins, director of research for the Universite de Moncton. Dr. Desjardins explored with the delegates the role of group leadership in goal setting, problem solving, decision making, participation and evaluation in group meetings, the value of brainstorming and other related topics.

During the closing session, Mrs. Phyllis Dixon, past president of the New Brunswick Federation of Home and School, and member of the English-speaking section of the federation, thanked the organizing team and stressed the feeling of fellowship and co-operation that prevailed during the entire weekend. She went on to point out that since it is known the two ethnic groups can work together for the good of children, there is definite encouragement that such rapport and unity can be carried into the broader fields of national life.

Delegates for the various parts of New Brunswick attended the meeting, including Madawaska, St. Stephen, Saint John, Shippegan, Caraquet, Dalhousie, Bathurst, Moncton, Cocagne and other areas. Those attending from the Bathurst area included Mrs. Alma Lagace and Mrs. Florine Rutledge from the Superior Home and School Association and Mrs. Doreen Young from the Belledune Home and School Association.

Safflower Oil

Safflower oil is pressed from the seeds of a plant that is grown on the West Coast and some Pacific Islands. Refined safflower oil is bland in flavor and almost colorless. It may be used as a salad or cooking oil. Production is limited and thus it is more expensive than other vegetable oils.

Badges Are Presented At Special Guide Event

Presentations of badges took place at a special meeting of 1st South Bathurst Guide Company held in the Guide room, in the basement of St. Theresa Church, on May 2 on which occasion many parents were present.

The presentations were made by Mrs. Jessica Ryan, Pabineau District Commissioner, and Miss Barbara Boyle, RN, a member of the St. John Ambulance Nursing Division who presented the Guides with their First Aid badges, having instructed them in this particular phase of their work.

A gift of appreciation was presented to Miss Boyle by the Guides.

In recognition of "Mother's Day", the Guides presented each mother with a potted plant which they themselves has prepared.

One Guide patrol presented an entertaining skit.

Many activities are planned, among them, a trip to Acadian Village in June, a six-day camp at Salmon Beach early in July, and the annual sale of cookies for which arrangements were made.

"Cookie Day" sales this year will be held May 12 - 14 inclusive.

Members of the Parents Committee served light refreshments at the conclusion of the program.

Company captain is Mrs. Joan Kovats and the lieutenant is Anna Garrett.

Badges were presented as follows:

Linda Glendenning: Creative craft, flower arranger, cook, first-aid, emergency helper and home-nurse (stage 2)

Mirielle Limoges: First aid, emergency helper, home nurse (stage 2).

Susan Moore: Little house emblem, cook, first-aid, emergency helper, home nurse (stage 2), toymaker, child care and knitter.

Kathy Kovats: Knitter, laundress, first-aid (stage 2), emergency helper, home nurse and B.P. emblem.

Paula Aubie: Cook, team sport, homemaker, first-aid (stage 2), emergency helper, home nurse and creative craft.

Brenda Lynn Duguay: Physical fitness emblem, snowshoe, dancer, first-aid (stage 2), emergency helper and home nurse.

Julia Legacy, Child care and baker.

Melda Hebert: Craft emblem, basket maker, knitter, aquarist, toymaker, snowshoe, creative craft, first-aid (stage 2), emergency helper and home nurse.

Vivian MacKenzie: Laundress, emergency helper, little house emblem, home nurse, hostess, child care, first-aid (stage 2).

Angela Duguay: Toymaker, first-aid (stage 2), emergency helper, home nurse.

Lynn Stever: First-aid (stage 2), emergency helper, home nurse, homemaker.

Beverly White: First-aid (stage 2), emergency helper and home nurse.

Cindy DeGrechie: Creative craft, flower arranger, first-aid (stage 2), emergency helper and home nurse.

Bridge Results

The May 9 weekly session of the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club resulted in ties for both first and second place standings.

Tied for first were Robert Baker and Dob Betts, Mrs. Glenda Stickles and Ray Poirier. In second spot were Mrs. Robert Maher and Mrs. Maurice Doucet, Messrs. Johnson and MacDougall of the Newcastle club.

Sessions are held at the J. Gordon Chalmers School library starting at 7:30 p.m. For information call either 546-5233 or 546-2142.

Supports Deanery's Objections To Off-note Viewing Programs

The regular meeting of the R.E.O. branch of Anglican Church Women was held in the R.E.O. Centre April 20 with nine members and three guests present.

President Donna Baker opened the meeting with a prayer composed by a prisoner of a Canadian penitentiary.

Roll call was carried out by Hazel Carroll while Kathy Brown, secretary, read the minutes which were adopted. Hazel Carroll presented the treasurer's report. Financial balances of the flower fund and social action committee were given.

In new business, discussion regarding the diocesan constitution committee took place. Mrs. Baker also informed members cassettes were available from the Diocesan Department.

It was decided, on motion of Mrs. Brown, seconded by Mrs. Carroll, that a cassette entitled "Hi, Kids, Do You Love Jesus" be purchased by the Family Life Department for the Sunday School Nursery.

Correspondence included three letters, the first from the president of the Chatham Deanery soliciting support in their efforts to object to media portrayal of violence, indifference to the sanctity of the home and marriage, greed, the glorification of alcohol and undue exploitation of sex. Mrs. Brown agreed to convey support of the branch by letter.

A thank-you letter for flowers, along with a thank-you from Isabel Murphy in Brazil were read.

A committee chosen for the May 14 rummage sale comprises Sybil Hills, Gloria Knowles, Beatrice Branch and Maxine Goodspeed.

The final meeting before the summer recess will be held at Danny's May 18 at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Baker closed the business meeting with a prayer and adjournment followed. A successful bring-and-buy sale rounded off the evening. Refreshments were served by Kathy Brown and Marian Henkes.

Win Prizes At Card Party

Regular weekly card parties on Thursday evenings conducted by the Maple Leaf Club for senior citizens on Demeresque Street will conclude the end of May. The last party will be held May 26.

Edmee Melanson was winner of the ladies' prize at the May 5 event and Albert Hachey captured the men's prize.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Melanson, Mrs. Ida Lavigne and Linda Cripps.

At the May 11 session, Mrs. Elsie Doucet was high scorer for the women and Mayor John Duffy picked up the men's prize.

Serving the lunch were Mrs. Roland Godin, Ida Lavigne and Phyllis Paquette.

By Marg Jamieson, Woman's Editor

Mrs. Wilbur MacDonald recently returned from Kennebecasis Park where she had been visiting since Easter with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Merle MacDonald and family. She earlier spent several months in Shippegan as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Douglas Blakely.

Miss Joan Heckbert who is employed with NB Tel, is convalescing at home after undergoing recent knee surgery in Chaleur General Hospital. Relatives and friends extended speedy recovery wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Watling have returned from Largo, Florida, where they spent the winter. En route home, they visited for a week at Fabreville, Que., with their daughter, Mrs. Joan McGovern and Mr. McGovern.

Mrs. Effie Audet who has been visiting since mid-April at Hamilton, Ont., the guest of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Heckbert, plans to visit her cousin, Miss Mamie Fournier at Piedmont, Que., before returning to Bathurst. En route to Ontario, Mrs. Audet accompanied her daughter, Miss Joan Heckbert, to Fredericton to spend Easter weekend with another daughter, Mrs. Robert Lamb and Mr. Lamb. They were accompanied to Fredericton by Miss Lucille Arseneau.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. LeBrocq, 960 O'Neil Ave., have returned after spending a month in Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginal T. Knowles, accompanied by their son John and their daughter Ellen, Clifton, spent several days at Wolfville, N.S., visiting their daughter, Miss Joan Knowles who has completed her third-year studies there at Acadia University. They then accompanied Miss Knowles to Halifax April 23 when she left via plane for summer employment in Waterton, Alta., at Glacier National Park.

Mr. and Mrs. John Olscamp and daughters Lynn, Carol and Bonnie from Moncton spent Mother's Day weekend visiting their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGraw and Mr. and Mrs. Ronaldo Olscamp and families.

Mrs. Charlie Chamberlain has returned to Belledune after spending the winter visiting her daughters, Mrs. James Keir, Mr. Keir and family, Napanee, Ont., and Mrs. Stan Kersep and family, Montreal. Mrs. Chamberlain spent last week in Dartmouth, N.S., with her son and wife, Corporal and Mrs. Barry Chamberlain and children, prior to the family's departure at the end of May to Alberta where Cpl. Chamberlain has been transfered to Base Cold Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Mann recently returned from a vacation in Portugal and while there, Mr. Mann attended the International Horner Seminar held on The Algarve.

Four Generations Pose Mother's Day At Tracadie

Mother's Day this year was also the occasion of the 97th birth for Mrs. Medric Hache (nee Sara Fleurie) at Tracadie.

Members of her family from the Bathurst and Moncton areas joined her in celebrating the double function at Foyer Sonier at Tracadie where she has been residing for the past four years.

Mrs. Hachey had been eager to see the newest of her 22 great-grandchildren, four-month-old Terry Lynn Boudreau, daughter of Roderique and Yvonne Boudreau (Chamberlain) of Beresford. Yvonne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Chamberlain (nee Albina Hache), of Rough Waters. Among the many family pictures taken was the above including four generations.

Terry Lynn, incidentally, is Bathurst's "New Year's Baby" the first born at Chaleur General Hospital in 1977.

Born at St-Germain, Madawaska County in 1880, Mrs. Hache moved to New Hampshire with her family at age 13 she married Medric Hache at Groveton, N.H. in 1903 and five children were born there. The family returned in 1913 to Canada where the remaining five children were born.

Mr. and Mrs. Hache who lived in Moncton for many years, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary there in 1962 when she was 82 years old. Her husband died in 1966 at the age of 89.

Mrs. Hache has seven surviving children. They are: Henry of Fredericton and Simon and Andre of Bathurst; Mrs. Adam Lavoie (Anita), Mrs. Alvin Chamberlain (Albina) and Mrs. Albert Duguay (Amanda), all of Bathurst and Mrs. John Mercure (Angelina) of Moncton. There are also 21 grandchildren.

Poster Contest Award Winner

A student at Belledune Elementary School has been chosen provincial winner at the grade 4 level of the New Brunswick poster contest on the "Environment", sponsored by the N.B. Home and School Federation.

Dawn Devereaux, whose teacher is Mrs. Carla Culligan, has early indicated a talent in drawing, having won honors in a Mother's Day poster contest last May at Bathurst while she was a grade 3 student.

DAWN DEVEREAUX

The 10-year old girl's entry was one of two chosen from the nine districts in this zone at the fourth grade level for submission at the provincial level. The northeastern zone includes all of Gloucester along with Restigouche and Northumberland County schools. Hundreds of posters were received for earlier judging in Bathurst.

The contest for grades 1 - 11 students in New Brunswick included any phase concerning environment chosen by the individual contestant.

Dawn is the daughter of Chester and Betty Devereaux, Armstrong Brook and has merited a plaque and $10 cash prize for her poster.

Social and Personal

Miss Annie Babin, Miss Sophie Blacquiere and Miss Lea Albert, Campbellton, were guests Sunday of Mrs. Linda Cripps. Miss Babin also visited with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Babin.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Bosca and daughter Miss Silvana Bosca and Mr. Douglas Williamson were among the over 250 guests attending the wedding of Miss Jeanette Demars and Mr. Vito LaScala held in Boston, Mass. on May 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hachey and family, Chatham, were guests over Mother's Day weekend of the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hinton. They also visited with Miss Essie McLean who has been a patient in Chaleur General Hospital for the past three months.

Provincial CWL Meeting At Moncton In June

His Excellency H. P. O'Connor, O.M.I., Bishop of Whitehorse, Yukon, will be guest speaker at the 30th annual convention of the New Brunswick Provincial Council of The Catholic Women's League of Canada. Bishop O'Connor, national director of the League, is making his first official visit to the provincial council.

The convention will be held June 3 - 5 at the University of Moncton. Hostess president is Mrs. L. H. Breen of the Moncton Archdiocesan Council. A pre-convention meeting is scheduled for 4:15 p.m., June 3, presided over by Provincial President Mrs. C. A. O. Morris, Riverview.

Registrations are from 2 - 9 p.m. Friday and resume at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Following Mass at 7:30 p.m. in the Lefebvre residence on June 3, opening ceremonies and the reception will feature an exhibit and art appreciation program by Joan Horton, a well-known local artist. This reception will be catered to by St. Theresa and Our Lady of Loretta Councils, Dieppe.

Business sessions commence at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Taillon Building. Greetings will be brought to the meeting by Rt. Rev. Donald C. Duffie, Fredericton, Provincial Director; Rev. J. Angus MacDonald, Moncton, Archdiocesan Director; and the four Diocesan presidents, Mrs. Donald Irvine, Bathurst; Mrs. Eveleigh Goodine, Edmundston; Mrs. L. H. Breen, Moncton; and Mrs. Gregory Cherry, Saint John.

Mrs. Burton Rideout, Fredericton, will present the secretary's report. The auditors' statement and financial report will be given by the treasurer, Mrs. F. B. Gillespie, Dorchester.

Throughout the morning the following conveners will report the work of the League and its members' accomplishments throughout the year: church life, Mrs. Joyner Toner, Grand Falls; organization, Mrs. Edgar Normandeau, Dalhousie; Christian family life, Mrs. Gerald Harper, Riverview.

Community life, Mrs. Leonce Leger, Saint John; cultural life, Mrs. Thomas Shannon, Grand Falls; historian, Mrs. J. C. Kean, Campbellton; and communications and public relations, Mrs. M. M. Emery, Moncton.

Resolutions pertaining to each convenership will be presented to the meeting for adoption or rejection by Mrs. George Keegan, Harvey Station, resolutions convener.

The afternoon sessions will feature an hour-long workshop involving the theme, "The Great Voice of God Cries Out for the Fullness of Life", under the direction of Msgr. Duffie and Mrs. Toner. Delegates will disperse into groups, each dealing with a convenership and its relation to the theme.

The convention banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Taillon Building. It will be chaired by the hostess president, Mrs. Breen. Featured artists will be the Acadian Singers.

Sunday sessions will include the report of the registration committee and the presentation of the scrap book award. Mrs. Thomas White, chairman of the elections committee, will conduct the election of the new officers who will be installed during the mass at 12:30.

General conveners for the three-day convention are Mrs. Gerald Harper, Riverview, and Mrs. Abbey Cormier, Dieppe.

ANN LANDERS

Press Promotions Promote Paradox

DEAR ANN: A recent column made me furious. I refer to the one in which you upbraided women for wearing flimsy negligees in elevators of high-rise buildings, to and from laundry rooms. Your insinuation that they were "looking for trouble" was enough to turn my stomach.

You, of all people, should know that rape has nothing to do with attire. It is the by-product of a sick society which regards women as sex objects and vulnerable playthings. Many rape victims are housewives who are attacked in their own homes, in broad daylight, while fully clothed, minding their own business.

How paradoxical that the very women who are encouraged by advertising and the media to look sexy and behave seductively are also expected to clamp on their chastity belts and combat boots when they go downstairs to do the laundry. Your suggestion that more modest apparel will rescue them from trouble is nonsense. -- Raped Elsewhere

DEAR ELSEWHERE: Granted, most rapes are acts of hostility, related to ANOTHER female, not the one attacked -- and most rapists are mentally unbalanced. BUT, sexy and provocative attire just might trigger something in a man's head that could excite him sexually.

Many experts will not agree, which is OK with me because I'm beginning to rely more on logic and common sense than on the double-dome material put out by the "experts".

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 15-year-old male. My problem is too much kissing. Ever since I was born, my parents have kissed me to pieces. I love them a lot, but I think being over-kissed has damaged my love life. I don't get a very big charge out of kissing girls. When I hear the other guys brag about the turn-on THEY get, I think something must be wrong with me.

I'm no psychiatrist, but I'm afraid too much home-style kissing has deadened me to the whole thing. Am I worrying needlessly? -- Over-Smooched

DEAR O.S.: Yes, you are. A 15-year-old kid should not expect it to be a Saturday night in Sioux City every time he kisses a girl.

There's a big difference between being kissed by Mom and Dad and the romantic variety. One has nothing to do with the other. So stop worrying and give yourself a few more years, Bub.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My "special friend" passed away three years ago. He was married and had grown children. I've always held good jobs and paid my own bills. When my friend died, his wife got everything.

We spent three evenings a week together so she must have known he had an outside interest.

The problem: I visit this man's grave every few weeks and there is no headstone. I'd like to put one up but no one must know I did it. Is this possible? -- Sweet Memories

DEAR SWEET: Unless his wife is an idiot she will guess who "did it".

Do yourself and the man's family a favor and leave his grave alone. If you have some money you don't know what to do with, make a donation to a worthy charity in his name.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Lander's booklet, "Marriage -- What to Expect", will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611, Enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Capital Team Wins Contest

A two-student team representing Fredericton High School, won the 1977 Chrysler Trouble Shooting Contest held at the University of Moncton.

The winners are: Stephen Fowler and Jeffrey MacQueen, both 17. Their victory over teams from other secondary and vocational schools in this area entitles them to compete in the National Finals of the Chrysler Trouble Shooting Contest to be held in Toronto, from June 20 to 22. There they will compete with 20 other regional champions from across Canada for scholarships totalling $6000.

National Winners advance to the International Chrysler Trouble Shooting Finals to be held in Mexico City in July.

Second place in the contest went to the team from McAdam Composite High School, while third place honors went to the team from Ecole Polyvalente Louis J. Robichaud, Shediac.

Some 18 schools took part in the competition. When the starting gun was fired, the teams raced to their assigned cars to find and repair a series of malfunctions deliberately rigged by Chrysler service technicians.

Before the practical mechanical test got under way, each team took a written examination that counted for 40 per cent of the team's final score. A special trophy for obtaining the highest marks on the written exam was presented to the team from the Prince County Vocational High School, Summerside, P.E.I.

Trouble Shooting is sponsored by Chrysler Canada Ltd. and local Dodge and Plymouth dealers to give recognition to student auto mechanics and to encourage them to pursue careers in automotive service.

The prize list in this year's competition totals more than $50,000 in scholarships, trophies, tools and automotive components for competing schools.

Competing from the Bathurst area were Robert Aube, 18, and Gaston Roy, 17, of Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit, under the instruction of Laurie Breau; and Melvin Losier, 19, and Leon Mallais, 17 of Polyvalente W. A. Losier, Tracadie, whose instructor was Olivier Sonier.

Industry Guide Now Available

The Department of Commerce and Development has published a new booklet to assist companies to locate in New Brunswick.

"Planning Industrial Projects is a guide to organizing and financing new manufacturing and processing industries within the province," Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew said in Fredericton May 12.

"We believe it will prove very useful for new companies wishing to establish here."

The booklet is a practical guide showing the necessary steps to take to judge the probably success of an industrial project.

It is designed to help a company develop a proposal for a new manufacturing venture by examining the proposal under various headings.

These include manufacturing details, labor and labor training, marketing and sales, and financing information, as well as basic information on such items as products, company structure and location.

In each of these areas, Planning Industrial Projects outlines the assistance available to new companies from the Department of Commerce and Development.

"We stress in this brochure that it is not necessary to receive financial assistance through the department in order to make use of its many other services," said Mr. Merrithew. "Department staff are available to assist and advise new companies in all phases of their project."

He added: "the Department has one major criterion for the companies it assists: will the proposed new industry be profitable within a reasonable amount of time, and after any initial financial benefits will it be able to exist and grow in its own right to be an asset to the province? In other words, will it be viable."

The booklet, which is available free of charge, is published separately in English and French.

Change Sought In War Veteran Legislation

The Northeast New Brunswick Veterans Association, at a meeting held at the Cultural Centre in Allardville, recognized what is felt to be an injustice towards the First World War veteran.

A section of federal government legislation states that the First World War veteran, unlike his counterpart of World War II, must have served 365 days overseas prior to November 12, 1918 in order to qualify for War Veterans Allowance.

The association wants a change of wording so that a veteran with 365 days' service, whether at home or overseas, could receive WVA benefits. Many of these older veterans really need this assistance, it was stated. The request will be made to the Department of Veterans Affairs.

It was further pointed out that a veteran of the Second World War must have served only one day overseas to qualify for WVA.

The four other resolutions passed at the meeting supporting beds for veterans at Chaleur General Hospital in Bathurst; a stepped-up procedure for the rendering of decisions on pension cases; Blue Cross coverage for veterans' wives and the continuation of payments to veterans' widows even though the husbands had received 47 per cent or less in disability pension.

Not only did members discuss veterans' assistance but they also considered social problems and the importance of working and sharing information with other veterans.

Establishing a fraternal relationship with other veterans is sometimes more important than monetary support, it was agreed.

Letters were read from Veterans' Affairs Minister Daniel MacDonald, A.O. Solomon of the Canadian Pension Commission, Winnipeg North MP Stanley Knowles, and Jack Knowles from Newfoundland, who is chairman of the veterans affairs committee in the House of Commons.

Association President J. Leo Hachey chaired the meeting and other members of the executive present included Edmond Ward, vice-president; Laurent Bertin, secretary treasurer, Romeo Theriault, executive director; and Alcide Godin, a director.

Swine Program Is Introduced

A new program aimed at increasing swine production in the province is now available under the one-year amendment to the Canada-New Brunswick agricultural development subsidiary agreement.

The new program will be patterned after the dairy industry development program.

It will provide technical staff to help producers develop better business management and production skills, training to upgrade existing production capability, and assistance to people wishing to enter the industry.

The new program also will provide a special herd service aimed at reducing losses by improving and maintaining herd health.

In addition, it will provide financial help to farmers qualifying for upgrading and modernization of existing facilities or construction of new ones.

The province and federal government through the Department of Regional Economic Expansion will fund the program. DREE will pay 80 per cent of the cost.

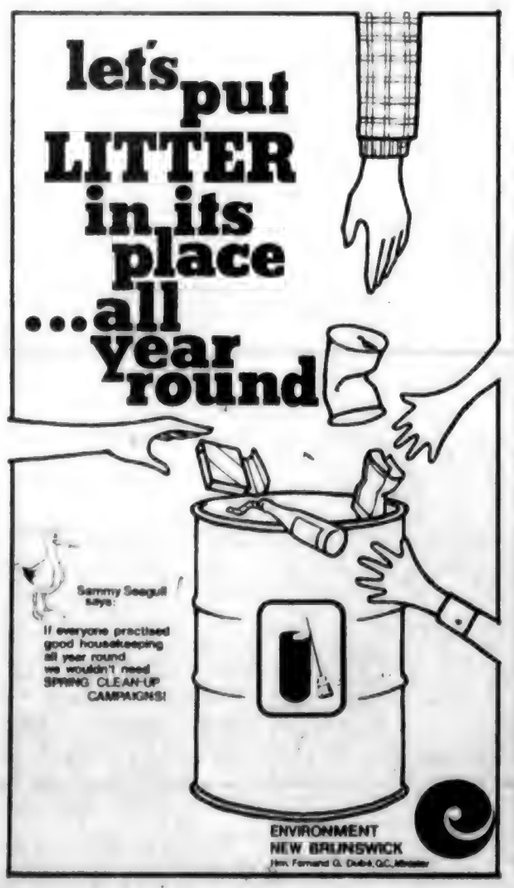
Farmers interested in the program should get in touch with their district agriculturist or the Director, Livestock and Poultry Branch, N.B. Department of Agriculture and rural Development, P. O. Box 6000, Fredericton, N.B.

To Perform At Arts Centre

Theatre Populaire d'Acadie of Caraquet joins groups from Montreal and Toronto beginning May 30 in a festival week at the National Arts Centre in Ottawa.

The Caraquet group, making its first visit to the arts centre, will present James Boudreau's Cochon et le Soleil, directed by Rejean Poirier. Theatre du Petit Bonheur, Toronto, will present four short works by Eugene Ionesco, directed by Eugene Gallant, and Theatre Populaire du Quebec will open the week with Murielle Dutil starring in Ronald Lepage's Le Temps d'une Vie, directed by Andre Page.

The special week is designed to reflect the interest at this time in the future of French minorities outside Quebec.



REWARD

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. and Belledune Fertilizer have sponsored a study of lobster rate of growth in the Bay of Chaleur. This research programme is being conducted by Noranda Research Centre.

Approximately 2,000 lobsters have been tagged since 1973; the tag is a metal wire encased in plastic.

Since we wish to monitor the growth of these lobsters over the past winter, any fisherman who traps a tagged lobster is asked to send or bring it with its tag to the Technical Superintendent at either plant, who will pay the commercial value of the lobster, plus a reward of 5.00; the tag must not be removed from the lobster. We would appreciate receiving the lobsters alive.

Recovery of these lobsters is expected to be in the Bay area from Dalhousie to Petit Rocher.

Should anyone have no way of returning the lobsters to us, please, call us at either 522-2100 or 522-5250 and we will arrange to pick them up.

GROUP PARTICIPATION LEADS TO SUCCESSFUL DAY

"Les Pirouettes" of Our Lady of the Rosary Parish Majorette Corps, directed by Mrs. Clara Doucet, held a rock-a-thon at the Kinsmen Centre (former Boys' and Girls' Club), Saturday May 7. The 85 youngsters ranging in ages from 6 to 15 years, kept an average of 40 rockers at a time to complete their 12-hour goal. Funds raised by the girls will go towards purchasing instruments, uniforms and to defray travelling expenses during the summer festivals in nearby centres.

Farm Safety Is Stressed

Farm Safety Week will be observed in New Brunswick May 23-29, according to Agriculture Minister Malcolm MacLeod.

Mr. MacLeod said the week has been designated to focus attention on the need for a good safety program around the farm.

"Farming has been hailed as a healthy outdoor occupation and so it is, but it is also hazardous ranging next to forestry and mining in the number and severity of accidents," the minister pointed out.

He added that improper use of farm machinery is not the only cause of accidents. Many injuries result from falls and others are caused by improper handling of pesticides. Farm animals are also a hazard, he said, and always must be treated with respect.

Mr. MacLeod noted that officials of the three Maritime agriculture departments recently expressed concern at a joint meeting that some farm tractor cabs are not safe in the case of roll overs.

A new Occupational Safety and Health Act has been introduced by Ottawa for agricultural tractors," he said. Under terms of the act new regulations state that tractors," over 20 horsepower used in agricultural operations must be equipped with roll over protective structures (ROPS) if employee operated. In addition all ROPS tractors must have a seat belt. The standard applies to all tractors, used by employees in agriculture operations, that have been manufactured since Oct. 25, 1976.

Although ROPS cabs or roll bars are generally more expensive it is money well spent and we encourage farmers to purchase approved ROPS equipment, he added.

The minister went on to say that farmers must also exercise extreme caution when handling pesticides.

"Knowledge is the key. Every person who clearly understands the hazards associated with pesticides will have the incentive to use them in a sound and effective manner, he said.

"There are many simple rules to follow when handling pesticides. The most important of these are heeding the warnings on the label and ensuring that pesticide containers are kept locked away well out of reach of children and animals.

"The use of pesticides will be with us for the foreseeable future so it is up to the user to handle them safely."

Accidents are preventable and the farm operator has a responsibility to himself, his family, and employees to try and eliminate as many hazards as possible to avoid accidents, Mr. MacLeod said.

"Farm injuries or death can change a happy family to a grief stricken family in a few seconds. As Minister of Agriculture I hope people will understand the intent of Farm Safety Week and practice good safety habits on their farm year-round.

Help The Police To Help You

(An article in keeping with National Police Week)

Most of us never think much about burglars and thieves feeling that it won't happen to us. After all, I'm not rich and I live in a quiet neighbourhood.

Did you know that most people who are the victims of thieves and robbers live in quiet neighbourhoods and most of them aren't rich either?

Let's fact facts! It can happen to you unless you take steps to prevent it; and if it does happen the police need your help to solve it and return your lost items.

Think Prevention!

1. Ensure that all doors and windows have proper locks and use them.
2. Leave a light on or a radio playing when you are away for a few hours. Simple timing devices can provide a lived in appearance in cases of longer absence.
3. Do not leave easily removed items in the yard unattended, lawn furniture, bicycles, etc. are prime targets for thieves.
4. Do not plant hedges or bushes which obscure windows and allow for undetected entry by burglars.
5. During vacation periods stop all milk, paper and mail deliveries and arrange to have grass cut regularly.
6. Leave forwarding address with a friend or neighbour and ask them to check property regularly. Leave a key if possible.
7. Report strange vehicles or pedestrians in your area.
8. Install blocks in windows to limit opening to less than adequate space to permit entry.
9. Do not keep large sums of money at home. Use the bank.
10. Record serial numbers of tools, appliances, bicycles, etc., and mark items with no serial number. Without such means of identification you cannot prove ownership in court if necessary.

Crime prevention is a shared responsibility between you and the police. Do your Share!

Putting A Thief Out Of Business

That's the name of the game or identification project both local police forces are supporting. The program is sponsored by the Kinsmen Club.

During Police Week, City Police and RCMP are having a display at the K mart Plaza entrance on the 19, 20 and 21 of May.

Members of Bathurst Kinsmen Club simultaneously will be showing their involvement in the community by selling invisible ink markers to the general public.

These invisible ink markers will enable people to mark all easily stolen valuables so they can be easily identified. Participants in the program are urged and cautioned to use their social security number only while doing this, as this number is strictly their own.

They will then advertise what they have done by displaying warning stickers where burglars can see them.

"Put a thief out of business" stickers on windows warn that anything stolen will be hard to sell, easily traced back and a sure ticket to jail for anyone caught with it in his possession.

The markers, costing $4.75, will be sold on evenings only on dates mentioned above. A low price pencil may be a long term investment for you and your belongings.

Enjoy Your Bike - But Safely

(An article in keeping with National Police Week)

Each year more and more bicycles appear on our streets and highways. Unfortunately, however, each year more and more bicycle drivers are injured and killed because of careless habits.

A bicycle is subject to the same laws as a car or motorcycle and must be driven in a responsible manner. The alternative is to tempt fate and very possibly lose.

Here are some common sense rules for bicycle operation.

1. Drive on the right side of the street or road, near the curb or shoulder.
2. Drive in single file when travelling in groups.
3. Be sure your bike is in good working order and properly equipped with good brakes, a light front and rear, and a bell or horn. A rear view mirror will increase your safety.
4. Obey all signs indicating "Stop", "Yield", and "One Way Do Not Enter."
5. Never ride double! Your bike was built to carry one person and no more.
6. Watch your speed - Don't lose control!
7. Wear light clothing while riding after dark.
8. Avoid busy streets, and walk your bike across busy intersections.
9. Stay alert! Don't rely on other people to avoid you.
10. License your bicycle and record license and serial number. In case of theft you must be able to prove owner ship.

Ride to Stay Alive!

Mill Future Yet Uncertain

A consultant's report on the Cirtex knitting mill at Caraquet indicates the operation would be viable and a sound investment prospect, Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew said May 11.

Mr Merrithew told the legislature his department is actively seeking another owner for the mill, shut down since December, but would not speculate on when it might re-open.

The province had invested $5-million in the mill, which closed when two major Japanese shareholders, Ataka Company Ltd. and Mitsubishi Rayon Co., withdrew from the project. Both companies suspended North American investments after losing millions of dollars on the ill-fated Come-By-Chance, Nfld., oil refinery.

The province retained an Atlanta, Ga., consulting firm, Kurt Salmon Associates, to carry out the feasibility study of the Cirtex mill.

The consultants say the plant, built in 1973, is "one of the most modern textile plants in North America," said Merrithew, adding that the chances of future success are enhanced by a "turnaround in the Canadian double knit industry."

He said the government will be stepping up its search for new owners of the plant and may retain the consulting firm to screen prospective investors.

However he told Onil Doiron (L-Caraquet) that he was not prepared to predict when the mill would be under new ownership or when it would be back in production.

Weekly Prayer Meeting Report

The Peace, Love, Joy Prayer Community held its regular Monday evening meeting at the House of Prayer May 9 when four newcomers were introduced and welcomed by the community

The theme of the reading dealt with the thought that one should "love and forgive even those who hurt us." The teaching offered four steps for healing relationships

1. We should allow our feelings to surface; admit that we feel angry, resentful, etc

2. We should desire a change of attitude

3. Admit we can't change ourselves and ask God to help us do this

4. Forgive the person who has injured us

The eucharist was concelebrated by Rev. Gregory Sampson and Rev. Gregory Culligan Hymns sung included Children Of The Kingdom and God's Wonderful People

Coffee, tea and fellowship followed at the close of the evening

Bible Reference: John 15:5 – "I am the vine, you are the branches Whoever remains in me, and I in him, will bear much fruit, for you can do nothing without me"

Course Offered In Hospitality

The Moncton campus of the New Brunswick Community College now offers a two-year hospitality management program. This two-year course provides the basic knowledge required in several phases of the accommodation and food and beverage service divisions of the industry.

The program is available to high school graduates, as well as to those who have experience in the industry and are able to meet the entrance requirements. This training opportunity may provide the individual with skills which after some guided work experience will open up job opportunities.

All those interested are advised to contact the Moncton Campus, P.O. Box 2100, Postal Station "A", Moncton, E1C 8H9.

Principal C.L. Dow said his staff will be pleased to discuss the possibilities of entry into the program with all interested persons.

In addition to classroom subjects, actual on-the-job training is emphasized in order to better prepare the student to enter directly into industry.

As summer employment is a necessary part of the program, the staff will assist the selected student between the first and second year in obtaining employment.

The students presently enrolled in the first-year program have all received summer employment.

Trust Company Profits Up

Henry B. Rhude, President of Central and Eastern Trust Company, has announced that profits for the first three months of 1977 were $1,697,000 or 32 cents per share compared to $1,549,000 and 29 cents last year, a 10 per cent increase. Total income grew 16 per cent to $27,486,000 for the quarter and expenses were up 16 per cent to $24,410,000.

At the recent board of directors meeting held in Halifax, the directors declared a dividend of 19 cents on the company's Class A shares and a dividend of 16.15 cents on Class B shares, both payable on July 1, 1977 to shareholders of record on June 9, 1977.

Assets of Central and Eastern Trust grew 13 per cent during the quarter to reach $1,025,569,000 and the mortgage portfolio amounted to $906,990,000 at March 31st.

In his quarterly report to shareholders Rhude said that the improved operating results reflect more favorable interest rates during the quarter "but were modified somewhat by a slower rate of growth in deposits and mortgage investments".

Favourable Response To 1977 Clean-Up Campaign

The 1977 Spring Clean-up Campaign has prompted a very enthusiastic response this year from community organizations, municipalities and business representatives across the province, according to Environment Minister Fernand G. Dube.

Dube said May 9 that this year's campaign is shaping up to be one of the most active thus far as groups from communities throughout New Brunswick organize their local clean-up activities.

"I'm particularly pleased to learn how many youth groups and community associations are lending a hand in this year's program. I have also received a number of very positive responses from both local and province-wide business concerns indicating a high commitment to the campaign objectives," Dube said.

"This year's program theme is 'Let's put Litter in its place all year round' and I'm hoping that the enthusiasm being generated this spring will carry on through the rest of 1977," the Minister said.

In addition to Environment New Brunswick, which is coordinating the three-week Spring Clean-up effort, the provincial Departments of Tourism, Transportation, Natural Resources, Municipal Affairs, Agriculture and Rural Development and the Provincial Secretary are also taking part.

The Department of Transportation is arranging for litter collection along provincial highways while pick-up programs within municipalities are being organized by local government officials, often in cooperation with community associations. Citizens wishing to obtain free garbage and litter bags for clean-up activities can contact local Environment or Tourism Officers, as well as the various community groups involved in the campaign.

The large number of community groups involved in the program to date includes: Moncton "Clean City" Organization; Restigouche Renewable Resources Association, which is organizing a forest clean-up campaign; the Sussex Kiwanis Club and the Sussex Boy Scouts; Belledune Youth Club; Murray Corner United Church Women's Group; the Baie Verte Youth Group; the Cap Pele Fire Department Clean-up Committee; the Bayfield Youth Group; the Dalhousie 'Mop-up' Committee and the Newcastle-Chatham Clean-up Committee, which involves all local school districts, government departments and CFB Chatham personnel.

In addition, positive expressions of support have been received from a wide-variety of business operations including: House of Hay-Kentucky Fried Chicken; A and W Drive-Ins; Texaco Canada; Petrofina Canada; Gulf Oil Canada; Imperial Oil; Atlantic Wholesalers, and C.N.R.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation to everyone playing a part in this year's Clean-up activity since an effort of this kind can only succeed if there is an enthusiastic response at the local level. I'm confident that this year's effort will produce beneficial results for all of us and help to increase concern for a clean environment on a year-round basis," Dube said.

Caraquet Event Well-Attended

Tourism Minister Fernand Dube has released the results of an economic impact study of the Festival Acadien held annually in Caraquet.

The study, conducted in August 1976, included personal interviews of the non-resident participants carried out at the event and a telephone survey of residents.

Mr. Dube stated the study determined that $456,932 in total expenditures may be directly attributed to the Festival Acadien. This expenditure was a measurement of monies spent by non-resident and resident participants during the festival.

The study showed approximately 11,835 persons, non-resident and resident, attended the Festival Acadien. Participants from New Brunswick represented approximately half the visitors.

Quebec ranked second as a source of visitors, accounting for 34.8 per cent. Ontario was third with seven per cent and visitors from the United States represented 2.8 per cent.

Approximately 83 per cent of visitors stayed overnight in the Caraquet area, with 46.3 per cent of this group staying with friends and relatives.

Mr. Dube said visitor awareness levels were very high, with 86 per cent of visitors indicating awareness of the Festival Acadien before leaving home.

A copy of the Festival Acadien Study is available in French and English from Tourism New Brunswick.

The Articles Of Faith Explain Mormon Beliefs

In 1842, at the request of Mr. John Wentworth, editor of the Chicago Democrat, the Prophet Joseph Smith prepared an article for publication giving a brief history of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. In this article, for the first time, was published a simple, comprehensive declaration of many of the church doctrines, The Articles of Faith.

Today, the question is still asked repeatedly by sincere investigators, "What do the Mormons really believe"? To answer this question as simply as possible, the following thirteen articles will give great enlightenment. These articles are still the basic principles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints today.

1. We believe in God, the Eternal Father, and in His Son, Jesus Christ, and in the Holy Ghost.

2. We believe that men will be punished for their own sins, and not for Adam's transgression.

3. We believe that through the Atonement of Christ, all mankind may be saved, by obedience to the laws and ordinances of the Gospel.

4. We believe that the first principles and ordinances of the Gospel are: first, Faith in the Lord Jesus Christ; second, Repentance; third, Baptism by immersion for the remission of sins; fourth, Laying on of hands for the gift of the Holy Ghost.

5. We believe that a man must be called of God, by prophecy, and by the laying on of hands, by those who are in authority to preach the Gospel and administer in the ordinances thereof.

6. We believe in the same organization that existed in the Primitive Church, viz., apostles, prophets, pastors, teachers, evangelists, etc.

7. We believe in the gift of tongues, prophecy, revelation, visions, healing, interpretation of tongues, etc.

8. We believe the Bible to be the word of God as far as it is translated correctly; we also believe the Book of Mormon to be the word of God.

9. We believe all that God has revealed, all that He does now reveal, and we believe that He will yet reveal many great and important things pertaining to the Kingdom of God.

10. We believe in the literal gathering of Israel and in the restoration of the Ten Tribes; that Zion will be built upon this (the American) continent; that Christ will reign personally upon the earth; and, that the earth will be renewed and receive its paradisical glory.

11. We claim the privilege of worshiping Almighty God according to the dictates of our own conscience, and allow all men the same privilege, let them worship how, where or what they may.

12. We believe in being subject to kings, presidents, rulers and magistrates, in obeying, honoring, and sustaining the law.

13. We believe in being honest, true, chaste, benevolent, virtuous and in doing good to all men; indeed, we may say that we follow the admonition of Paul - We believe all things, we hope all things, we have endured many things, and hope to be able to endure all things. If there is anything virtuous, lovely, or of good report or praiseworthy, we seek after these things.

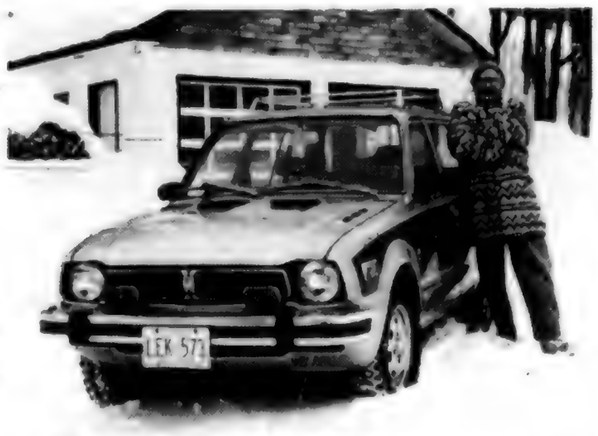
"It's nice knowing I have one of the originals. People have realized that the Civic is a good car to buy. It's economical, and obviously people go to dealerships and test drive them and realize they are a great car."

Jennifer Read, Ottawa, Ontario.



"I'm an aeronautical engineer myself and know a bit about building cars and what-have-you. I find it's a real well-built car. It's put together with a lot of reason, too. The controls from your steering wheel... dimming your lights, raising and lowering them, putting on your windshield wipers and putting the fluid on your windshield... all controlled with finger control from your steering wheel. I think that's quite something."

Tommy Douglas, Huntsville, Ontario

"It's been slalomed... it's been entered in 25 events. I've had it in a few rallies. It's not all a question of driving it to work. The engine itself has got a fairly good redline. You need that. You have to have an overhead camshaft because you have to be able to run up to about 7000 rpm's. The suspension is well suited, mainly because it's fully independent. And with front wheel drive..."

Reg Clayton, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

"All I do is, I drive it around at work and then I bring it home. I pick up trip tickets and post bulletins. And that's driving from Port Mann into New West, then over to North Vancouver, then down into the waterfront in Vancouver and then to three other places in the same road. So it's quite a lot of driving. When we took the car in for the 40,000 mile check, the guy said he couldn't believe that it didn't need some engine repairs or anything. All it needed was the oil changed."

Denise Waugh, Surrey, British Columbia

Tax Changes Blamed For Earnings Loss

The New Brunswick Telephone Company, Limited reports earnings of 30 cents per common share for the first three months of 1977, compared with earnings of 50 cents during the same period last year.

In his report to shareholders, NBTel president Kenneth V. Cox says tax changes announced recently by the provincial government were responsible for a loss of earnings of approximately 10 cents per common share during the quarter.

In its budget of March 15, the government announced that it would levy the provincial real property and business tax on telegraph, telephone, cable television and electric power transmission systems. The tax would be equivalent to five per cent of the previous year's gross revenues.

The government also announced that it plans to increase the corporation income tax from ten to 12 per cent on large businesses such as NBTel. Both pieces of tax would be retroactive to January 1, 1977.

"The company has no choice but to attempt to pass the cost of these tax changes through to its customers, and on April 7, the company notified its regulator that an application for a rate increase would be filed as soon as possible to recover the full cost of the tax changes in 1977", said Mr. Cox.

The report notes that the New Brunswick Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities granted the company a $4.5 million increase in 1977 revenue in its decision of March 7. The company had sought approximately $8.7 million in additional 1977 revenue.

Mr. Cox said the decision of the Public Utilities Board does not allow the company to adequately support its planned programs. He said the company is presently reducing its budgets in an attempt to achieve reasonable financial results, "a goal the company feels is absolutely necessary."

Operating revenues for the first quarter of 1977 were $24.4 million compared with $21.9 million last year. Operating expenses were $18.6 million compared with $15.3 million.

POLITICAL SCENE

Will Grits Solve Clark's Problem?

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

Back in 1974, Leonard Jones, a former mayor of Moncton, N.B., was rejected as a Conservative candidate by party leader Robert Stanfield because of his views on bilingualism.

It's true that Jones was an outspoken opponent of the federal government's bilingualism program. He had not only challenged it in the courts, he lost no opportunity to say it was devisive, ineffective and poorly implemented. He claimed he was all in favor of learning a second language, but it should be done in the schools, not in adulthood.

When you go back and examine the Jones speeches of 1974, he was not necessarily the narrow-minded bigot his opponents accused him of being. His views were not exactly parallel with those of the Conservative party, but they weren't too far removed from certain individuals within that party. However, Leonard Jones had established an anti-French reputation.

And even though Keith Spicer, the official language commissioner, would later issue a report which echoed many of the sentiments expressed by Jones, he was not an acceptable candidate in 1974. Robert Stanfield didn't hesitate; he slammed the caucus door in the face of Jones.

And there was little opposition within the party. It was generally accepted that Jones, at that time, would have been an embarrassment to the party.

NEW SITUATION

Now, three years later, there are five byelections coming up in Quebec and in one of the ridings - Terrebone - the Conservative candidate is widely regarded as being anti-semitic. Some of the statements made by his candidate, Roger Delorme, would represent a far greater embarrassment to the Tory party than anything Leonard Jones has said, yet nothing is being done to discourage his candidacy.

Conservative Leader Joe Clark says Delorme knows the official party position on Israel and has agreed to support it. He has no intention of interfering with a democratically nominated candidate.

Delorme is a former host of an open-line radio show, and someone has dug back into 1974 tapes to find this quotation from the Conservative candidate: "Zionism is Nazism and racism. Zionism rhymes with Nazism . . . I have dealt with Zionists and Nazis and I have said it was the same thing."

The candidate has been accused of making many other similar statements in the past, and his entry into federal politics has caused bitter resentment in Quebec's Jewish community.

Some MPs say letters of protest now are beginning to come in from other parts of Canada.

The issue erupted at the last Conservative caucus when a group of MPs, including Gordon Fairweather, Fundy-Royal and John Fraser, Vancouver South, expressed outrage that Delorme would be accepted into the party. They noted that the candidate has passed up several golden opportunities to deny all anti-Jewish bigotry.

MARSHALL CONCERNED

Jack Marshall, the Conservative MP from Humber-St. George's-St. Barbe, is the only Jewish member of caucus, and there is no doubt about his concern. "What Delorme has said is repugnant, but our leader has said that he will support our policies, so I am willing to give him the benefit of the doubt."

But Marshall made it clear that if Delorme entered the Conservative caucus with the views that have been attributed to him in the past, "I would have to seriously study my own position within the party."

The situation probably won't arise since the Terrebonne riding has a solid Liberal tradition. In the 1974 election, Joseph-Roland Comtois, who left Ottawa for an unsuccessful run at provincial politics, won the riding for the Liberals with 28,651 votes. The Conservative candidate collected only 9,899 votes. Comtois is running again for the Liberals.

So, chances are the Liberal supporters of Terrebonne will solve the Conservative problem on May 24. If they don't, Joe Clark will have his hands full.

Consumers Are Warned

Is it time to change your vacuum cleaner and buy a new one? The April edition of Canadian Consumer discusses the pros and cons of 23 cleaners tested in our new laboratory in Ottawa, and warns consumers to beware of door-to-door salesmen's tricks.

Door-to-door salesmen can be very convincing, almost too convincing. Their main pitch is the "demonstration". They will arrive at your home, pretty sure you have must vacuumed your carpets, determined to give their machine a challenge. When they show you debris picked up by their vacuum, don't be too impressed. CAC tests showed that practically every vacuum cleaner could pick up dirt after another had cleaned.

The April issue describes several other techniques used by door-to-door salesmen to convince consumers to buy their product. It also provides consumers with pointers on what to look for in a vacuum cleaner, dispelling many of the commonly accepted myths; such as, no correlation could be found between the price of the vacuum and its cleaning ability.

Other articles include:

Ground Beef: Soon ground beef labelling will become uniform. Canadian Consumer explains the new grading system, and how to get the best buy for your money.

What Should be the Highest Paid Job? Gail Stewart and Morris Heath discuss income disparities in our society, and how people's attitudes toward their job are influenced by the income they receive.

Job Hunting: There is nothing more discouraging than looking for a job. This article by syndicated columnist Mike Grenby offers many suggestions. If they are followed, you will have done practically everything possible to ensure your success.

An Interview with Herb Gray. The former minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs discusses some of the problems with the government paper The Way Ahead. This paper comments on the problems of our economy now and in the future, describing possible alternatives.

Also in the issue: a test on maple syrup, new columns on personal finance and conservation and an article on how to survive on welfare.

Fighting Mad Over Decision

If some workers are unhappy with the Newfoundland government's decision to shut down Labrador Linerboard Ltd., the mill's chief executive officer is fighting mad, writes Randall Litchfield in The Financial Post.

A special advisory board to Newfoundland's premier six months ago gave J.B. Seeeney, a former Consolidated-Bathurst executive on loan, the challenging job of making the Stephenville mill profitable. but after months of working 18-hour days trying to find ways to cut costs, the mill's chief executive officer feels as if a rug has been pulled out from under him.

And Sweeney isn't pulling any punches. Sweeney told The Financial Post that the mill's shutdown results from manipulation of numbers by provincial bureaucrats who decided two years ago that the mill should close down.

"The government has been sucked in", Sweeney says. "The problem is to convince the politicians against the advice of bureaucrats who know nothing about the pulp and paper business, and who are deliberately distorting the truth by playing a numbers game. Someone should be fired."

The government says that keeping the mill open would mean a loss of $54.8 million in the 1977-78 fiscal year. However, much of this cost is fixed and will have to be met whether it closes or not. Principal and interest on existing bonds total $16 million, a working capital loan from Bank of Montreal is being recalled for $15 million, as is one for $7 million from Newfoundland Development Corp. The remaining $17 million is the actual operating loss for the year.

Other familiar people and names affected by the turn of events include Scott Chalmers and Jim Henderson.

Acadian Village Restoration

by Jackie Webster

To the average eye they were nothing more than blackened, brittle pages of an ancient book, illegible and useless, but to the trained eyes of the group of seven who worked in the lab at Acadian Village, they were a find.

Following a painstaking process carried out in slow sequential steps there emerged a day to day accounting in a precise and graceful hand of transactions in Robbins store more than a century ago.

"Robbins" was a name to be reckoned with. Natives of Jersey Island, they founded their version of the company store wherever the fishing industry flourished and their operation is under reconstruction at Acadian Village.

Now, with the application of modern techniques to ancient documents, the records of this particular store emerge, and show that no matter how big the catch, how successful the fishing, the fishermen wound up in hock to Robbins come season's end.

The curator of Restoration, Etienne Arseneau explains it was the quality of paper and ink used then which makes it possible.

"The writing then was done with China ink," says he, "and if the writing at the time was legible, then there are solutions to bring it out."

The paper is first soaked in water to soften it, then solutions applied to take the acids out, but the treatment does not affect the writing. It emerges clear and bold.

Modern ink came into use around the 1940's, said he and the quality of paper has deteriorated as well, so the same procedures would not work on modern documents, but happily, the ball point pen was not in use when Robbins traded fish for fishing gear and staples.

Throughout the lab the same kind of painstaking work goes on.

Old furniture, covered in some cases with 12 layers of paint, is stripped and treated and restored to its original lustre. If the furniture was first painted when the piece was new, and the lab has equipment to so determine - then a particular process is employed, quite different from that used where the wood has aged before it first saw paint.

Old paintings, pictures and photographs are restored by use of X-rays to detect small lines and holes and creases, not visible to the naked eye.

Clocks, guns, artifacts of all kinds are restored to working order.

Ceramics, on lab shelves - pots and jugs and pitchers and dishes - appear to have been fired yesterday, but they have been through yet another restoration process.

Ceramic, one is told, absorbs animal grease and many pieces are discolored and dull. But after soaking in water, caustic soda and various other solutions, acquired grime from years and years of usage, dissolves and the jug or pot or pitcher emerges, pristine and glowing.

These are but some of the functions carried out by the chemists, technicians and artisans who restore, reconstruct and in some cases rebuild the art and artifacts that tell the Village story.

New Wings

By MICHAEL CORMIER
Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron 640 Chaleur

This article is the third in a series about the 640 Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron.

Next week is the annual inspection when officers from the Royal Canadian Armed Forces inspect the squadron's drill, marching, quarters and rifle range. It will be held at the Bathurst Arena and 640 Squadron invites one and all to attend.

Inspection is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, May 25 at the arena, and at 8 p.m., the officers will inspect the quarters and rifle range. Cadets will also display projects concerning the military at the armoury.

In attendance will be Mayor John A. Duffy, Sgt. Georges Gauthier of the RCMP; City Police Chief D. Camp; president of the Air Cadet League of Canada Ryan Heart; Kinsmen President Ray White, the sponsoring committee of 256 Chaleur Wing, and many others.

In other squadron news, about 20 local cadets will go to Edmonton this summer, and another 14 will attend summer camp.

Hardware Show Dates Now Firm

President of the Maritime Wholesale Hardware Association, J. E. (Jack) Nicholson, Bathurst, is pleased to announce the Annual Hardware Trade Show will be held in Moncton on September 24 and 25 at the Moncton Coliseum.

Mr. Nicholson indicates that a 30 per cent increase in attendance is anticipated over last year, which proved to be the most successful to date.

The Show is open, free of charge, to people of the trade, including dealers, store keepers, purchasing agents, contractors and architects.

A social evening is planned in conjunction with the Show, to be held on Saturday evening, September 24th. This is open free to all guests registered.

The Chairman of the Show, S. E (Stan) Watkins of Saint John has assured that a total of over 125 exhibitors will be in attendance, showing the latest trends and innovations in merchandise and merchandising.

Exhibitors who have not yet received an invitation to apply for participation and would like to be involved in the only Maritime Trade Show covering all of the hardware trades should contact T. N. Rogers, Exhibitor Committee Chairman, P. O. Box 606, Charlottetown, P.E.I., C1A 7L3.

City Delegates Plan To Attend

Independent Living for MS ers will be the theme of the third Atlantic Conference of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada to be held May 21-23 at Keddy's Motor Inn in Saint John.

Delegates from all four Atlantic provinces will be attending the conference which will feature workshops, guest speakers from specialists in the field of MS research, displays and social events.

On Saturday, May 21, Dr. D.W. Paty from the University of Western Ontario will speak on his particular findings in medical research on multiple sclerosis.

Dr. J.B.R. Cosgrove, from the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, is scheduled to speak on Sunday, May 22 on clinics for M.S. patients.

Both these doctors have received substantial grants from the Society to carry out their special programs. The latter has connections in Bathurst, having treated several local MS patients.

Multiple sclerosis is a serious disease of the central nervous system which can cause, impairment of speech and vision, loss of balance and even paralysis. As yet, there is no known cause, prevention or cure.

The conference is designed to give the delegates - MS patients, volunteers, lay and professional people an opportunity to discuss the problems of the disease and ways of coping with it.

Delegates to the conference, who will begin to register on the evening of Friday, May 20, include Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, Mr and Mrs. Wilfred Mazerolle and Miss Lucille Arseneau.

Role Of Family Given Boost By Legislation

Developments underway within his department were outlined by Social Services minister Leslie Hull in Saint John Wednesday May 11.

Speaking to the annual meeting of Family Services Saint John Inc., Hull had high praise for the "innovative, creative and pioneering approach" of the organization towards strengthening the fabric of community family life.

He spoke specifically of their decentralized delivery of services in neighborhood settings, in medical clinics and in school settings.

"My department has benefited from some of the flavor and enthusiasm of your approach over these past few years," he said. "This is a relationship that we value and wish to nurture in the years ahead".

One of the major activities which has been undertaken is the re-drafting of family and child services legislation.

This project is being carried out with interdepartmental cooperation, through a committee representative of the departments of health, education, justice and social services, he said.

"The focus of the legislative revision is to draft legislation which reinforces the role of the family as the major social vehicle for the care and development of children, while refocusing the role of government, and especially my department, in reinforcing and supporting the family in its responsibilities."

A statement of principles and objectives of the family and child service delivery system has been agreed to by the social development committee of cabinet, said the minister.

Presently departments are working towards a coordinated social service system to ensure that government departments and the voluntary sector are delivering their services in an effective and efficient manner, he said.

The new Social Services Act, to be tabled shortly in the House of Commons, will replace the cost-sharing of the present Canada assistance plan. The provincial department is participating with the federal government in the final drafting of the new federal-provincial cost-sharing legislation.

The new cost sharing provisions means that provinces will receive more favorable cost sharing on a wider variety of services, and have fewer cost-sharing constraints on the methods and agents they use to deliver the services.

Mr. Hull referred to the 'separation of services' as "one of the most pervasive developments" within the department, the result of which will be a separated service delivery system."

A major implication of the separation, he said, will be less overshadowing of personal social services by the essential resource-consuming, dollar-benefit programs of social assistance and nursing homes.

"This means that our major human resource in the department, our social workers, will be released from much of the administrative and clerical tasks necessary in the dollar-benefit programs," said Hull.

Thus social workers will be freed to engage in the professional service activities for which they are trained, freed to provide our families and children with the needed support services."

Mr. Hull said that with his department's renewed capacities to respond, strengthened by the new organizational structures, he looked forward to a mutually agreeable partnership between Family Services Inc., and the department of social services, whose parallel aims include an earnest and energetic commitment to family life.

Junior Olympic Program Thrives

The junior olympic program continues to thrive in New Brunswick according to recent national participation figures for the period January 1 to March 31. The department of youth, recreation and culture which promoted Junior Olympic Year (1976) in the province is pleased with the promotion's spin-off effect.

Already 5549 younsters have taken part at some level of the junior olympic program.

While the figure is down slightly from the record set last year, a marked increase is expected during the next three month period as schools and recreation departments begin to host their annual field days.

So far eight sports have held competitions at either the provincial, regional or local level - basketball, skiing, track and field, volleyball, fencing, gymnastics, judo and wrestling.

The department has re-emphasized that the junior olympic program is available to schools, recreation departments, individual groups or agencies as well as sports governing bodies. Statistics have confirmed that the greatest number of participants is at the community level.

Brochures on the program for 1977 will be arriving soon and may be obtained from the nearest regional office of the department or by writing:

Coordinator, Junior Olympics Program P.O. Box 456 Fredericton, N.B.

Fish Landings Up Over 1976

Figures released May 10 by Fisheries Minister Omer Leger show that the volume and value of New Brunswick's commercial fish landings for January and February this year are up considerably over the same two months in 1976.

This year 2,598 metric tons, valued at $1,263,031, were landed in January and February, representing a 157.5 percent and a 383.5 percent increase in volume and value respectively over last year. The average price of the fish landed was up 89 percent.

Groundfish catches were up by volume, value and average price by 44, 52.7 and 5.6 percent respectively. The pelagic and estuary landings were up in the same categories, by 184,580 and 140 percent respectively, with tuna accounting for the largest increase in this category.

Mollusks increased in volume and value by 78 and 46 percent respectively but registered an 18 percent decrease in average price.

Only figures for lobster landings are available for crustaceans. They show a decrease in both volume and value by 30 and five percent respectively, although the average price was up by 36 percent.

Within the miscellaneous category of landings, which includes dulse, Irish moss and herring scale, only herring scale statistics are presently available. They show an increase in volume and value of 85 and 71 percent respectively and a 98 percent increase in the average price.

Statistics on the volume and value of landings are supplied by Environment Canada's fisheries and marine branch, while those indicating percentage increases or decreases were compiled by the provincial department of fisheries.

Home Owners Can Outwit Burglars

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Being burglarized is just as bad as being in a car accident, or possibly worse.

Yet the proportion of car-owners who drive prudently and defensively is far greater than the proportion of home-owners who take adequate precautions against burglary.

"The chance of death or injury, or of liability, is always there," writes James Edward Keogh and John Koster in Burglar-proof (McGrawHill-Ryerson Ltd.; 168 pages; $10.95).

If you come in and the burglar is still there, he may panic and kill you, the authors warn.

Or if you fly into a rage and somehow injure or kill the burglar, you could go to jail.

Besides the remorse at failing to prevent a burglary that need never have occurred, there are other and more tangible consequences.

Your insurance costs are bound to be increased when your are burglarized. And there's the inconvenience of going for weeks without, say, a TV or stereo. Then there's the impossibility of ever replacing original art, rare jewelry or items of sentimental value.

"Even in an ordinary, non-violent burglary," say the authors, "the victims often report a sense of violation of their privacy that upsets and troubles them for months."

DAY AND NIGHT

"Know your enemy" is good advice to the home-owner who wants to outwit potential burglars. The authors describe them in these terms:

—The day burglar uses the telephone, notes on bulletin boards and gossip to find out which homes will be empty during the day. He may also check empty parking places or keep your house under surveillance.

—The night burglar simply cruises around looking for poorly lit houses or apartments, or those with other signs of vacancy.

"The only way to spot a thief is by his actions," say Keogh and Koster. "Call the police if you see or seriously suspect anything suspicious. This is your best defence."

Any intelligent anti-burglary system will greatly increase the odds of a break-in by youngsters, by clumsy amateurs, or even by the less adept professional thieves.

"Since most burglaries are not long-term-planning premeditated jobs but glancing hits on a quick sweep through a town or neighborhood, the security system within your reach may be good enough to save you a lot of grief."

BEST DEVICES

The most essential security devices, in the authors' opinion, are a dead-bolt lock on every outer door, and adequate lighting.

Dogs also make excellent security systems in several ways, they add. "But a dog makes no distinction between good strangers and bad strangers, and may even attack children if it doesn't know them."

Guns probably aren't a wise choice, the authors believe, partly because of the ever-present danger that they will be used inadvertently against an innocent victim, and partly because they—along with TV sets, radios and tape recorders—are among the hottest items on the burglar's "want" list.

The authors stress the importance of keeping an up-to-date inventory of everything kept in the home, with a note of their current value.

That will allow you to determine how much insurance you need, and will enable you to establish your claim if you become a burglary victim.

In the field of anti-burglary protection, where total security is almost unattainable, half a loaf is better than one.

"Most burglars," Keogh and Koster say, "are fairly casual criminals who will bypass a really tough job in favor of something easy."

Novel Laments Loss Of Beloved Country

By RICHARD L. GORDON

Few readers will, I think, be enthralled by Jan Drabek's latest novel, Report on the Death of Rosenkavalier (McClelland and Stewart; 224 pages; $8.95) but fewer still of those who start it will put it aside unfinished. It does hold our interest and that is higher praise than might at first be apparent

Mr Drabek would have us believe that most Canadians are either only dimly aware of or cynically indifferent to the cruel injustices and barbaric horrors which are inescapable components of life in a dictatorship.

I don't think he is entirely right about this but, even if we are insensible to the suffering of so many of our fellows in eastern Europe, our apathy cannot possible be the result of inadequate information.

Ever since the advent of Hitler and, most particularly, since World War II we have been inundated with harrowing first-hand accounts of the pitiless tyranny man exercises over man in his search for power and his determination to retain it. There have been many chroniclers of whom Solzhenitsyn is the latest and greatest.

In the fact of all this grim documentation it took some courage on Mr. Drabek's part to fashion a novel on the same theme. That he has succeeded in doing so with sufficient skill to catch and keep our attention is therefore no mean achievement.

A DIALOGUE

The novel consists largely of a dialogue between the hero and narrator, Antonin Klima, and a Russian official, Simeon Zolotenko, in Klima's prison cell where he is awaiting trail for murder. The Russian is ostensibly trying to understand Klima's "way of thinking" and his motivation for returning to Prague from Canada to carry out an assassination.

During this not always facinating probing, Klima reveals a good many details of his life as a Czech refugee in Canada. In order to make clear the parallel and divergent attitudes and philosophies of Canadians and Russians, Mr. Krabek sometimes falls into a lecturing tone. He seems to be aware of this himself when it happens but is apparently powerless to avoid it.

A Canadian Immigration Service officer is speaking to Klima about the possibility of his going to Canada:

"What you are planning to enter is a country that sometimes seems to be afraid of its shadow. Wehold on to our Commonwealth status as if we'd collapse without it.

"But the mother country is only a shadow of what it was before the war and most of the non-white members of the British Commonwealth are only in it for hard cash. They care about the British Crown about the way I care for Limburger cheese; and when they come to Commonwealth meetings in London we pay their fare."

Then he adds, by way of apology, "I'll admit that fact is not absolutely relevant to what I have to say."

Admittedly this speech is supposed to have been made in the mid-1950s but I doubt if Immigration officials spoke that way to prospective immigrants even then.

VIVID PROSE

On other occasion Klima and two ex-Czech friends, now living in Canada, see a train in the distance and this instantly inspires one of them to recite a quick history of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"It was all incredibly expensive and finished in 1885. That's exactly 20 years before the Russians figured out how to get their Trans-Siberian Railway around Lake Baikal.

"But you have to take into account the Russian railway was a state-owned one. The government is usually a bit late.'

"We chuckled over that one and then we watched the train disappear toward the horizon."

These quotations do not fairly represent the general level of the prose which is workmanlike for the most part and, on occasion, particularly when he is describing the Czechoslovakia he once knew, vivid and moving.

BLURB UNFAIR

The writer of the jacket blurb claims that as the novel develops, "there emerges a telling portrait of life and morality in Canada and Czechoslovakia."

Like most such publishers' eulogies this is a wild exaggeration but, more important, it is unfair to the book in creating expectations which are bound to be disappointed.

Report of the Death of Rosenkavelier may for all I know have set out to do what the blurb writer says it does. If so I'm glad it didn't succeed.

It is an interesting and unpretentious story told by a man who knew and loved Czech-

FIRST FESTIVAL PERFORMANCE FOR SCHOOL

This year marked the first time a class from Salmon Beach School participated in the Annual Bathurst Music Festival. The performance by the school's Grade 3 class was well received by the audience and their entry was in the non-competitive groups. Both the students and their parents have termed it a valuable and successful learning experience. Help received from Mrs. Connie Fellows, music co-ordinator for District 4, and Ann Legere, accompanist, has been greatly appreciated. The group The Salmon Beach Express, poses with their teacher as they prepare to enter the auditorium of Nepisiguit High School. Left to right, front row are: Holly Whelten, Brent Wood, Daryl Stever, Kevin Jagoe, Calvin Good. 2nd row: Kayla Knowles, Trent O'Hearn, Kathy Knowles, Kim Scott, Ben Hunter, Tilda Jagoe, Duane Forward, Mathilda Sisk, Jeff Scott, back row: Toney O'Hearn, Theresa Early, Gay Knowles, Coleen Ellis, Brenda Knowles, Cecilia Legacy, Edward Hornibrook, Dennis Ellis, Sandy Russell and Nancy Dickson, teacher Missing is Jerry Murty.

Diseases

Anemia, osteoporosis and obesity are three of the major nutritional diseases that have a high incidence in American women. Iron and folate deficiencies are causes of most anemia. About 40 per cent of all women between 20 and 50 may have some iron deficiency. The incidence of osteoporosis increases about 30 per cent after menopause. Obesity is the chronic illness that most often leads to other health problems.

Progress Reported By Consumer Group

A meeting of the New Brunswick Consumer Advisory Group was held in Moncton on May 6th, bringing together representatives from various consumer related industries: financial and credit reporting institutions, provincial and federal Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Dept. of Education, and various consumer help organizations operating within the province.

Lynda Austfjord, spokesman for the group, commented that the meeting was very productive and a definate step toward the goal set by the group working together to provide better education and services to the consumers of New Brunswick.

A resource list is to be compiled itemizing information available to the public and addresses whereby this information can be obtained. Further, the group felt a need for participation by the business industry, and steps are being taken to invite representation from the Provincial Chamber of Commerce.

Jim Dillon, assistant director of Consumer and Corporate Services, expanded on the Consumer Education Conference held recently in Toronto, and explained the primary concern of the meeting was a need for better education of the public to consumer related problem.

Since there are areas in New Brunswick lacking the consumer help necessary to handle consumer problems, a pilot project in the Edmundston area is being initiated, whereby a knowledgable person in the consumer aid field will be available on a regular basis.

The greatest need, as felt by the group, was for a better consumer education program to be implemented in the schools on a mandatory basis rather than the optional basis which exists at present. With this objective in mind, planning has started for a competitive school project involving consumer issues, commencing within the 1977-78 school term.

Further meetings will be hosted throughout the year in various locations within New Brunswick - the next to be held in the City of Bathurst during the month of September.

MAYOR, CITY COUNCILLORS OFFICIALLY ASSUME DUTIES

Bathurst's new City Council was officially sworn into office Tuesday by Judge J. Frederic Arseneault in ceremonies held at City Hall. The council, chosen in municipal elections May 9, comprises, from left, Hugh Campbell (Coffyn Ward); Hilaire Brideau (Michaud); Albert Lavigne (Hachey); Joe MacNeil (Kent); Robert Hodgins (Hachey); Ken Frenette (Ryan); Doug Williamson (Coffyn) and Jean Paul Lavoie (Kent). Seated is Mayor John A. Duffy, who was re-elected to a second term. Burns Ward Councillor James MacLaggan, who is currently out of town, was sworn in May 12.

Rev. J. R. Leger offered the opening prayer at the meeting, while the closing prayer was given by Ven. Archdeacon R. H. Murphy. A full complement of city officials were on hand at Tuesday's special meeting to witness the ceremony.

Home And School Will Protest Planned Move

The Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association has decided to present a brief to District No. 4 School Board stating its opposition to a recent decision to eliminate one Grade Nine class at Chalmers School beginning in September.

At the regular and final meeting of the 1976-77 year on Wednesday, May 18 which was attended by about 100 interested parents, the proposed move was discussed at length. Members pointed out the change, if carried out, will see 18 students transferred from familiar surroundings to two other schools in the city, Sacred Heart and South Bathurst.

Parents and teachers alike indicated that if the transfer does go through, it will be very difficult for students to make the adjustment to another school, especially when they will be moving again the following year to high school. It was pointed out the students would also have to be bused back to Chalmers each week for physical education, home economics and industrial.

The meeting was informed that Chalmers teachers have developed, on their own initiative, a very effective rememdial course and it was felt the program would have to be dropped if the school board's transfer plan is carried out. Many parents in attendance expressed fear of losing this class as it has helped many pupils, who otherwise might not have succeeded, to reach high school and go on to graduate.

The meeting learned the projected enrolment for Grade Nine at Chalmers in September is 108, four classes of 27 students each. Sacred Heart School will have two classes of 23 students while South Bathurst is expected to accommodate 21. The proposed transfer of 12 to Sacred Heart and six to South Bathurst would result in classes of about 29 pupils, and parents felt it was unreasonable to stray so far from the recommended class size of 18.

Also, it was felt the entire move was "a totally unnecessary disruption" in the lives of 18 students, and it was decided to present the board with a brief stating the association's strong opposition.

A committee of seven was appointed to prepare the submission, with President Mrs. Joy Winton and Dr. Richard Lethbridge representing the city proper; Mrs. Adeline Morrison, Janeville, Lorne Stymiest, Youghall, Elmer Hinton East Bathurst; David Wood, Salmon Beach; and Donald Daley as spokesman for the group. Rheese Dickie, principal of Chalmers, agreed to act in an advisory capacity.

Parents were urged to attend the May 26 meeting of the School Board to show their support for the brief.

In other business, a new slate of officers for the 1977-78 year was chosen. They are Mrs. Vibert Shury, president; Lorne Stymiest, vice-president; Mrs. Fay Faulds, secretary and Mrs. Viva Hinton, treasurer. Publicity, membership and ways and means committees were also named; the program committee is to be selected by the executive.

As the new president, Mrs. Shury will attend the annual provincial meeting of the home and school association in Newcastle June 18 as a voting delegate.

Mr. Dickie, Chalmers School principal for the past 12 years, was presented with a gift by out-going President Mrs. Joy Winton in appreciation of his co-operation and hard work within the home and school association.

Program Chairman John Sweezey was thanked for his excellent effort in fulfilling his duties during the year.

Mrs. Winton was also presented with a gift from Principals Emery Goguen and Dickie for her hard work and dedication to the association during the past year.

SECOND PHASE STARTED ON YACHT CLUB WHARF

Bathurst Yacht Club has taken on the task of starting the second phase of repairing wharf and dock facilities on its premises. Contractor for the entire operation, expected to be completed within three weeks at the latest, is Comeau and Savoie Construction Ltd. of Caraquet, at an estimated cost to the club of $45,000. The initial phase of the repair job was done last year when the club spent over $20,000. Work commenced on May 18. The photo shows the pile driver in operation last week, and the club building to the left. The yacht club boasts a membership of just over 300.

Shriners To Honour Past Potentate At Ceremonial

It is time for the Spring Ceremonial of Luxor Temple, Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

In everyday language, they are known as "Shriners" and the last time the ceremonial was held in Bathurst was on June 6, 1964.

The Illustrious Potentate in 1964 was Noble Hazen T. Dykeman, and he is being especially honored on this occasion. Presently Recorder for the Temple, he has also served as Chief Steward and as a member of the Patrol and Oriental Band; President of the Association of Uniformed Bodies and Saint John Shrine Club; chairman of the Orphans' Picnic Shrine Bonspiel and year book committees and is currently chairman of Shrine Hospital Permanent Membership committee.

As is stated in the official publication of Luxor Temple, Luxor Luminary, "Hazen was elected Recorder in 1973 and has served with enthusiasm and assiduity, which attributes combined with a genuine affection for Luxor Temple have endeared him to his fellow Nobles and ensures him of their continued regard. It is most fitting that Hazen is being honored at Bathurst, where as Potentate in 1964 he led into Luxor Temple one of the largest classes of candidates in our history."

To welcome the Shriners who arrive in Bathurst on Friday, May 27, the North Shore Shrine Club will host a "Get-Acquainted Party" at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on that evening. This event will be for the Nobles and their ladies, with dance band and refreshments.

On Saturday morning, May 28, the candidates will be received at the Nepisiguit High School. In the afternoon, a parade will form up on Harborview Boulevard at 1 p.m. from where it will move to Main Street, Murray Ave. St. Patrick Street, King Avenue and back along Main Street to the traffic circle.

Leading off the procession will be Luxor Temple of New Brunswick of which Noble Walter B. Flewelling of Saint John is Illustrious Potentate. Units of Luxor Temple expected to parade are Color Party, Major of Units, Potentate, Past Potentates, Directors Staff, Oriental Band, Arab Patrol Provost, Motor Corps, Mini Cars, Luxor Vehicles and floats from the North Shore Shrine Club and the Miramichi Shrine Club. Both floats will be accompanied by uniformed marching Nobles of the two clubs numbering about 150.

Next in line will be Philae Temple of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland with Noble Fred D. H. Phillips of St. John's Nfld. the Illustrious Potentate. Approximately 80 Nobles in various units will be involved.

The third Temple on parade will be Anah from the State of Maine with Noble Frederick B. Lunt, Presque Isle, as Illustrious Potentate. About 100 Nobles from this Temple will be in attendance. A certain crowd-pleaser will be 18 splended horses with ornamental saddles and bridles.

Parade Marshal is Noble Blake A. Oulton of the host club.

Immediately following the procession, the first section of the ceremonial will take place at Nepisiguit High School. This section is a serious and stirring ritual which marks the admittance of new members to the Shrine.

Following close behind, the second section is the hilarious, sometimes embarrassing but always harmless initiation of new candidates of the Mystic Shrine.

HAZEN T. DYKEMAN

A banquet of lobster will be served to all nobles at the Nepisiguit High School by the ladies of Central United Chruch, Clifton.

The final event planned for Saturday is a dance at the Bathurst Trade School in the evening.

On Sunday, a church service at 9:30 a.m. at First United Church has been arranged by Noble C. Keith Dobson. Noble Ralph C. Chalmers will deliver the sermon and he will be assisted by Nobles of the North Shore Shrine Club.

Chairman of local arrangements is Noble Murray E.

Community Theatre's "Harvey" A Delight

Disappointingly small but highly appreciative audiences were on hand Thursday and Friday evenings, May 19 and 20, to enjoy Bathurst Community Theatre Inc.'s second major production in a year.

A combined attendance of about 600 were treated to the group's interpretation of Harvey, a three-act comedy about the problems encountered when an elderly and well-to-do gentleman from a highly-respected family is adopted by a six-foot white rabbit.

Steven Jamieson was endearing and, what's more, entirely believable as Elwood P. Dowd, a wealthy resident of a city in the Far West whose one passion in life is to make new friends. The only drawback is he seeks these friends, along with Harvey, in every drinking establishment in town, later bringing his new-found acquaintances home to meet his family -- a situation about which his sister, Veta Louise Simmons, is not at all pleased.

Wanda Lavigne was superb as Veta, coming across in every way as the typical social climber who would desperately love to believe Harvey does not exist, but whose basic honesty will not allow her to deny the certainty that he does.

The exchanges between the two along with the scenes featuring Elwood P. and his invisible friend were hilarious, and the play itself was interrupted several times when the cast was forced to wait until the laughter and applause had subsided.

A well-defined flair for acting was also very evident in the performance given by Gary Levert. As Duane Wilson, a somewhat aggressive rest home attendant who turns positively lecherous at the sight of a pretty face, Gary kept the audience in a constant state of giggles with his leering glances and wolf-like advances. The object of these attentions, Myrtle Mae Simmons, was the typical debutante of the 1947 era. Diane Maillet very capably handled the role as if she were born for it, every once in a while dropping her guard to let her interest and curiosity in Mr. Wilson come to the fore.

Paul Lavigne, who will be remembered for his performance as Simon Zealotes in Jesus Christ Superstar, had to be type-cast in his role as Lyman Sanderson M.D., the dynamic young doctor whose good looks and unshakeable knowledge of medicine made him irresistable to the very eligible Ruth Kelly R.N. played by Colleen Murphy. The interplay between the two kept the interest of the audience keen throughout the presentation.

William R. Chumley M.D., who almost succeeds in securing for himself a big white bunny to take a vacation excursions without ever leaving the confines of Chumley's Rest, was played convincingly by Barry Power, who managed to instill in the audience the feeling that while running a rest home has its advantages, a life free of responsibility, cocktail parties and a high society wife is far more attractive.

Supporting roles played by Darlene Hickey, Penny Schoolcraft, Stephen Parker and Tony Nicholson as Betty Chumley, Mrs. Ethel Chauvenet, Judge Omar Gaffney and E.J. Lofgren respectively were also well done, with each player adding the finishing touches to the web woven by the main actors.

Congratulations are in order for Lynn Draper, under whose direction the play rolled smoothly to a fitting climax. Miss Draper was assisted by Steve Jamieson, who is to be commended for his double effort as the play's main character and his technical role.

Hats off also to Paul Lavigne,

Tree Planting Project June 4

Boy Scouts in the Bathurst District will be requesting the support of the general public next week when they canvass for pledges for the annual Trees for Canada project.

Scheduled for Saturday, June 4, the Trees for Canada program is part of the larger Amigo project which helps the Scouting movement in South American countries. Local Scouts accept pledges from the public to plant trees in designated areas of the city.

Anyone wishing further information on the project can contact Paul Tremblay at 546-6849.

Clean-Up Campaign Scheduled

Organizers of a general cleanup of the section of the upriver camping district stretching from the Blue Mountain gravel pit on the Brunswick Mines road up to and including part of the Rogers Lake Road and California Lake, report all systems go for Saturday, May 28.

A spokesman for the Bathurst Fish and Game Association said Tuesday the campaign, which will involve men and vehicles from the N.B. Department of Natural Resources, is designed to enhance the area for sightseeing and recreation.

It is also aimed, the spokesman noted, at educating the public to come equipped with containers to take their garbage home for proper disposal.

Volunteers for the project will gather at the Gold Cup on Harbourview Boulevard at 8 a.m. May 28. Rain date is the following day, Sunday, May 29. Anyone who is interested in the upkeep of this recreation area is urged to take part.

WINNERS IN N.B. 4-H CLUB PUBLIC SPEAKING COMPETITIONS

The 1977 Provincial Public Speaking and Demonstration Competitions organized by the 4-H Club were held at the Nepisiguit High School May 21. Co-chairpersons for the event were Marguerite Lanteigne and John Riordon and judges were Adeline Albert, insurance agent for Assomption Insurance; Martin Legere, general director of La Federation Acadienne des Caisses Populaires, and Roland Bernard, of the Department of Agriculture. Co-ordinator for the Northern part of the province, Extention Branch, N.B. Department of Agriculture, Aurele Gaudet, praised the 4-H members and leaders for a job well done. Front row from the left are: Francoise and Anne-Marie Savoie, St. Basile, winners in senior double demonstration; and Fernande Ouellette and France Chasse, intermediate double demonstration; back row: Wendy Tomilson, North Tay, senior single demonstration; Diane Middleton, Maugerville, senior public speaking; Marie-France St. Pierre, St. Irenee, intermediate single demonstration; and Rachel Theriault, Paquetville, intermediate public speaking.

OPEN HOUSE

An invitation is being extended to the general public to attend an "open house" this Friday, May 27, from 1 - 4:00 p.m. at the Canada Manpower Centre for Students, located at 415 King kAve., the former Dra-Go Photo premises.

Purpose of the function is to familiarize all interested persons including area employers, businessmen, homeowners, parents and students with the service and job opportunities available at the centre and acquaint everyone with its staff.

The centre's employees include Roger Robichaud, Caraquet, Lea Chamberlain, Bathurst, and Jean-Pierre MacLaughlin who is generally engaged in the Caraquet-Shippegan areas. Cleo Hache of the local Manpower Centre is supervisor of this summer project.

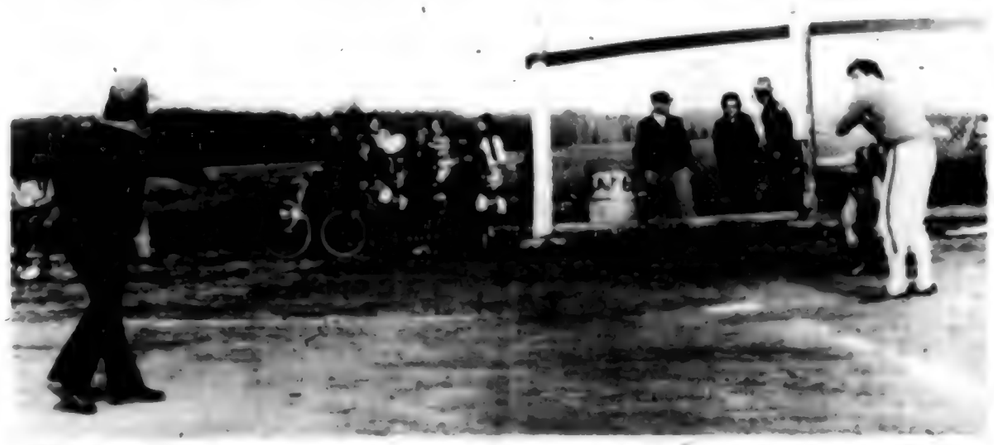
UNCONCERNED HEADLINE HUNTER

What could be more relaxing than a few hundred back issues of The Northern Light stacked invitingly in an out-of-the-way area on a lazy afternoon? To Tara, a seven-year-old beagle owned by Managing Editor Frank Mersereau, the answer is quite obvious. There's nothing quite as reassuring as being "on top" of the news. On one of her regular visits down to her master's place of employment last week, the brown-eyed pooch decided it was time for a little shut-eye, and promptly curled up in the best spot in the house. The papers, dating from approximately 1950 to the present, are on loan to The Northern Light while file copies are being recorded on microfilm in Fredericton.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY HELD FOR EAGER BEAVERS

The Beaver A Colony of First United Church held its swim-up into Cubs ceremony for 11 Beavers May 19. Each boy received his link badge from Beaver Co-ordinator Fran Gildart. Lunch was served at the close of the evening event for parents, Beavers and the new Cubs. Front row from the left are: Todd Smith, Greg Bearisto, Blair Scott, Todd Miller, Jeremy Lethbridge and Tim Riordon, back row: Kevin Nelson, Keeo; Darren Sturgeon, Todd Branch, Peter Burns, Glen Ferguson and Jonathan Scott.



LABATT SOFTBALL LEAGUE OFFICIALLY OPENS - Denis Langlais, sales representative for Oland Breweries (1971) Ltd., throws the first ball to Ernie Leger of the Steak House team May 19. Rough Waters Save-Easy defeated Steak House 4-3 at the Rough Waters softball field.

To Commemorate Rise To Throne

A Toronto artist's design will appear on the reverse of the $100 gold coin that will be struck to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the accession to the Throne of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Raymond Lee's submission depicted the official flowers of Canada's provinces and territories and he describes it as "characteristically Canadian, reflecting the beauty and graciousness of the queen".

The selection of Mr. Lee's design - from 56 submissions - was announced by Supply and Services minister Jean-Pierre Goyer who reports to Parliament for the Royal Canadian Mint.

The obverse of the 22-karat coin, containing a half ounce of gold, will bear Machin's effigy of the Queen and the inscription "Silver Jubilee - Elizabeth II 1952 - 1977 - 25 ans de règne". The coin, 27 mm in diameter, will be issued in September.

Mr. Goyer said 26 Canadian artists had been invited last month to submit designs. A selection committee of artists and numismatists screened the submissions and then passed on recommendations to the Mint Board of Directors who made the final choice.

Gets Masters In Education

Robert A. Brown, son of Mary M. Brown and the late Gordon J. Brown of Dalhousie and at present District No. 4 supervisor of schools, was among a number of Bathurst residents receiving degrees from the University of New Brunswick at encaenia ceremonies held May 19 in Fredericton.

Mr. Brown received a Master of Education degree from the curriculum and instruction division of the university's faculty of education. The title of his Master's report was "A Proposed Curriculum Unit in Folklore for the Secondary School".

In addition to the recently conferred M. Ed., Mr. Brown also holds two other degrees from UNB as well as a post-graduate diploma in education.

Steve Jamieson, Wanda Lavigne, Miles Meagher, Danny Gallagher and Barry Power for artistic sets, and to Alyre Boudreau, who handled the lighting.

Members of Community Theatre now are looking ahead to plans for putting production on the road in the Northeast, and sponsors are currently being sought in this regard. And being as the group's interpretation of Mary Chase's comedy has been likened to a Theatre New Brunswick production for its display of talent and entertainment value, no one could go wrong in supporting it.

Belledune Ups $2,000 Reward

The outgoing mayor of Belledune, Delphis Hickey, said this week he would have the Belledune Lighthouse rebuilt if he were staying on as chief magistrate.

However, a new council took over Tuesday, and he was not sure what will become of the plan to have the lighthouse situated closer to Route 11 instead along the shore of the Bay of Chaleur.

The old structure, which was believed to be in the vicinity of 80 years old, was gutted by fire May 8. Council has since doubled the reward to $4,000 for the arrest and conviction of whoever was responsible for the destruction.

Fire officials said earlier a fire that destroyed the building was deliberately set. Originally a reward of $2,000 was put up for information leading to the punishment of those responsible.

"Maybe somebody didn't want it moved or something", Mr. Hickey said.

Before the fire, council had planned to move the lighthouse about a quarter of a mile from the beach to the mail area of Lighthouse Park and have it restored as a historical site and tourist attraction. The park includes a Chaleur Sports Arena, ball fields and tennis courts on some 25 acres of land which has been leased by the village.

The village was going to sponsor a program of guided tours through the lighthouse in the summer months which would have provided employment for two people.

"We had the hole dug and foundation ready", Mr. Hickey said.

He noted the council had saved money for two years to have the structure moved, and stated, "If I was staying, I would rebuild it."

However, Belledune's new Mayor, Arnold Talbot, does not take the same position. He said he was opposed to moving the lighthouse in the first place although he would like to have seen the building restored at its original site. As for rebuilding it now, he says he can't see any reason for it.

"You can build a new one", he remarked, "but you can't put the history back into it."

Mr. Hickey said the $4,000 for the reward comes out of the $9,000 the council had allocated for moving and restoring the lighthouse.

WAYWARD WEATHER

Weather, a seemingly unpredictable and wayward natural phenomenon, cast its individuality upon the area during the holiday weekend.

The main part of the city experienced a deluge of water with accompanying winds, thunder and lightening lasting intermittently about an hour Monday afternoon.

Strangely enough, on the outskirts south and east of the city in such areas as Carron Point and the southern part of Rough Waters Drive as well as in South Teteagouche north of Bathurst, residents reported only a few drops of rainfall.

All, however, mentioned they heard and saw the thunder claps and accompanying flashes.

CITY IS NUCLEUS

The City of Bathurst's reputation as a hospitable convention centre is certainly being enhanced these days by a flurry of gatherings involving large numbers of delegates.

In addition to the Shriners' Spring Ceremonial set for the coming weekend, a total of four conventions are scheduled for Danny's Colonial House from now up to and including the June 17th weekend.

These include the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary session June 4, N.B. Social Workers and the N.B. Acadian Society, both set for June 9 and the N.B. Credit Unions Association June 17.

Both the Shriners and Ladies Auxiliary meetings are expected to attract between 500 and 600 delegates each, as did a Caisse Populaire convention which concluded recently. According to Bob DeGrace, the session, which also utilized facilities in city schools, went off "without a hitch", testifying to the city's ability to accommodate very large groups with a minimum of problems.

President of the North Shore Shrine Club is Noble Philip Humphreys while Noble Alan D. King, Chatham, is president of the Miramichi Club.

Mrs. W. B. Flewelling and Mrs. M. E. Clouston will be co-hostesses for a coffee party on Saturday morning from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. This will be for the ladies of the Nobles and the candidates.

The Shriners of North America support 19 orthopedic hospitals for crippled children and three Burns Institutes. This is the world's greatest philanthropy and continues its role of returning crippled and burned children to their rightful place in society of their race or creed. The estimated budget for 1976 was $35 million.

The Shriners throughout North America firmly believe that never does a Noble stand so tall as when he stoops to help a crippled child. Certainly this motto is appropriate for all men.

Range Closed Until June 3

Captain G. E. Spring, information officer for Canadian Forces Base Chatham, has announced the Tracadie air to ground range will be in use from May 25 to June 3 inclusive by 433 Squadron from Bagotville. During this period, only authorized persons will be allowed access to the range.

The gates on the entry roads will be locked at 9 p.m. May 24 and will be opened after firing ceases June 3.

The public is reminded that even during non-firing periods, the range at Tracadie is hazardous due to the possibility of undetonated shells and other explosive devices, and persons entering the area do so at their own risk.

No unauthorized persons shall enter this area, Captain Spring stated, and trespassing on this land is strictly prohibited.

MANY PARTICIPATE IN THREE-DAY SEMINAR

The Mining and Metallurgical Accident Prevention Association of New Brunswick held seminars at the Canadian Legion May 17, 18 and 19. Seminar leader was Alban Landry, of the N.B. Industrial Safety Council, in co-ordination with Jack Dawson, Senior Safety Coordinator Brunswick Mining. Luncheons were held at the Gloucester Motor Hotel with guest speakers invited each day. The first to present an address was Loftus Benjamin, manager of Belledune Fertilizer Ltd. John Moerman, manager Brunswick Mining, was speaker on the second day and Manager Brunswick's Smelting Division, Belledune, Allen Young spoke to the group on the third day. Approximately 200 supervisors participated each day. Seated at the head table from the left are: Messrs Dawson and Landry, Allison Furlotte, safety coordinator Brunswick Smelting Gunther (Red) Wobeking, Supt. Consolidated Durham Mines and Master of Ceremonies; Mr. Moerman, ran Bruton, N.B. I.S.C. and Emerique Theriault, safety supervisor at Nigadoo Mines.

Safety Tips For Cottage Owners

Spring and summer are happy times for most Canadians. Don't let fire spoil your family's vacation.

Last year, according to the Dominion Fire Commissioner, 822 people died in 30,750 residential fires in Canada. Some of these deaths occurred in flaming cottages.

Cottage owners, ensure that your family is well protected. While getting your cottage ready for a safe holiday season, General Time of Canada Limited, manufacturers of the Westclox Smoke Signal, urges that you check your cottage carefully for potential fire hazards.

The Smoke Signal people recommend you:

Check electrical wiring for fraying and loose connections.

If you have smoke detectors in your cottage, test them according to the manufacturer's instructions to make sure they are operating properly. If your Smoke Signal units are battery-powered, why not install new batteries just to be on the safe side?

Take a little extra time with your family to review alternate escape plans so they know what to do if the smoke detection alarm sounds. These extra few minutes could mean the difference between life and death.

Check to make sure fuel tanks and lines are free from leaks.

Never store gasoline in or near the cottage.

Give some thought to fire prevention. If you don't have a smoke detection system, now might be the time to install one. Your local fire department could offer timely advice in this matter.

Check that your chimneys are open and free.

When leaving your cottage for any length of time, always shut off the hydro and fuel supplies.

Going Up

If the price of gasoline goes much higher, we will have solved one of our pollution problems.

A "Catastrophe" Ahead In Energy

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

An unprecedented energy shortage isn't a threat any more.

It's virtually a certainty. It's timing can be predicted fairly closely. Only the form that it will take is still unclear.

A blue-ribbon international study group has just concluded that the demand for oil will exceed the available supply between 1985 and 1995 - but perhaps as early as 1981.

Terming this a catastrophe, the study's director says that all of the pieces of machinery that depend upon oil won't be able to get it.

Or, adds Prof. Carroll Wilson of the Massachusetts Institute Of Technology, there will be such fierce bidding for available supplies that shortages will be intensified.

The study group included business executives, government officials and academics from 15 countries. Canada's representatives on it, naturally, were all from government.

It concluded that coal and nuclear energy offered the best prospects as alternative energy sources.

But the study group also urged drastic conservation measures.

NO COMMITMENT

Canada's representatives, however, remained exquisitely non-committal, emphasizing that the government, the National Energy Board and Petro-Canada (the crown-owned oil company) aren't committed to any of the findings of the study group.

In that respect, the Trudeau government is at least being consistent. For the past several years, it has been treating the energy problem simply as a good excuse to impose big increases in royalties and taxes on consumers.

But it has done little or nothing about the problem of supply. The traditional, easy-to-reach sources of oil and gas in Canada are running out, and our supplies can only be maintained by tapping the frontier areas.

Faced with applications for permission to build pipelines that would bring gas and oil from the frontiers to the marketplace, however, Trudeau and company abdicated their decision-making responsibility.

Instead, they appointed a royal commission - Mr. Justice Thomas Berger - to study the environmental and social effects of a pipeline.

The first volume of his report, issued recently, finds that those effects might be adverse, and recommends a 10-year delay.

PUTTING IT OFF

That's the kind of cop-out that is so familiar to Canadians. If Canada's prime concern is that there be no change in the North, then logic would dictate a permanent ban on energy development instead of a postponement.

The Berger report rejects, as inadequate, environmental safeguards proposed by the pipeline-construction group - such as its iron-clan commitment to build only in the winter.

It would be nice to be able to develop an energy source while leaving nature untouched. That's impossible - but it should be possible to build distribution facilities in a way that protects the environment while meeting human needs for fuel.

We probably won't have a chance to find out, however. The anti-energy groups are proclaiming the Berger report a victory for them, and the Trudeau government - after giving them the Berger inquiry - is hardly likely to risk taking that victory away from them by approving construction of a pipeline.

Without a transportation system, industry has no incentive to continue the high-risk exploration of the frontiers.

The same arguments for the purity of the environment and of "life-styles" will be used - are being used - be zealots to block the development of coal deposits and nuclear energy.

It's only a matter of a few years, then, until Canada loses its self-sufficiency in energy and is thrown into fierce international competition for essential supplies from abroad.

Increases Unjustified

The chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, William Cockburn, has stated that future rate increases by the commission can be justified before the province's public utilities board. This is a curious statement in that it presumes that any and all rate increases for electric power are just and right. How so? The people of New Brunswick have a publicly-owned power utility not simply to serve government's needs but to provide the best and cheapest service available. If this should cease to be the case, there surely must be imaginable situations where further increases are not justified.

Many New Brunswickers are being placed in most difficult financial circumstances because of energy costs, not the least of which is the present rate for electric power. Surely there can come a time when cost-trimming and cutbacks must be made by the NBEPC itself in consideration of the public's position.

The reason the legislative energy commission suggests that the power commission be made to appear before the Public Utilities Board is to assure that future rate hikes are graphically explained and justified. Mr. Cockburn does little to foster public confidence by presuming that such applications can automatically be deemed right. He says arbitrarily that the commission can justify future increases. It has not even justified the last one.

Credit Is Merited

The fervent pleas being made before the Canadian Transport Commission hearings for improvements in rail passenger service deserve the fullest attention of that body. For decades the trains have been quietly phased out of the Atlantic Provinces' transportation pattern, and it is the ordinary people who have paid the price for this folly. This is particularly true here in the North Shore area of New Brunswick.

Transportation experts have come to realize that the train provides our best overall dollar value in transportation, and the need for low-cost transit here in the east has never been greater. But, in place of solid moves in the direction of upgrading the train service, all we have been given are hollow promises.

A Halifax area Member of Parliament put it well when he told the commission that national unity is at stake in train service. We may get nothing from the present hearings for, after all, nothing is what we have received in the past. But the spokesmen who have made eloquent submissions to the government to wake up and view passenger rail service with open eyes deserve credit for trying.

Rust Problem On Cars

The federal government's announcement of a new anti-corrosion code for motor vehicles is welcome news. For too long the consumer has had to put up with premature rust problems in new cars. The last ten years have seen rust become a greater concern. New cars seemed to have less and less resistance against corroding. As a result of thousands of complaints from car owners, the federal consumer affairs department has given priority to the problem.

The new code will require that all manufacturers gradually improve the rust resistance of their vehicles. By 1981, all cars should last for five years without serious problems. To announce the new code and have it approved by the federal government, however, does not solve the problem. The provincial governments must now get into the act and make the code mandatory. This role goes to the provinces for they are responsible for the warranties on new cars.

Another factor that enters the picture is the use of salt to fight winter road conditions on many of Canada's highways. In not overlooking this area, Consumer Affairs Minister Tony Abbott called for a joint federal-provincial study on salt use and its effect on the economy and the environment. Salt is a great friend to the winter motorist, but at times there is probably too much used. Moreover, some authorities consider it harmful to the environment as a whole.

In any case, the federal government has finally taken the initiative and shown leadership in combatting the rust problem. The onus now is on the provinces to co-operate and get involved. The consumer will anxiously await a mandatory adoption of the anti-rust code.

Teen-Age Drinking

The comments of LeRoy Washburn, opposition MLA from Oromocto, bear close scrutiny by everyone in New Brunswick. Taking exception to the government's assurances in recent months that adolescent drinking in the province is not a serious factor, Mr. Washburn contends that consumption of alcohol by the young has reached staggering proportions.

One does not have to do much personal research to concede that Mr. Washburn is correct. Like many jurisdictions, New Brunswick has lowered the legal drinking age, a move claimed by the authorities to make sense. But does it? Does a lower drinking age not result in a still lower age of those actually being served?

Government spokesmen and the operators of licensed premises are fond of claiming that no minors are being served and that careful checks are made of identification cards of those suspected to be under nineteen. This is nonsense. Every day of the year numerous minors are being served by establishments interested solely in the revenue from liquor and beer.

It is time to take the problem of teenage drinking seriously and to begin to make the obviously necessary moves. Many things that can be done are being ignored in favor of higher government revenues. As a province, we must begin to put into practice what we claim to believe.

Finds Conditions Greatly Improved

Bathurst, N.B.
May 19, 1977

It is always easy to criticize conditions of which one does not approve.

When I visited this city from the Prairies last spring, I found the condition of washrooms in most public buildings very unhygienic. At that time I wrote to your paper voicing by strong objections to these unsanitary rest rooms.

This May I am visiting your city, and am very pleased to note a great improvement as most washrooms here are now adequately furnished with soap and towels, and the rest rooms clean and neat.

In view of this change for the better, I feel that a letter of commendation is in order to those involved in maintaining good health standards in their washrooms in the City of Bathurst.

Home Planning Topic Of WI Branch Meeting

Members of the South Tetagouche Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Patrick Foley for the monthly meeting in May. President Mrs. Ian Oliver was in the chair.

Mrs. Kenneth Vance read the thought for the month, the minutes and correspondence were dealt with by assistant secretary Mrs. Kenneth Ward.

Information was given on correspondence on "Home Planning" by Miss Carole Bennett, housing specialist with the N.B. Department of Agriculture. It contained many ideas to be used in planning the interior of homes, noting that home construction is a big investment.

Good planning is an essential step towards making the right decisions and spending money wisely. Begin planning early, then consult the district home economist for the "Home Planning Kits" which require six to eight weeks of preparation. If there is a heavy demand for these kits, preference will be given to farm families.

Mrs. Mildred Nevers, in her provincial president's letter, reminded the branch that the 25th anniversary of the W.I. Home at Woodstock is approaching and plans are in the making to have a large celebration in May, 1978. A special program will be arranged with an "open house" function and refreshments.

"Begin now to plan for this important occasion in the N.B. organization's history, requested Mrs. Nevers.

A thank-you card was received from Mrs. Ervine Good who underwent major surgery, for the card from the branch and for cards and letters received during the winter months.

Mrs. Willard Payne, Upper Gloucester District president, spoke on the forth-coming local district convention with a tentative date of June 14 at Danny's Colonial House. She mentioned the sale of cookbooks, noting the branch was running short of copies.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Payne for her donation of a Canadian Flag, replacing the one lost in the recent fire which destroyed the South Teteagouche Community Centre.

Life membership photographs and write-ups for W.I. members receiving their membership certificates were given to Mrs. Alton Smith, delegate to the provincial W.I. convention, to be left at the W.I. office in Fredericton, for placement in the N.B. W.I. Life Membership photo albums.

A letter of thanks will be sent to Mrs. A. M. Monette, president of the Paquetville W.I. Branch for her donation of books on Energy Conservation.

Committees reported and new ones appointed as follows: Mrs. Lauder Joudry and Mrs. Peter McKinnon, sick and visiting; Mrs. Janet Pitre and Marie Oliver, lunch.

Mrs. Willard Payne will hostess the June meeting at her home.

Citizenship convener, Mrs. Kenneth Vance read an article entitled "What Kind of Citizens should our Boys and Girls Become?"

For United Nation, Mrs. Kenneth Ward read an item entitled, "Prime Minister Trudeau wondering how much longer is Canada going to keep troops in Cyprus?"

Following adjournment, with members repeating the Institute Ode, lunch was served by Mrs. Foley assisted by Mrs. K. Vance and Mrs. K. Ward.

Miss E. Guitard Dies In 86th Yr.

The death of Miss Elizabeth Guitard of South Teteagouche occurred May 21 at Chaleur General Hospital following a brief illness. She was 85.

Born at Pointe Verte (Green Point), she was a daughter of the late Oliver and Olive (Chamberlain) Guitard.

Miss Guitard was a housekeeper during her working years. She lived her entire life in the area and was the last surviving member of her immediate family, and was highly respected by her relatives and friends.

Surviving are a number of nephews and nieces.

Miss Guitard rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home, Bathurst.

Rev. Noel Cormier and Rev. Gregory Sampson officiated at the funeral mass held at Holy Family Church, St. Peter Avenue, Monday at 4 p.m.

The Honorary pallbearers were James Imhoff, Gerald Imhoff and Raymond Imhoff, all grandnephews.

The active pallbearers were six grandnephews, Richard, Isidore, Emmanuel, Albert, Roger and Cornelius Imhoff.

Interment was in Mary Magdalene Church parish cemetery, South Teteagouche.

Those attending from out-of-town included Mr. and Mrs. Roger Imhoff and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Imhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Imhoff, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. James Imhoff, Mrs. May Legacy, Timmins, Ont.; Mrs. Gerald Pitre and family, Moncton; and Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Imhoff and family, Dundee; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kealty, Belledune.

Local Regiment Attends School

More than 300 militia personnel from the eastern New Brunswick militia district converged on Canadian Forces Base Gagetown last weekend to take part in a battle school.

Units involved in the exercise were the 2nd battalion, Royal New Brunswick Regiment (North Shore) from Campbellton, Bathurst and Newcastle; the 8th Canadian Hussars (Princess Louise's Militia) from Moncton, Sackville and Sussex; 32 Moncton Service Battalion; Headquarters, Eastern N.B. Militia District from Moncton; 3 Field Regiment Royal Canadian Artillery (The Loyal Company) from Saint John and 722 Communications Squadron, also from Saint John. Regular force support staff from all locations were also involved.

The battle school, held at the CFB Gagetown general manoeuver area, put into practice the individual soldier's skills learned at local headquarters during the training year.

Each member of the militia arrived at the base Friday evening, May 20 and departed Monday afternoon, May 23.

2RNBR elements practiced section attacks on mock positions and individual attacks on mechanical targets with live ammunition. 3 Field regiment Artillery fired live and illuminated rounds from their 105 Millimetre howitzers. Complete safety precautions were maintained during the firing of live ammunition.

Eastern N.B. Militia District Commander R. Fraser Potter of Moncton said the battle school was the culmination of militia training for the year and gave each unit commander a chance to assess his troops in simulated battle conditions.

Scholarships Are Awarded

Twenty faculty of education students at UNB and the University of Moncton have been awarded Queen Elizabeth II scholarships. In announcing the winners, Education Minister Charles Gallagher said the scholarships are valued at $500 per year. Half of them are tenable for one year, while the others are tenable for two years.

Among the one-year scholarship winners from UNB was Christopher Aube of Bathurst. Paulette Theriault of Allardville and Jean-Marie St. Coeur of Pokemouche were awarded two-year scholarships.

Mr. Gallagher said this year's awards will re-establish the Queen Elizabeth II scholarships on their intended basis. Beginning next year, all scholarships will be awarded for two years.

More Safety Bingo Winners

Centre photo: Marson Glendenning (right) of the maintenance department is presented with a variable speed jigsaw by Byron Branch, mechanical department foreman. Marson was a first-line winner in Group B. Each member of the crew also received an Atlantic Loto ticket for participating in a safety meeting. They are, from left, R. Chamberlain, D. Daley, A. Chamberlain, B. Branch, C. Carroll, E. Blanchard, D. Aubie, D. Knowles, T. Scott, R. Imhoff and H. Sealy. Missing are D. Sealy and A. Godin.

DOUBLE CEREMONIES HELD IN SOUTH BATHURST

A swim-up ceremony was held for Greg Burns of the First South Bathurst Beaver Colony held in the basement of St. Theresa's Church May 18. He now will take part in the South Bathurst Cub Pack. Debbie Andruniak was also invested as a Beaver leader. From the left are: Sean Andruniak, Gary MacKenzie, Jason Carroll, Paul Chamberlain, Keeo Robert Kerr; Mrs. Andruniak, Greg Burns, Andrew Colton, Chris Burns, Matthew Breckenridge and David Lecguter.

Chamber Would Increase UIC Qualifying Period

The qualifying period for unemployment insurance benefits should be increased from 8 weeks to 20 weeks, according to a brief presented May 19 by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to the House of Commons Committee on Labour, Manpower and Immigration. The committee is considering major amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The increase in the qualifying period, said the Chamber, is necessary to prevent the insurance scheme from being misused by persons who have only a tenuous attachment to the labour market, and would save Canadian taxpayers $800 million per year.

In presenting its recommendations, the Chamber said it was essential to strike a balance between the social desirability of unemployment insurance and the social undesirability of creating distincentives to work by using the insurance scheme as a costly substitute for welfare. The Chamber brief called for limiting the benefit period to 26 weeks (as against the 50 weeks proposed in the amendments), eliminating the indexing of benefits, re-examination of universality of coverage (e.g. 6 per cent of total benefits are paid to families with annual incomes in excess of $20,000, and some highly-paid seasonal workers are insured against a certainty of seasonal unemployment?, exempting student summer employees; establishing separate rates and schedules for sickness and maternity benefits; and placing more emphasis on manpower retraining and relocation.

The Chamber expressed strong reservations about the so-called "work-sharing" proposals, under which unemployment insurance monies would be used to subsidize wages in firms experiencing difficulty. The Chamber said it would be difficult to apply such proposals in the context of collective bargaining realities, and questioned the wisdom of artificially propping up an industry with wage supports. A better solution for employees of such an industry, the brief suggested, might be more training to upgrade job skills.

The Chamber brief cited abuses of the unemployment insurance plan, and said there should be a return to true insurance principles. People suffering long-term unemployment should be assisted by means other than unemployment insurance, said the Chamber. The Canadian Assistance Plan, for instance, was an appropriate and flexible vehicle for dealing with this problem.

The brief suggested that the ultimate solution to the problem of unemployment lay in the direction of creating a more buoyant economy, and in upgrading job skills. Government measures to encourage business investment, and greater emphasis on manpower training, would be steps in the right direction, said the Chamber.

The Chamber gave cautious approval to the new concept of more integration of unemployment insurance and manpower functions. "We are hopeful this will lead to economies as a result of rationalization and improved service to the public due to better co-ordination of programs", said R. F. Booth, Chairman of the Executive Council of the Canadian Chamber. "We would urge that this integration not lead to utilization of unemployment insurance funds, drawn from employees and employers, in avenues unrelated to the original concept of the collection of those funds."

Seven Receive Service Pins

A meeting of the Catholic Women's League Council of St. John the Evangelist parish in Belledune was held May 18 in the Parish Hall. Twelve members were present and president Mrs. Arthur Fournier was chairman.

The minutes as read by Mrs Leandre Landry were adopted. Mrs Barbara O'Brien read an article from Women of Action. A holy hour at the House of Prayer and scholarships were among the topics discussed.

The following were presented with 25-year service pins: Mrs. Frances Culligan, Mrs. George Culligan, Mrs. Auguste Parente, Mrs. Gladys Guitard, Mrs. Horace Boulay Jr., Mrs. Albert Legacy and Mary Alice Killoran.

It was noted that Mrs. Leandre Landry, Mrs. Arthur Fournier, Mrs. Mary Shannon and Mrs. Osmond O'Neil attended the recent annual Bathurst Diocesan convention held in Bathurst.

A delicious lunch was served after adjournment.

New Roget's Thesaurus Useful For Beginners

By NORMAN DePOE

Any working writer, or student, or simple lover of the English language finds a Thesaurus perhaps not indispensable, but a handy tool and a mind-expanding experience.

Do you use the same word again and again, stretching its meaning? Your Thesaurus will give you a range of other possibilities, and a range of connotations that will enable you to say more exactly what you intend.

That's why a new effort in the field, like The Doubleday Roget's Thesaurus in Dictionary Form (Doubleday; 804 pages; $5.75 regular, $6.75 thumb indexed) has to be interesting.

It trumpets forth that it's contemporary. Obsolete and old-fashioned locutions have been discarded, new ones added. This is both welcome and disappointing.

Many a writer, rummaging in the linguistic rubble of the past, has found a delightful old word or phrase, and brought it back to life. You won't find that kind of treasure in the Doubleday.

GROUPS OF IDEAS

Nor will you find the original, complicated approach to our language by Peter Mark Roget (born 1779), whose tortuous mind tried to classify words by the ideas they sought to represent. He had grandiose, sweeping sections, grandiosely headed "Sensation," or "Perception," and he cross-indexed everything.

The result was that the index tended to be longer than the main body of the book, and that an aspiring writer, hung up for a single word to say something precisely, could spend two or three hours wandering bemusedly through the pages, while a publisher somewhere was tearing his hair and wondering whether the piece would be in on time.

Mind you, the writer was improving his knowledge of English, not to mention early nineteenth-century philosophy.

But the publisher, like Rhett Butler, frankly didn't give a damn. He wanted the article on his desk soon. Probably yesterday.

A NEW APPROACH

Later editors and lexicographers went to work on Roget's scheme. One of them, C. O. Sylvester Mawson, conceived a new approach about 1910 - to get out of the difficult business of philosophy, which may have been all very well for the leisure-loaded Victorians, and produce an alphabetically organized dictionary of synonyms and antonyms, one that the average person could use. All subsequent Thesaurists have followed his lead.

So has Sidney I. Landau, editor-in-chief of Doubleday. As he puts it in his introduction:

"One is trapped between the Scylla of parsimony and the Charybdis of overabundance. We hope to avoid this quandary (Roget might have suggested 'delemma') by having a simple format with a comparatively full, but nevertheless selective treatment of synonyms."

SOME OMMISIONS

"Comparatively" is the appropriate adverb. One of the little-known facts about the English tongue is that there are more synonyms for "drunk" than almost any other word. Landau gives us a mere 19.

Where are "sozzled" and those marvellous coinages of the 1930s and 1940s, "pixillated" and "polluted"? Still, the compilers have packed a lot of words into 804 pages.

One of my most prized possessions is an old edition of the original Roget's Thesaurus, which has given me many happy hours when I should have been working.

The Doubleday goes up on my reference shelf, right beside the Mawson version, and Fowler, and Follett, and Strunk, and H. L. Mencken. It's distressingly lacking but useful, especially for a student or beginning writer. And, just for once, reasonable prices.

Norman DePoe, who covered national politics over many years for CBC News, also writes regularly on English usage.

Branch Almost Named In House

Nepisiquit-Chaleur MLA Frank Branch came very close to being 'named' in the Legislature Thursday, May 19 over a remark made during the question period.

Mr. Branch had asked whether the government had budgeted money in the coming year for an insulation program similar to that in Nova Scotia.

House Leader Paul Creaghan said the question had previously been dealt with by the chairman of the New Brunswick Power Commission, and when the government had a further statement to make, it would be made through that source.

Mr. Branch asked whether the decision would be made before next winter but before he received his answer, House Speaker William Woodroff ended the question period.

'Kangaroo court', said Mr. Branch. In a rare display of anger, Mr. Woodroffe asked Mr. Branch to withdraw the remark.

Mr. Branch began several lengthly explanations of his statement, but was interrupted by Mr. Woodroffe who said that if Mr. Branch did not withdraw the remark, 'I will have to name you to the house'.

To be 'named' is a form of punishment which carries no actual consequences, but is employed by the speaker very rarely.

Mr. Branch withdrew the remark, then asked if he could resume questioning. Mr Woodroffe ignored the request and left the House.

Zone Concept Is Introduced

The Miramichi Presbytery of the United Church of Canada has agreed to adopt a two-zone system commencing in the fall.

At its regular meeting held at Escuminac, Quebec, the Presbytery agreed to be divided into two zones, one stretching from New Mills, N.B. to Gaspe, Que. while the other would cover the Bathurst and Miramichi areas.

The intent of the zone concept is to allow Presbytery to work more effectively in terms of fellowship and oversight of pastoral charges.

Under the concept, Presbytery would continue to meet as a whole three times a year as it does at present, while the two zones would be able to meet at their discretion in between regular Presbytery meetings.

A special committee was set up to bring in a firm proposal on the actual details of carrying out the concept, and its report will be presented at the fall meeting in Blackville.

The Miramichi Presbytery is the regional court of the United Church of Canada and has responsibility for the United Church congregations from the Miramichi River area of New Brunswick to Gaspe, Quebec.

Awarded B.Sc With Honours

A Bachelor of Science degree with first class honors in chemistry was awarded by Mount Allison University to Leigh Carson of Bathurst, at spring convocation held at Sackville May 9.

Mr. Carson also received the chemistry industrial prize for highest marks in chemistry. He is the recipient as well of a $4,000 scholarship from Dalhousie University, Halifax, where he has enroled in the pharmacology program, commencing in September.

Mr. Carson will be engaged in research work at Mount Allison University throughout this summer.

A 1973 graduate of Bathurst High School, he is the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Carson, 551 King Ave.

Those attending graduation ceremonies besides his father were a younger brother, James Alan, and his sisters, Miss Stephanie Carson, also of Bathurst, and Miss Cynthia Carson who has completed second-year studies at the same university.

News notes from Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club
by Jean Boylan

The new golf season at Gowan Brae is now underway and the lady members have a new executive to guide their activities through to the end of the season.

The 1977 executive consists of the following: President, Denise Hachey; past president, Edythe Hatheway; 1st vice president, Cheryl Morrison; 2nd vice-president, Bernice Jardine; Secretary, Jean Coffyn; Treasurer, Alice Lavigne; Club Captain, Karen McDermott; Luncheon co-conveners Mrs. Doris LeBrocq and Mrs. Lou White; House Committee: Pat Buzas, Juniors, Pat Maher and Anne Orser; publicity, Jean Boylan.

In order to get the season off to a good start, the ladies are having a Get Acquainted Party this coming Saturday, May 28, beginning at 10 a.m. and ending around noon. Members are most welcome to bring along a guest. The committee preparing for this get-together consists of Pat Buzas, Alice Crutchfield, Mary Gavin and Edythe Hatheway, and I'm sure they are counting on a good turnout so that this first social event will be a successful one.

The course in already in good condition for the start of the season and our club Pro Eric St. George says the tees and greens will probably be ready for regular play by Thursday except for numbers 2, 3, 16 and 17 and 18. The above mentioned holes may still require temporary greens.

Golfers take note that Ladies' Days will begin Wednesday, June 15 at 1 p.m., and all members are invited to take part in these weekly 9-hole fun rounds.

One last item, circle June 11 on your calendar and reserve it for the club's Opening Dinner and Dance!

See you next week.

Dates Set For '78 Ladies Amateur Golf Tourneys

The Chairman of the 1978 Canadian Amateur Ladies Golf Championship, Mrs. D. G. Sedgewick, announced at a recent meeting of the committee that dates have been set for the championships.

The Ladies Amateur Championship will be staged at the Mactaquac Provincial Park Golf Course near Fredericton, August 7 - 12, 1978.

Mrs. John Meagher, chairman of the Junior Ladies Golf Championship who also attended the meeting, released the dates of next year's Junior Championship. The event, scheduled for the Fredericton Golf Club, will be held August 14 - 18, 1978.

Baseball Umpires' Clinic This Saturday

A very important clinic for Baseball umpires will be held this Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. at the Canadian Legion.

During the clinic, a series of tests, in both french and english, will be given to evaluate the umpires for the coming season.

All those interested in umpiring baseball this season are urged to attend Saturday's clinic.

Mount C Tennis Club Elects Cliff Daigle As President

Clifford Daigle was elected president for the 1977-78 season at the annual meeting of the Mount C Tennis Club held May 16. He replaces Emile Babineau who headed the club last season.

Other officers elected for the new season are: vice-president, Valmond Saulnier; secretary, Geraldine Mason; treasurer, Roger Dugas; Tournaments, Mark Landry; maintenance, Emilien Mallet; Ways and Means, Alban Landry; Volley Ball, Jim Smith and publicity, Emile Babineau.

The new executive will be holding its first meeting June 6, when budgets will be approved and membership fees established. Following this meeting, the public who wish to join the Mont C Tennis Club will be able to purchase membership cards from any of the above-mentioned executive members.

Meanwhile, if you wish to enter a volleyball team (adults only) you may do so before the May 31 deadline by contacting Jim Smith at 546-6671 ext. 323 or Cliff Daigle at 546-4619.

As you know, the New Brunswick Department of Youth is sponsoring the National Coaching Development Program which could interest all age groups. The program is designed for three categories with three levels of advancement to the provincial level. Certification is given after completion of the three parts at each level.

This coming Monday, May 30, at 7 p.m. in the basement of the presbytery of Mount Carmel Church, East Bathurst, Rene Pelletier of the Dept. of Youth will be presenting an outline (with slides) to explain what the coaching program has to offer you. By attending this presentation, you may decide whether you wish to enroll when the program is introduced in Bathurst. Everyone is welcome.

Bathurst Comets Host Saint John This Saturday

There will be six teams in the 1977 edition of the New Brunswick Junior Baseball League according to confirmation received following a league meeting held in Moncton Saturday.

Phil Bourgeois of Moncton, league president, advised the six teams, two of them new entries, will each play a 20 game schedule, with the openers slated for this coming weekend.

Defending champions Moncton Keeffe Cubs head the entries. Moncton Mets, Chatham Junior Ironmen, and Bathurst Comets are the other teams returning from last year's circuit. Saint John Raiders, who also play in the Southern New Brunswick Baseball League, and Fredericton Capitals are the two new league entries.

Fredericton was represented in the league a couple of seasons ago, but withdrew last year because of difficulties in getting people to run the team.

Bourgeois indicated a request for entry from Jacquet River was not followed up this season because the team had both coaching and management problems along with player troubles. He said they could be a possible entry next season.

Donne Allison of Chatham was elected first vice-president at the meeting while Joe Comeau of Beresford was chosen second vice-president. Former vice-president Bill McBeath was elected secretary-treasurer.

Opener Saturday

Bathurst Comets open their season here Saturday as they entertain Saint John at 6:30 p.m. In other Saturday games, Moncton Cubs host Chatham Junior Ironmen while Moncton Mets travel to Fredericton for an evening encounter against the Capitals.

Sunday, the Comets travel to Moncton for a 2 p.m. game against the Mets while Saint John plays the Ironmen in Chatham and the Moncton Cubs are in Fredericton to face the Caps at Royals Field.

Following the 20-game schedule, all six teams will be involved in playoffs.

Course Condition At Gowan Brae Improving Daily

Although the Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club course has been open for play for some time, conditions have been less than ideal for all the eager, early-bird golfers who have been stomping at the bit since mid-April for a chance to tee it up.

Despite the below normal temperatures in the first two weeks of May, the dry and windy conditions contributed to the drying out process at the layout to the extent that golfers have been able to play the course, except for a few holes, utilizing temporary tees and greens.

The advent of the extremely warm weather since last Friday along with the diligent work of the greenskeeping staff under the direction of greenskeeper Gilbert Vienneau have worked wonders in bringing the course up to mid-season condition.

The problems endured with the greens this time last year and through most of last summer have been overcome completely and the majority of the greens are beautiful.

According to Mr. Vienneau, by Thursday all tees and regular greens will be playable with the exception of those on holes No. 2, 3, 16, 17 and 18. Temporary greens will still be in use on these holes as the greens have been re-seeded and the growth is still a little too tender to accept regular traffic. However, a little inconvenience early in the season will pay big dividends throughout the summer in the form of a superbly conditioned golf course.

TROPHIES PRESENTED AT CITY DART LEAGUE BANQUET

INDIVIDUAL TROPHIES - Trophies donated by Moosehead Breweries. - Joe Hachey makes presentation to Maurice Boudreau (high finish 140); and Raoul Benoit, (high start 156). Missing is Omer Meunier, (high single 174).

Many New Cars Expected For Initial Race

Only 21 days remain until the opening race at Danny's Speed Bowl and the track's management predicts the quarter-mile oval track will be in top shape for the Provincial '77 meet which will kick off the season Wednesday, June 15.

Many interesting developments have taken place this past month which should give Bathurst fans plenty to cheer about.

Probably the biggest surprise is Vic Aubie's purchase of well known Canadan racing driver Don Biederman's car from Toronto. Aubie will be carrying the colors and symbols of Coca Cola and this vehicle should be an interesting addition to the Bowl.

Another Bathurst purchase is that of Richard McArthur's Car No. 58 from Fredericton, the 1976 Schooner points winner. This well built Camaro will be driven by popular racing drivers Murray Branch and Charlie Hachey and the unit will be sponsored by Kenny's Trucking.

Other Bathurst cars include Cub Payne who is gearing up a '62 Chevy II, Ligouri Roy, Hughie Alexander and back again after a five year absence is Freddie Rosengreen driving a Mustang formerly owned by Gerry Green.

Dalhousie will be represented this season with a car driven by Jack Scott. Jack was a steady contender in the early seventies.

Miramichi cars will be driven by Lloyd Wormell, Lindsay Tozer, Ian O'Donnell and Frank MacKenzie, and again, these cars should prove a steady threat to all others running at the Bowl.

Racing this season will be staged every Wednesday night with rain dates Thursdays.

Pit Talk

Two to three sponsorships are still up for grabs for anyone from the Bathurst area interested in building a car. This could mean up to $1,000.

Save Easy Tops Steak House 4-3 In LaBatt Opener

Defending champion Jamieson Save Easy officially opened the 1977 Labatt Softball League season on Saturday with a tight 4-3 decision over Steak House in the only game scheduled.

Gerald Couture, last year's leading hitter, doubled while Roger Pitre and Leonard Doucet each tapped singles to back up the tight pitching of winner Paul Hebert. Ernie Leger was the loser and Bobby Doucet doubled to lead Steak House at the plate.

Played Sunday

The league schedule continued Sunday with a pair of games. Thomas TV topped Hachey Esso 10 - 8 in Allardville as winning pitcher Daryl Daley helped his own cause with a two-run homer. Roger Clinch doubled and singled for the winners. Hubert Fournier clubbed a two-run homer for the losers as Paul Doucet suffered the loss.

Sunday's other game featured a rash of four baggers as Ellis Bldg. Supplies outslugged Cormier and Sons 26 - 16. Winning pitcher Robert Stever helped himself to a grand slam homer as well as a solo blast. Clarence Boyd also hit a grand slam for the winners and Pat Murphy also homered. Mark Landry belted three round-trippers for Cor... were not enou... ard Lavigne ... loss.

HOW DO YOU LIKE "THEM" POTATOES?

It doesn't take a great deal of imagination to see birds, baby ducks and chickens and other lifelike forms in this variety of odd-shaped spuds. They were picked by Mrs. Harold Moore from the family farm's crop of potatoes at Big River last fall, and she decided to take a picture of the spectacular variety. Mrs. Moore said they made attractive gifts for members of the family. The Moores are hoping their 1977 crops will be more uniform in shape.

Local Delegate Reports On NBWI Convention

"Conservation Towards A Saving Society" was the theme of the 64th annual convention of the New Brunswick Women's Institute held at MacLaggan Hall, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, May 16 - 18.

Delegates and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Mildred Nevers, provincial president, and Dr. John Anderson, president of U.N.B., who congratulated the Women's Institutes on starting a worthwhile organization, noting N.B.W.I. began 67 years ago in Perth and Andover.

Minister Hon. Fernand Dube, Q.C., was the speaker Monday evening. His subject, Environment of New Brunswick, touched on many topics such as: unsightly premises, pollution and water management among others. He urged everyone to conserve water as there will come a time, he said, when it will be as scarce as oil. Some companies have commenced facilities to control pollution, noteworthy among these being Frasers in Edmundston and Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation locally.

Mrs. Gladys Beattie, executive director, N.B. Safety Council, outlined the many safety programs carried out by the council. She thanked all W.I. branches which sponsored Grade XI students at safety seminars held annually in May.

The Tuesday morning session was chaired by Mrs. Dorothy Leckey, 1st N.B. vice-president.

Summaries of the '76 convention, minutes and advisory board meetings were received and circulated. The N.B.W.I. office reports were read and approved.

W.I. AFFILIATIONS

The combined bodies of the local branch W.I.s make up the district W.I. levels and the latter groups form the provincial bodies which are affiliated associates of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada which, in turn, are part of the world level group, the Associated Country Women of the World.

A report was heard from Mrs. Beryl Burges, N.B. representative of the FWIC, encouraging members to use topics and slides which are available through the national office in Ottawa, for planning occasional meeting programs around national and international affairs.

The A.C.W.W. report was submitted by Mrs. Nevers who spoke on the International Conference in Niarobi, Kenya, S.A., which she hopes to attend in October, 1977.

Miss Carole Bennett, housing specialist, N.B. Department of Agriculture, assisted by Miss Huberte Leger, district economist, Bathurst, conducted a game quiz, concerning whether people, as individuals, have been "Saving energy to save dollars" with electrical appliances in the home.

Doug Miller, liaison officer, Ottawa, on the topic Solar Heat, outlined and explained just how solar energy will be obtained. The speaker said, as yet, the project is relatively small as the government has been slow in getting listings and ratings done. Solar heat will be cheaper for individuals to use, if and when it does get underway, it was noted.

The afternoon session was chaired by Mrs. Eloise Craig, 2nd vice-president of NBWI.

A panel chaired by Mrs. Velma Kelly, N.B. social welfare convener on the topic, "Ways to cut food costs, with three panelists participating, was well received. Eating habits in general were discussed, during which it was concluded: we buy unnecessary foods such as pizzas, chips, etc.; there should be an end to buying fancy, packaged foods; shop and support our "Maritime companies" such as Barbours, Sussex products, etc.

RADIO BROADCASTS

Mrs. Eva Harris outlined her work on the program sponsored by NBWIs over the Moncton radio station. Forty scripts were researched and taped, she said, and the broadcasts have included series on nutrition and farm products; art of quilting; FWIC Conference; NBWI workshops; maple sugar making; New Brunswick homes, old and new; a review of children's books for "Young Canada's Book Week", among other programs.

"Farm Vacations" was the topic chosen by James Galloway, N.B. Department of Agriculture. He said the farm vacations program involves rural families located throughout New Brunswick who open up their homes to guests. Through such a program, the host families improve relations between rural and urban people. The N.B. Host Farm Assn. has grown since its formation in 1974 from six to 25 farms.

The annual banquet was held Tuesday evening at Lady Dunn Hall.

Grace and greetings were offered by Senator Muriel McQ. Fergusson. The special speaker was Mrs. Martha Bielish, Warspite, Alberta, president of the FWIC, who touched lightly on various items of W.I. interest across Canada.

Mrs. Bielish said there are 55,000 W.I. members in Canadian branches. Special mention was made regarding the Lewisport W.I., Newfoundland, comprised of 160 members; also to the work being carried out in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon by the W.I.

CHALLENGES W.I.

In closing, the national president asked each member to accept the challenge of enlisting a new member, and asked officers of provincial units to set first and foremost the extension and organization of branches into communities where no branches exist as one of their 1977 priorities.

Evening entertainment was provided by the St. Andrews Folk Group who presented a program of song and melody.

Wednesday morning's session was chaired by Mrs. Nevers who introduced Elliott Dalton, chairman of Glass Container Council of Canada whose topic was Recycling Glass.

Mr. Dalton said glass has to be sorted according to color, etc, and that the plant at Shediac can recycle 600,000 bottles a day. It employs 300 people. Approximately 20 tons of glass are recycled weekly at the plant at Royal York in Toronto, the speaker noted.

Mike Routledge, 4-H supervisor, N.B. Dept. of Agriculture, spoke on "What's happening in 4-H in N.B.?"

There have been numerous new clubs organized throughout the province and a provincial 4-H camp site will be built on a 20-acre lot near Chipman, Mr. Routledge said. The speaker said there is a shortage of leaders and asked that interested persons wishing to participate in 4-H work contact him personally or any 4-H Club.

HOME PROJECT

Mrs. Howard Thomas, chairman of W.I. home committee, Woodstock, gave her report, with a reminder that 1977 will mark the 25th anniversary of the opening of the senior W.I. residents home. She said the W.I. should be thinking of a project to commemorate this occasion, that the WI should be proud of this project which has been successfully carried on by members without any government assistance for a quarter of a century.

Branch of Honor presentations went to Keswick Ridge for 1st; Point de Bute, 2nd; and Lameque, 3rd.

Mrs. Reid Stewart, Dalhousie, N.B. editor of the W.I. magazine, Home and Country, said many projects and concerns of W.I. work are carried out during the years, some being; involvement in our own communities, W.I. booths at county fairs where, sometimes, the question is asked, What is W.I.? here, and other places, there is a chance to "blow your own horn".

Mrs. Stewart advised all WI secretaries to encourage newspapers to accept notes, as this would enlighten non-members on the organization as to just what' benefits are received from being a WI member.

In closing, Mrs. Stewart expressed thanks to advisory board members, office staff and to all who have contributed in any way to this area of the W.I. program.

A panel chaired by Mrs. Violet Long on "Conservation - What are we doing?" with four area directors participating. The topics concerned were cultural heritage; recycling clothes; money saving, how? and budgeting.

Mrs. Frederic Comeau, Bathurst, Northumberland, Restigouche and Upper Gloucester area director, chose "Conservation of time" as her topic. She said when you fail to plan, you plan to fail. She noted indecision wastes time; one should make use of one's time; the telephone is a friend of millions but also a time waster; never put off until tomorrow what you can do today.

MANY EXHIBITS

Exhibits for the convention were many, and items for the sale table were well provided by articles sent in by the branches.

Many quilts of either traditional or contemporary design were on display, and some were forwarded to the Cathedral Festival of Arts on Church Street, Fredericton. It is possible, after the festival, some of the quilts will be displayed at the new National Exhibition Centre later this year, and from there to various other exhibition centres across Canada, it was noted.

It was also noted that quilt blocks brought to the provincial convention by W.I. Members four years ago, have been compiled into the W.I. Quilt Pattern Book which now is available for four dollars.

A provincial W.I. scholarship has been set up to be paid annually to a boy or girl wishing to further his-her studies in music at an accredited university.

The credentials committee revealed there were 263 attending the 1977 convention, including delegates and visitors.

Those attending from the Bathurst District included Mrs. F. G. Comeau, area director for Northern N.B.; Miss Huberte Leger, district economist; Mrs. Willard Payne, Upper Gloucester District W.I. Branch president and Mrs. Kenneth Ward, district secretary; and delegates Mrs. Harper Smith, Mrs. Eldon Sealy, Mrs. Herbert Branch, Mrs. Gary Chishold and Mrs. Alton Smith.

P. J. VENIOT

Receives Degree With Honors

A Bachelor of Arts degree, first class honors, with distinction on psychology, was presented by St. Thomas University to Paul "P. J." Veniot, at convocation held in Fredericton May 9.

A 1973 graduate of Bathurst High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Veniot, 404 King Ave. Future plans of the young graduate include enrollment in law school.

Mr. Veniot was active throughout his four years of studies at St. Thomas where he played varsity soccer during 1974-75, was a member of Harrington Hall House Committee 1973-75, and was with the musical group, The Thomists throughout 1974 - 77; in the U.N.B. Red 'n' Black Revue of '73, '75 and '76 and S.T.U.'s Wooden Music Night in both 1973 and '76.

This talented young musician was also studio musician (Fredericton and Saint John) during the 1976 - 77, and a member of the Fredericton Jazz Workshop in 1976.

Mr. Veniot has compiled a report for the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs (Federal) on the topic, Metrication, and developed a thesis on the subject, "Musical Preference Patterns" as a requirement in obtaining his honors degree. The thesis will be published in the September issue of The Journal of Music Research and Education.

Awarded a faculty fund scholarship in 1976, Mr. Veniot was also recipient of first prize in the Maritime Intercollegiate Folk Festival in 1976.

Attending the graduation besides his parents was his grandfather, Dr. J. Leonard Veniot, retired Bathurst dentist.

T. HAROLD CHALMERS

The death of Thomas Harold Chalmers, a well known and highly respected resident of Belledune, occurred May 18 at Dr. Everett Chalmers Hospital in Fredericton after an illness of six months. He was 89.

Born at Belledune, he was a son of the late James and Annie (Loane) Chalmers. Except for a few years spent in Bathurst while a young man, Mr. Chalmers had always resided in the community.

Mr. Chalmers was employed by Canadian National Railways for 35 years until he retired at age 65. He was also a shovel operator and carried on a successful farming operation as well at Belledune.

An active member of Belledune United Church and within the community, Mr. Chalmers also belonged to Lodge St. John No. 27 F.M. and A.M. He was presented with his 60-year jewel by the Lodge several years ago.

His wife, the former Bertha M. Shampier of Saint John died in 1964.

Surviving are one son, Burton of Sarnia, Ont.; three daughters, Mrs. Percy Archibald (Constance) of Fredericton, Mrs. Milton Schneider (Marjorie) of Waterloo, Ont. and Mrs. Earl Brown (Hilda) of Newcastle.

Two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Chalmers (Attie) of Saint John and Mrs. George Bartlett (Ruby of Sackville; 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren and a number of nephews and nieces also survive.

Another daughter, Mrs. Orlo Browne (Doris) died two years ago.

Mr. Chalmers rested at the family home in Belledune.

A service was held at his home by Masonic Lodge No. 27 of Bathurst with Worshipful Master Roy Day, and the Masonic chaplain, Rt.W. Bro. Edward Crowther officiating.

Rev. Gordon Simons, New Mills, assisted by Rev. Dr. Ralph C. Chalmers, Bathurst, officiated at the funeral service held at the home Saturday at 2 p.m.

The hymns sung were Rock Of Ages and The Old Rugged Cross. Organist was Mrs. Lloyd MacMillan.

The pallbearers were two sons-in-law, Earl Brown and Percy Archibald, and four grandsons, Douglas Chalmers, William Archibald, Gary Brown and Ian Browne.

Interment was in the family plot in the United Church Cemetery at Belledune.

Large numbers of mourners from Belledune and the neighboring districts called to pay their respects and attended the funeral. Arrangements for the funeral were under the direction of Lloyd MacMillan Funeral Service, Black Point.

Members of the family and other relatives who came for the funeral from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Burton Chalmers, Douglas Chalmers, Sarnia, Ont.; Mrs. Marjorie Schneider, Waterloo, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown, Newcastle, Orlo Browne, Ian Browne, Moncton; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Archibald, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas French, William Archibald, Fredericton; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Brown, Dartmouth, N.S.; Mrs. Joan Van Denburgh, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar MacKnight, Mrs. J. H. Chalmers, Malcolm Camp, Saint John; Allison MacMillan, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Heber Loane, Charlo; Dr. R. C. Chalmers, Kenneth Chalmers and Mrs. James H.B. Scott, Bathurst.

Many floral tributes, donations to the Cancer Society and church memorial funds and other messages were received by the family.

LES DAMES D'ACADIE ELUENT UN NOUVEL EXECUTIF

Ce fut autour d'un délicieux souper au homard que les Dames d'Acadie se réunissait mercredi le ?è mai à la salle Colonial chez Danny's. Bernadette Fongémie, nouvelle présidente, souhaita le bienvenue à tous, et présenta le nouvel exécutif. Elle présenta par la suite, une tasse souvenir à Cécile Duguay, présidente-sortante en guise d'appréciation pour le beau travail accompli lors de son mandat.

Le conférencier d'honneur était Pierre Cyr, agronome. M. Cyr nous informa de l'importance de l'agriculture, il nous parla de jardinage et incitait les gens à se faire un jardin familial. Les nombreuses questions qui suivirent démontrèrent le vif intérêt apporté par les dames présentes.

Comme dans les années la cave à vin. Activités qui se dérouleront les è et ç juillet durant la semaine d'hospitalité. Des comités ont été formé sous la présidence de Maryvonne Eddie.

Une bourse d'étude sera offerte encore cette année à un finissant de la polyvolante Népisiguit, se dérigenat en français. Pour de plus amples informations, s'adresser à Mme Bernadette Fongémie au numéro de teléphone àè-i?é ou à M. Berthier Bérubé, professeur de français à la Polyvolante.

Des dons ont été accordé à de différentes organisations: $25.00 à un étudiant lui permettant d'assister au forum des jeunes Canadiens à Ottawa, $15.00 à Thomas Chamberlain, responsable pour un tournoi de handicapés; $25.00 à la troupe Vent d'Mer de Robertville; et $21.00 à Jeuness du Monde.

Quelques dames poseront leur candidature pour des postes qui seront éligibles au moment de l'assemblé annuelle provinciale qui se tiendra à Caraquet en octobre prochain.

Le prix de présance apporté par Suzanne Rosignol fut remporté par Jeanne d'Arc Daigle. La soirée se termina par un échange de plantes.

Attend Synod At Fredericton

Archdeacon R. H. Murphy attended the biennial Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Fredericton held in the capital March 12 - 14.

Delegates attending the meeting from St. George's Anglican Church were Edmond Carroll, Hadley Wood and Mrs. R. H. Murphy.

Blood Pressure Clinic A Success

The April meeting of the Bathurst Chapter, Kidney Foundation was held recently at Chaleur General Hospital.

President Sheila Burns, who chaired the meeting, was pleased to report that a very successful blood pressure clinic had been held. A total of 231 persons were tested and of these, 36 had high blood pressure and were already on medication. Thirty-three were referred to their doctors to have their blood pressures rechecked. The chapter wishes to thank all those who helped to make the clinic a successful one.

It was decided that tickets for an afghan and pillow would be sold during the summer months as a fund-raising project. The afghan and pillow were generously donated by a chapter member.

The next meeting of the foundation is scheduled for June 23. The chapter hopes to see a large turnout and invites all interested persons to attend.

NRDC Making Headway In Various Programs

The Northern Regional Development Council, a Citizens' organization committed to helping people of northeastern New Brunswick to improve their socio-economic conditions, is embarking on its 12th year of operation.

Elected president of NRDC at the annual meeting held in Bathurst was Harper Smith of Janeville. He succeeds Rev. T. H. Drillen of Clifton.

Other officers elected were Weldon Clowater of Durham Centre, first vice-president; Mrs. John Foley of South Tetagouche, second vice-president; Mr. Drillen, secretary and Joseph MacDonald of North Tetagouche, treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were Byron Moriarity, Belledune, J. Leo Hachey and John Duffy, Bathurst; Rev. F. J. Albert, Lorne and Gary Murchie, Dalhousie.

MacDonald was one of five newcomers elected to the board of directors. He and the others were named for a three-year term of office. They are Mrs. Eleanor MacPhee, Mrs. John Murphy, Frank Mersereau, Bathurst and Amedee Giroux, Charlo Station.

Re-elected for three years were James Adams, Glen Levit, Fred Hornibrrook, Janeville; W.A. (Bud) Jamieson, River Charlo; Mr. Hachey, Mr. Drillen and Mrs. Foley.

To allow for greater representation on the board, there are 22 other directors. They have either one year or two years left to serve.

Reports were given on the activities of the Council and on the work of those organizations associated with NRDC. The regional development council receives a provincial government grant of $30,170.

Despite a cutback in field work during the year due to "financial stress," Clowater told of responding to needs and problems in all parts of the region. Work was carried out with fishermen who were affected by proposed changes in federal fishing policies, river guides who wanted to improve their working conditions and to have a more forceful liaison with government, recreation groups anxious to organize activities and facilities in their areas, farmers wanting to become informed on government programs affecting them and with many other groups of people.

Through an LIP project, NRDC conducted a triprogram to compile the history of the overall area and of individual communities, to unite farmers under one banner for a stronger voice and to promote the building of the Chignecto Canal as a way of conserving fuel and energy on a long term basis.

The Northern Regional Development Council feels it is just "scratching the surface" in its heritage program since the grant was intended for the gathering of history information in only three electoral districts.

Despite the cutback, more field work was carried out than during the previous year. NRDC recognizes the importance of looking at all communities through the eyes of a representative in the field, Clowater told the annual meeting.

Carson Daley thanked the Council for supporting the plea made by 150 lobster fishermen at the headwaters of Chaleur Bay who worked at other jobs in order to supplement their income and to avoid collecting unemployment and welfare.

He said the representation made to federal fisheries officials had been successful and everyone was fishing lobster again this year.

Concerning the long term, the New Bandon Fishermen's Association reported it was not pleased with the Class "C" licence proposed or with the Class "B" licence being frozen.

The Northeastern Amalgamated Fishermen's Association, which embraces the four individual associations from Dalhousie to Tabusintac, compiled ideas and suggestions for the replenishing of fish stocks and for curbing the present dilemma in the fishing industry. These ideas were presented to the speical committee of fisheries when it sat in Bathurst.

Reported Father Albert on housing, "We believe the New Brunswick Housing Corporation has a very good program for home improvement but when it comes to new homes it is still too complicated and not sufficient to serve the needs of the low income people."

He said these people must have their lot as well as their basement, roof, walls, windows, electricity, heating and plumbing installed before being eligible for getting their dwelling finished to standard.

"Some people never have enough money to take advantage of the loan. The programs are not flexible enough in many cases," Father Albert compained.

On tourism, NRDC reported on approaches made to government for the acquiring of public beach and recreation land, prevention of flooding at Black's Brook in Restigouche County and continuance of the Dalhousie Ferry. The Council completed two historical pamphlets on the local heritage which were added to the three NRDC tourism brochures already at tourist bureaus in the region.

Other reports were given on the three NRDC publications, Vision Guiding Light for fishermen and Farm News and Views.

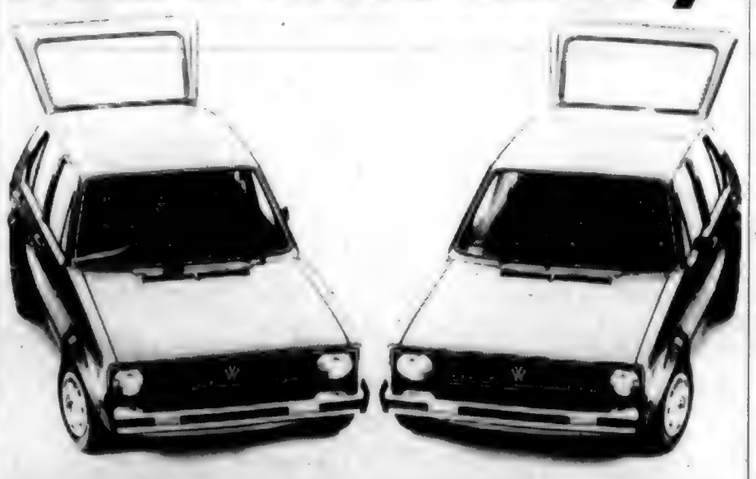
Want to talk economy?



The Rabbit is all ears.

When you say you want a car that gets up to 45 miles per gallon on the highway,* the Rabbit not only listens, it delivers.

When you ask for an engine that saves horsepower by cooling itself with a thermostatically controlled fan, the Rabbit hears you talking. (When the engine is cold or at highway speed, the fan shuts off and makes extra power available to the motor.)

When you want a car that isn't going to depreciate rapidly, the Rabbit says, "Here I am".

IN MEMORIAM

McARDLE — In memory of a loving father Charles F. McArdle who passed away May 24, 1972.

No words could express the love
in my heart,
I had for my father on earth
He was everything a human father could be,
Understanding, gentle, kind and patient with me
Though I wasn't always what he wished me to be,
His eyes only held comfort and love for me,
His job wasn't easy, but it came from above,
Therefore it was filled with forgiveness and love,
And I'll always remember my father this way,
And pray he continues to guide
me each day.

Missed very much by his daughters.

Saint John Group Wins Top Prize

Their friends in Saint John will have to stop calling them "The Unlucky Thirteen" since the 13 car salesmen joined the $100,000 winners' circle in Atlantic Loto's latest draw.

"Winning the big one, $100,000, is a good pick-me-up", said Vincent Carroll who came to Moncton to claim the grand prize.

The group, which boasts 160 years of experience in car sales had ticket number 74087 in Series 26 among the 90 tickets they regularly buy.

Others in the group are Wilfred Lamb (a 25-year man), Frank Todd (12 years), Stan McGrath (25), Bob McCann (10), Richard Shephard (six months), Don Crouse (five years), Earl Moore (five), Reg Hooton (25), Peter Gray (3), Frank Sullivan (20), Ron Hutchinson (6), Walter Branscombe (one month).

Reg Hooton was the custodian of the tickets for the 12th bi-weekly draw while another veteran, Willie Lamb, was on holidays.

"I shopped around four or five places for the tickets", said Mr. Hooton, "I was watching the show sort of unconsciously, watching with my daughter, and I let out a hoot. I called Vince (20 year man) at work. We're open til 9 and I told him it was true, we won her".

"The phones started going to midnight", Vince added. "The wives needless to say, are happier than the world."

Said Reg: "You couldn't imagine the number of people the 13 of us know in Saint John. the phone was almost rung off the wall."

"Winning will sure help our business, and help out the city of Saint John for ticket sales", Vince said.

For each, the $7,692.33 share will be of some "real benefit", said Willie, who has a new $10,000 boat.

They say they can't stop buying Atlantic Loto tickets now.

"Our wives", said Vince; "wouldn't let us."

Speaker Enlightens UCW Group On Guyana

President Mrs. Kenneth Vance was hostess at her home for the regular monthly meeting of the South Tetagouche United Church Women on May 18.

The meeting opened in the usual manner, with members repeating the U.C.W. purpose.

Mrs. Eric MacMinn conducted the devotional period entitled "Trusting". Following call to worship, Mrs. Donald MacIntosh read the Scripture taken from Psalms 118.

The hymns, Trust and Obey and How Long Has It Been were sung. The offering was received and dedicated, followed by prayer. The worship period closed with a poem read by Mrs. MacMinn entitled, What Is A Mother?

Bible study on St. Matthew Ch. 13:31-58 was led by the president.

Mrs. Ian Oliver, missionary convener, read an article from the April issue of the Internationalist magazine entitled, The White Man's White Milk Powder

Roll call was answered by 11 members. Two guests were present

After the minutes were read, treasurer Mrs. MacIntosh presented the financial report. Both were adopted.

Correspondence read by Mrs. Sanford Smyth included a thank-you note. A letter from J. J. Parr, executive secretary for the department of stewardship services, Toronto, introducing the U.C.W. to a new colleague in the department, Mrs. Jean Bruce who is replacing Emily Marquis.

Mrs. William Oliver read from the May issue of the mandate, containing some replies from Gordon Sinclair's New Year Message "To The Saints".

Money was turned in from the sale of cookbooks and spoons.

In June, the ladies will gather at the home of Mrs. Harvey Murchie for a brief meeting before going to the Fundy Line Motel for lunch.

Citizenship convener, Mrs. G. MacIntosh introduced the evening's guest, Mrs. Vibert Shury, formerly of Guyana who has been residing in Canada for six years, and at present living in Bathurst.

Mrs. Shury gave an informative talk on her country and a question and answer period concerning Guyana followed. She was thanked by the president, Mrs. Vance. Mrs. MacIntosh presented the guest speaker with a token gift of appreciation.

The meeting closed with members repeating the creed after which lunch was served by the appointed hostesses.

May is Hearing Awareness Month. Deafness means lack of communication. Whether a person is deaf or hard of hearing, their main problem is communicating with the hearing world. You can help the deaf and hard of hearing to communicate by following these simple suggestions. Speak up but don't yell. Speak clearly but don't exaggerate lip movements. Face the hearing impaired person when you speak and don't cover your lips. Don't be afraid to write your message if necessary.

Was Native Of Stonehaven

The death of Lucy Ida Wright, widow of the late Kenneth Wright of Halcomb, formerly of Stonehaven, Gloucester County, occurred recently at Halcomb, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. Chambers. She was 87.

Born in Stonehaven, she was a daughter of the late John and Mary Ann (Hornibrook) Dempsey. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family. Her husband predeceased her five years ago.

Ten years ago, Mrs. Wright and her late husband moved to Halcomb to live with their daughter, Mrs. Chambers, and Mr. Chambers.

Mrs. Wright is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William Chambers (Vera) of Halcomb and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Wright rested at the home of her daughter at Halcomb until 1 p.m. Wednesday when the remains were taken to Lyttleton Pentecostal Church for the funeral at 2 p.m.

Rev. Gay Norrie, pastor, officiated at the service, with Rev. Ronald Dempsey, Sackville, a nephew of Mrs. Wright, assisting.

Hymns sung were When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder, When I've Gone The Last Mile Of The Way, and a solo, Where The Roses Never Fade, rendered by Rev. Stephen Johnstone. William Chambers was organist.

At the graveside, the congregation sang I'll See You In The Rapture.

Pallbearers were Eldon Tozer, Lindsay Tozer, Delbert Chambers, Allen Stewart, Barton Johnstone and Percy Mutch.

Interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

Relatives and friends from a distance came from Campbellton, Bathurst, the Downshore area, Moncton and Sackville.

carelessness can kill.....YOU!

There are many things on the modern farm that can cause serious, even fatal, accidents ...machinery, chemicals, even simple household appliances can maim or kill if used carelessly.

So it all boils down to YOU. In every "Accident" someone was at fault, someone used a dangerous article carelessly or did a safe act in an unsafe way.

Accidents on the farm don't "happen", they are "caused" ...we hope not by "YOU".

Gordon E. Jagoe Funeral Thurs.

The death of Gordon E. Jagoe, well known and respected resident of Clifton, occurred Tuesday at Chaleur General Hospital after an illness of several days. He was 83.

Born at New Bandon, he was a son of the late John and Esther (Peters) Jagoe. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

A farmer and fisherman all his life, he had always lived in the community.

Mr. Jagoe attended Central United Church. He was a member of the Chaleur Evening Stars' senior citizens group and the Independent Order of Foresters.

Twice married, his first wife, the former Lyla Knowles died in 1930. His second wife, the former Martha Ellis died in 1974.

Surviving are the children of his first marriage, Mrs. James Cormier (Margaret) of Komoka, Ont., Mrs. Murray Scott (Dorothy) of Clifton and Mrs. James Hicks (Alice) of Toronto. A son, Floyd, died 13 years ago. There are 24 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and several nephews and nieces.

Mr. Jagoe will be resting at Elhatton's Funeral Home until Thursday morning. The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Central United Church, Clifton, with burial to follow in Spruce Grove Union Cemetery, Sand Hill.

PET NEWS

Care Of Your Pet In Summer

The warm weather has arrived, and we all want to be out-of-doors. Is your pet tied in your back yard with his water dish and a place where he can find shade out of the heat of the sun?

Your clothesline is a good place to tie your pet. He will be free to run the length of it, but be sure the leash is long enough so that he can lie down without being uncomfortable.

Always have a place for your dog to be in the shade where he is tied, whether it be a tree, his house or a large box. Check on him often as your pet likes to know someone is around.

Your pet's diet should be about the same in summer as it is in winter, with a bit more fat added to counteract the dry coat and summer eczema.

If you have to take your pet with you in the car, be sure to leave the windows down for air circulation, and don't let him put his head out of the window while travelling as flying insects and dirt may get lodged in his eyes.

Program To Help Women

Labour Minister John Munro and Manpower and Immigration Minister Bud Cullen May 10 jointly announced the first phase of an Affirmative Action Program designed to imporve and enhance the employability of women in Canada.

Affirmative Action involves a series of positive steps undertaken by employers to remove systemic barriers to employment and to achieve measurable improvements in hiring, training and promoting qualified workers who have in the past been denied access to certain jobs.

In elaborating on this program, Mr. Munro stated that "it originated in December 1975 during a federal-provincial conference on human rights and was conceived in close collaboration with provincial and human rights agencies in order to secure cooperation among companies awarded federal contracts. There are more than 1,000 such contractors across Canada, and they will be provided with Affirmative Action Program guidelines and necessary consultative services."

The Affirmative Action Program guidelines, a joint effort of Manpower and Immigration and Labour Canada, detail such points as making preliminary analysis of the present situation in a company to determine if there is a need for affirmative action; how to organize such a program; how to monitor the program and get feedback; and how to utilize, if needed, available internal and external resources.

Mr. Cullen pointed out that "one of Manpower's main concerns is to improve employment opportunities for all working women. By formulating and adopting an Affirmative Action Program I am convinced that it will help remove traditional barriers to employment that have adversely affected women.

"Affirmative Action aims at utilizing human resources to their fullest potential and will hopefully increase job and personal satisfaction for all working women", Mr. Cullen said.

In conclusion, both Ministers agreed that the close cooperation between their two departments will continue and expressed confidence in this approach to introducing the Affirmative Action Program.

Salvation Army Appeal Now On

The Salvation Army's Red Shield appeal is underway this week in the city with canvassers from the Newcastle group conducting the campaign.

Funds from the financial drive, which got underway Monday, May 23 and will end Friday, May 27, go toward the wide variety of services provided by the Salvation Army members. These include homes for children, senior citizens, unmarried mothers and young offenders, summer camps, emergency shelters, general and maternity hospitals, rehabilitation centres for alcoholics and drug addicts as well as overseas missions, missing persons bureaus and hospital visitation.

The campaign is being conducted on a door-to-door basis as well as at various business establishments throughout the city by approximately six members of the Newcastle organization who will be wearing the identifying Salvation Army tag. The general public is urged to respond generously to the appeal which will provide many needed service in the region.

Negative Attitude Delaying Refinery?

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau's announcement that he would wait for the results of a study now being carried out before making any decision on a zinc smelter has met with criticism from Rayburn Doucett, Liberal MLA for Restigouche-East.

"The negative attitude taken towards the zinc smelter at the annual meeting of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. ignores completely the right of New Brunswickers to gain the maximum value they can from New Brunswick's resources, particularly in terms of jobs", said Mr. Doucett in the Legislature May 18. He felt New Brunswickers had a right to insist on the smelter "rather than standing on the dockside waving goodbye as our resources are shipped overseas for processing."

Mr. Doucett wanted to know if shareholders had been advised of all the facts before they came to the conclusion the smelter was not feasible economically at this time.

Mr. Boudreau pointed out the conclusion "was just an opinion one of the shareholders was expressing." He said the shareholder, Industrialist K. C. Irving, was basing his opinion on the former building of a lead smelter at Belledune. "As far as the government is concerned, we still believe we should pursue the study and make sure all the figures are available."

In a later statement outside the House, Mr. Doucett accused the government of "hanging their hat on the feasibility study."

He said he doesn't believe Noranda is laying all the information before the people. "The government, as expected, is sitting back and waiting to be told what Noranda will do and will not do."

Anyone who is not canvassed and who wishes to make a contribution can mail their donations to The Salvation Army, 285 Edward Street, Newcastle, N.B.

MESSENGERS HOLD GRADUATION

The Messengers of First United Church held their closing and graduation on Thursday, May 19 at the Donald Eddy Hall. The program put on for parents included group singing, piano playing baton twirling and recitations. Tammy Arseneau and Mary Jane Watling graduated from Messengers to Explorers, and they were presented with certificates and a gift. Miss Margaret Ross and Mrs. Lydice Shirley were also presented with gifts on behalf of the groups. In the photo, Tammy is congratulated by Gwen Davies, leader. Mary Jane was absent when the photo was taken.

Young Canada Works Projects Announced

The Minister of Manpower and Immigration, Mr. Bud Cullen, has announced the approval of 42 Young Canada Works projects for the federal constituency of Gloucester.

Out of a $354,000 total allocation for this constituency, projects approved May 20 amount to $317,051. More projects will be selected and announced in the near future.

These 42 projects will create 222 student summer jobs, generating 2,180 man-weeks of work. All students to be hired must be referred to project sponsors by the Student Manpower Centre or CMC of each area.

The Young Canada Works Program is designed to reduce student summer unemployment by enabling established organizations to sponsor employment generating projects in areas of community need. The jobs should be designed to facilitate students' future access to the labour market by enabling them to test possible career interests and to obtain practical experience in a broad choice of fields.

Attend Mental Health Session

Provincial Health and Welfare Minister Brenda Robertson has urged active involvement in the recently formed advisory committee of the N.B. Mental Health Association.

Mrs. Robertson was a guest speaker at the annual meeting of the association held in the Saint John Provincial Hospital May 13-14.

Mental health care has been designed as a priority by Mrs. Robertson who assumed the responsibility of that portfolio last year.

The newly formed advisory committee will be headed by Dr. Allan Mann of Montreal, one of the most highly qualified professionals in the psychiatric field.

At present, Dr. Mann is responsible for psychiatric care at Montreal General Hospital and is also associated with McGill University.

Health Minister Robertson also urged the population to make a point of meeting with the advisory committee when in their locality, in order to bring to the group's attention the needs of the public.

Bathurst was represented at the meeting by Hilaire Brideau, local Mental Health Assn. president, and Mrs. Brideau; Mrs. Helen Goyette, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Elsie Baldwin, treasurer; and John Goyette, immediate past president.

In-patient services for Bathurst is still definitely on the agenda, it was noted at the meeting.

Further to a conversation with the minister regarding clarification of her statement in the House, Mrs. Robertson said she honestly feels that beds for this service already have been located, but following persuasion by Mr. Goyette the minister promised to review all correspondence between the local hospital Board, Mental Health Association and the Department of Health and Welfare, and will be contacting the local groups in the near future.

Mrs. Joyce Watling, Oromocto, was elected president of the N.B. association. Other officers for 1977-78 are: Mrs. Ann Breau, St. Stephen, 1st vice-president; John Goyette, Bathurst, 2nd vice-president; John Sielakus, Fredericton, treasurer; Richard Priestman, Fredericton, executive director, who will also act as secretary. Gilles Souci, Campbellton, is immediate past president.

Directors at large are Mrs. Norma Pickle, Fredericton; Frank Harriot, Fredericton, and Lorraine LeBlanc, Moncton.

Other members of the board of directors are representatives of each branch in New Brunswick. From the Bathurst branch are Hilaire Brideau and Helen Goyette. Alternate representatives are Mrs. Elsie Baldwin and Rev. Dr. E. R. Woodside.

A priority noted at the annual meeting for the coming year still remains psychiatric in-patient service at Chaleur General Hospital in Bathurst.

Red Cross Aids Lebanon

The Ministry of External affairs contributed an additional $350,000 to aid the victims of Lebanon's civil war.

External Affairs Minister Don Jamieson presented a cheque for $250,000 to Canadian Red Cross Society President J.G.N. Clark while at the same time in New York, United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim was presented with a $100,000 cheque from Canada's UN Ambassador William Barton.

The $250,000 from Ottawa will be forwarded by the Canadian Red Cross Society to the International Committee of the Red Cross in Geneva.

The two contributions, both appropriations from the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA), bring the total donations from all sources in Canada to $4.88 million. The Canadian government has contributed $1.03 million to the ICRC in Geneva.

"The ICRC", Mr. Jamieson said, "has provided the most effective route to date in supplying emergency relief in a nondiscriminatory manner where it has been needed most."

The Canadian Red Cross Society itself has contributed $30,000 to aid the war victims while $40,000 was provided by the government of British Columbia through the Red Cross.

Surviving are his wife, the former Evangeline (Frenette) Boudreau; two sons, Ronald of Moncton and Charles of Bathurst; one daughter, Mrs. Daniel Boudreau (Raymonde) of Boucherville, Que.

Also surviving are 13 stepchildren including Claude Boudreau, St. Laurent, Martin Boudreau, Quebec City, Mrs. Jean Claude Guignard (Francine) of Nigadoo and Mrs. Gilles Fournier (Marie) of Petit Rocher, all of whom resided with their mother following her second marriage.

Two brothers, Arthur of Petit Rocher and Norbert of Montreal; two sisters, Mrs. Ernest Chouinard (Eugenie) of Balmoral and Mrs. Florent Fournier (Dorile) of Petit Rocher; and eight grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Boudreau rested at Verret's Funeral Home, Nigadoo.

Rev. Edmond Richard, Bathurst, a cousin of the deceased, also Rev. Edmond Richard and Rev. Andre Pinet officiated at the con-celebrated mass held at St. Polycarpe Church in Petit Rocher Thursday at 7 p.m.

Two grandchildren, Charline Boudreau and Gilles Boudreau were the servers. The reading was by a granddaughter, Pauline Boudreau.

The pallbearers were Francois Boudreau, Claude A. Boudreau, Conrad Boudreau, Robert Doucet, Jean Boudreau and Claude Boudreau.

Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Thos attending the funeral came from the Montreal area, Quebec City, and various centres in New Brunswick including Moncton.

To Attend Meeting At Fredericton

Two officials from Bathurst will attend the annual provincial meeting of the St. John Ambulance Association scheduled for May 27-29 at Fredericton.

Lionel Bruneau, president of the Bathurst branch of the association, and Miss Barbara Boyle, R.N., supervisor of No. 691 Combined Cadet Division of the St. John Ambulance in Bathurst will be among the provincial officers and councillors in attendance.

Annual council meetings on Friday and the officers' meeting which begins Saturday at 9:30 a.m. as well as the Brigade meeting at 3:30 p.m. will be held at the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel.

Ten members of the Cadet Division in Bathurst will travel Saturday to Fredericton where they will receive awards for their volunteer work and "Leonard O'Brien Shield" for 1976 will be presented to No. 691 Division as well at a special awards meeting. Presentations will be made in the Legislative chambers.

A church parade at 11 a.m. Sunday at Christ Church Parish Church, Westmorland Street, will bring the three-day program to conclusion.

Sabotage Campaign A Two-Way Affair

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

Quebec Premier Rene Levesque, one of the world's great television performers, seemed a picture of sincere innocence as he accused federal cabinet ministers of stretching the truth about economic conditions in his province.

He couldn't seem to understand why anyone would stoop to that level.

Some ministers, including Prime Minister Trudeau, were acting like 'a gang of saboteurs' and 'little terrorists', he complained.

He even compared some federal statements to Hilter-style propaganda.

He mentioned the fact that Regional Expansion Minister Marcel Lessard had accused the Quebec government of delaying the signing of new development agreements. 'My eye!' exclaimed Levesque.

And he didn't like those statements by Industry Minister Jean Chretien that Quebec's controversial language bill might prevent the decentralization of federal services into the province. This time, the Quebec premier seemed to raise a valid point when he said that despite the lack of English education facilities for public servants being transferred into Quebec, no one has asked about French schools for public servants being transferred to Prince Edward Island.

SABOTAGE CAMPAIGN

But, generally, Levesque appears most concerned about continuing federal talk of economic uncertainty due to the existence of a separatist government in Quebec. This 'sabotage campaign' is tearing down the province while it is still part of Canada he said.

I suppose if any of us were in Levesque's position we would feel the same way. As he and his ministers go about the difficult task of encouraging risk capital into the province, it must be infuriating to hear federal ministers say that investments are drying up in the face of a separatist government and that company head offices are lining up to leave the province.

Without knowing anything about the response Levesque's complaints may generate in Quebec, he is not likely to be inundated with sympathy cards from English-speaking Canada. What we are watching now is a

TAKES TOP TROPHY FOR TOTALLY UNSIGHTED

A member of the Canadian Council of the Blind Bathurst Club, Norman St. Pere, won the overall high triple award for totally unsighted persons in the Maritime International Bowling tournament at Augusta, Me., April 30. The 18-team competition comprised 99 Maritime CCB Club members, their coaches and guides, as well as two teams and coaches from Augusta. Trophies were presented to Mr. St. Pere and other winners by Mrs. Carolyn Bebee, field program supervisor, who was in charge of tournament activities. Left to right are Mrs. Bebee, Mrs. Norman St. Pere, coach-guide, and Mr. St. Pere. A reception was held Friday evening, April 29. Following all-day bowling Saturday, a banquet and dance, hosted by the Augusta-Winthrop Lions Clubs, was held at the Calument Club in Augusta. CCB members from Bathurst attending included Gerry McLellan, Gerald Hachey, Norman St. Pere, Regina Comeau, Therese Levasseur, Leona Lavigne, Thomas Chamberlain, Siviard Boudreau, Jean-Paul Aube and Kenneth Caissie, along with the assisting coaches and guides. The trip for the local bowlers was made possible through the Bathurst Lions' Club, CNIB, Bathurst Kinette Club, Department of Youth and Recreation, and the general public who has continuously supported the CCB Bathurst Club in its fund-raising and other projects.

Toronto Program Aids Kidney, Other Patients

In an effort to generate more kidneys and other organs for transplantation, a very dedicated and concerned group of physicians from four transplant centres in Toronto. The Hospital for Sick Children, The Toronto General Hospital, the Toronto Western Hospital, and St. Michael's Hospital, developed a new program which they have appropriately named M O R E. With the dynamic leadership of the program's chairman Dr. Michael A. Robinette, these doctors, among whom are Dr. George de Veber, chairman of the Kidney Foundation's organ donor program, Dr. Gerald Arbus, chairman of the Foundation's child testing program, and Dr. Stanley Fenton, of the Foundation's National Medical Advisory Board, are responsible for a three fold increase in the number of kidney transplants performed in Toronto over the past few months.

Functioning now since the beginning of summer 1976, the Metro Organ Retrieval and Exchange Program is gifted with a highly skilled team of surgeons and technicians who can be contacted 24 hours a day to retrieve kidneys and other organs that become available in Metropolitan Toronto hospitals. The program is presently being expanded to include the rest of Ontario and is co-operating with several centres in the United States.

M O R E was created because the number of kidney transplants was not keeping pace with the number of patients entering the dialysis program each year. While the number of kidney transplants in Toronto has remained the same each year over the past four years, the number of patients requiring dialysis treatment has significantly increased. This serious situation was magnified with the introduction of lower speed limits and seat belt legislation, decreasing the number of automobile fatalities by 13 per cent during the first half of 1976. Some kidney donors come from auto accidents, others are victims of head injury or brain honorrhage, who as a result, become neurologically dead and whose organs

Scouts Tour Radar Base

Ten members of the Mount Carmel Scout Troup journeyed to St. Margaret's radar base on Saturday morning, May 7 for a guided tour of the base.

After receiving passes at the main gate, the group was met by Captain C.M.J. Hatheway unit information officer, who explained the purpose of the base by means of a slide presentation, and gave a demonstration of the equipment on hand.

In the computer room, Scouts were greeted by means of printed messages from the computer. Electronic music, courtesy of the computer as well, followed.

Before leaving the base, the boys were treated to dinner in the mess hall.

The delegation was accompanied by Father J. Robert Leger. Osborne Gildart and Scout Master Rod Henry.

propaganda war, and if Levesque can use every argument to convince the people of Quebec they should leave Canada, then it is difficult to deny the federal government the same priviledges as it tries to hold the country together. Obiously there are going to be exaggerations.

It is worth noting that the first major volley in the battle was fired by the Parti Quebecois government which claimed that Ottawa took $4.3 billion from Quebec during a 15 year period. The figures were produced to indicate that the province actually lost money by being in confederation.

FEDERAL RESPONSE

A few days later, Chretien replied with another set of figures which showed that Quebec indeed gained a great deal of financial benefits from confederation. But Quebec Industry Minister Rodrique Tremblay, who produced the original PQ figures, was not interested. 'This propaganda committee, with a mission which is entirely political, has no competence and no responsibility in the matter of national accounting.'

But later studies indicated the original PQ figures were not entirely free of propaganda. Prime Minister Trudeau refused to discuss the $4.3 billion figure on the grounds that 'it has already been discredited'.

Meanwhile, Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough produced figures to indicate that Quebec has reaped a bumper financial crop from confederation, including $6 billion worth of equalization payments during the last 10 years.

Levesque termed these figures 'pure propaganda'.

No doubt there is an element of propaganda in all the figures being thrown about in this respect, but the Levesque government must have realized there would be strong reaction to any suggestion that Quebec was a financial loser for being in confederation. If Quebec is a loser you might ask, what province could possibly be a winner?

Since Trudeau called Levesque an 'enemy', I suppose it's okay for the Quebec premier to call the prime minister a 'terrorist'. But I don't think there should be any complaints about propaganda; that's what the current campaign is all about.

UCT Members Attend Annual

Seven members of Bathurst Council 827 United Commercial Travelers of America and their wives were among delegates to the 21st annual session of Atlantic Grand Council held in Halifax on May 12-14.

They included Gerald Roberts, senior counselor; Omer Roussell, past senior counselor; Rene Beaudet, sentinel; Harold Arseneau, past grand counselor; Kenneth Robbins, grand executive committee member; Rudolph Doucet, past counselor and John Faulds, secretary-treasurer.

Brother Roberts was selected to work on the grand retardeu children's committee and Brother Beaudet on the grand safety committee for the coming year.

Bro. Harold Arseneau will be attending the 1977 supreme sessions in Hot Springs, Arkansas in July as grand delegate.

Three Atlantic Safety Poster winners in junior middle level were from Mary Gosnell school it was noted. Posters by Cynthia Sewell, Sandra Fournier and Floyd Dempsey will be forwarded to supreme sessions for judging on the international level.

Bathurst Council was also awarded the A.W. Johnson Trophy for the council in the Atlantic Provinces with the lowest number of membership suspensions during the past year.

Emile Lagace Dies Suddenly

POINTE-VERTE—The death of Emile A. Lagace occurred suddenly May 14 at Chaleur General Hospital. He was 69.

Born at Pointe-Verte, he was the son of the late Augustin and Lucille (Comeau) Lagace.

Mr. Lagace was a farmer and fisherman and served as caretaker of the Pointe-Verte Church and Pointe-Verte Elementary School for 20 years, prior to his retirement due to ill health.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Alexandrine Fournier are 12 children. They are Mederic of Pointe-Verte, Mrs. Charles Guitard (Alice) of Beresford, Fernande of Port Chester, N.Y., Ovide of Petit Rocher, Mrs. Guy LeClerc (Marthe) of Tide Head, Robert and Eugene, both of Pointe-Verte, Mrs. Jacques Guitard (Pauline) of Belledune, Mrs. Danny Parent (Marie-Paule) and Paul-Aime, both of Campbellton, Mrs. Gilbert Morrison (Lucille) of Beresford and Mrs. Normand Doiron (Augustine) with whom he resided.

One sister, Mrs. Ida Boudreau of Pointe-Verte; one brother, Cleophas Lagace of Cap-de-la-Madeleine, Que.; his mother-in-law, Mrs. Malvina Fournier of Petit Rocher and 21 grandchildren also survive.

Rev. Henri Levesque, Lower Caraquet, Rev. Benoit Rioux, Tracadie, Rev. Georges Parent, Jacquet River, Rev. J. Emile Fournier of Bathurst and Rev. Gervais LeBlanc, parish priest, officiated at the largely attended con-celebrated mass held at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Pointe-Verte, May 17 at 7 p.m.

The honorary pallbearers were John O. Guitard, Auguste Doiron, Charles Frenette, Alban Morrison, Theophile LeClerc, Johnny Jones, Hermenegilde Lagace, Onesime Comeau, Emeric Roy, Charles Boudreau, Leopold Comeau, Edouard Savoie, Edgar Roy, Celestin Roy, Valmond Grant, Alcide Gionet and Clifford Guitard.

REWARD

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. and Belledune Fertilizer have sponsored a study of lobster rate of growth in the Bay of Chaleur. This research programme is being conducted by Noranda Research Centre.

Approximately 2,000 lobsters have been tagged since 1973; the tag is a metal wire encased in plastic.

Since we wish to monitor the growth of these lobsters over the past winter, any fisherman who traps a tagged lobster is asked to send or bring it with its tag to the Technical Superintendent at either plant, who will pay the commercial value of the lobster, plus a reward of 5.00; the tag must not be removed from the lobster. We would appreciate receiving the lobsters alive.

Recovery of these lobsters is expected to be in the Bay area from Dalhousie to Petit Rocher.

Should anyone have no way of returning the lobsters to us, please, call us at either 522-2100 or 522-5250 and we will arrange to pick them up.

Irving Purchases Charlo Properties

Irving Oil Limited of Saint John has purchased several properties in Charlo and will erect a modern gas station and possibly a car wash at the site, Bob Brimsacle of Charlo confirmed last week.

Mr. Brimsacle also announced he has had a market evaluation study done on the Campbellton-Dalhousie-Charlo area by Thorne Riddell Limited of Toronto. The internationally-known management consultant firm performed the study at his request about two years ago.

Mr. Brimsacle said he had purchased the properties sold to Irving Oil from Victor Bernard, the Veterans Land Administration and from his father, Melvin Brimsacle.

The properties adjoin the proposed Craig Road intersection of the new Route 11 highway. No date has been set for building, the Mr. Brimsacle speculated that would depend on completion of the intersection itself. He said he met with Department of Transportation officials in Fredericton last month, and they indicated work on a six-mile stretch, as well as the intersection, would commence this summer.

The house, situated at present on the Irving property, will be moved shortly to Lot 52, Brimsacle Subdivision, off of Craig Road. The Irving land is located directly across from La Source.

Mr. Brimsacle noted the market study by Thorne Riddell was done at considerable personal expense. Communities evaluated were Tide Head, Campbellton, Richardville, Point La Nim, Dalhousie, Charlo, Balmoral, Dundee and Eel River. Contents of the study, conducted in July 1975 and later updated, will be released this summer.

Mr. Brimsacle added he could neither confirm nor deny rumours of a major shopping centre for the Charlo area.

Death Occurs In Port City

The death of a former Bathurst man, Delphis Joseph Chamberlain of 136 Broad Street, Saint John, occurred there May 13 at St. Joseph's Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Bathurst, he was a son of the late Romain and Georgin (Vienneau) Chamberlain and was a veteran of the Second World War, serving overseas from 1939 to 1945. He had resided in Saint John since the end of the war.

Mr. Chamberlain was a trucker with Canadian Railway for the last 26 years and was a member of the Laborers Union Local 1278.

Surviving are his wife, the former Azilda Levesque; three sons, Terry, Delphis jr, and Donald, all of Saint John; seven daughters, Mrs. Percy Cooke (Cecilia), Misses Jeanette and Lana Chamberlain, all of Saint John, Mrs. Rolapd Tyler (Evangeline) of Kapuskasing, Ont., Mrs. George Dickmusse (Jean), Mrs. Thomas Uitvlugt (Noela) and Mrs. Eugene Earl (Rose), all of Toronto.

Three brothers, Albert and Raymond, both of Bathurst and Irwin of Toronto; two sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Chiasson and Mrs. Frank Ross, both of Bathurst; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Chamberlain rested at Fitzpatrick's Funeral Home, 100 Waterloo St., Saint John, from where the funeral was held to the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception for mass on Monday at 12 o'clock noon.

Interment took place in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Marriage Sacred To The Mormons

One of the principal questions asked by reporters, newsmen and by people generally is "What is the differences between your Temple and your other church edifices?" As all members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) know, the answer is that Temples are built for the performances of sacred ordinances - not secret, but sacred.

A Temple is not a public house of worship. It is erected for special purposes. Indeed, after a Temple is dedicated, only members of the church in good standing may enter.

One of the distinguishing features of the restored Church of Jesus Christ is the eternal nature of its ordinances and ceremonies. For example, generally in civil as well as in church ceremonies, couples are married "for time" only, or "until death dost they part". But love is as eternal as the spirit of man, and if man continues after death, which he does, so will love.

Marriage in Mormon theology is a sacred contract, divinely ordained. Under the authority of the priest hood a man and woman are married not only for this life as legal husband and wife, but for eternity as well.

Such marriage takes place only in sacred temples of which there are but 16 in the church now in use, and is performed only by a few men delegated with authority to do so. Bishops and other officers perform ordinary civil marriages as do ministers and priests of other churches.

The church lays great stress on the sancitity of the home and teaches that children are a blessing from the Lord. There is no principle on which the Latter-day Saints lay greater emphasis than the sacredness of the marriage covenant. Adultery is next to murder in gravity in Mormon theology.

Hull Speaks On Rehabilitation

The possible consequences of a highway accident and the rehabilitation resources available to the victim were outlined by Social Services Minister Leslie Hull May 21.

Speaking to the 10th annual New Brunswick high school seminar on safety at St. Thomas University in Fredericton, Hull said that no temptation to take risks, omit safety procedures or show off is worth the absolutely certain suffering, misery and lifelong struggle to survive which faces even the most successful candidate for serious rehabilitation.

"I know from being personally involved with the complex problems of a number of rehabilitation cases that the physical and mental challenges are almost incredible", he said.

What would be almost impossible to comprehend without going through the experience, said Hull, is the knowledge that for the rest of one's days, even the simplest thing will be a major challenge, and that most of what had seemed to make life worthwhile will never be possible again.

He outlined the role his department and other "helping" agencies play in rehabilitation, the department of health, the Canadian Paraplegic Association, the department of labor, Forest Hill Rehabilitation Centre, the federal department of health and welfare.

The job of the counsellor is to take the preliminary estimates of the patient's potential capabilities, combined with the individual's work experience and family background, then begin to discuss with the accident victim what he wants to do, what he probably can do and how to go about it. The specific government program used is called the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons agreement.

Fortunately in New Brunswick, said Hull, most of the medical and hospitalization costs are covered, but there are always additional costs often combined with a strained financial situation in the home and again his department steps in and assesses the family need.

"Welfare? No such thing," said Hull. "Social services. People helping people who find themselves in need. Remember that accidents can happen to anyone, anytime and can change a self-supporting family or individual into a dependent one in seconds."

A visitor from the Canadian Paraplegic Association generally rolls in ("literally"), further assessments are made by the specialists involved and a rehabilitation program is recommended.

"In New Brunswick that probably means the Forest Hill Rehabilitation Centre or the more recently developed rehab sections in Moncton and Saint John," said the minister.

An application can be made for training or home study, with provision for a tutor, through the VRDP, which is considered by a training committee made up of representatives from social services, the federal department of manpower, the provincial department of labor, community college, perhaps the department of education and other departments as required in the individual case.

No two cases are alike, and not all accident victims have a successful and rewarding rehabilitation, said Hull, but enough of them do to make such an ending far from impossible or unrealistic.

"I am sure you will understand me when I say that rehabilitation is one activity of my department which I wish with all my heart we could do away with," Hull told the gathering. "Should you need our services, we will be there, - but I hope you never do."

are maintained only be artificial means. Other criteria are that they be previously healthy people between the ages of one and 60 with no history of kidney disease.

The Ford Motor Company of Canada generously donated to M.O.R.E. and Econoline van for transporting the team and necessary equipment to and from the donor hospital. It is also used to send each kidney to the transplant centre having the most appropriate recipient. The van has become an essential mode of transportation, as it transports special machines to perfuse the kidneys after they have been removed from the donor. According to Dr. Robinette, "It sometimes takes a long time to find the most appropriate recipients.... often it is necessary to transport a kidney to a recipient in a distant centre. Continuous perfusion minimizes damage to the kidney during such unavoidable delays."

The Metro Organ Retrieval and Exchange Program is fully supported by the Kidney Foundation's Ontario Branch, and has greatly contributed to the further development of the Foundation's Organ Donor Program, especially since the governments of Ontario and quebec have included an organ donor form to their drivers' permits.

Dr. Robinette states that by encouraging doctors in the non-transplant hospitals to consider all potential kidney donors, M.O.R.E. will continue to correct the lack of kidneys for transportation. Their aim is "More Kidneys For More People".

Final Report Is Completed

NB Power Chairman Bill Cockburn announced May 21 that the concluding comprehensive report entitled "Environmental Assessment for the Point Lepreau Generating Station" is complete. The document is being distributed to federal and provincial authorities directly and to the general public through provincial libraries.

The final report which includes and updates the information in the Preliminary Environmental Impact Statement released in February 1975 marks the culmination of nearly three years of study. It documents field studies and interim reports completed in the intervening time and addresses deficiencies noted by the Environmental Assessment and Review Panel.

In its report to the minister of the environment, the Assessment Panel said the Lepreau Plant could be built without significant environmental effects if certain recommendations were implemented.

Specifically it required that data on the aquatic life in the immediate vicinity of Lepreau to be collected over a one year period and used in the design of the cooling water intake and outfall structures. These and other requirements were compiled with.

Point Lepreau was the first project to undergo the federal Environmental Assessment and Review Process. It was also the first New Brunswick project to undergo a rigorous assessment by the provincial department of environment.

Parish Women Are Encouraged To Join Holy Rosary Council

Holy Rosary Council Catholic Women's League members held their regular meeting May 5 at 8 p.m. in the church hall.

The new president Mrs. Joyce Thibodeau chaired her first meeting and opened with members reciting the League Prayer.

Scripture reading concerning "Mary" was read by the church life convener, Mrs. Marvel Colton. Mrs. Thibodeau read a short story about the "Picture" of Our Lady of Good Counsel whose feast day was observed April 27

One prospective member was warmly welcomed to the group

The ladies of the parish are reminded that new members are needed and the June meeting will be a special social evening for present and prospective members to get acquainted and find out about CWL. So bring a friend, and come and join a worthwile organization.

Regular business began with the reading of the minutes which were approved. Treasurer's and conveners' reports were heard

Mrs. Gladys Larson accepted the Christian family life convenership

Rev. Joseph Roche, council director, was welcomed back. His message for the evening concerned vocations in which he stated the role of women in fostering vocations. He also supported the New Brunswick "Right to Life" appeal against abortion

Pro-Life Day will be supported by the CWL and members are tagging after each mass on Saturday and Sunday, May 14-15.

Plans for the "first communion" reception for the Sunday School classes were made and a committee was appointed. The First Communion will be held Wed., May 25 at 7 p.m., with the reception immediately following the mass.

Up-coming also is the mother-daughter banquet May 31 for the two Brownie Packs in the parish. Plans were made and a committee was picked for this new council project

GRADUATES SERVE AT MOTHER—DAUGHTER BANQUET

Seventeen young ladies graduated from the Explorers into the CGIT of First United Church at a special service at the church Sunday at 11 o'clock in the morning. Left to right, seated they are: Karen Jardine, Myfanwy Davies, Lynda Babin, Dawn Jagoe, Tammy McDermott, Sandra Legacy and Lisa Robertson; standing are: Karolyn Hills, Lois Beaven, Barbara Fitters, Kim Knowles, Shelly Good, Susan DeWolfe, Kelly Richardson, Monique Comeau and Ellen Branch. Missing is Lynn Watling. In the procession entering the church were the Messengers, the CGIT and the Explorers, wearing their respective uniforms and singing, Take Up Your Cross. Each girl placed a carnation on a greenery-trimmed cross at the front of the church, prior to taking her place in a pew. The service was opened by Rev. Ray A. Francis, minister of First United. The Explorers were presented with their diplomas and "E" pins by Mrs. Joyce Richardson and Mrs. Helen Knowles, leaders. The service reading was by Mrs. Margaret Ross, a CGIT leader. Following the service, the graduates and their leaders who include Mrs. Lois Good enjoyed noon dinner at the Fundy Line Motel. The next evening, Monday, the Explorers served at the annual mother and daughter banquet held at the Donald Eddy Memorial hall. A beach party at Youghal the end of May will conclude group activities for the season.

New Members Are Welcomed At Legion Auxiliary Meeting

President Mrs. Walter MacKay chaired the monthly meeting of Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18 Royal Canadian Legion held in the Legion auditorium May 4.

The color party advanced the colors, O Canada was sung and silence observed. Roll call was answered by 63 members.

The president welcomed Mrs. Fenton Daley, honorary president of Auxiliary Command, and Mrs. John Hinton, honorary president of Branch 18, as well as all present.

The minutes read by Mrs. Wayne Miller, secretary, were approved. Minutes of the exectuive meeting held prior to the regular meeting also were read.

Mrs. Havelock Goneau and Mrs. Roy Walshe were installed as members and welcomed. Mrs. Laura Arseneau, a membership transfer from Wabush, Labrador, was welcomed. A membership application from Miss Beulah Knowles was approved.

Treasurer Mrs. Robert Knowles submitted the financial report. It was decided that all outstanding bills be paid.

Correspondence read included a newsletter from Auxiliary Command and minutes of the recent sub-executive meeting held in Saint John. The secretary also displayed the 1977 supply catalogue.

Mrs. Nathan Higgins, Red Cross Blood Donor clinics chairwoman, reported, stating the recent clinic had been a success with the quota being reached. She thanked the members for their co-operation as regards the clinics.

The next clinic will be held Aug. 3rd and 4th.

In the report of the scholarship committee, it was noted application forms have been placed in local high schools.

Other committees gave their monthly reports.

Plans for the 50th anniversary convention being held in Bathurst June 2 - 4 were finalized. It was decided the next meeting will be held Wednesday, June 8, as members will be busy preparing the hall for convention activities.

It was decided a new carpet will be laid on the stage, this project to be completed before the convention.

The meeting closed with the retiring of the colors, the Lord's Prayer and the Queen. Mrs. Fenton Daley was pianist for the evening.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by the committee in charge.

KEYSE ALVES AQUINO RIBEIRO

Give Toward Support Of Child In Brazil

Mr and Mrs. Harold Moore of Big River have undertaken a support plan for a five year-old child in Brazil, Keyse Alves Aquino Ribeiro. The Moores have already sent their donation totalling a year's monthly contributions to the Christian Children's Fund of Canada in Toronto along with a gift for the little girl's birthday which was May 5.

Keyse lives with her parents and one sister in a small, rented, three room shack in the slum area in Belo Horizonte, Brazil.

With great sacrifice, the parents are paying for a small plot of land in another suburb, which will be their very own.

The father works as a house painter and the mother also works, but their combined income does not cover their many needs such as better nutrition, medical and dental care. Thus, their living conditions are very poor.

Keyse is underage for school. She enjoys playing ball games, drawing and coloring. Her health is very good. She already helps her mother, drying the floors and sweeping the kitchen. She gets along very well with her sister, Kelly.

An outgoing child, Keyse loves knowing new places and people. She loves animals and has a pet dog and cat. She is also very loving.

The family are Catholics and family relationships are very good.

Mrs. Moore says she has already "fallen in love with Keyse" and hopes the family enjoy their new, small farm which she considers a "really good investment."

Diocesan CWL convention was given by those who attended the sessions on May 1st.

It was noted the council won the prize for the scrapbook which was complied by Mrs. Stella Doucet. Good comments were also received on the panel discussion prepared by four council members for the convention, on the subject, "The Role of Women in the Church, past, present and future."

After adjournment, a light lunch was served by Gladys Larson and Stella Doucet.

YOUNGER LOOK FOR DRY SKIN!

Dry skin is an awful liar! It makes any woman look much older than her real age. When you rid your face of skin dryness and its deceitfulness, you immediately look younger than your birthdays are even willing to admit. If your skin is really dry and flaky, and uncomfortable under make-up, take immediate steps to raise its moisture level and lubricate its surface effectively. Then, reappraise your appearance. For, initialing results, COCREMA Dry Skin Creme actually disposes of dryness symptoms with two or three all-night applications, while you sleep. COCREMA contains the purest grade of select cocoa butter.

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE L. ROY

Villa Chaleur Couple Mark 50th Wedding Day

Fiftieth wedding anniversary celebrations were observed May 17 for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Roy, longtime residents of Riverside Drive.

Activities began with a special anniversary mass at 4:30 p.m. at Holy Family Church where Clarence Roy, a native of Beresford, and the former Josephine Doucette of Bathurst were married on May 17, 1927. Parish Priest Rev. Noel Cormier was the celebrant for the anniversary mass. Mr. and Mrs. Roy received a special benediction from Pope Paul VI.

Fifty years ago, the late Rev. J. Boucher officiated and their attendants were Josephine Doucet, the bride's sister, and Albert Doucette.

Four children were born of their marriage: Eldon of Bathurst, Mrs. Noel Leger (Yvonne) Richibucto, Mrs. Bob Cusolito (Rita) of Boston, mass. and Laurence, Montreal. There are nine grandchildren.

Other functions were held at Villa Chaleur where Mr. and Mrs. Roy have been residing for over two years.

Rev. Gerald Forest, villa chaplain, officiated at a mass at 7 p.m. in the villa chapel for relatives, friends and Villa Chaleur residents.

A surprise party and reception followed in the community hall and many gifts and congratulatory messages were received. A special gift was also presented to the honored couple on behalf of their family. Welcome Wagon hostess, Mrs. Dora Luce, also called on Mr. and Mrs. Roy earlier in the day.

Mr. Roy was actively engaged in farming until his retirement 24 years ago, due to impaired eyesight.

Mrs. Roy is a member of the Catholic Women's League and both attend Holy Family Church.

City Welcomes Shriners To Spring Ceremonial

OVER $6,000 IN "MUTUAL" FUNDS

Faithful Navigator Joseph Corbin of the Knights of Columbus in Bathurst presents North Shore Shrine Club President Phil Humphreys with a cheque for $525. This was a special occasion, the tenth year of the presentation of a gift of money to the Shriners for their use in aiding crippled children and maintaining the Shrine Hospitals for crippled children. Over $6,000 has been given by the K of C to the Shrine Club in the past decade.

Many Lives Saved At Burns Institute

The trouble with the chief of staff and the rest of the crew at the Burns Institute on Blossom Street in Boston, Mass. is that they're not always too pleased with themselves because now and then they just can't save the life of a badly burnt kid and they think they ought to be able to perform miracles.

The funny thing is that some people think that that's what the chief and the crew do pretty much day after day.

Those people are the ones whose kids have been sped over the road to the Blossom Street building from some place not too far off or flown in from almost anywhere in the U.S. or Canada or even South America because the institute was the only place they had a chance to survive and they did.

The chief is Dr. John F. Burke, and he says, "it's one thing to save somebody's life, but we also have to make the young victim as of severe burns functional so he can lead a happy, normal life."

What bothers him and the crew is that they can't make all the kids completely happy or fix them up so they can lead thoroughly normal lives. Sometimes it just isn't possible, and that's another reason that he and the crew aren't always pleased with themselves and figure they ought to be able to perform miracles.

The institute was put up by the Shriners about six years ago to do whatever can be done for badly burned kids up to the age of 16. They put up two more, also one in Galveston, Tex., and one in Cincinnati, Ohio. When there's no room for a kid within reasonable reach of Galveston or Cincinnati, he's sent on to Boston, if there's room here.

The Shriners are men who put on those baggy oriental costumes and fezzes and march around between the halves of the East-West football game. They may look funny, but they're not bad guys. They said from the very beginning that nobody could pay for treatment at any of the Burns institutes, and they meant it.

This year they're laying out $3.2 million for the one here. Nobody can pay, not even if the kid's father is a millionaire or is loaded with medical insurance.

There are 30 beds in each of the institutes. Fifteen are for the treatment of burns. The other 15 are for patients undergoing reconstruction. Sometimes the plastic surgeons have to put a kid's face back together again.

That's what they're going to do with the really little kid in the playpen on the third floor. The third floor is where all the patients are kept and where skin grafts and reconstruction are done.

When the door of one part of the third floor is opened for a couple of seconds, anybody who happens to be looking that way can see a bunch of men in green. They're in the operating room and they're doing a skin graft or some reconstruction.

The kid in the playpen at the institute suffered third degree burns over 50 percent of his body. What happened was that while his mother was busy elsewhere in the house, his 3 year old sister lit a match and held it until the heat began to hurt her fingers and she dropped it.

It happened to drop in his playpen in his home, and the plastic pad that covered the bottom of it burst into flames and he fell face-down into it. First his mother saved his life by mouth to mouth resuscitation, and then the Burns Institute saved him from succumbing to his burns. But the reconstructionists are going to have to give him a nose and do a few other things so he'll look pretty much like any other kid.

In his case, it's a nose. In other cases it's a hand or an arm or some fingers or a leg that have to be made to look like they're supposed to look. Or all of the face or maybe a hairline. And sometimes the kids have to come back 10 or even 20 times for more surgery. And those Shriners in the baggy outfits and fezzes won't take a dime.

Some kids have to stay at the institute for a couple of years. Maybe they cry a little because a nurse has to scrape away some stuff from a burn or has to do something else that hurts for a second or two, but they don't whine. Not even the retarded kids who's at the institute whines. The Shriners said the hospital was for all kids who needed it, and that includes the retarded.

Kids can get burned more ways than anyone can figure. A 3 year boy, for instance, stood too close to some trash his father was burning. Only 20 percent of him wasn't burned. A gasoline explosion did it to a 13 year old boy, who also suffered a leg fracture. A 7 year old girl wanted to be helpful, so

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "And Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible." Matthew 19:26

If you are facing a situation and there is no way out, look up. Ask Him for proof, seek Him for power, apply this work to your worry. "Ye have not because ye ask not." Father, meet our impossible needs with your almighty power. In Jesus' name. Amen.

MANY LIVES

she decided she'd heat her baby sister's bottle, and her nightgown went up in flames. And 12 year old Joey from Vermont was playing with his model car that ran on gasoline. It exploded.

Skin grafts from donors are what the kids need temporarily when there isn't enough to their own skin left to cover their burns. Sometimes grafts come from the institute's "Skin Bank". That's something that the chief, Dr. Burke, and Dr. Conrado Bondoc, head of clinical research at the institute thought up. It's nice to have a little skin around when it's needed.

The nurses at the institute are something else. "They're all wonderful", says Mrs. Elizabeth Sheehy, director of nursing services. "Sometimes they're absolutely frustrated in their work, but they don't show it. And when some child terribly disfigured by burns wants to hug and kiss them, they don't turn away. They know what that kind of rejection will do to the little ones."

Burke is the man who had a half a dozen bacteria controlled units built right into the institute, and they're the only such in the country. Sterile air passes through the units 260 times a minute to keep washing away the kid's own bacteria from the exposed parts of his burned body. Not even the nurses can get right in with the kids. They pass their gloved and gauntleted hands through special slits in the clear plastic curtain that surrounds the patient from ceiling to floor.

Right now, Burke and Bonduc are doing some research on the "burned lung syndrome". They're looking for a way to help burned lungs get back in shape.

Nobody is going to tell Burke that he and his crew will never be able to perform those miracles they keep thinking about.

You've probably heard the expression that silence is golden. For more than a million deaf and hard of hearing Canadians, silence can mean loneliness and despair, but it doesn't have to. If you know someone with a hearing loss, help him to communicate.

Illustrious Potentate Walter B. Flewelling

Luxor Temple's present Illustrious Potentate Walter Burton Flewwelling who started his Masonic career in Carleton Union Lodge in 1954, is a member of Royal Arch Chapter No. 4 St. John Demolay Preceptory No. 3A Saint John Council No. 1 R and S.M.

He was on the Director's Staff for 7 years and is Past President of the Saint John Shrine Club and a member of the Royal Order of Jesters Court No. 149.

A Past President of St. Andrew's Curling Club, and a Director of Westfield Country Club, his fraternal affiliations include the Union Club and St. George's Society.

The Potentate has also held directorships in the Atlantic Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Association. In business life he is executive Vice-President and Manager Director of the Willett Fruit Company.

Walter Flewwelling is married to the former Betty Joan Bauer of Saint John and they are the proud parents of four children, Barbara, wife of Cst. Harvey Lomax RCMP Creighton, Sask.; Gordon, Richard and Stephen, at home. All are members of the Church of The Good Shepherd.

How Patients Are Processed

An application for admission to a Shriners Hospital must be sponsored by a Shriner. Parents or guardians, fill out and sign the application, as well as the attending physician and the sponsoring Shriner.

A birth certificate, or affidavit as to the child's age, and a certified copy of the court order naming a guardian (if applicable) accompanies the application. The form on the back of the parent's application is completed by the sponsoring Shriner.

The application is mailed, or delivered, to the nearest Shriners Hospital for action by the Board of Governors, who will notify the parents or guardians of the progress of the application. Upon approval of the application the parents, or guardians, are notified of the future procedure to follow.

Everything that the patient may require while hospitalized including clothing, toilet articles, laundry, linen, barbering, food, dental care, braces, crutches, and any other necessities, including medical treatment, is provided without cost to the family.

Staff members of Shriner Hospitals ask little of the parent, or guardian, except for wholehearted co-operation and understanding.

Visiting hours for patients are permitted, and in some Hospital Units upon occasion volunteer radio "ham" operators set up short wave facilities, making it possible for a patient to talk unrestricted to his parents at home. Some conversations have even been successful between patient and parent over great distances, and even into foreign countries.

Over 20 Hospitals Operated By Order

The Ancient Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine own and operate 22 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children throughout North America for the treatment of both orthopedic and burns cases.

Treatment is free, without regard to race or creed, and since the first Shrine Hospital was opened September 16, 1922 in Shreveport, La. more than 169,000 Children from all parts of the world have been treated "restored to health and well being, or materially aided."

Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children are located throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico and are called "the world's greatest philanthrophy" offering the finest possible care, training for the future orthopedist, and conducting valuable research projects, the results of which are available to the entire medical profession at home and abroad.

The most modern equipment will be found in Shriners Hospitals, whether it be in the operating room, class room, laundry, sewing, cast and brace, or physical therapy rooms. Auditoriums are in frequent use for special programs, or recreational therapy, and the boys and girls wards are equipped with television sets for enjoyment. Each Shriners Hospital is also a school and a home "away from home."

Everything possible is done to give the patient as normal a life, as possible while he is hospitalized. His education is not neglected and local Boards of Education furnish qualified teachers who organize classed from first through the ninth grades to keep the patient abreast of his classes at home.

Every unit in the Shriners Hospitals' chain encourages activities and interests for each patient. Toys and names are available and volunteers aid in conducting programs to keep the patients alert in hobbies, handicrafts, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Entertainment for all ages is provided and the hospital auditorium may be used to see a movie, to meet and collect autographs from astronauts, sports figures or performers prominent in stage, radio, television or motion picture fields, as well as from Shrine Temple clowns and Shrine Circus performers.

Following a "where love comes first" philosophy in the treatment of children, Shriners Hospitals maintain a happy and pleasant atmosphere. Visitors are always pleased to find that the children are happy and uncomplaining. Not only do they help one another, but they are also quick to show pride in each little progress that one might make on the road to recovery.

Many physically handicapped children do not require hospitalization. As outpatients they are given expert care and attention, with special examining rooms and physical therapy rooms furnished without charge.

Shriners and non-Shriners support Shriners hospitals, and not a cent of government money is appropriated for their continuance. Shriners budget nearly $40,000,000 a year for the 22 hospitals, part of which comes from a levy on each of the nearly 1,000,000 Shriners. Proceeds from Shrine-sponsored football, baseball, basketball games, horse show, fish fries, circuses and other "open to the public" affairs also help to maintain the hospitals.

Shriners and non Shriners alike also leave wills, endowments and gifts of money, real estate, insurance stocks and bonds for the perpetuation of Shriners hospitals for crippled children.

Board Hears Details Of Language Project

A one-year pilot project in a second language for junior high school students in District No. 4 has been announced by the provincial Department of Education.

Schools Superintendent R. A. Ouellette told the regular monthly meeting of the local School Board May 26 that the pilot project, designed for grades 7 - 9, will cost an estimated $148,560, with an equipment budget of $11,000.

The course, to be taught in one-hour daily periods, will necessitate the hiring of additional personnel, and teachers will be hired on a full and part-time basis, depending on the needs of each school.

A full report on the program, which will begin in September, is expected to be ready for the June meeting of trustees.

In other board business, a request from the J. Gordon Chalmers and Bathurst High Home and School Association that the same number of grade nine classes be kept at Chalmers in September was granted by the board. Trustees had earlier decided to eleminate one of the four classes which would have resulted in the transfer of 18 students to other city schools.

Concerning a request from the Nepisiguit Cultural Society for permission to charge a small fee for shows or plays presented during school hours, Mr. Ouellette stated he preferred to meet with school principals to get their opinions before a decision is made. The request involves between six and eight shows, and the fee would defray the expense of presenting the shows.

A report on the teachfng of industrial courses at Nepisiguit High School noted the program is progressing normally and it was recommended the program continue next year. Also, the committee set up to evaluate the program felt the courses should be available to other schools on request.

The board also approved a suggestion that the building committee, in conjunction with the district's school reorganization committee, prepare a list of construction priorities.

Finally, a contract was awarded to Abbe Landry of Moncton to repair the fire damage to the Belledune School. Work will begin soon on the Robertville and Bathurst High School.

City And Shriners Alike Enjoy Spring Ceremonial

The Shriners came, they saw and they captured the hearts of the citizens of Bathurst. The young and not-so-young enjoyed one of the most colorful parades ever to be seen on the streets of the city, and the children especially were delighted with the Oriental Bands in colorful costumes and make-up along with turned-up shoes. Their music was strange to the ear as well.

Hundreds of citizens lined the parade route to watch and applaud the Pipe Band, Oriental Band, Arab Patrols, uniformed Shrine Club members, floats, mini-cars, mini-bikes and the automobiles carrying visiting potentates, past potentates, Mayor John Duffy and the Grand Master of New Brunswick, Blake A. Oulton, who is also a Shriner.

Several firsts occurred during the Spring Ceremonial of Luxor Temple held in Bathurst over the weekend. It was the first time that so many Nobles from other Temples were present for a ceremonial, particularly Philae Tempel from Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. Also attending with a large delegation was Anah Temple from the State of Maine.

Other representatives included those from Mt. Sanai Temple, Vermont; Palestine Temple, Rhode Island; Sphinx Temple, Connecticut; Bektash Temple, New Hampshire.

It was the first time too that a mayor was included in the procession and received at the Temple proceedings following the parade. This was in recognition of ongoing work and efforts by Mayor Duffy as a citizen, supporting the projects and aims of the Shriners in helping crippled or burned children.

A class of 50 candidates were accepted and initiated into the rites of the Mystic Shrine. The Illustrious Potentate, Noble Walter B. Flewelling of Saint John, presided over the meetings and conducted the affairs of the Temple during the two-day ceremonial.

Following the close of Temple activities, the Nobles were served an excellent lobster supper in the Nepisiguit High School, catered to by the ladies of the United Church in Clifton under the convenership of Mrs. Elsworth Chapman.

Noble Hazen T. Dykeman, Past Potentate, was honored this year by having the ceremonial dedicated to him. He is presently Recorder for Luxor Temple.

The Shriners were so well received by the people of Bathurst that many of the nobility remained for the entire weekend. Both the party at the Royal Canadian Legion and the dance at the Bathurst Trade School were very well-attended and lively affairs.

On Sunday morning at First United Church, Noble Rev. Ralph C. Chalmers conducted the service, assisted by Noble Philip Humphreys, president of the North Shore Shrine Club, and Noble Murray E. Clouston, chairman for local arrangements of the ceremonial.

Planning for the service had been carried out by Noble C. Keith Dobson. Ushers for the service were four members of the North Shore club, Nobles Willis Taylor, Walter MacKay, Kenneth Chalmers and Cleveland Jagoe.

Tollgate Project This Saturday

The Bass River Adult Workshop for the mentally retarded will hold its annual Operation Tollgate this coming Saturday, June 4 at three different locations in the city.

Volunteer workers will be manning booths on the Village Bridge, Causeway and East Bathurst Bridge from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. collecting voluntary 'toll' pledges from passing motorists who will in turn be given a windshield sticker. There will also be prizes available for "lucky cars" picked at random.

The workshop in Bass River is headquarters for the tollgate project, and the students will be on hand there throughout the day serving lunches to volunteers and doing other chores. Anyone wishing to donate to the cause in the form of food or refreshments is cordially invited to drop in anytime Saturday.

This year's goal is $3,000, and since a total of $2600 was realized last year, organizers are confident the public will be generous in its response. Proceeds go towards the school's operating expenses.

The public is reminded to please drive carefully when approaching the toll booths so as to avoid any injuries. Joked a workshop spokesman, "We want to finish the project with as many volunteers as we began with."

Auxiliary Command RCL Convention Opens Thursday

MRS. LOCKHART

MRS. MACKAY

A parade and memorial service at the cenotaph, in front of the County Court House tomorrow evening, June 2, will publicly initiate opening ceremonies of the annual convention of New Brunswick Auxiliary Command, Royal Canadian Legion, this year observing its 50th anniversary.

Official opening ceremonies follow and will take place in the auditorium of Bathurst High School. The general public is cordially invited to attend these functions, both at the cenotaph and in the auditorium.

Registrations for N.B. command's approximate 600 delegates and members are scheduled for earlier in the day, from 1-5:00 p.m. at the Legion Hall, St. Peter Avenue, where members of the hostess auxiliary, Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18 RCL, will officiate.

The color party, delegates and members leave the Legion hall at 6:30 p.m. for Msgr. C.A. LeBlanc school yard where they will form up for the parade and march-off at 7 p.m. with formation for the cenotaph service at 7:30 p.m.

O Canada and the hymn, Abide With Me, will be followed by prayers led by Rev. R.A. Francis, First United Church minister.

WREATHS PLACED

Wreaths will be placed by Mrs. Joyce Lockhart, Moncton, Auxiliary Command president; Edward Coley from Alberta, the first vice-president of Dominion Command, RCL; and the N.B. Provincial Command president, John Fortune.

The auxiliary pledge and response will be followed by the Lord's Prayer, and the benediction given by Rev. T.G. Culligan of Sacred Heart Cathedral. Ceremonial bugler is Alcide Mazzerole and piper is John Hazen.

The 640 RCAC Squadron Band, under the direction of Captain Thomas Kyte will support auxiliary command's memorial service.

Command President Mrs. Lockhart will extend a welcome at BHS auditorium where the annual memorial service will be held for members of the auxiliary who have died since the 1976 convention. White carnations will be placed at a cross in the auditorium in honor of the deceased. Prayers will be led by Mrs. Lockhart.

The hymns, Come Ye Blessed Of The Father and The Lord Is My Shepherd will be rendered by Mrs. Connie Fellows. Pianist is Joseph A. MacDonald.

The convention will be opened officially by Command President Mr. Fortune and the "royal resolution" given by Mrs. Bertha Henderson, immediate past presidnet of Auxiliary Command.

The scene changes from formal to informal at the Legion Hall where entertainment, music and dancing will be followed by a luncheon, compliments of the North Shore District Auxiliaries.

Connie and her Candy Canes, under the direction of Mrs. Fellows, will begin the informalities by presenting several vocal selections. Organ music for singing and dancing will be provided by Doug Cunnison.

Family Planning, Counselling Service Coming Soon To City

"Serena Canada," an information and training service offered to couples interested in "natural family planning" and which was initiated by a Quebec couple in 1965, is now actively involved in counselling and family planning in most Canadian provinces. British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and even the Yukon and Northwest Territories all have been introduced to the Sympto-Thermal Method as an effective means of family planning, but this area of New Brunswick, at least, seems to have missed the boat.

The Sympto-Thermal Method, which is used by couples "who wish to practice periodic continence intelligently, who prefer to procreate conscientiously and who appreciate knowing there they are in their fertility cycle, is widely publicized in many Canadian provinces and is even subsidized by several provincial governments, but seems to be little known in New Brunswick and certainly in Bathurst.

Representatives of Serena claim that recent studies show the effectiveness of the Sympto-Thermal Method, which must not be confused with the calendar rhythm, when properly employed, is comparable to that of The Pill when relations are limited to the post-ovulatory phase of the cycle, and is greater than most mechanical contraceptives at some other times. For the highest effectiveness, the method must be fully understood by the couple - both man and woman.

For this reason, information is made readily available for teach-ins, family planning seminars, marriage preparation courses, etc. Serena teacher couples are specially trained to teach the Sympto-Thermal method, interpret charts and give information on family planning. They also provide a follow-up service to people instructed, either during regular group or particular couple-to-couple sessions.

The only significant cost of using this method is the initial purchase of a basal thermometer, approximately $5. Some other advantages are that it is highly effective, has no side effects, allows couples to understand their own fertility pattern, fosters self-reliance and helps couples choose the most appropriate time for the birth of their baby.

The Bathurst area is fortunate in having a very experienced couple to present the information on Serena Canada in the persons of Raymond and Doctor Marielle Lapointe. They have been involved with Serena for many years and have already been national president couple. Dr. Lapointe is at present part time medical advisor to Serena Canada.

Georges Le Gal, assistant executive director for Serena Canada, insists it is very important that husbands also attend information meetings since natural family planning should also be their concern. Raymond and Dr. Marielle Lapointe, who will also visit Campbellton, will be in Bathurst at Holy Family Church Basement Hall on Saturday, June 4 at 8:30 p.m.

All couples who are interested in family planning, and especially in learning more about the Sympto-Thermal Method of family planning, are cordially invited to attend. The expose will be bilingual and the question period will be conducted in both English and French. The general public is urged to take this opportunity to learn more

Club To Observe 10th Anniversary

The Bathurst Toastmasters Club has announced the celebration of its tenth anniversary to be observed Monday, June 6 at 6:15 p.m. at Danny's. Guest speaker Eugene McGinley, MLA for Bathurst, and Bathurst Police Chief David Camp will highlight the special program planned for the evening.

Toastmasters is a non-profit educational organization established in Canada, the United States and nearly 40 other countries throughout the world.

The Bathurst charter was received on May 25, 1967 with about 50 residents who benefited in their respective fields with better listening, thinking and speaking skills.

The club meets every Monday evening at 6:15 p.m. at Danny's, and both men and women are welcome. Anyone planning to attend Monday's celebration is asked to contact Claude Frenette at 548-3338 or to be present at Danny's at the designated hour.

Trees For Canada Day June 4th.

The chairman of this year's "Trees For Canada" project in the Bathurst District, Paul Tremblay, says he is confident the residents of the city will support local Scouts in the annual nation-wide effort.

Preliminary estimates are that 230 Scouts will plant over 10,000 trees in barren gravel and rock pits adjoining the Brunswick Mines Road, approximately ten miles from the city. In the meantime, Scouts throughout the city are busy brushing up on their tree-planting skills acquired in last year's project.

Those wishing to participate in the project are asked to contact Mr. Tremblay at 546-6849. If they have not been approached for a pledge, he will have a Scout at their door promptly.

Mr. Tremblay would also like to remind the public that Trees For Canada is a fund-raising project for Bathurst Council. Money raised will be used to help further Scouting in the community and to meet other local needs. A portion of the proceeds also goes to support Operation Amigo, and international project sponsored by Canadian Scouting designed to help South American countries adapt the movement to meet their own specific needs.

Each boy participating in this year's program will be expected to plant between 50 and 100 trees, and will be seeking pledges from members of the community before tree-planting day June 4.

"Each household will be contacted by one Cub or Scout only", emphasized Mr. Tremblay, "and we hope people will remember this when they make their pledges.

A total of 4.5 million trees will be planted this year throughout Canada, and every province is involved in the effort.

FESTIVITY PLANS

The chairman of the Bathurst Festival Commission's Country Hoedown Committee, Bev Groves, told The Northern Light Tuesday his committee is in high gear making preparations for this year's event.

On the evenings of July 7, 8 and 9, city residents will once again be treated to dancing in the festive atmosphere of the Bathurst Curling Club to well-known local entertainment. Heading the talent list is popular Derek Knowles, who along with Cyrille Hachey, Rod Pitre and a special guest singer from Toronto whose identity is yet to be announced, will provide patrons with country music. Master of ceremonies for the three-day event will be local businessman Bob Campbell.

Doors will open at 8 p.m., and festivities will continue until 1 a.m. each night.

STUDENT MANPOWER CENTRE'S SERVICES AVAILABLE

"Hire a student - The Opportunity of a Summertime". This is the slogan the Canada Manpower Centre for students, located at 415 King Ave., is employing this summer to encourage employers and householders to hire students for replacements during the holiday period or to do odd jobs around the household.

The primary aim of the CMC for students is to promote employment opportunities for secondary and university students by offering employers a placement service where they can readily find the summer help they are looking for. In order to maximize employment opportunities, employees of the Centre have been canvassing employers for the past six weeks and advising them of the services available.

The Centre also serves as a focal point of information to the students about organizing themselves, how to write a resume and what to do during an interview.

The Centre also serves as a focal point of information on all federal government programs available for students and there is also available, pamphlets which gives important information to the students about organizing themselves, how to write a resume and what to do during an interview. Also available is a pamphlet entitled "Running your own Summer Business", which gives information on such things as watching your money, business insurance, promoting the business and there's even information on business ethics.

The CMC for Students centre is directed by Roger Robichaud who is assisted in his work by three students Miss Lea Chamberlain and Nicole Laplante who are both employed at the Bathurst Centre while Jean Pierre McLaughlin services the Caraquet, Tracadie and Shippegan areas.

The hours of work at the Centre are from 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and the telephone number is 548-3128.

Coachman Featuring Popular N.S. Singer

A polished and professional show providing an entertaining evening for all ages is awaiting patrons this week at the Coachman Pub and Steakhouse at the Bathurst Shopping Mall.

With his repertoire and his pleasing stage personality, John MacDonald has, over the past six years, gained popularity throughout Nova Scotia, Ontario and Western Quebec. His versatility and ability to encourage audience participation have made him especially popular among the "lounge set".

During his career, MacDonald has gained experience in various fields of the profession including radio, television, stage shows, lounges, and his own compositions are soon to be released in the form of a record on the Snocan label.

John will be joined by his regular bass player, Wayne Leslie, who brings with him 12 years of music experience. Wayne has played bass for Canada Goose, David Wiffen, James Leroy, Neville Wells and toured the United States with Tom Rush.

John's music is enhanced by their unique blend of vocal harmony. John and Wayne are both from Nova Scotia and this is reflected in some of their musical selections. One of the reasons for John's popularity is his ability to play and sing many different varieties of music, including pop, country-folk, Irish, original compositions and Maritime folk music.

John and Wayne are at the Coachman until June 18.

about Serena Canada and family planning.

Since 1955, more than 200,000 individuals have been instructed in this method. In Canada, over 250 teacher couples who have undergone at least six months of training in the Sympto-Thermal Method as well as studied in a variety of topics relating to both conception and prevention of childbirth and some training in psysiological and psychological topics relating to husband and wife relashionships, now work in 43 cities.

Here is a chance for husbands to become directly involved in the planning of a family. It is not a thing that happens between a women and her doctor. Get involved men, its your baby too.

Wants Help For Caraquet Firm

Provincial Fisheries Minister Omer Leger Monday urged his government to provide work for a Caraquet shipbuilding firm before it is forced to close down.

Responding to a question from Caraquet MLA Onil Doiron, Mr. Leger noted the shipyard, Marine Industries Ltd., is the only one in New Brunswick capable of building steel ships but he warned the company could not wait for federal subsidies.

The shipyard in question has been the subject of a controversy over a decision in 1973 to remove three boats being repaired with Fishermen's Loan Board funds to a shipyard in Nova Scotia.

The Opposition has charged the ships were moved because Premier Richard Hatfield yielded to demands from an MLA from Caraquet who wanted to destroy the shipyard. Two of the boats were later returned and are still being worked on. The entire subject was fought over once again as the committee of supply considered the estimates of the department of fisheries Monday.

Mr. Leger said the cabinet committee on economic development several months ago approved a decision to send a boat to be worked on at Caraquet, provided a federal subsidy was made available. But he said he had been informed last week by Paul White, director of Marine Industries, that unless the shipyard received help, it would close down within a week.

"I will strongly request that my colleagues approve one boat immediately, and I have excellent reasons to believe the decision will be positive."

BUSINESS SESSIONS

Auxiliary command's business sessions will commence Friday at 9 a.m. and continue throughout the afternoon until the buffet supper is served by the hostess auxiliary at 7 p.m., preceded by a "happy hour" starting at six o'clock. A "Jig and Whistle" entertainment at the Legion Hall will round out the evening.

Business sessions resume Saturday at 9 a.m. and the election and installation of officers for 1977-78 are slated for the same day. The Silver Cross Wearers' annual luncheon will take place at noon at Fundy Line Motel.

Setting for the annual banquet on Saturday is N. B. Community College (Trade School), Youghal Drive, then it's back to the Legion Hall, and dancing for delegates, accompanied by their husbands or escorts.

Coffee will be served throughout the three days by the hostess auxiliary of which Mrs. Walter MacKay is the president. Mrs. Fenton Daley, Bathurst, is honorary president of Provincial Auxiliary Command.

Two Deaths In County Mishaps

Separate accidents Saturday May 28, claimed the lives of two Gloucester County youth, one in a road mishap at Theriault Office and the other in a drowning incident.

Seventeen-year-old Joseph Michel Landry of Theriault Office was killed when struck while walking along the road near his home early Saturday morning.

A companion, Jacques Gionet of Caraquet, was also struck in the car-pedestrian accident and suffered a broken leg. Gionet was taken to hospital in Caraquet and later transferred to Moncton.

An RCMP spokesman from the Caraquet Detachment said both youths were walking along the highway about a half-mile from the victim's home with their back to oncoming traffic. The highway is along a wooded area and it was very dark, noted the spokesman. Landry was dead on arrival at Caraquet Hospital shortly after the 12:20 a.m. mishap.

An autopsy performed next day at Chaleur General Hospital in Bathurst. Coroner Gilbert Landry of Grand Anse did not indicate whether an inquest would be held.

Driver of the vehicle was identified as 25-year-old B. Albert of Blue Cove.

The son of Gilles and Lucienne (Pinet Landry), survivors also include two brothers and one sister, Marcel, Jean-Guy and Ginette.

In Lameque, 18-year-old Joseph Robert Larocque of nearby Ste-Marie-sur-Mer plunged his car off the wharf at Lameque into the cold waters of the gulf and drowned.

A spokesman with the RCMP Detachment at Shippegan said the victim had driven his car onto the wharf, missed a turn and smashed against a foot-high protective railing. The force of the impact ripped out one end of the long lengths of square timer and the car plunged over the wharf.

RCMP said a driver who happened to be near the scene dove in and recovered the victim from the car minutes afterward and assisted with others attempting to revive the man once on the wharf. Larocque had been alone and the car windows were rolled down. The mishap occurred about 5:15 p.m. No autopsy was ordered. Coroner Dr. J.D. Gauthier of Shippegan reserved decision on an inquest.

Born at Ste-Marie-sur-Mer, he was a son of Achille and Lorraine (Chiasson) Larocque. Surviving also is one brother, Leonard, at home; paternal grandfather Edmond Larocque of Cap-Bateau and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Georges Hachey, Ste-Marie-sur-Mer.

Mr. Larocque rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Shippegan. The funeral was held at 7 p.m. Monday at St. Raphael Church, Ste-Marie-sur-Mer, followed by burial in the parish cemetery.

Mr. Landry rested at LeGresley's funeral Home, Paquetville.

The funeral was held at St. Joachim Church Monday at 7 p.m. Burial followed in the parish cemetery.

Household Treatment Plant Reduces Sewage To Liquid

The Jet Aeration system, an individual household sewage treatment plant, has recently been approved for provincial use by the Department of Health and Environment. Now home builders in suburban and rural areas, beyond the reach of public sewers, are promised a long-awaited solution to their sewage disposal problems - one claimed to eliminate the problems that many of us with septic tank systems know too well.

What exactly is the Jet system? Jim Snider, whose firm, Technical Services Limited, is the New Brunswick distributor for the Jet system, explained that the Jet sewage treatment plant for individual homes is a giant step into a clean new world - out of the old-fashioned world of the septic tank.

The Jet plant is designed to serve homes beyond city sewers - anywhere. In just 24 hours it reduces all household wastewater to a clear odourless liquid.

Developed as a replacement for the ineffective septic tank, the Jet treatment plant uses the same purification process as large central sewage treatment plants - with comparable results. Jet simply adapts the process to a small compact underground installation sized to single home.

The Jet plant is self-contained, automatic and odourless. Designed to keep pace with modern living, its large capacity and sophisticated treatment process easily handles wastewater from multiple-bath homes with all modern appliances - automatic washers; dishwashers and garbage grinders. Septic tanks cannot offer this benefit. And yet it is a practical plant. It does not cost a fortune to buy, operate, or maintain. Most important, it requires little or no maintenance

The system has undergone extensive and rigorous testing by the National Sanitation Foundation and approved due to its outstanding results. Mr. Snider explained that both he and his business partner Ron Bemrose, were prepared to place their combined waste treatment experience of over 30 years behind these plants due to their proven performance and simplicity. The only moving part in the plant is the easily removable aerator motor, a simple electric motor. Mr. Snider pointed out that in order to ensure good operation, there was a warning device on the control panel which would activate if the aerator stopped for any reason. Since Technical Services Limited also provides any maintenance on the plants, it just takes a phone call to have the unit immediately replaced and repaired

Mr. Snider is anxious to have those interested inspect one of their installations, or visit their offices in the Fredericton Industrial Park so they may see at first hand, not only the complete details of the process but also examine samples from the system's discharge line. This, he claims, never fails to interest the viewer for it seems impossible that what yesterday was obnoxious, odorous sewage can be so quickly transformed into a liquid appearing and smelling practically like stream water. Certainly, concluded Mr. Snider, this is a long way from the sights and smells that more than three generations have associated with septic tank

Candu Payoffs: A Curious Tale

The unnamed "agend" who allegedly directed Argentina's Atomic Energy Commission to purchase a Candu heavy-water reactor has been identified as Jose Ber Gelbard, a former government minister who was instrumental in bringing Argentine strongman Juan Domingo Peron back to power, writes Robert Hutchison in The Financial Post.

Whether the ex-minister pressed for the acquisition of the Canadian reactor over its American and West German rivals for reason of personal gain has not been formally estalbished by the Argentine civil magistrate conducting an investigation into the Candu affair. Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., which contributed one half of the $5 million "agent's fee" to obtain the Candu sale, has repeatedly denied knowing to whom the money was paid.

AECL's partner in the $500-million Rio Tercero nuclear power project, Italimpianti SPA, which put up the other half of the bribe money, steadfastly refuses to identify the recipient. But after four months tracking the errant cash through half a dozen countries, The Financial Post has uncovered information linking Gelbard's name to the $5-million payoff. Three payments totaling $4 million went into a bank account in Geneva, labeled "Opera". The other $1 million was transferred to a Luxembourg branch of a Brussels bank that was in close contact with one of Gelbard's associates, the mysterious Argentine financier David Graiver.

Non-Smoking Day Supported

Premier Hatfield said May 30 that June 4 "Non-Smoking Day" in New Brunswick, is an opportunity for every cigarette smoker in the province to think about the harmful effects of tabacco.

"Each year in Canada many Canadians suffer and die from lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema and the evidence is sufficient to establish cigarette smoking as the single, most preventable cause of these diseases," said the premier. "Tobacco smoke can also be irritating to non-smokers", he added.

This is the fifth consecutive year that Premier Hatfield has endorsed Non-Smoking Day. Response to the four previous Non-Smoking Days was very positive and the premier congratulated the New Brunswick Council on Smoking and Health for their initiative in promoting educational programs to inform the people of the province of the health hazards associated with tabacco.

"If you don't smoke, don't start; if you smoke, try to kick the habit on June 4th," said Hatfield.

Grubby Garbage

With summer virtually upon us again, the face of Bathurst becomes clear to see and not all that presents itself is entirely appealing. For, while the city is regarded as one of the province's most attractive, its citizens often fail to exercise pride in their community. Litter and refuse, much of it hidden until recently by winter's snow, once more is on display from one end of the city's limits to the other.

Why is that anti-littering campaigns which seem to have taken hold of the public imagination elsewhere have had so little effect here? How can people so casually throw wrappers and packaging out of moving cars in a day when one imagines everyone to be more civilized? Sad to say, even the major cities of Canada are cleaner by comparison than many parts of Bathurst, and the situation does not improve very much.

Failing the sort of public conscience that seems to be lacking, the City of Bathurst should institute strictly enforced anti-littering laws. A few careless boors hailed into court for dropping their refuse in their tracks would do wonders. Since they do not seem capable of feeling ashamed of their garbage-like habits, the only recourse would seem to be making those habits costly.

Safety Suggestions

Everybody in the water – National Water Safety Week is coming up June 5-11 !

Swimming is one of the best ways to improve muscle tone, exercise the whole body and smooth unwanted bulges after a winter of inactivity. It's a good way to get in shape for the summer and also a lot of fun.

Learning to swim?

There are all levels of instruction in courses that meet Red Cross Water Safety standards. These programs are for the young and old, the healthy and disabled. Give Red Cross a call to find where these courses are being taught in your community.

Interested in safe boating?

No time like now to start learning. There are three approved levels of instruction for Rowing, two for Canoeing, and one for Power Boating. Take your pick and enjoy this water sport safely.

Interested in survival?

Who isn't! There's a special survival swimmer program for weak swimmers, but methods of survival are taught in all the Red Cross Water Safety programs as they relate to the skill being learned.

Interested in backyard pools?

Call Red Cross to find whether the backyard pool operator's course is offered in your community. The course can mean life or death for children and non-swimmers.

During National Water Safety Week, keep safe and have fun in the water by taking a Red Cross course.

Educating The Young

Grade 11 students who attended the 10th annual seminar on safety at St. Thomas University were told by various speakers that New Brunswick schools needed more courses in driver education. This may be the case. But if we listen to what the educators say, they are having difficulty covering the required courses with the staffs they are allotted.

One of those who voiced concern for more driver education in high schools was Social Services Minister Leslie Hull. If Mr. Hull has such strong convictions, perhaps he can press the same point on his colleagues and have driver education mandatory in schools. A compulsory program would have a special budget which would not intertere with the regular staff or spending incurred by a school district.

With the great number of accidents involving youth on the highways, more than education is needed. A mature attitude is essential. Automobiles are not toys nor were they ever intended to be. To sit behind the wheel of a car requires a unique sense of responsibility. It would appear that too few young people have that sense. In fact, automobile licences may be too easily available. Perhaps the legal age for obtaining a licence should be raised.

Whatever the case, Mr. Hull and others who spoke for more driver education are aware of a need that is not being met. If sufficient pressure is applied by government and insurance companies, school authorities will have to take the necessary action to provide adequate courses for young people.

remember

SATURDAY june 4th is NON SMOKING DAY

IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Council Declares Non-Smoking Day

For the fifth consecutive year, the New Brunswick Council on Smoking and Health has declared June 4 as Non-Smoking Day in the province. Public response to the four previous non-smoking days was excellent, and once again June 4 will provide the opportunity for many New Brunswickers to make a small start on "kicking the habit" in unison.

Each year, 30,000 Canadians die prematurely from the effects of smoking. Many more live on with crippled lungs and overstrained hearts.

The longer a person smokes, the deadlier it is. But it doesn't take years for smoking to take its toll. Just a few puffs can hurt. Just one cigarette speeds up the heartbeat, increases blood pressure, upsets the flow of blood and air in the lungs, and causes a drop in skin temperature of fingers and toes.

A few puffs also slow down the action of the cilia inside the bronchial tubes. These tiny hairlike bodies normally works like brooms to sweep out germs, mucus, and dirt from the lungs. One cigarette makes them sluggish. Inhaling over long periods paralyzes the cilia completely. Then the lungs are exposed to all kinds of infections. That is one reason smokers are sick in bed and estimated 88 million more days each year than non-smokers.

But after sustained periods of not smoking, cilia begins working again and help sweep out trouble.

HOW TO QUIT

The cigarette companies have spent billions of dollars and half a century trying to link smoking to the beautiful things in life. Their ads have been banned from radio and television, but they are trying hard everywhere else to keep up the brainwash. Seeing through this barrage is a major requirement for quitting. What smoking is really linked to is disability and death. Quitting is not deprivation, but an advantage.

The smoker can quit "cold turkey" or set a date two weeks ahead. He can record how many cigarettes he smokes and when; then he can try to smoke half as many. He can make a pact to quit with a friend. He can go to a withdrawal clinic. He must find a way that works for him.

But first, the smoker must want to quit. Once he really wants to, he'll find his way to do it.

The minute a person stops smoking, the body will go to work to repair some of the damage cigarettes have inflicted. Many Canadians have quit smoking. Join the group.

Local Delegates Attend Atlantic MS Conference

Delegates from the four Atlantic Provinces attended the third anual conference of the Atlantic Division of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada held in Saint John during the Victoria Day weekend.

There was on overwhelming response by delegates to the various workshops and medical sessions conducted at the conference which pointed out that there is a tremendous need for heightened public awareness of the needs of MSers, not only for research into the cause, prevention, cure and treatment of the disease, but also an understanding of people with disabilities. As one MSer put it, "A lot of people seem to be talking to a wheelchair, and not to the person who is sitting in it."

Dr. Donald Paty, University of Western Ontario, London, and Dr. James Cosgrove, of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, the keynote speakers at the conference, were able to answer many of the questions confronting MSers in regards to latest developments in research and patient clinics.

A Home Strengthening Program was introduced at the May 21 morning session, which dealt with two aspects of family life, the psycho-social problems of families in which one member is disabled, and the need for a good well-balanced diet for the MSer. This session was led by Miss Dora Porter, a social worker from the West Saint John Community Hospital, and Mrs. Mary Losier-Roderick, a nutritionist from the Health Protection Branch, Education Services, Saint John.

Another innovation introduced at this year's conference was a workshop for the establishment of a Youth Council which will draw upon students from Atlantic universities who will work in cooperation with the Atlantic Division and local chapters.

At the Board of Directors' meeting, Dr. Herbert Mitton, M.S. of Saint John assumed the responsibility as the president of the Atlantic Division from Father Angus MacDonald, Moncton. Father MacDonald regrettably submitted his resignation due to the commitments of his ministry, which do not permit him to continue on in the demanding role of president. However, he will continue to remain on the board in an advisory capacity.

Delegates to the Atlantic Conference represented the nine established chapters of the Atlantic region, as well as groups which are now in the process of organizing new chapters. Attending from Bathurst were Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, Mr and Mrs. Wilfred Mazerolle and Miss Lucille Arseneau. Mrs White is a member of the division executive as well as vice-president of the N.B. Branch Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Policy For Marine Plant Harvesting Is Announced

The director general for the federal fisheries management service, Department of Fisheries and Environment, H. Douglas Johnston, has announced the policy for licencing marine plant harvesters.

Mr Johnston said that commencing immediately, a licence is required to commercially harvest any marine plant. He also explained that a harvester permitted one licence for each species without restrictions, except for Irish Moss. The requirements for entry into Irish Moss harvesting he said, varies with the type of gear used and the district in which the harvesting takes place.

For handraking, the method commonly employed in southwestern Nova Soctia, an open entry is in effect throughout the Maritime and also harvesters under the age of 16 are exempt from licencing requirements, Mr. Johnston said. He then stressed that restrictive entry is in effect for dragraking of Irish Moss, the method commonly used in Northumberland Strait areas and that entry is restricted in District 4 - Cole Harbour, Halifax County to Burns Point, Digby County and in the New Brunswick side of Districts 7C and 8 - from Chaleur Bay to Nova Scotia - to those who either dragraked Irish Moss in any one of the past three years or holds a valid entry permit to a restricted inshore fishery, such as lobstering.

In all other districts, Mr. Johnston said, including the Prince Edward Island portion of District —, Prince County, and all of 7B, Queens and Kings Counties, only those harvesters who show proof of having dragraked in any one of the last three years will be granted a licence and only one licence per harvester will be issued for dragraking Irish Moss and will be valid in one district only.

The exemption, he said, will be in New Brunswick Districts 7 C and 8 where one licence will cover both areas. A licence will not be required to collect, from any shore, any marine plant that has become detached from the ocean bottom.

Mr. Johnston added that should new areas be opened to Irish Moss dragraking preference will be given to those fishermen holding an entry in a restricted fishery.

Last year Maritime fishermen harvested 24.5 thousand metric tons of Irish Moss valued at $1.9 million.

Make First Communion

Thirty children from the English catechism classes held at Notre Dame School Sunday mornings made their "first communion" at Our Lady of theRosary Church May 25 at 7 p.m.

The mass was celebrated by Rev. Joseph Roche, parish priest. Servers were Mark and Darcy Hickey and the readers were Sharon Thibodeau and Jackie Grennan. the children's choir rendered beautiful hymns for the special occasion.

Certificates were presented the new communicants after the mass by Father Roche and Mrs. Joyce Thibodeau, the year two catechism teacher.

After the service, a reception in honor of the first communicants was held in the church hall, hosted by Our Lady of the Rosary CWL Council, sponsors of the Sunday catechism classes.

LUCIE LAVIGNE

Plans To Study At Law School

A Bachelor of Business Administration degree, with honors, has been awarded to Miss Lucie Ann Lavigne by Moncton University at graduation ceremonies held at Moncton May 8.

A 1974 graduate of Nepisiguit High School, Miss Lavigne was enroled in both the English and French program during her three years at the university. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lavigne, 1065 Joan of Arc Lane.

Miss Lavigne who is planning further studies at law school, was unable to be present for the graduation, due to a death in the family.

SALE OF TICKETS PROFITABLE FOR SCHOOL

Grades 4 to 9 students at Assumption Academy, East Bathurst, teamed up and sold a total of 1300 Dixie Lee meal tickets. With funds raised from the sale, three ping-pong tables and curtains for classrooms were purchased.

Some of the profits were also used for other classroom projects. Top salespersons from each class were presented with Dr. Pepper toques and the school's top salesman received a winter jacket, scarf and toque.

SANDRALEE AUBIE

Plans Further Studies At UNB

A reception was held in honor of Sandralee Aubie, only daughter of Cliff and Yvonne Aubie, at the home of her parents at 592 Joliette St., Repentigny, Que., on May 28, in celebration of her graduation from Napoleon Courtemanche High School, Montreal East.

The commencement exercises were held in the Basiliqua of St. Joseph's Oratory in Montreal.

Following ceremonies, cocktails and a buffet supper were served to approximately 25 guests at the Aubie residence.

During the evening, Barry Cormier, formerly of Port Elgin, N.B., and currently vice-principal at Napoleon Courtemanche, read a poem to Sandralee which had been composed by her mother as befitting to the occasion. The young graduate was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubie who are former residents of College Hill in Bathurst, also have a son, Roy.

Attending the graduation and party for Sandralee from Bathurst were her cousin, Betty and husband Art Mallais and son Denis; an aunt, Mrs. Harold Vienneau. Also in attendance from N.C.H.S. was Mrs. Carol Harvey-Jones, art teacher.

Miss Aubie plans to continue her studies in the field of education at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton.

Volunteers Greeted By Miles Of Litter

Early Saturday morning, May 28, a group of 16 workers and four pickup trucks equipped with 600 garbage bags supplied by the provincial government conducted a major clean-up of the Brunswick Mines Road.

Sponsored by the Bathurst Fish and Game Association, the campaign got underway at the Blue Mountain railroad tracks. Progress was very slow due to the vast amount of refuse scattered throughout ditches on both sides of the road.

Because of the small handfull of volunteers and large collection of trash, only three miles of the road were completed. Most of the refuse consisted of bottles, chip bags and milk containers, and while many citizens were under the impression that mine employees were the culprits, the voluntreers were quite sure the workers, don't utilize such items as disposable diapers.

This road is a public highway, used and paid for by the public and maintained by the provincial government with public funds. As fish and game members remarked; "Everytime government personnel are called upon to collect garbage, the money comes from our pockets. We'd only be helping ourselves by saving litter and disposing of it in the proper containers located at regular intervals along the road."

The association thanked students from various schools who participated in the clean-up as well as fish and game members who supplied trucks, cars and time and Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. for granting permission to dispose of the 350 bags of garbage in the company's refuse dump. The group would also like to thank the general public in advance for their future co-operation in keeping the area free from litter.

A second campaign is being organized at present to finish clearing the road to the intersection of the No. 6 property. As one association member put it, "We have the nicest province in Canada. Let's keep it that way by not littering."

Many Mourn Thomas Dignard

20 BPX
Automated single play belt-drive turntable.
For the audiophile who prefers a single-play device with its fewer parts and functions and resultant lower price. While giving up the record changing function, the 20 BPX retains these labor saving features: automatic arm-lift, arm set-down...and most important...arm return and shut-off. The 20 BPX eliminates the common complaint with fully manual turntables, the need to get up after each record to return the arm to its rest and turn the machine off. The 20 BPX uses the previously described "S" shape tone arm. The platter assembly is the same as the 100 BAX. A superior ADC K6E cartridge is factory installed and the turntable is mounted in a simulated walnut grained, wood products base with hinged and tinted dustcover.

PARTICIPATION MAKES FOR SUCCESSFUL DAY

The Superior Home and School Association held a very successful Arts and Crafts Show May 17, in the afternoon and evening. Many parents visited the displays and were impressed with the quality and quantity of work done by the children. Students from grades 1 to 9 participated. Mrs. Alma Lagace, program chairman for the association, planned and worked towards the show's success.

4-H Safety Program Set

During the summer of 1977 rural youth will have the opportunity to participate in the first New Brunswick 4-H farm and home safety program.

The objectives of the program are to promote farm and home safety and to provide an opportunity for 4-H members and farm youth to participate in a tractor safe driving competition.

A large number of incidents, including two recent fatalities involving 4-H members, have prompted leaders and government officials to develop this program.

A program will be conducted in each of the seven 4-H districts. This will include a morning seminar on farm and home safety and a tractor safe driving competition in the afternoon.

To be eligible for the competition 4-H members must first participate in the safety seminar. The age categories for the competition are: novice 12-13, and experienced 14-21 as of January 1, 1977.

Youth who are interested in or ineligible for the tractor safe driving competition are stil encouraged to participate in the safety seminar.

Winners at the district level in each category will compete in a provincial competition, tentatively planned for the Fredericton Exhibition in September.

Staff members from the extension, home economics and agricultural engineering branches of the N.B. Department of Agriculture are cooperating in the organization of the program. Farm machinery companies and other organizations are being solicited for the equipment to be used and for prizes.

Non 4- members who are interested in participating in this program should contact their district 4-H worker or district agricultural office for the date of the event in their district and any further information they require.

Mrs. J. Duguay Widely Mourned

SAINTE-MARIE-SUR-MER--The death of Mrs. Joseph Duguay occurred May 24 at the Msgr. Chiasson Residences in Shippegan. She was 82.

She was the former Florianne Lanteigne, a daughter of the late Pierre and Lisa (Duguay) Lanteigne.

Surviving besides her husband are five sons, Alcide and Roger, both of Ste-Marie-sur-Mer, Rev. Eymard Duguay and Gerard, both of Montreal and Leo of Upper Lameque; four daughters, Mrs. Alphonse Goguen (Alvine) of Acadieville, Mrs. Gerald Paulin (Aline) of Ste-Marie-sur-Mer, Mrs. Louis Gauvin (Marie) of Granby, Que. and Mrs. Valmont Thomas (Angeline) of Tracadie.

Two sisters, Mrs. Adelard Chiasson (Anne) of the Msgr Chiasson Residences in Shippegan and Mrs. Marie Pitre of Nouvelle, Que.; two brothers, Alphonse of River Island and Willie of Moncton; and 25 grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Duguay rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Shippegan.

The largely attended funeral was held at St. Raphael Church, Ste-Raphael-sur-Mer Church Friday at 7 p.m. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Tracadie To Host Rally

A rally of Canadian Red Cross volunteers who have been engaged in the society's "Women's Work" program will be held in the Tracadie area June 8.

The purpose of the rally is to implement a new handcraft program designed to raise funds for international relief. Workers from a number of surrounding communities will be in attendance.

Guest speaker at the gathering will be Mrs. Rodman E. Logan of Saint John, who is the new national chairman of Red Cross Assistance International Domestic (AID), formerly known as Women's Work. Mrs. Logan is also the New Brunswick chairman of that Red Cross department.

Miss Audrey Straight, Saint John, secretary of Women's Work, will explain the operation of the Women's Work office at the Red Cross Centre in Saint John.

Campfire Ban Still In Effect

The provincial forest fire centre has announced that the ban imposed on campfire and burning permits last week has been lifted in some of the southern areas of New Brunswick. However the ban is in effect in most areas of northern New Brunswick. Anyone desiring either a campfire or burning permit is advised to check with their local forest service office to ascertain if the ban has been lifted in their area.

Keith Barr, co-ordinator of the provincial forest fire centre, explained that during the forest fire season a campfire permit is required before a person ignites a camp fire in or within fifty feet of forest land, and a burning permit is required before burning grass or debris in or within three hundred feet of forest land. Barr said that both types of permits are available free of charge at any forest service office.

The department of natural resources reports that two new fires were reported to the centre during the past 12 hours. Both fires, a 4 acre grass fire near Eel River Bridge in Northumberland Co. and a dump fire near Havelock in Kings Co. have now been declared out.

At the present time 4 fires remain burning in the province, and are being patrolled by forest service personnel. The four fires, burning a combined total of 28.5 acres, included 2 lightning - caused fires located approximately 35 miles west of Newcastle which are burning 4 and 9 acres respectively, a 15 acre fire near Millville and ½ acre fire near Dalhousie.

Varying amounts of rain coupled with lower temperatures and higher humidities have helped reduce the forest fire hazard in most of southern New Brunswick at least. In northern New Brunswick the hazard is still expected to be high.

Final Rites For George A. Vibert

The committal service for the late George A. Vibert whose death occurred Dec. 15, 1976, was held at Miscou Lighthouse Sunday, May 15 at 4:30 p.m.

Rev. Carl Sawler, pastor of New Bandon Pentecostal Church, officiated, assisted by Mr. Paul Putman, student minister of Miscou Harbour United Church.

A short service was conducted at the graveside.

The hymns sung were In The Sweet Bye and Bye and Last Mile Of The Way, rendered by pastor Sawler and Mrs. George Knowles, accompanied by Mrs. Sawler on accordion.

Mr. Putman read the comforting words of the hymn, Sleep On Beloved And Take Thy Rest. The sermon was on the Ressurection.

Many friends gathered to pay their last respects to George Vibert who was everyone's friend and helper for years. He was widely known and respected for his ever-ready offer to help even at the peril of his own life, during storms and dangerous winter ice crossings. Mr. Vibert was a native of Miscou Island and remained there until 1951 when he took up residence at Little Shippegan where he was employed with Vita Food Inc. of New York for 17 years.

Mr. Vibert held a mail contract for 43 years for the two islands. He was a man who always felt deeply about the responsibilities of his duty which he carried out faithfully, a great man who knew no fear and who will not be forgotten over the years.

He leaves to mourn his wife, the former Freda Brune; one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Journeau (Noal) of St-Eustache, Que.; one son, Ronald of Little Shippegan and seven grandchildren.

Three sisters, Mrs. Clara Edgerly of Dracut, Mass., Mrs. Effie Williams of Canaan, Maine and Mrs. Lillian Brooks, Irondequoit, N.Y., also survive. He also leaves behind many relatives and a host of friends.

He was 75 years of age and very active until up until three years ago, but continued always to be interested in people.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Bulger's Funeral Home, Shippegan.

Parents Group Lays Charges

The Concerned Parents Group Inc. May 20 appeared in Provincial Court at Hampton and laid eight informations against Forest Protection Limited, the private company which conducted the 1976 budworm spray program. The charges arose out of seven separate violations of the Pest Control Products Act and one violation of the Fisheries Act in Kings County in 1976. These charges are in addition to the 10 informations previously laid in Kings County in March 1977, bringing the total number of informations laid in Kings County alone to eighteen.

The charges laid consist of information relating to the spraying of children, adults, houses, pastures, hayfields, vegetable gardens and barns, in such places as Dickie Mountain, Smiths Creek, Lower Millstream, Norton, Midland, and Colina.

One charge, however, alleges a different type of violation than previous informations laid by the Concerned Parents Group. This charge alleges that FPL additionally violated the Pest Control Products Act by the improper disposal of fenitrothion barrels. The disposal of empty poison containers is strictly regulated by the Pest Control Products Act because of the possibility of contamination. This particular violation is alleged to have occurred at the Sussex airstrip.

The Concerned Parents Group is hopeful that the laying of these charges will increase awareness of the strict regulations the federal government imposes on users of pesticides when it issues a license governing the conduct of aerial spray operations. The permission granted to FPL by the federal government in 1976 specifically excluded inhabited areas, agricultural fields and waterways. The Concerned Parents Group believes that there is strong evidence that FPL consistently violated the federal law as stated in the Pest Control Products Act and the Fisheries Act.

NOTICE TO FISHERMEN

4 VWX Flounder Assistance Program

The Fisheries and Marine Service, Department of Fisheries and Environment, will implement an incentive program to encourage the taking of the unused 4 VWX Flounder quota and to reduce effort in the more favored areas.

Effective June 1, 1977, fishing enterprises will receive assistance in the amount of 1 cent per lb. on all first quality flounder (Plaice, Witch, Yellowtail, Winter Flounder) taken in ICNAF divisions 4VWX.

This plan is in addition to the normal groundfish assistance program. Fishing enterprises will not be required to submit separate applications, as payment will be based on the monthly applications submitted for the groundfish assistance program. All supporting documents must clearly identify flounder captured in ICNAF divisions 4 VWX. Applications for vessels over 25.5 gross tons must also be supported by a copy of all relevant log records which should be identical to the log record regularly submitted for statistical purposes.

All other guidelines pertaining to this program, such as quality, are identical to the existing groundfish assistance program.

Ouellette Hurls Bathurst Comets To Weekend Split

Yvon Ouellette hurled a five-hitter Sunday in Moncton as the Bathurst Comets stopped the Mets 10-3 to gain a split on the weekend as the N.B. Junior Baseball League opened its season

In the Comets' opener here Saturday, Bathurst suffered a 13-4 setback at the hands of the Saint John Raiders, one of the league's new entries

Sunday in Moncton, Ouellette fanned 10, walked five, belted a homer and drove in three runs to spark the Comets to their win J. L. Hachey handed a pair of singles while the other Bathurst hits, all singles, came from Larry Anderson, Pierre Aubie, Barry Kyle, Dan Pitre and Yvon Comeau. Fran Ward started for the Mets and was tagged with the loss. Bob Leblanc doubled for the only extra base hit of winner Ouellette

Here Saturday, the Comets were in the ballgame until the top of the ninth when the Raiders scored six runs to wrap up the win

Louis Godin suffered the loss with relief help from Yves Daigle in the ninth. Danny Pitre and Kevin Doucet each doubled and singled for the Comets while Joe Despres tapped a pair of singles. Barry Kyle doubled and Brian O'Neill singled for the other Bathurst hits

In other games Saturday, Fredericton Capitals edged Moncton Mets 21-20 and Moncton Keefe Cubs topped Chatham Junior Ironmen 5-2

Sunday, Saint John Raiders whipped Chatham 8-5 for thier second road win and the Capitals won their second at home blanking Moncton Cubs 2-0

Hachey Esso, Normoe Win Pair In Labatt Loop Play

Hachey Esso of Allardville and Normoe Sports each posted a pair of wins in Labatt Softball League play last week. Thomas TV and Save Easy were the other league teams to pick up wins

Last Tuesday, Hachey Esso topped City Glass Hawks 9 - 6 at City Glass field. Paul Doucet gave up 10 hits but gained the win while Arnold Smith tossed a 4-hitter and lost. Nine free passes proved costly to Smith. Reginald Godin belted a double and single to pace the winners. Roger Arseneau led the Hawks with a triple and double while Jacques Doucet hammered a double along with two singles

Saturday, Hachey Esso added its second win with a crushing 26 - 4 triumph over Cormier and Sons. Gerard Noel was the winner while Roland Daigle took the loss. Herbert Fournier smashed a 3-run homer for the winners

Thursday night, Thomas TV edged City Glass Hawks 3 - 2 in a tight, well played contest. Winner Darryl Daley and loser Arnold Smith each gave up seven hits, all singles. Daley had two of his teams hits while Ron Doucet and John Boudreau each had a pair of safeties for the Hawks

Friday night, the Hawks suffered their third loss of the week when they fell to Normoe Sports by a 9-6 count. Robert Doucet gained the win with Arnold Smith the loser. Delphis Lavigne cracked a 3-run homer in the 3rd and Henry Allain added a two-run shot in the sixth for the winners. Roger Arseneau stroked three singles to pace the Hawks at the plate

Sunday, Normoe picked up its second win of the week with a 20-6 triumph over Thomas TV. Ernie Leger was the winning hurler with Brian Scott suffering the loss. Bernie Allain slammed a pair of homers for the winners

In the other game Sunday, Paul Hebert pitched Save Easy to an 11-7 win over City Glass Hawks. Loser Arnold Smith gave up a two-run homer to Gerard Couture in the fourth. Ronald Doucet clubbed a two-run homer for the losing Hawks

REWARD

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. and Belledune Fertilizer have sponsored a study of lobster rate of growth in the Bay of Chaleur. This research programme is being conducted by Noranda Research Centre.

Approximately 2,000 lobsters have been tagged since 1973; the tag is a metal wire encased in plastic.

Since we wish to monitor the growth of these lobsters over the past winter, any fisherman who traps a tagged lobster is asked to send or bring it with its tag to the Technical Superintendent at either plant, who will pay the commercial value of the lobster, plus a reward of 5.00; the tag must not be removed from the lobster. We would appreciate receiving the lobsters alive.

Recovery of these lobsters is expected to be in the Bay area from Dalhousie to Petit Rocher.

Should anyone have no way of returning the lobsters to us, please, call us at either 522-2100 or 522-5250 and we will arrange to pick them up.

They are holding their annual tag day this weekend June 3 and 4, and are anxiously awaiting summer parades in Bathurst and surrounding areas.

Receives B. T. From Moncton U.

Among those receiving degrees from the University of Moncton on May 7 was Jeannine White of Bathurst, who was awarded her Bachelor of Teaching degree. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence White.

Miss White is at present teaching in the School District No. 4 at Superior School.

Mayors Urged To Speak Out

Claude Ryan, the editor and publisher of Le Devoir, Montreal, told a conference of Canadian municipal politicians recently they they must begin to speak out on national issues, reports The Financial Post.

In a speech to 350 elected municipal leaders attending the Federation of Canadian Municipalities conference in Toronto, Ryan spelled out the terms of a new constitution he thinks would unify Canada. Among the elements Ryan suggested should be a new constitution, a national charter of rights, preservation of certain federal powers, guaranteed use of French or English in legislative and judicial proceedings, and better definition of federal-provincial powers - with unstated areas left to provincial jurisdiction.

He also suggested that five provinces, rather than ten, would work more equally with Confederation. He emphasized that the debate about Canada's future must be carried to the local level.

Municipal leaders must look beyond local issues", Ryan said. "We need a more open attitude toward changes in the political system". He game as an example of poor municipal involvement the fact that one Montreal area mayor privately told him that - almost two, months after the Quebec white paper on language - the local leader has no opinion on the province's controversial proposal.

Parents Effectiveness Course Is Completed

The final session of a course on "How To Be An Effective Parent" was held Tuesday, May 10 for about 30 interested parents from the Superior Home and School Association.

Conducted by Chris Surrette, psychologist, and Mrs. Ginette Theriault, a social worker, the course, consisted of four sessions. On the first evening, parents learned the "Twelve Typical Messages" used in communication with their children. It was pointed out these messages should be avoided, and a more effective way of listening to children formulated.

Methods to be avoided included ordering, commanding; warning, threatening; moralizing, preaching; advising, giving suggestions or solutions, lecturing, giving logical arguments, facts or personal opinions; judging, criticizing, blaming, disagreeing, complimenting, praising or agreeing with the other to get him on our side; name-calling, ridiculing, shaming; interpreting, analyzing, diagnosing; reassuring, sympathizing, consoling, questioning, probing, interrogating, and distracting, changing the subject, humoring.

The theme of the second session, "How to listen to children so they will talk to you" showed the importance of non-verbal and verbal listening. This helps the child to understand his own feelings, to have less fear of his normal, negative feelings, fosters a warm relationship between parent and child; helps the child to solve his own problems; encourages him to listen to his parents; ideas and feelings and helps the child to think for himself, analyse situations and become more responsible and independent.

Parents were urged to become active listeners, which requires the right attitude. They must want to hear what the child has to say, take time to listen, want to help with the problem and accept the child's feelings, even if they differ from their own, something which is difficult to master. As well, the parent must have confidence in the child, take into consideration that feelings change, and view the child as a separate person, an individual.

However, instructors indicated, there are risks to active listening. When a parent listens to his child effectively, he is getting into his child's skin to be able to understand the message being sent. At that moment, the parent takes the risk of seeing the world or life itself from a different angle, the child's. Therefore, the parent is risking his opinions and his attitudes, for he may change these after experiencing "listening to his child".

To respond to active listening, the parent must reflect to the child by stating his perception of what the child is feeling, and the content or situation which the child is describing and about which he has the feeling.

SOLUTIONS

The third session dealt with solutions to problems and changing the behaviour of the child by changing the environment at home. The goal here is to prevent boredom and undesirable behaviour in children. Environmental changes are utilized for the most part with younger children, but some may and should be used with older children as well.

Eight suggestions to this end are as follows:

1. Enriching the home environment with books, creative hobbies, etc.

2. Impoverishing the home environment. There are times when a child does not need stimulation, when too much activity is not good, such as at bedtime. Calm activities are better.

3. Simplifying the home environment. Encourage children to do things for themselves. For example, a stool to reach a tap, small glasses he can hold easily, unbreakable dishes, etc.

4. A limited home environment. Sometimes a child needs protection - fence to keep him away from busy streets or other danger areas, a special place for special projects or to keep his toys.

5. Child-proofing the home environment. Keep medication and dangerous items in a child-proof place.

6. Substitute one activity for another. Find alternate activities for dangerous or boring things a child may be doing. Exchange a tool for one which is less dangerous. Provide paper to draw on instead of walls, an old magazine to tear instead of a new one. Before taking an object away from the child, provide an alternative to prevent anger or frustration.

7. Prepare the child for changes in the home environment. A child should always be aware of coming changes such as a trip, move or a visit to the doctor or dentist. Always be honest, and his adaptation will be better.

8. Plan in advance. Children are part of the home, and parents should plan many things with them in mind, a place where they can bring their friends, knowing in advance when company is coming and what is expected of them, answering the phone and taking messages correctly are all examples of planning for the child.

A home and family can be a source of great joy if the parent learns to make it a place that can be enjoyed by all members, it was pointed out.

In problem-solving, parents are urged to use "I" messages to get children to listen. The "I" message contains three important elements: To point out the behaviour which disturbs the parent, the feeling which is brought on by that behaviour, and the tangible effect of this behaviour on the parent.

Example: "When you walk on my clean floor with dirty boots (Behaviour), I get very discouraged (feeling) because I will have to wash the floor again (tangible effect.)"

Parents were reminded never to use negative messages or the 12 typical messages already mentioned, they were also instructed to use "I" messages to express affectionate and positive feelings as well as when they have a problem.

On the fourth and final evening, the "No-Lose" method of problem-solving was discussed. Six steps of this method are as follows: Identifying and defining the conflict, generating possible solutions, evaluating the alternative solutions, deciding on the best solution, implementing the decision, follow-up evaluation.

All who participated in the workshops were generous in their praise of Mr. Surrette and Mrs. Theriault as each session was well presented with examples, problems and discussion. The many questions were capably answered, and discussions were lively and interesting. Derek McBride thanked the instructors on behalf of the group.

More of the workshops may be available in the fall or winter, and anyone interested is requested to watch for publication of a notice to this effect.

Named To Head Fisheries Board

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger has announced the appointment of Dr. Wilfred M. Carter of St. Andrews as chairman of the New Fisheries Development Board.

The Fisheries Development Act, which will set up the board, is to be introduced during the present session, Mr. Leger said.

In the meantime, the deputy minister of Fisheries, Dr. Leonce Chenard, will continue as acting chairman of the Fishermen's Loan Board.

Dr. Carter's appointment is part of a process to revamp this provincial agency under proposed new legislation designed to give more effective control over public funds by elected representatives while enlarging the scope of its services to the fishing industry, Mr. Leger said.

Dr. Carter, a Gaspe native, is fluently bilingual and is well known among scientists and anglers in both U.S.A. and Canada for his work, devotion and knowledge in the field of Atlantic Salmon research, conservation and management. A graduate of Mount Allison University where he obtained a Business Administration Diploma and a Bachelor of Science Degree, with honors in Biology. He attended the graduate school of McGill University from 1960 to 1962.

Before moving to St. Andrews as Vice-President and Executive Director of the International Atlantic Salmon Foundation in 1971, Dr Carter was a senior civil servant with the Government of Quebec where he was Regional Director of Fisheries, Wildlife and Tourism for Eastern Quebec and Director General of the Quebec Fisheries Council. He lives in St Andrews with his wife and two children

WILFRED CARTER

"We are fortunate to have a person of the calibre and international reputation of Dr. Carter to serve on the Board", said Mr Leger. "I am convinced that fishermen and fish packers around the province will accept Dr. Carter's appointment with satisfaction and anticipation."

IN MEMORIAM

BRANCH — In loving memory of Mrs. Ruth Branch who passed away May 30, 1960.
Peaceful by thy rest, dear
Mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name,
In life we love you dearly
In death we do the same.
Always remembered by family.

RODGERS — In memory of Freeman E. Rodgers.
A light from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
So many think you are forgotten,
Tho' on earth you are no more;
But in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
The family.

VEINOT — In loving memory of Boyd Veinot who passed away June 2, 1975.
It was two years ago today,
When the one we loved was called away.
Sadly missed by wife, sons Bernard, Mervyn, Ivan and families.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the harmful effects of tobacco smoking are largely responsible for lung cancer, cardiovascular diseases, bronchitis, emphysema as well as other health problems;

AND WHEREAS exposure to tobacco smoke can contribute to the discomfort of many individuals and may become a health hazard to those suffering from allergies or respiratory diseases;

AND WHEREAS the New Brunswick Council on Smoking and health is taking positive action to reduce tobacco smoking;

AND WHEREAS this program is supported by the N.B. Departments of Health and Education, the Canadian Cancer Society (N.B.), the N.B. Heart Foundation, the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association (N.B.), the N.B. Federation of the Home and School Associations Ltd., the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, the N.B. Association of the Registered Nurses and the N.B. Medical Society.

I, THEREFORE, proclaim that the fourth day of June, 1977, be observed as a Non-Smoking Day in Bathurst, N.B.

I further urge all residents of Bathurst who are smoking tobacco to try and kick the habit starting June 4, 1977.

Signed John A. Duffy
Mayor of Bathurst

CAMERA OFFERED AS SALES INCENTIVE

Blanche Young, front store manager at Plourde Pharmacy Ltd., located at the Bathurst Shopping Mall, drew the winner's name of a Pronto SX-70 Polaroid camera and carrying case May 20. Denis Lalonde, sales representative for Imperial Tobacco Products Ltd., looks on. Any stores in the North Shore, including the St. Quentin-Edmundston area were eligible for the draw by purchasing and displaying a 12-carton unit of Imperial's mild brands. The winner was Flam's Grocery, Chatham.

Social and Personal

Mr. Warney Vienneau has returned to Nipigon, Ont., after visiting his mother, Mrs. Charles Vienneau, Rough Waters Drive, and other members of the family for three weeks.

The family and many friends of Mrs. Margaret Green are pleased to learn she was discharged Saturday from Chaleur General Hospital where she underwent surgery and was a patient for three weeks.

Seek Support Of Citizens

Eighteen Scouts of Sacred Heart Troop are working hard on projects to finance their trip to the Canadian Jamboree at Cabot Park, PEI July 1 - 11. The Scouts have been given permission to place a receptacle for donations of Canadian Tire money in the firm's new building on St. Peter Avenue. Manager Jos Reynhoudt has offered to redeem all money in the box for cash towards travel expenses. City Coun. Douglas Williamson, in photo, at right, makes a donation of Canadian Tire money for the troop. Assisting the Scouts in their project are Scoutmaster Terry Lenihan and Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Smith.

Funeral Held For Baby Girl

The death of Lucie Margaret, six-day-old infant daughter of Kenneth and Margaret Lavigne (Good) of Rough Waters Road occurred May 29 at Chaleur General Hospital.

Surviving besides the parents are the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lavigne, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Good, Rough Waters Road.

The baby rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

A children's service was held at St. George's Anglican Church Monday at 2 p.m. with Archdeacon R.H. Murphy officiating. Organist was Aubrey Miller.

The pallbearers were Murray Sealy and Hugh Smyth, uncles.

Interment was in St. George's Anglican Church cemetery, St. Anne Street.

Decision Expected In June

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau told the Legislature May 27 the province is still awaiting a written proposal from a company interested in purchasing Brunswick Mills, and the mill will not be back in production June 1 as planned.

Mr. Boudreau said seven or eight proposals had already been submitted, and another company had requested another week to prepare its offer. He could not say when full production might resume.

Questioned later outside the House, the minister said the government would probably be deciding on the new owners sometime in June and it would then depend on the company's plans when the mill would re-open.

Mr. Boudreau said the written proposals detail the type of modifications planned by the companies. Some modifications may take longer to complete than others and the government would favor those companies that propose to re-open the mill sooner.

For example, he said, the government would probably not be interested in selling the mill to a company that did not plan to resume production until next year.

He repeated his earlier position that the government would probably not invest any money in modifications.

PROCLAMATION
TO THE CITIZENS OF BATHURST, GREETINGS:

WHEREAS, the abilities to speak effectively, listen carefully, and think critically are among the most valuable talents a person can develop; and

WHEREAS, the development of leadership abilities in men is of great value to our democratic society and the free enterprise system; and

WHEREAS, Toastmasters International, a non-profit, non-sectarian educational organization, is dedicated to provide the opportunity for developing these talents; and

WHEREAS, the Toastmasters' Club in the City of Bathurst makes important contributions to the public good through their participation in community service and charitable program;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John A. Duffy, Mayor of the City of Bathurst, do hereby proclaim the week of June 6th to June 12th as Toastmasters' Week.

Dated in the City of Bathurst, this 30th day of May, A.D., 1977.

Mother Dies At Lameque

The death of a former Bathurst resident, Mrs. Theotime Caissie, occurred May 18 in Lameque Hospital after an illness of about three months. She was 69.

Born at Island River; she was the former Dorina Chiasson, a daughter of the late Andre and Philomene (Jones) Chiasson.

Mrs. Caissie lived most of her married life in the Bathurst area. She and Mr. Caissie resided in Montreal about 10 years before moving to Lameque several years ago.

Surviving besides her husband are four daughters, Mrs. Jed Blackmore (Lea) and Mrs. Eldon C. Roy (Alida), both of Bathurst, Mrs. Jeannette Bourdon of Island River and Mrs. Gina Botting of Ottawa; five sons, Pierre of Victoria, B.C., Philippe of Elliott Lake, Ont., Thomas of Bathurst, Camille of Concord, N.H. and John, Island River.

One sister, Mrs. Joachim Paulin (Georgina) of Athol, Mass.; three brothers, Philippe and Adelard of Island River and Gervais of Vancouver; 25 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Caissie rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Lameque.

Rev. G. D'Astous officiated at the funeral mass held at Ste Cecile Church, Island River, Friday at 4 p.m. Interment followed in the parish cemetery.

Among those attended from Bathurst were Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Roy and family, Thomas Caissie, Michael Blackmore, Mrs. Anaclet Noel, Mrs. Caliste Glazier, Hugh Cowan, as well as members of the family from Ontario and New Hampshire.

Jackie Roy Belts Three As Homer Barrage Buries Sox

Defending champion Bathurst Mooseheads opened their Bay Chaleur Baseball League season in awesome fashion Sunday as they blasted their cross-town rivals, Notre Dame Red Sox, 22 - 6 with an 18-hit attack that included 6 home runs

Jackie Roy led the Bathurst barrage with three homers and a single good for 8 rbi's while Donnie Roy also homered and singled twice. Cleo Godin hammered a homer, double and single for the winners with Mark Hachey adding the 'Heads other round-tripper Mike Brophy added three singles to the Bathurst at ack with Dave Ross contributing a two-base knock and a single Ray

JACKIE ROY

Jean also singled twice

Starter Jim White picked up the mound win with help from John Doucet in the sixth and Cleo Godin in the ninth. Alvin Pitre, Robert Hachey, Alcide Pitre and Yves Daigle all saw mound service for the Red Sox with starter Alvin Pitre taking the loss

Jean-Guy Pitre of the Red Sox shared the game's hitting honors with three solo homers and a double. Peter Ruddock had three singles and Albert Pitre a pair as the Red Sox tagged Moosehead pitching for 11 hits.

In other weekend action in the east division, Neguac Schooners upset Tracadie Alpines 8 - 2 while Green Point Ramparts nipped Beresford 11 - 10

At Beresford, Green Point scored three runs in the top of the final inning to edge the Chalet Sportif who were leading 9 - 8 entering the ninth. Jesse Legace picked up the win in relief while Gilles Pitre who came on in the eighth suffered the loss

Marc Legace had four singles for the winners while Bert Legace doubled and singled Bud Grant and Charles LeBlanc both doubled Bernie Aubie led Beresford with a double and a pair of singles while Paul Legace and Roger Boudreau each singled twice

Future Games

Bathurst Mooseheads travel to Neguac Thursday and do not play again until they host Notre Dame Red Sox next Tuesday, June 7. The Red Sox play the Schooners in Neguac Saturday This Sunday, Beresford visits Green Point while Neguac travels to Tracadie

City & Alpine Softball League

Last Thursday, May 26, Labatt's Coachmen came alive to bury Brunswick Employees Association to the tune of 30 - 15 Sonny Doucet pitched for the Coachmen while Theo Lavigne took the loss. Floyd Gallant led the Coachmen at the plate with a homer and three singles while Billy Noble belted a grand slammer Theo Lavigne and Greg Albert each homered and singled for the losers

Oland's Softball League Results

Tuesday, May 24

The opening game of the Oland's Softball League's regular season gave away to a fury of errors. In fact, Pepsi-Cola and visiting Sumner Tire combined for a total of 20 miscues. The final outcome showed Pepsi-Cola the winner by a 20-14 score. Raymond Couture was the top hitter for Pepsi as he drove in 6 runs with a grand slam homer, a double and single. Winning pitcher Kenneth Hachey (1-0) also belted a homer. Loser Byron Boucher (0-1) drove in 4 runs for Sumner while teammate Glen Vienneau belted an infield homer. The game was played at Coke's field.

Thursday, May 26

Pepsi-Cola scored four runs in their half of the seventh to outscore Murphy's Esso 12 - 10. Raymond Couture again led the winners with his second homer of the season, a three-run blast. Roger White (1-0) pitched the win while Carl Smith (0-1) suffered the loss. This was the second win in as many starts for Pepsi while Murphy's Esso was making its first start. The game was played at the College field

Sunday, May 29

Pepsi-Cola scored 10 runs in the second inning and went on to bury Nadeau's Poultry 32 - 12. Eric Chamberlain drove in 6 runs for the winners with two doubles and a triple. Kenneth Hachey (2-0) pitched his second straight win. Kenneth Gauthier (0-1) was tagged with the loss. This was Pepsi's third consecutive win and they have yet to lose. Nadeau's Poultry, a new league entry, was playing its first game of the season. The game was played at Coke's field

Club House Chatter

News notes from Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club by Jean Boylan

The clubhouse on last Saturday morning was the scene of a happy, relaxed crowd enjoying each other's company along with an occasional game of bridge, a spontaneous singsong, and the delightful refreshments provided by the committee. Also in attendance at the door was Shari Smith with tickets for a raffle on a lovely quilt on behalf of the Juniors. A thank-you to Pat, Mary, Edythe and Alice Lavigne for their efforts in making the Get Acquainted Party a success.

Cheryl Morrison's first duty as new club Vice-President is no easy task, that of convening the club Opening Dinner and Dance on June 11. Cheryl says that those planning to attend have a good evening in store for them. A Happy Hour starting at 6:30 will be followed by a delicious roast beef dinner, and then an evening of dancing to George Robertson's 5-piece band featuring vocalist Judy McKendy. With the committee Cheryl is now lining up to help her, it will no doubt be an enjoyable evening.

In order to have a club run smoothly with a minimum of difficulties, it is important that its members all contribute their ideas and opinions. The best way to do this is to attend the monthly meetings and be a part of what's happening. The next general meeting will be next Monday, June 6 at 8:00 p.m. at the clubhouse. All members are most welcome, and the executive will be looking forward to a good attendance

The ever-popular weekly luncheons will be starting on the first Wednesday of July. Therefore, an invitation is extended to all ladies who, for a modest fee, would like to become social members so that they may attend this weekly event. Membership also entitles you to enjoy the use of the club facilities and to bring along a guest whenever you wish

Until next week

Bathurst Wins Mixed Bowling Tournament

The 1977 Annual North Shore Mixed Bowling tournament was hosted by Campbellton May 22 and 23 and staged at Atholville Alma Hall.

Two teams represented the Capitol Lanes Mixed Bowling League and Bathurst No. 1 team, captained by Gordie Chiasson, captured the North Shore title with a perfect 11 - 0 won-lost record. This team was the runner-up in 1975 and 1976, and won the event previously in 1973 - 1974. Atholville came in second this year.

Other members of the winning team were Lil Carter, Jeanie Lavigne, Sheila Smearer, Gene Godin, Bobby Dunn, Norman Lavigne and Elmer Simmons.

Members of the other Bathurst team captained by Ralph Stanger, included Carolyn Stanger, Margaret Lavigne, Laurinda Garrett, Madonna Glazier, Cowan Glazier and Mike Garrett.

'Heads Bomb Beresford

Bathurst Mooseheads cracked out 22 hits including six home runs here last night on their way to 22 - 9 bombing of Beresford Chalet Sportif.

Donnie Roy drove in eight runs with a homer and three other safeties to lead the Bathurst attack. Cleo Godin blasted a pair of roundtrippers while Brian Chamberlain, Dan Ross and Ray Jean clubbed the others.

Jackie Roy, who tripled and singled twice, started for the Mooseheads and gained the win with relief from Cleo Godin in the fifth. Gilles Pitre started for Beresford and finally gave way to Roger Pitre in the 8th.

Red Sox Lose

Green Point Ramparts handed the Bathurst Notre Dame Red Sox their second loss of the season by a 9 - 4 count in the other Bay Chaleur League east division game played last night. Peter Ruddock suffered the loss with relief from Andre Arsenault in the 8th. Roger Guitard homered doubled and tripled for the winners while Robert Hachey slammed a two-run homer for the Red Sox.

Mooseheads play the Schooners in Neguac tomorrow evening.

All 4 Rounds Of Canadian Open To Be Telecast

Good news for TV golf fans!

The CBC announced recently they will provide television coverage for all four rounds of this year's Canadian Open golf championship, marking the first time in North America a major television network has scheduled live coverage each day of a tournament.

The announcement came jointly from John Hudson, head of CBC television sports, and Dick Grimm, Royal Canadian Golf Association tournament chairman.

Plans call for coverage of play on the final six holes of the Jack Nicklaus-designed Glen Abbey Golf Club, Oakville, Ontario, Thursday through Sunday, July 21 - 24.

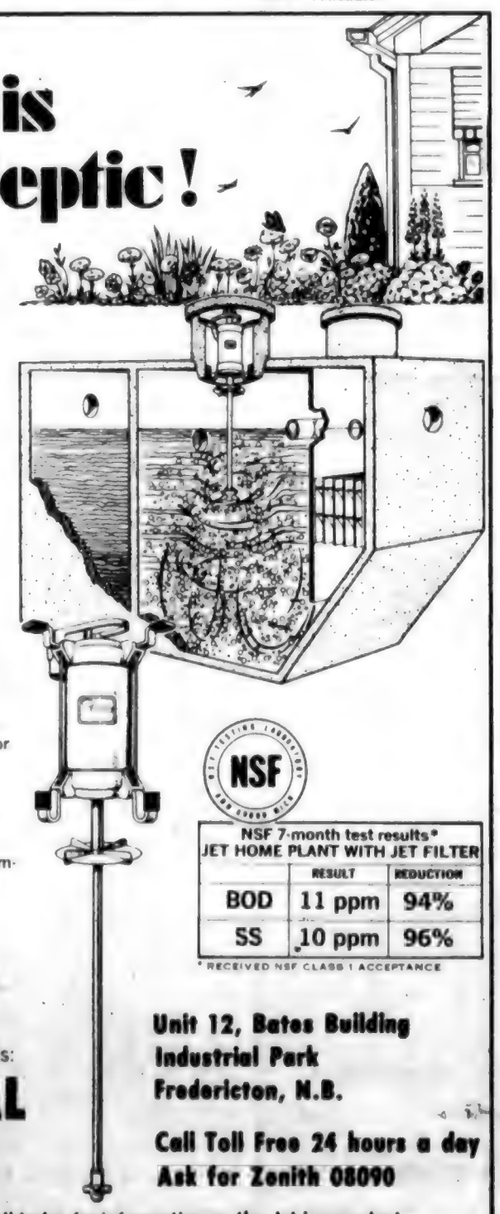
Jet is Anti-Septic!



Modern Jet sewage treatment plants for homes outmode the old septic tank. Completely. Why have smelly, troublesome septic tanks in your community when now you can have Jet plants—odorless, trouble-free, operating on the extended aeration principle city sewage plants use.
Garbage grinders, automatic clotheswashers, dishwashers? No problem.
In 24 hours a Jet plant efficiently aerates all home sewage into a clear, colorless, odorless effluent that more than meets standards set forth by leading agencies
Jet home sewage treatment plants have been field-proven in thousands of installations for more than a decade. They're installed by local, licensed, factory-trained experts. And backed by an unprecedented 50-year warranty—plus a two-year complete guarantee.
We'd like to send you free a complete technical manual on the Jet home sewage treatment plant. Just send us this coupon . . . today.

This Time He Is Manager Of Bank That Was Robbed

Early May of this year marked the fourth time a South Teteagouche native, Robert Smyth, experienced a robbery in a bank where he was employed, but this last episode was somewhat different. He is the manager of the bank that was looted.

Ontario Provincial Police are continuing their search for two gunmen who robbed the Royal Bank branch at Mallorytown the afternoon of May 4, and escaped with $8,000 in cash.

Within minutes after police learned of the robbery, area roads were blocked, but the gunmen managed to evade officers.

The daring daylight robbery started at 2:15 p.m. when two men, one wearing dark sunglasses and the other a plastic mask, walked into the bank in the centre of the village.

Pointing revolvers at the five bank employees and one customer, the men ordered them to lie down on the floor. The only customer in the bank, a retired farmer, was slightly injured when one of the robbers shoved him to the floor. Apparently, Hewson who is reported to be hard of hearing, was walking toward the door and failed to heed the gunmen's order, and was pushed to the floor, his head hitting it with a hard bump.

ROBERT SMYTH

One of the robbers entered the office of the bank manager. He stuck a gun in Smyth's back and ordered him out to the main office to join the others on the floor.

While one gunman held a gun on the bank staff and customer, the other cleaned out the cash drawer of one teller. The other drawer was locked.

One gunman asked Smyth for the key to the lock drawer. At first, the duo also wanted access to the cash drawers in the vault, but when Smyth told them it would take time to open the drawers because of the combination locks on them, the men decided to leave

When the men first entered the bank and said it was a holdup, one of the employees tripped a silent alarm. The robbers were not aware of this action. The alarm sounded in a garage located on the highway and the mechanic notified the OPP at Brockville. The bank had an agreement with the garage to call the police if the alarm sounded.

Most Mallorytown residents were unaware that a robbery had taken place in the bank, it was learned by the OPP who interviewed various persons in nearby homes and throughout the village. No one reported seeing the robbers leave the bank

Thirty minutes after the robbery, only two provincial police cars sitting in front of the bank served notice that anything was out of the ordinary

It was also the fourth robbery of the bank for residents of Mallorytown, the previous incident being in 1970.

Mr. Smyth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smyth, North Teteagouche, was promoted to manager of the Mallorytown branch two years ago, having been transferred from a branch of the Royal Bank at Ottawa. He was also employed at several branches in Montreal, Pembroke and Renfrew, Ont., and in Bathurst where he began his banking about 15 years ago

To Attend Senior Citizens' Meeting

The Golden Age Club of Bathurst held its closing meeting and card party for Spring 1977, in their meeting place, the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall, on May 31

An afternoon of Auction 45s and bridge card games was enjoyed by the 60 members present. Prizes were awarded to winners in both games and the losers received consolation prizes.

Huntly Ferguson gave a report on the forthcoming bus trip to Saint John for the annual meeting of the Senior Citizens Federation of New Brunswick at Keddy's Motel June 6 - 8.

Fifteen members will attend the meeting included Mrs. Mabel Hinton and Mrs. Sadie Morrison, the voting delegates.

Accompanying the Golden Age members will be six members of the Chaleur Evening Stars, Clifton, also two members representing the Maple Leaf Club of the Dennis S. Fournier Senior Citizens' complex on Demeresque Street, Bathurst.

Mr. Ferguson also announced he will chauffeur several Golden Age bus excursions during the summer months.

Three bus trips are planned: to Gaspe, Que., Prince Edward Island and to Evandale on the St. John River to the Eveleigh Hotel. A copy containing a lost of the summer schedule of trips will be mailed shortly to each member, Mr. Ferguson said

Mrs. Lee Hinton reported the members have finished a quilt, under the direction of Mrs. Grace Stairs. The quilt will be raffled off during Bathurst Festival Week, as was done last year. Tickets will be available from members.

LOCAL ARTIST HOLDS EXHIBIT

Local artist Sharon Olscamp is deeply engaged in work during her art exhibit held at Bathurst Shopping Mall May 17 - 21. Her artistry includes landscapes, portraits and abstract paintings and she works in charcoal, water colors, pencil or pen and paints, including acrylics. Possessing a talent for drawing and color since she was a child, Mrs. Olscamp has attended local art classes as well as Maritime workshops. Her hobbies also include ceramics

Elected To Head NB Association

A Bathurst man has been elected president of the New Brunswick Automobile Dealers Association for the coming year. He succeeds Charles Seymour of Fredericton

Hayden Hatheway was appointed to head the association at the annual meeting held at Lord Beaverbrook Hotel, Fredericton, on May 18

Other officers for the year 1977-78 besides Mr. Hatheway are: Charles Seymour, immediate past president; George Holmes, Moncton, 1st vice-president; Ronald Dube, Edmundston, 2nd vice-president; Evan Moffitt, Bathurst, treasurer; and Fred Beatty, Woodstock, secretary-manager

Items on the agenda included reports from the dealer legislative committee

It was reported the latest rounds of talks with government officials failed to produce any concrete results with respect to proposals presented to the provincial secretary-treasurer dealing with up-grading of regulations for Motor Vehicle dealer licensing

The association feels very strongly that regulations governing the dealer licensing board are not adequate to protect the motoring public

H. HATHEWAY

The association went on record as endorsing the brief presented to Minister of Municipal Affairs Horace Smith, by the Fredericton Chamber of Commerce and the Saint John and Moncton Boards of Trade, wherein they proposed changes in the present tax assessment of business properties. It is felt that business today cannot continue to support such exorbitant tax increases which, in the end, must be passed on to the buying public

A committee of the executive to bring in a report to the fall meeting dealing with the lowering of speed limits in the Province of New Brunswick, also was appointed by the association

Luncheon speaker for the meeting was Carl Dore, Professor of Law at the University of New Brunswick who spoke on his proposed Consumer Protection legislation, and how it may affect the automobile business

Summer Music Festival Set

Music by Mendelssohn, Martinu, Kodaly and Franck, compositions spanning the years 1839-1949, makes up the opening night program of the 1977 summer music festival in Fredericton.

UNB resident musicians pianist Arlene Nimmons Pach and the Brunswick String Quartet will open the 12th festival of "Chamber Music and All That Jazz" at 8:15 p.m. Friday, June 3 at The Playhouse.

This year the festival includes four chamber music concerts, with the UNB resident musicians performing with soloists on guitar, clarinet and harp, and a voice, flute and piano trio. An extra children's concert on June 7 will be fitted into a busy schedule of rehearsals and workshops for student musicians. Three jazz evenings round out the festival, which runs from June 3-18.

The June 3 program begins with the Mendelssohn Trio for Piano, Violin and Cello, a work of undeniable elegance and style which the composer Robert Schumann regarded as the "master trio" of his time.

The Three Madrigals for Violin and Viola by Martinu on the program were written in 1949 for the distinguished soloists and teachers Joseph and Lillian Fuchs of New York. They are composed of a unique and riveting slow movement framed by two boisterous and rhythmic dance movements, and are technically very demanding.

A Duo for Violin and Violoncello by Kodaly follows, a piece wholly impregnated with the inflections and rhapsodic spirit of Hungarian folk music, ranging from whispered fragments of song to impassioned climaxes.

Cesar Franck's Quintet for Piano and String Quartet will close the evening. A music teacher in a convent school for girls, Franck was in his 50's when he produced this passionately melodic which shocked the sophisticated Parish audience of the 1880's. One hundred years later it still creates a stunning impact.

The Brunswick String Quarter (Joseph Pach and Paul Campbell--violin, James Pataki --viola and Richard Naill--cello) have been performing as an ensemble at UNB since 1973. Active as concert artists and teachers throughout the Atlantic provinces, they were praised for their even-handed, stylish and intelligent performance at their London debut in Wigmore Hall in February.

Pianist Arlene Nimmons Pach, a soloist of note in classical and modern works, performs with the quartet. In November she gave a concert at The Playhouse with cellist Pierre Fournier. Mrs. Pach was recently appointed to the Board of Directors of the Canadian Music Centre of Toronto as the first representative of the Atlantic provinces.

For the serious listener or the newcomer to chamber music, Anthony Pugh will give a preview of the concert material, with tapes and discussion. The informative session will be held in the long gallery of the Playhouse, beginning at 7:20 p.m. on opening night. A reception for audience and musicians, a festival tradition, will follow the concert in the Green Room.

Tickets for the concert are $5, $4 for students and senior citizens. Chamber music series tickets are $15 and $12. Tickets are available now from the festival secretary, Memorial Hall, UNB, 453-4697, and at The Playhouse.

They were shown various stages of work that are part of putting together an edition, from writing and photography to setting copy and making up pages. The class arrived in two separate groups, the first being accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Nora McLean, in top photo, and the second with Miss Marie Cormier of Bathurst, a student teacher, in lower picture.

A Sweeter Crop Of Maple Syrup

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Some things may be as American as apple pie, but there's nothing as Canadian as maple syrup. Even the Russians can't claim it as their own.

The news this year is that the 1977 maple-syrup crop in both Quebec and Ontario - the two major producing areas - is a considerable improvement over last year's in both quality and quantity.

And last year's output, according to official figures, was about 25 per cent higher than in 1975, and had a value of $12.1 million.

The 1976 production figure of 133,000 gallons, reported by Statistics Canada, isn't necessarily to be taken at face value, however.

Many farmers treat their maple-syrup crop as a sideline, to be sold for cash to passers-by, without putting tax collectors to a lot of unnecessary paper-work.

The right kind of weather for maple-syrup production consists of below-freezing nights followed by sunny days that bring a thaw.

That starts the sap flowing through dormant sugar maple and black maple trees. One gallon of syrup is produced through the evaporation of 30 to 50 gallons of sap.

BIGGER CROP

This spring brought the right kind of weather to get the sap running in most of Quebec and Ontario, with the exception of southwestern Ontario.

Syrup prices, however, seem to go up every spring - just as new car prices are increased every fall.

Currently, they range between about $14 and $18, depending on grade.

The most expensive grade is Canada Fancy, and the grading ranges downward through Canada Light, Canada Medium and Canada Dark. Quebec's grading system includes another category, Amber C, which comes between Canada Medium and Canada Dark.

All maple syrup produced in Quebec is subject to provincial government inspection and standards. Elsewhere, Canadian maple syrup must adhere to federal standards only if it bears a grade - but if it is ungraded, it may not be shipped between provinces.

Most commercial maple syrup is graded. But, notes an article in the current issue of Canadian Consumer, underweight and unlabelled syrup could reach the market.

TASTE TEST

In a blind taste test carried out by the magazine (published by the Consumers Association of Canada), only one-third of the people on the test panel could distinguish between Canada Light (clear, light, subtle) and Amber C (darker, strongly flavored).

"Since few of us can detect even strong differences," says Canadian Consumer, "it would seem advisable to look for the least expensive syrup available, or perhaps to patronize local producers who label their

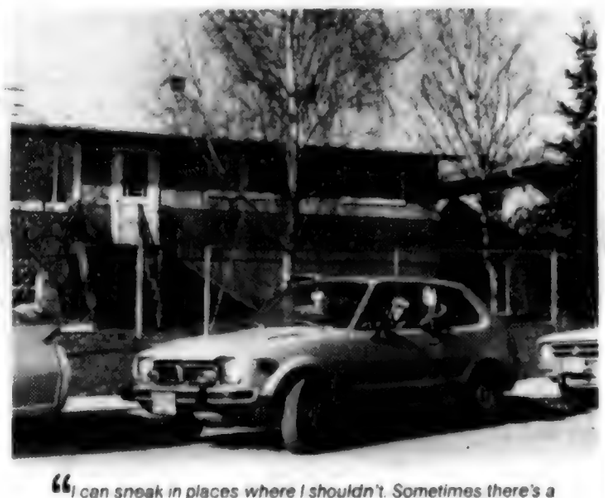
ASK THE WOMAN WHO OWNS ONE.

"For a single girl, or single guy, who wants good transportation, reliable transportation that's cheap, I would say get the Honda Civic. It's great!" Diane Murphy, Kitchener, Ontario.



"I can sneak in places where I shouldn't. Sometimes there's a truck or car waiting to get into a parking space where there's another car pulling out. And I'll sneak in there. You'll always find a place to park." Edna Tyess, Calgary, Alberta.

"They're a very easy car to park. And I found even when I go and do the grocery shopping, it's very easy just to throw the groceries in the back part of the car. You can lay down the back seat and carry a lot of things around in it. I think women find it much easier to handle and it's not scary for them to drive." Donna LaBranche, Peterborough, Ontario.

"I'm sure the salesmen down there don't have too much of a hard time selling a car. The Honda car sells itself. You don't even have to wonder about it. Just go out on the highway and every second car is a Honda. We have our little signals, too. We honk when we meet." Lilian Hazel, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

An unusually high percentage of Honda registrations are made out to women's names. There must be practical reasons why Honda is so popular.

There are. The ease of parking. The low purchase price and maintenance costs. The spacious interior for children or parcels or both. But women also want emotional involvement.

Honda offers that, too. Women like the lines of the car. They like how it steers, how it corners, how much fun it is to wheel around in.

Stop the next female Honda driver you see getting out of her Honda and ask how she likes it. Better yet, test drive a Honda. And see how you like it. HONDA

Auxiliary's 37-Year record
A Noteworthy One In Community

On September 18, 1945, nineteen ladies met at the Legion rooms, and the Ladies Auxiliary of Gloucester Branch No. 18 BESL Canadian Legion was organized with Mrs. Chesley G. Eddy as the first president. On October 11, 1945, Mrs. Fred Campbell of Campbellton, provincial organizer, installed the officers and presented membership pins to those present.

The charter was received on September 6, 1946, charter members being Mrs. Riordon Cripps (deceased), Miss Laura Willett, Mrs. Alice Arseneau, Mrs. Laura Kerr, Mrs. Elizabeth Mean, Mrs. John Hinton, Mrs. Celina White, Miss Peggy Burke (deceased), Mrs. Mary Oliver, Mrs. Etta Andrews (deceased), Mrs. Mary Ann Hornibrook (deceased); Mrs. Ethel Luke (deceased), Mrs. Mildred Rogers (deceased), Mrs. Sarah Shirley, Mrs. Eva Young and Mrs. Margaret Watson.

Also on Sept. 6, the auxiliary's first standard was presented by the Carron Point Women's Institute in memory of Ernest Good.

In 1947, Mrs. John Hinton presented the auxiliary with its second standard. This was given by the Nepisiguit Women's Institute in memory of the boys from East Bathurst who made the supreme sacrifice.

Then in 1966, the Legion branch presented a new standard with the new branch name, Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18 Ladies' Auxiliary.

MANY PROJECTS

Since its inception in 1945, the auxiliary has had many projects to assist the branch and community. The largest project, since 1962 when the present building was opened, has been to raise funds to assist the branch in paying off the mortgage on the new building. This was accomplished in 1970 after catering to innumerable banquets, lunches, coffee breaks for meetings held in the hall, wedding receptions, conventions, teenage dances, fashion shows, tending cloak rooms, etc. To date, the auxiliary has donated a total of $58,600 to the branch.

Other services provided by the auxiliary include the installation and paving of a parking lot, donation of a public address system, furnishings for the ladies' lounge and purchase of kitchen equipment such as a steam table, refrigerator, deep-freeze and restaurant-style stove.

The auxiliary has sponsored the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic since 1969 and the West Bathurst Girl Guide Troop since 1965.

In 1974, six auxiliary members manned an emergency kitchen at City Hall when an emergency existed in the city, for which they received high praise from the mayor and city councillors.

The first joint installation of Legion and Auxiliary officers was held in 1974. It was conducted by Eulas Gallant, president of Provincial Command, and Mrs. Nathan Higgins, Auxiliary Command president. The two groups continue to hold meetings on the same night, followed by a social evening.

As part of its regular program, the auxiliary visits members in hospital and remembers each one with a tray of fruit. Each charter member and member 70 years of age and over is sent a rose bowl on her birthday, and needy veterans are assisted upon request from the branch.

In 1968, an aging veteran, Frederic Earle Weldon, a domiciliary patient at Ridgewood without any known relatives, was "adopted". Gifts and cards are sent to him regularly as well as on special occasions. He is visited by members of the auxiliary when they are in Saint John. In addition, a television set was donated to the Domiciliary Wing at Ridgewood for use by all patients. Mr. Weldon's "adoption", incidentally, was the first such undertaking by an Auxiliary Branch in New Brunswick.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

Three scholarships and one bursary are awarded annually. These are the Ladies' Auxiliary Scholarship, valued at $100, Centennial Scholarship, $100, and one $50 bursary.

The branch has received awards from the Red Cross for work with the blood donor clinic, and from the Bathurst Lions Club for cooperation given them in catering to their mid-year conferences, and president and secretary schools.

The auxiliary participates in bowling and darts at all levels. Although it does not have a rink of auxiliary curlers, many members play on other teams.

"Each fall, the branch hosts a banquet in honor of the auxiliary in recognition of the assistance and support received. On these occasions, each member receives a corsage and in one instance, the auxiliary was presented with a television set for the ladies' lounge.

Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18 will be observing its 50th anniversary in August, and the auxiliary is looking forward to helping with the celebration.

CARAQUET — The death of Mrs. Henri Chenard occurred May 20 in Infant Jesus Hospital at Caraquet. Mrs. Chenard observed her 100th birthday on March 26.

A native of Caraquet, she was the former Marianne Landry, a daughter of the late Maxime and Marguerite (Blanchard) Landry. Her husband died 20 years ago.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Patrick Godin (Louise) of Pokemouche, Bernadette and Cecile, both of Lake St. John, Que., Mrs. Frank Lanteigne (Marianne) of Caraquet and Mrs. Alfred Landry (Marguerite) of Paquetville, three sons, Antoine of Caraquet, Camille of New York and Jean-Baptiste with whom she resided in Caraquet; 33 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren and 11 great-great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held May 22 at St. Peter in Chains Church, Caraquet, followed by burial in the parish cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Racicot's Funeral Home, Caraquet.

Retired Teachers Appoint Slate

Approximately 30 members of the Bathurst Branch, Retired Teachers' Association, with their respective spouses, or friends, attended a dinner meeting at the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall on May 20.

Following the dinner, which began at 6:15 p.m., the annual meeting of the association was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Gertrude Jamieson, president. Miss Edna V. Ellis acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Rosalie Hachey.

The minutes and financial report were approved and five new members were enroled.

It was decided the member ship fee be increased to $3, also that the delegate to the N.B.S.R.T. meetings be either the president or vice-president.

Mrs. Dorcas Woodside read the minutes of the last meeting of the N.B.S.R.T. held in Fredericton which proved to be both interesting and informative.

The nominating committee report was submitted by Mrs. Rena Scott and the following officers for 1977-78 were approved:

Mrs. Rena Scott, past president; Mrs. Gertrude Jamieson, president; Mrs. Irene Ramsey, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Ida Comeau, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Rosalie Hachey, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dorcas Woodside, provincial director.

Mrs. Mae Aubie, Mrs. Bertha Bell and Mrs. Margaret MacDonald are the local directors.

Committee conveners appointed include: Mrs. Sadie O'Kane and Sister Helen, membership; Mrs. Mae Aubie, social; Miss Alma Robinson, pensions. The telephone committee will be appointed.

Died, Aged 79 In Hotel-Dieu

SAINT-PONS — The death of Mrs. Georges V. Benoit occurred May 6 at the Hotel-Dieu, Tracadie, at the age of 79.

She was the former Flavie Comeau of St. Pons.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Phillipe Boudreau (Jacqueline of Nova Scotia, Mrs. Harry Philippe (Eva) of St. George, Mrs. Eddie Basque (Alvina) and Rita, both of Montreal and Mrs. Edgar Benoit (Sylvie) of Benoit Office; three sons, Georges and Leonsons, both of Saint-Pons and Irenee of Shippegan.

Three sisters, Mrs. Ben Richard of Sheila, Mrs. Joe Basque of Benoit Office and Mrs. Helene Savoie, also of Sheila; two brothers, Octave of Saint Pons and Isai of Legaceville also survive.

Mrs. Benoit rested at Robichaud's Funeral Home in Tracadie.

The funeral was held at Notre Dame-de-la-Salette Church, Sheila at 3 p.m. Burial followed in the parish cemetery.

Opening Dates Are Clarified

A spokesman for the Acadian Historical Village has issued a statement to clarify dates of important events scheduled this summer at the Acadian Historical Village in Caraquet.

The village's public relations director, Antonio Landry, indicated that some confusion has resulted from various erroneous press reports during the past weeks. Nevertheless, said Mr. Landry, each time it was a matter of circumstances and the media's intentions were good.

Mr. Landry noted that governor General Jules Leger will visit the Acadian Historical Village on June 21, before the site is actually open to the public. During his visit, Gov.-Gen. Leger will dedicate the administration building, a modern structure outside the actual site of the historical village.

The Acadian Historical Village will open its doors to the public on June 28, not May 28 as announced previously. The site will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., daily, until September 11, 1977.

The ceremonies marking the official opening of the village will be held Aug. 15, date of a national holiday for Acadians. An organizing committee has been set up for that official opening day and the program for that will will be released when it is finalized.

Construction of the Acadian Historical Village was financed through a cost shared program between the provincial and federal government.

Commissions To Conduct Survey

The Department of Commerce and Development is sponsoring an inventory of all non-manufacturing establishments in New Brunswick this summer, it was announced May 24.

The survey will be undertaken by the 10 regional industrial development commissions within the province. These commissions will hire a total of 20 university students to complete the survey.

The survey is intended to provide basic employment data by type of business for each region and for the province as a whole. This will be the first time such complete information on employment will be made available.

The project will cost $120,000 and will be funded under the industrial sub-agreement of the General Development Agreement between DREE and N.B.

Use apples with carrots or cabbage for a salad. Or, try having apples on hand for an afternoon or evening snack.

Mixed Pairs Set For June 30th.

Mrs. Allen Ferguson and Don Betts accounted for top scores at the May 23 session of Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club.

A Newcastle pair, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hare placed second followed by Mrs. A. Arsenault of the Newcastle Club and Mrs. Percy Wedge, Bathurst, in third place.

In the above-average bracket were: Mrs. Douglas Shirley and Ray Poirier, Mrs. P. Theriault and Mrs. T. Pelletier; Mrs. Phil Chiasson and Mrs. Martin Hachey; and Robert Baker and Frank McDermott.

Members are reminded of the mixed pairs event scheduled for June 20.

Regular weekly play is held Mondays at J. Gordon Chalmers School Library, starting at 7:30 p.m. For further information and partnerships, phone 546-2142 or 546-5233.

Archival Role To Spark Meet

What should be the role of Canadian universities in a proposed "national network of regional archives"?

This question is likely to be hotly debated when the Association of Canadian Archivists meet in Fredericton June 6 to 8, as part of the Learned Societies gatherings at the University of New Brunswick.

The theme topic stems from the "Report of the Commission on Canadian Studies" prepared by T.H.B. Symons for the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada. Dr. Symons will himself be one of the leading speakers at the Archivists' sessions.

In a lengthy section of the report, Dr. Symons sets forth major revisions and expansions in archival procedures and assigns to Canadian universities a major role therein. As a part of the general up-dating process, Dr. Symons and the committee recommend "to the Federal Government, that it immediately undertake, in close co-operation with the Dominion Archivist, to draft a new and expanded legislative mandate for the Public Archives of Canada, to replace the Act of 1912, and that such Legislation be presented to Parliament at the earliest opportunity."

Developing the idea of "a national network of regional archives" the commission recommends "that, in many cases, the regional archive be located within the local university and be administered by it; that every university give consideration to the possibility of undertaking such a role in the proposed national network or regional archives; and that, in all cases, close ties be established between the university and the regional archive."

It is just here that the Association of Canadian Archivists differs with Dr. Symons, taking the line that the best educators are not necessarily the best archivists.

Since most of the leading archivists of the country are either federal or provincial civil servants, they tend toward a governmental rather than an academic approach to archives.

Further, para 2(4) of the Constitution of the Archivists Association commits them to "representation of the needs of the archival profession before governments and other rgulatory authorities"

An exposition of the Archivists' viewpoint will be presented in a full morning's session Tuesday, June 7. Titled "A Canadian Archival Strategy: Networks", it will be chaired by David Rudkin, University of Toronto Archives. Speakers will include Hugh Taylor, Public Archives of Canada, Ottawa, Gordon Dodds Provincial Archives of Ontario, and Francois Beaudin, Curator of Archives in Quebec.

Beef Prices On The Rise

Beef kept the cost of food down last year, but the low prices aren't going to continue. Between the end of 1975 and the end of 1976, the price of beef - which accounts for 15 per cent of the typical family's food budget and for 45 per cent of all the meat you eat - fell by a whopping 15.5 per cent. Had beef prices not fallen, the cost of food for home consumption would have increased by 2.1 per cent, instead of declining by 2.3 per cent, writes Catherine Harris in The Financial Post.

Beef prices, however, fluctuate widely and we are now at the low point in the beef price cycle. Beef prices go in nine-year cycles. When prices are low, ranchers breed fewer cows; when prices are high, herds are built up. It takes three years, from breeding, for cattle to reach a typical 1,000 pound slaughter weight. So it's three years before increased breeding results in greater supply and lower prices.

This long process of supply reaching and overreaching demand results in nine-year spreads between high or low price peaks. Last year, we were at a low price point in the beef cycle, with cattlemen receiving between 38 and 45 cents a pound for A1 and A2 steers. In the high price period of 1973, cattlemen were receiving between 50 and 60 cents a pound.

Beef prices are now beginning to move up again, with a 1.3 per cent increase between mid-March and mid-April. Looking ahead, Agriculture Canada economist Bruce Huff predicts a 21 per cent price increase in 1978 and a 13 per cent increase in 1979.

products".

The darker product would undoubtedly have a stronger appeal to many consumers even if it were not cheaper, and is clearly preferable for use in baking.

The Canadian Consumer found no economies of scale in the price of large-size containers in the course of its market survey.

Shoppers, however, would be well advised to compare the prices of quarts, half-gallons and gallons at the point of purchase.

If the gallon container proves to be cheapest, relatively, then it's a good buy since maple syrup can be stored almost indefinitely in a refrigerator.

Care Of Your Horse And Pony

Always think of your horse as a living creature and not as a machine. He knows fear and suffers pain and gets tired. He cannot speak and tell you how he feels, so you must respond to him with kindness, a gentle pat and reward him with apples or carrots to show your appreciation of him.

Do you have a riding horse? Begin your ride by walking the horse for about ten minutes before starting the ride. This allows for proper circulation of the blood to the legs. Never run your horse unnecessarily. While watching Western movies, you may see a horse run at a dead gallop for a long period of time, but this is trick camera work with the film being spliced together to make it appear as such. However, the exact opposite is true.

Avoid riding on pavement, and if you do ride a horse in a parade, be sure he is properly shod with cork or rubber inserts. Galloping on hard pavement will cripple the horse for life. In addition, he could slip on the pavement, or shy into traffic.

Never water your horse right after a meal, or when he is sweating. The correct time is one half hour before or after the meal, and one full hour after exercising. Never give your horse ice water to drink. Cool water is best.

Former Resident Dies In Toronto

The death of Mrs. Alice Arseneau, 85, formerly of Bathurst, occurred May 23 in Toronto after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Arseneau was originally from Chatham and moved to Bathurst shortly after her marriage. She continued to reside here until 1960 when she moved to Toronto.

Her husband, John Arseneau, pre-deceased her 41 years ago.

Surviving are six sons, Gerard of Newcastle, Harold of Bathurst, Louis of Dartmouth, N.S., Eldon of Bramalea, Ont., Gregory, Lindsay, Ont. and Ronald of Ottawa, three daughters, Mrs. Robert Demo (Valma) of Albert Lea, Minn., Mrs. Stanley Barrett (Beulah) of Bolsober, Ont. and Mrs. Allan Wood (Lucille) of Ottawa; and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Arseneau rested at Maher's Funeral Home, Chatham on Thursday.

The funeral was held at St. Michael's Church, Chatham, Friday, May 25 at 10 a.m. Her six sons acted as pallbearers.

Interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

Earnings Up In 1st Quarter

Net earnings for Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. for the quarter ended Mar. 31, 1977, totalled $3,600,000 or 9.8 cents per share, for the same quarter last year, President William James states in an interim report.

With significantly higher prices for lead and silver and the gain from the downward movement of the Canadian dollar, net revenue increased by $4.6 million to $31,191,000. Production costs were up by $3.4 million to $25,470,000 reflecting increased tonnage of underground ore.

During the first quarter, Brunswick milled 828,103 tons for a production of 87,170 tons of zinc concentrate, 44,774 tons of lead concentrate and 6,529 tons of concentrate for a production of 12,197 tons of refined lead, 704,156 oz. silver and 1,105 tons of copper matte.

Mr. James says that the No. 6 mine open pit operation will shortly terminate. The first underground ore was produced from No. 6 during March.

On the No 12 mine expansion project, the 26-foot diameter shaft is not below 2,900 ft. Total anticipated cost remains at $53 million.

Working capital during the quarter increased by $1,570,000 to $55,406,000.

Death Occurs At Caraquet

PAQUETVILLE — The death of Mrs. Henri Godin, the former Elizabeth Theriault, occurred May 23 in Infant Jesus Hospital in Caraquet. She was 83.

Surviving are four sons, Romeo, Edgar, Camille and Gerard, all of Paquetville; and two daughters, Mrs. Zephir Mazerolle (Leda) and Anita, also of Paquetville.

Mrs. Godin rested at LeGresley's Funeral Home in Paquetville.

The funeral was held at St. Augustine Church, Paquetville, Thursday at 7 p.m. Burial followed in the parish cemetery.

ANN LANDERS

Press Reporter Shows Poor Taste

DEAR ANN: Recently a couple in our small community celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Since five newspapers cover this area (two dailies, a weekly, a bi-weekly and a five-a-week) and there are lots of TV and radio stations, it seemed best to call a press conference.

One of the reporters asked the dignified silver-haired woman if she ever had an abortion. Her reply was, "No." The next question: "Were you ever unfaithful to your husband in all those 60 years?" She hesitated a moment, then said firmly. "Young lady, I can't see how my answer to that question could possibly matter to you."

A few moments later the same brass-plated female reporter asked the silver-haired lady about her views on contraception. She tried to contain her disgust and finally replied, "I've learned that older people don't care two hoots or a holler what older people think about that subject." The reporter persisted. "Did you and your husband practice birth control? You only have three children."

The other reporters were pretty fed up by this time. One of them broke the tension by saying, "I suspect from your answers that you've been reading Ann Landers." She came back with "You're absolutely right. I also read the Bible and it says, 'A soft answer turneth away wrath.'" Isn't that beautiful"

Another Anne

DEAR ANNE: Beautiful is the word.

A bouquet of skunk cabbage to those clods who call themselves reporters. I learned long ago that just because a person has the gall to ask any question that comes to his mind doesn't mean he (or she) is entitled to an answer.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I have a few friends, not many. When they come to visit I say very little. I'm sure they think I am anti-social. Actually, I love to talk, but I must be very careful what I say because if my husband decides I didn't use the proper words he makes my life hell.

The same is true when we go visiting. I must measure my words because if I say something he doesn't like he becomes angry and yells at me all the way home. We could both be killed because he drives like a maniac when he gets angry.

For obvious reasons, I can't receive a written reply from you (he opens ALL the mail), but actually, I don't need advice. I know the solution to my problem, and one of these days I intend to have some peace in my life. Just Waiting

DEAR JUST: Waiting for what? The ideal time to unload the tyrant? It will never come.

Save yourself while you still have your sanity and some good years ahead.

DEAR ANN: I was not born in your country so please forgive my ignorance. I am puzzled by the curious habit of American parents when asked about their children. Why, so often, do they respond by telling the boy's height and weight? (Example: "George is 6-2 and weighs 190 pounds.") These statistics are announced with great pride, as if it were a great achievement. Why? — Philadelphia Inquirer

DEAR PHIL: In the absence of something valid to brag about, parents can always fall back on height and weight. Maybe it's an effort to substitute quantity for quality.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You — for Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611

Tour Of Local Hospital Gives Greater Insight

Program for the May 11 meeting of Xi Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was a tour of Chaleur General Hospital.

Members were conducted through the many facilities of the hospital and shown the working of its numerous departments one closes not see normally when on a hospital.

The tour proved very interesting and gave a greater insight into the efficient maintenance and operation of the vast complex.

The meeting, held at the home of Mary Gavin, saw the new executive for 1977-78 officiate for the first time.

Theatre New Brunswick will be returning to Bathurst for another year and it was revealed that there possibly may be five plays in place of three, as was available the first year. Presentations of the plays will also revert to Friday nights, rather than Friday evenings as has been the custom in the past.

The TNB play scheduled for Sept. 15, entitled "Clarence Darrow", has been changed to "One Night Stand."

The three local chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will combine efforts, along with Theatre New Brunswick, in sponsoring an art show in Bathurst on Friday Sept 16

The exhibit will be a Howard Mann display of Canadian paintings, with a sale of the paintings after the showing. This type of art show has proved very successful in Saint John, Fredericton and other Maritime centres.

Xi Delta members plan to visit Karma Health Studios on May 18 when an opportunity will be given for using the studios excellent facilities.

The last meeting for the year will be held at the home of Carol Knowles May 25. Meetings will resume in September.

VISITING AT NIGADOO

Mrs. Pat Fournier who has been visiting her daughter and their families in Toronto and Montreal, has arrived to spend some time at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Denis Fournier and family, Nigadoo.

Meetings Begin In September

Twelve tables of auction 45s were in play May 26 when the Maple Leaf Club's closing card party for the season was held in the community room of the Dennis S. Fournier complex, Demeresque Street.

Mrs. Aime Fregault was winner of the ladies's prize and the first prize for men went to Phillip Comeau. Preparing and serving the lunch at the close of the evening were Mrs. Ida Lavigne, Mrs. Aloysius Lavigne, Mrs. Phyllias Paquette, Mrs. Edmee Maclaurin and Mrs. Romain Godbout.

In announcing this was the last card party until the Fall, club president, Mrs. Linda Cripps extended appreciation to all officers and members for working and helping out at these weekly functions and with other endeavors accomplished by the club. She also thanked all friends of the club who so generously donated towards prizes and luncheon during the past year as well as assisted in other ways.

Club meetings and other activities will also commence in September.

FIVE GRADUATE AT CGIT SERVICE

The annual graduation service and ceremony of the Canadian Girls in Training of First United Church was held Sunday, May 15 at 11 o'clock in the church.

Opening procedures for the service were conducted by the minister, Rev. R. A. Francis.

The processional hymn, Take Up Your Cross, was sung by the C.G.I.T., as well as the younger groups, Explorers and Messengers, also wearing their respective uniforms, who were participating in the program.

As the groups paraded towards their pews, each of the members contributed a carnation at the foot of a large, greenery-covered cross near the altar. This was followed by a congregational sing-along, and the traditional and symbolic candle-lighting ceremony.

The graduates, Donna Ellis, Susan Hinton, Wendy Walls, Judy Watling, and Lori Winton were presented with their diplomas and pins by Sheila Branch, leader of the senior CGIT group, in the absence of the superintendent, Mrs. R. A. Frances, who had been called to Tatamagouche, N.S. by her father's death.

After the ceremony, the CGIT Hymn was sung as an anthem by the CGIT choir

MONDAY'S BANQUET

The annual CGIT mother and daughter banquet took place the following evening at 6:30 p.m. in the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall with over 75 covers laid for members, leaders and guests.

The Friends and Neighbors Unit of United Church Women catered and the graduate Explorer girls served the dinner of turkey with trimmings.

Hall and table decorations such as umbrellas, ducks, boats and other symbols as well as flowers were used in conjunction with this year's theme, "Joy Is Like The Rain", the head table arrangements also included a long-stemmed red rose at the guest speaker's place and crystal vases of mixed flowers. The graduates' centrepiece was a crystal bowl containing carnations. Place-names in boat design were used at the head table and for the graduates. The cross used in Sunday's service at the church was also displayed in the hall for the banquet.

Welcome was extended by the president Miss Wendy Walls. Grace was said by the student minister, Allan Lynk.

Opening remarks were by Miss Margaret Ross, on behalf of the superintendent.

The toast to the graduates, proposed by Ann Chamberlain, was responded to by Susan Hinton. Miss Kim Walls proposed the toast to the mothers which was responded to by her mother, Mrs. Malcolm Walls.

The toast to the church was proposed by Donna Ellis and responded to by Mr. Lynk, in the absence of Mr. Francis who was also unable to be present. The class prophecy was delivered by Lori Winton. The theme song, Joy is like the Rain, was sung.

Miss Ross introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Victor MacLeod, Moncton, a member of M.E.L.D. (Multiplier, Effect, Leadership Development) of the Maritime CGIT Committee. She was thanked by Judy Watling.

A surprise presentation was made to Miss Ross who will be leaving Bathurst June 10 to be married later the same month. A wedding gift, it was a homemade afghan, for which she expressed appreciation. Miss Ross has been a leader of the CGIT here for the past three years.

The function closed with Taps, after which each graduate was given a rose as a memento of the occasion.

CWL Council Elects Slate

Mrs. Joey Whelton was re-elected for her second consecutive year as president of Saint Simon and Saint Jude Council Catholic Women's League at the annual meeting May 5 held in the Black Rock-Pokeshaw Community Hall.

The officers for 1977-78 are: Mrs. Pat Coughlan, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Ernest Roy, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence Riordon, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. Bernadine Riordon, secretary; and Miss Dorothy Whelton, treasurer.

The conveners appointed include: Miss Martina Riordon, social economics and civil life; Sister Carmen Belanger, cultural life; Mrs. P. Coughlan, Christian life; Mrs. E. Roy, church life; Mrs. L. Riordon, communications and public relations.

President Mrs. Whelton was meeting chairman and 11 members answered roll call. The spiritual reading was by Irene Roy.

One member, Pat Coughlan reported on the leadership course held at Dieppe which she had attended.

The president and another member attended the annual Bathurst Diocesan CWL convention in Bathurst and interesting reports were heard on the event.

Two decades of the Rosary were said in observance of May, "The Month of Mary". A mass in honor of Our Lady of Good Counsel was held April 26 when nine council members attended dinner together to celebrate the feast day.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by Joey Whelton and Lillian Murphy.

FAMILY RE-UNION HELD DURING HOLIDAY

All but one of the eight children of Mrs. Charles Vienneau were present for a family re-union and dinner here on May 22. It was the first time some of the children had seen each other in 15 years.

The gathering took place at the family home of Mrs. Vienneau on Rough Waters Drive. Children present were Mrs. Corinne Lamoureux, Mrs. John Gallagher (Lorette), Felix and Ivrice Vienneau, all of Bathurst, Mrs. Howard Barry (Nora) from Saint John, Mrs. Al Godin (Madeleine) from Toronto and Warney Vienneau who resides in Nipigon, Ont., along with a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Maurice Vienneau and family of Bathurst.

Mrs. Vienneau who was 90 years old on Aug. 23 of last year, had 12 children. Three died in their 'teens and Maurice in 1969. She also has 35 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

A family dinner was served and 35 were present. The family took advantage of the fine holiday weekend weather and dined out doors on the spacious lawn.

During the day, telegrams and telephone calls were received from those who were unable to attend, including a son, Radolphe of Oshawa, Ont., and several of the grandchildren.

Several of Mrs. Vienneau's neighbors joined the family during the evening when a game of auction 45s was played.

Mrs. Vienneau enjoys good health. She keeps active and occupied with knitting, crotcheting, reading, cooking and quilts and loves a game of cards.

Others who came from out-of-town points included Howard Barry, Saint John, and Mrs. and Mrs. Yvon Vienneau and children Keith and Daniel from Newcastle.

MISS COLLINS

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Collins of 75 Salem St., Andover, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Mr. Craig R. Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winton L. Seymour of Salt Lake City, Utah, and formerly of Bathurst.

Miss Collins, a graduate of Wheaton College, is employed as counselor at St. Ann's Home in Methuen, Mass. Mr. Seymour, a Brown University graduate, is employed at present by the Marriott Hotel, and plans to enter the Whittmore School of Business at the University of New Hampshire this fall.

A July wedding is planned.

Visit Friends While In City

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jones, St. Catharines, Ont., spent several days last week in Bathurst where they visited with and were entertained by long-time friends.

Mr. Jones, a native of this city who graduated from the University of New Brunswick in 1927, was in Fredericton for a class reunion at which eighty per cent of the class attended, he said. Some came from as far away as California for the occasion.

Mrs. Jones also was present for the reunion of her UNB graduating class and both took in all the weekend activities including encaenia exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were accompanied here from Fredericton by the latter's sister, Mrs. J. L. Howatt who resides in the capital.

Prior to his retirement a few years ago, Mr. Jones was general manager of the Ontario Paper Company at Thorold, Ont.

FIRST TRIP ABROAD

Former Bathurst residents Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Aubie Jr., now of Repentigny, Que., recently travelled via plane to Ayr, Scotland to spend a three-week vacation with Mrs. Aubie's brother's and sisters. It was Mr. Aubie's first visit to Ayr, the birthplace of his wife, the former Margaret Doolan. Mr. Aubie is the son of Raymond Aubie, resident-patient at Foyer Notre Dame de Lourdes in Bathurst, and the brother of Dolf Aubie, Mrs. Harold Vienneau and Mrs. Bill Melanson. The Aubies are annual summer visitors to his native Bathurst.

Entertain For Mother-to-be

Approximately 45 relatives and friends gathered May 22 at the home of Mrs. Paul Aubie where a "stork" shower was held in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Valley.

The guest of honor received a wide array of lovely gifts.

Hostesses for the evening function besides Mrs. Aubie included Mrs. Valley's mother-in-law, Mrs. Violet Gosnell who organized the event, also sisters-in-law Mrs. Joan Guignard, Mrs. Elizabeth Boudreau and Mrs. Violet Valley, also Miss Jane Hussey.

Entertainment included bingo games for which prizes were awarded. The evening concluded with the serving of lunch.

Returns From P.Q.

Mrs. George A. Vibert recently returned to Little Shippegan after spending some time at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Journeau (Nola) and son Gary at St. Eustache, Que., as well as visiting with a number of relatives in the Montreal area.

New Members Attend Founder's Day Functions

VISITS IN CITY

Mrs. Al Godin, Toronto, spent last week here visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles Vienneau, Rough Waters Drive, and other relatives. She also attended a family reunion on May 22.

June Wedding Is Planned

The engagement of Margaret Helen Ross, daughter of Mrs. Helen C. Ross and the late Rev. Robert Ross, Chatham, to Mr. Allen Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Allison (Chase) Newcastle, has been announced. The wedding is planned for June 25.

Miss Ross, a 1973 graduate of Miramichi Valley High School, attended the Bathurst Institute of Technology to obtain stenographer's course. She has been employed as secretary of First United Church in Bathurst for the past two years.

Mr. Chase who graduated from MVHS in 1972, is currently studying commerce at St. Mary's University, Halifax.

General UCW Unit Closes For Season

The General Unit of United Church Women of First United Church held the final meeting of the season at the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall May 24 starting at 8 p.m. The meeting was chaired by Mrs. John Scott, president.

The Nepisiguit Unit prepared an inspiring and meaningful worship service. It was led by Mrs. Edgar Gammon and Mrs. Lee Hinton. The Church In The Wildwood was sung as a duet by Mrs. Maurice Horsley and Mrs. Fenton Daley, with Mrs. Lydia Shirley as accompanist.

The Friends and Neighbors Unit were in charge of the program. Mrs. Fenton Daley introduced Mrs. Frank Lewis, proprietress of the Sun Flower Gift Shop as well as a member of the Unit, who, in her capable and gracefull manner, displayed and gave a commentary on many local and provincial crafts.

Mrs. Lewis mentioned that several items on display were made by members of the local UCW organization. She was thanked for her presentation by Mrs. E. R. Woodside.

During the business session, each reported on its respective activities of the past season. Many worthwhile projects were completed.

Some activities included a congregational dinner, take-out dinner, mother and daughter banquet, catering to a wedding, dinner for the Retired Teachers' Association, luncheon for the Miramichi Presbytery, talent show, quilt making, hospital visitation and care of children in the nursery during church services.

Tribute was paid during the evening to Mrs. Carl Hocquard for the capable manner in which she has contributed to the efficiency of the organization during past years

At the conclusion of the meeting, a delicious jellied chicken salad was served by members of the Study Unit

Thigh High Time Again

Look out, guys, the banished miniskirt of the 1960s may be making a comeback this year, but don't hold your breath.

Retailers are viewing the European designes cautiously because they don't want to lose their shirts over a fad that won't sell. They say their customers' rebellion against the maxi-length in the late 1960s was lesson enough.

Fashion gurus emphasize their miniskirts are not really miniskirts at all. They are "sashed tunics" and "belted sweaters", designed, says Pierre Cardin, with 16-year-olds in mind.

But to the man of the street, the 1970s versions will look like the miniskirts from before. And they'll be worn by whoever has the legs, or the will, to carry it off, writes Deborah Dowling in The Financial Post.
